Quoie Tong being duly sworn, deposes and says: That he is the defendant herein. That he was arrested upon the complaint of Annie Vanderwick on or about the 5th day of May, 1891, upon the charge of keeping and maintaining a disorderly house at No. 12 Pell Street in the City of New York.

That the affidavit upon which said arrest was founded set forth that defendant had kept said house as a disorderly house on the 10th day of May, 1891.

That on 22nd day of May, 1891, and before the warrant of arrest of defendant was issued by the Police Magistrate and before the complaint was made by the complainant herein, defendant closed the premises occupied by him at No. 12 Pell Street and has ever since ceased to occupy them for any purpose whatever.

That defendant strenuously denies the allegation made in the complaint that he at any time kept a disorderly house and asserts the fact to be that his premises were always conducted in an orderly and legal manner and that the charge herein was made by the defendant through malice and spite.

Defendant therefore prays that the indictment against him may be dismissed and that he be discharged from custody.

As Complainant in the above case, I beg to recommend the defendant to such leniency and clemency as the Court and District Attorney may see fit to show; but I expressly assert that my reasons for so doing are not controlled by any advantage to myself.

I now verily believe that there was no criminal intent on the part of the defendant in withholding the property set forth in the Complaint. I am now informed and verily believe that prior to the day the matter was before the Police Magistrate the defendant did actually lose the pocketbook with the diamonds and the articles therein contained belonging to me, and that on that day the pocketbook was found and immediately thereafter all my goods were returned to me unconditionally. I feel now that because of these circumstances I ought and I desire now to withdraw the Complaint against him.

is a diamond setter and dealer in diamonds at the place last above mentioned and has been in this business for twenty years last past in the City of New York, that he has known William Bartel defendant for 20 years and has dealt with him during all of that time, buying from and selling diamonds and other goods to him during that time on credit and otherwise and have always found him prompt in his payments and honest in his dealings. That on the 9th inst., at about 11 1/2 o'clock in the morning the defendant called on me at my office aforesaid and I saw in his possession the pocketbook he usually carried containing diamond articles and one

He showed me the diamond for the purpose of selling it to me. I saw him replace the goods in the pocketbook and put the pocketbook with contents in his inside vest pocket just before leaving my place. About an hour - _____ after he returned in great excitement saying that he had lost the pocketbook with its contents and had only discovered his loss when he arrived at his brother-in-law's office at 176 Broadway, when he looked in his pocket for his pocketbook and discovered that it was gone. We searched in my place for it but could not find it. Defendant then said he would go to Police Headquarters to report his loss and also advertise it. The next day the 10th inst., I saw the loss advertised in the "Herald" and a reward offered for the return of the pocketbook and contents. I am thoroughly convinced that the defendant did actually lose the pocketbook with its contents as above narrated. I was surprised to hear that on the evening of the 10th inst., the very day after the loss that he was arrested charged with the theft of the goods in the pocketbook. On the 11th inst., in the afternoon thereof defendant informed deponent of the recovery of the pocketbook and contents and the circumstances thereof as follows: That immediately after leaving the Police Court on the morning of the 11th inst., he was given a letter sent to his house by D. O. Bowers of 89 Front Street requesting him to call at the latter's place of business in relation to his, defendant's advertisement in the "Herald" and that upon calling there defendant found his pocketbook with the contents there, it having been found on the corner of Broadway and 13th Street by one, Jacques, who had left it with Mr. Bowers to hand to the owner if found and that upon payment of $50. the reward offered, to Mr. Bowers the pocketbook and contents were returned to defendant. Deponent has no hesitancy in saying that he fully believes in the truth of defendant's story and has so much confidence in his integrity and honesty that he would give him all the goods he wants on credit or otherwise.

0035
