Three bags containing about sixty five dozen of Collars and cuffs and a lot of shirts and other underwear to gether of the value of at least one hundred dollars. $100.00

the property of Different people and all in deponents care and custody

and that this deponent

has a probable cause to suspect, and does suspect, that the said property was feloniously taken, stolen, and carried away by John Smith and Thomas

Ryan. (Both now here) from the fact that deponent is informed by his owner Ab. Levy that at about the hour of 6:15 O'clock PM said date he left his wagon containing all of the above mentioned property standing on the corner of Chambers and West 12th Street while he went to St. Vincent's Hospital to deliver a bundle of shirts and after an absence of fifteen minutes when he returned to his wagon he discovered that the aforesaid property had been taken stolen and carried away from said wagon but before leaving his wagon he Levy saw the defendant Ryan standing on said corner of 7th Avenue & West 12th

Sergeants John W. Carney and Stephen O'Brien that they saw the said defendants together and in company with each other on Varick St. at about the hour of 3 O'clock P.M. March 24th and at that time each of the said defendants had bundles in their possession
they the detectives followed the defendants to Canal St. where they placed them under arrest and when the bundles which they had in their possession
were opened they were found to contain shirts

defendants had in their possession and fully identifies them as a portion of the property which was stolen from his wagon at the corner of 7th Ave.

assault in 3^d degree
Section 219 P.C.

The defendant, who is the driver of a fish wagon, is charged with assault in the 3^d degree in that he willfully ran over Evangela Waschilla (a candy man) burdened with his goods February 21 1888, on the Bowery.

A number of efforts to find the complaining witness, Waschilla, have failed for reasons stated in the affidavit of Officer Gillespie herewith. It appears also from examination that Waschilla, is an itinerant peddler and it is uncertain whether he permanently resides in N.Y.

I have had the officer who made the arrest and the defendant before me, and from the statements of both I am satisfied that the alleged assault was purely accidental.

Stehling says he saw Waschilla & called to him; that he stopped; that thereupon thinking Waschilla did not intend to cross his track he urged his horse ahead; that Waschilla changed his mind and proceeded on his way across the Bowery, suddenly, and that owing to the headway the horse

had acquired he could not pull him up in time to avert the collision.

The officer says Waxchilla was not injured. He was knocked down and his pocket full of candies, valued - he claimed - at $4.50, was strewn in the middle of the street.

From an examination of all the witnesses available, I am of the opinion that there is not sufficient testimony to support the charge and I recommend that the indictment be dismissed.

Tried, , May 2nd., 1888.

APPEARANCES:

Assistant District Attorney Davis, for the People;
Mr. John Heinzleman, for the Defence.

KATE SIMMEYER, the complainant, testified that she lived at No. 1,001 Tenth Avenue and was a married woman. She lived there with her husband on the 25th. day of Jany 1888. She lived there on the 3rd. floor back, having three rooms- a kitchen, bedroom and a front room. There was a door opening from the front room into the hall-way. On the 25th. day of January, 1888, she saw the defendant at the front door of her room, kneeling down, with a key in his hand. He was kneeling in the hall at her door. It was about 10 minutes to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. She left her rooms at about a quarter to eleven o'clock in the forenoon, locking her doors behind her. She left a quantity of clothing in her rooms belonging to her husband, herself and her children. They were worth about $150. There was also household furniture in her rooms. As she came up the stairs, she heard the noise of the key in the defendant's hand, as he worked it in the lock. He was trying to open the door of her rooms. She said to the defendant, "What are you doing there" and he stepped back, and he was as drunk as he could be. She had a baby in her arms and the defendant almost pushed her down the stairs. He didn't say a word, but ran down stairs. She halloed over the banister, and then he looked up and ran into the street. She didn't follow him, because she had two children with her, - one at her side and the other in her arms. Two weeks later, she saw the defendant, after his arrest, in the police station house, and identified him. He was placed among eight men.

UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION. She testified that she saw Stumpf's face by the light that came from the transom of the door by which he was kneeling, and she also saw his face as he looked up when she halloed over the banister. She was positive that he was the man that she saw kneeling at her door, and trying to open it with a key. She had previously seen him on the roof of her house when she was hanging out clothes, about two weeks before his attempt to enter her rooms. She had lived 10 months in the house on 10th. Avenue. She lived between 64th. and 65th. Streets between 10 and 11th. Avenues. She made a complaint on the afternoon of the occurrence to an officer in front of the house, but she was not called to the station house until about 2 weeks after. . . . She told the officer on the afternoon of the occurrence that she could identify the man whom she had seen trying to get into her rooms. She had been informed that Stumpf's father was a horse dealer in that neighbourhood. She gave a description to the officer of the man that she saw at her door.

OFFICER EDWARD H. DOYLE testified that he was attached to the 26th. Precinct. Number 1,001 Tenth Avenue was in his Precinct and was also in the 12th. Ward of the City of New York. He arrested the defendant on the 22nd. day of February, 1888 on 65th. Street, near Eleventh Avenue, at about 2 o'clock in the afternoon. There was a general order issued for the arrest of the defendant by any officer of the precinct, who found him, and he arrested Stumpf and told him that he was wanted at the station house.

MRS SIMMEYER came to the station house and identified him, the defendant; she also identified him in the police court. The defendant was searched but nothing was found upon him.

UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION. The officer testified that the defendant was sitting in front of his father's stable when he arrested him. He had known Stumpf for about two years. He was not present in the station house when the complainant identified the defendant, but he was present when she identified him in the police court.

Mrs. Simmeyer's original complaint was made to Officer Cummings, who was on post in front of her house.

FOR THE DEFENCE. The defendant, Frank Stumpf, testified that he lived in 65th. Street between 10th. and 11th. Avenues with his father. He was not in the house of Mrs. Simmeyer on the 25th. of January, 1888. and he didn't attempt to open her door. He didn't know where she lived and didn't know anything about her until he was arrested. At the time of his arrest, he was living at home.

UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION. He testified that he was never in the house of the complainant at 1,001 Tenth Avenue. He knew where it was, because after he was bailed out, his father pointed out the house in which the complainant lived. In 1886, he was convicted of simple assault. It was for an assault upon his wife. He served for 6 months on Blackwell's Island. He was arrested once before for larceny, but was discharged without a trial, because there were not enough witnesses to try him. He was arrested 6 days after for an alleged attempt to enter Mrs. Simmeyer's rooms. The charge of larceny was made by a man named Tooley, who charged him with stealing $5.25 from his pocket. Before his arrest, he was working for his father. He also rolled brick. He took care of his father's horses. He had also worked for a man named Armstrong, who owned trucks, at 52nd. Street and North River. He had also worked at the brick yards of Candee and Kane. He had also peddled. He had lived in the Ward for 18 or 19 years. He had known Officer Doyle for about 3 years. He had spoken to him quite frequently and knew him well. On the 25th. of January he was around his father's house and stable. as far as he could recollect, he could not say what day of the week it was.

PHILLIP HOUSEMAN testified that he was a slate and metal roofer and plumber. He resided at present at Blauveltville, Rockland County. The defendant had worked for him from 1884 to 1885 as a slate and metal roofer. He never had an employee who was more faithful in his duties than the defendant was. His character, so far as he knew, was good.

UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION. The witness testified that the defendant had not worked for him since 1885. Since that time, he had had no association with him, but he had associated with his father. He knew the defendant had been arrested for larceny and discharged.
