After an examination of the proof available for the People I find that owing to the lapse of time there is doubt as to the identity of the accused. The case is inherently weak and of a kind where experience has shown a jury would acquit, as no conviction can therefore be expected.

I recommend that this indictment be dismissed.

CRUELTY TO CHILDREN.

NOTICE OF PROSECUTION

BY THE SOCIETY.

ELBRIDGE T. GERRY,
President, &c.

The People
Josephine Hendrickson (Court of General Sessions. Part I Indictment for Kidnapping. Before Judge Martine. April 8, 1891)

Isaac Hoff. sworn and examined, testified.
I live at 34 Orchard st. and keep a shoe store.
I have been in this country about six years and a half. I have a wife and she was living at 34 Orchard st. on the 29th of March. I have three children, one six years, this little girl
three years and a half and a little boy nine months old. Is this your child (pointing to a child) Yes. What is her name? Mollie Hoff. How old was she on the 29th of March of this year? Three years and a half old; she was born in the city of New York. On the 29th of March where was your child if you remember? She was playing by the house we live in.
What time in the day was that? About two o'clock. She was playing in the streets in front of the store. When next did you see your child? Monday night I saw her from two o'clock on Sunday afternoon until the next Monday night you did not see your child?
No. I did not know where she was. I looked for her in all the station houses but could not find her. I saw her in the Children's Society. I never saw the defendant before. I never gave her any permission or consent to take care of or have custody of my child.

John Mayer, sworn and examined testified.
I am an officer of the 16th precinct and on the 30th of March I saw the defendant; the 16th precinct is on Twentieth street between Seventh and Eighth avenues. My beat is on Ninth avenue from Fourteenth to Twenty Seventh street. On the 30th day of March did you see the defendant on Ninth avenue? Yes sir on Ninth avenue.
I saw her first at Twentieth and Twenty First st. on Ninth avenue. I followed her up to the Twenty Second street and Ninth avenue. I arrested her there. When you arrested her did she have any person in her custody? She was leading the child by the hand. The child that was in the witness stand a moment ago was that the child that you saw? Yes sir.
I stopped her and asked her where she was going. I asked her, is that your child? She said, yes. So I said to her, "the best thing you can do is to go along with me." She had been staggering along the avenue. I noticed she was under the influence of liquor. At first she did not wish to go with me, at last I got her to go and I took the little child by the hand and took her to the station house. It was ten minutes to twelve o'clock in the forenoon that I arrested the woman ten minutes to twelve o'clock in the forenoon. She pulled herself away from me; that is all the resistance she made. I left the child in the station house and the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children came there and got the child. I took her to the Court the next morning. (The defendant) She did not say anything. I asked her what was her name? She refused to give her name and she still claimed it was her own child; she said it was an outrage taking that child away from her.

Cross Examined. My attention was first attracted to this defendant ten minutes to twelve o'clock in the forenoon; she was staggering along the avenue and the child was walking along with her; that is what drew my attention. I did not smell her breath. Was she in that condition if the child had not been with her would you have made the arrest? Not if I had not seen her staggering along. If the child had not been with her would you have made the arrest for intoxication? Was she in that condition? She was not so bad. I arrested her on account of having the child for the child's sake. It was for the child's sake you made the arrest is that correct? Yes, that is correct. Had she up to the present time told you that it was not her child? No sir; at all times she said it was her child. I saw in the paper that the child was claimed by the parent; that is the knowledge I have. I do not know the defendant and never saw her before.

William A. Finn, sworn and examined, testified I am one of the officers connected with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to children and was such officer on the 29th day of March of this year. I have seen the child who was in Court known as Mollie Hoff before. The first knowledge I had of the case was on the 31st day of March of this year when the child was turned over to me on the morning of that day in our office to take her to Court. I being detailed in the Jefferson Market district. I went to Court with the child and got the woman out of the pen and tried to question her as to who the child was. I did question the defendant. It was a very muddled up conversation. At first she refused to give me any information whatsoever; she was very insolent and saucy in every sense of the word, but after a good deal of questioning I got out the fact that the morning before at about eleven or twelve o'clock she told me she had seen the child in Orchard near Grand street, that the child was crying, that she picked ~~took~~ it up and took it across town somewhere she could not tell what street or number, and that she went up stairs with some man, that they objected to her having the child with her; she came down again on the street and met some friend and had been floating about all that night. She did not use the word "floating." She said she had been about the streets all night and up to the time of her arrest. Furthermore she said that she was perfectly sober. I asked her whether she was sober or intoxicated when she took this child? She told me she was perfectly sober when she took the child. I furthermore learned from her that her right name is Denny, that she is away from her husband some eleven or twelve years. I got all this in monosyllables. She told me her marriage name was Denny and that her maiden name is given here.

Cross Examined. She afterward told me that she had been living immorally with a man up in Thirty Fifth st. near Eighth avenue - that she had been living with him as his wife. I implied it to be such. It is almost impossible to give the conversation of that woman the way she gave it to me the next morning; she was in such a condition it took me half an hour to get what few facts I could out of her. Did she tell you she took this child from some boys who were going through the street? No. not directly that way; she told me the child was crying in the streets and the boys were plaguing her and she had taken her. Did she tell you that she was trying to find where the child belonged? She told me she made no effort to do so. I asked her why she did not take it to the station house and turn it over to some police officer. Didnt she say she thought she would take care of the child to see whether it was advertised for, that the child had been lost and the people would ask for it? No sir. Nothing of that kind occurred? No sir.

What did she say when you asked her why she did not take the child to the station house? She did not answer; she was very abusive in all her answers. Did you make inquiries in the house in Thirty Fifth street? I could not find the place; she gave me no number; she gave me the locality. I searched through the locality and could find nothing.

Josephine Hendrickson, sworn and examined in his own behalf testified. My name is Josephine Hendrickson. I never was married and gave no other name. I told the last man who was on the stand (the Officer) was on the corner of Thirty Fifth St. with a man there. I have no particular home. I have been out of work. I do chamber work and a waitress. The last place I worked at was Williamsbridge. I worked there going on two months. I have never been convicted of crime. To the best of my knowledge I am 34 years old. I remember Easter Sunday the 29th of March. I ought to remember it. I was in different parts of the city that day. I did not read the names of the streets. I walked right along, it was a nice day and I had not been out much. I don't know anything about the streets in this locality at all. I know the Bowery. I don't know where I met this child. I was going to buy a pair of shoes. I had a two dollar note in my hand. I was going along and I saw two boys were dragging this child along by the arm, and the child was looking for sympathy, it did not want to go with these boys. I went over to the boys. I saw the little thing crying. I said to the boys, "What are you doing to that child?" They said, "nothing," but she has lost her home. I says, "Where does she live, do you know anything about her?" They said, "no," and with that the child put out its hand for me to take it. The child was sobbing and crying. I says

to the child, "Where do you live, sissy?" She said, "Down here, mam." She took me along. I could not tell how far the child did take me. I made several enquiries around the neighborhood that she took me. I did not hear or see anybody that night to take her to. They said they did not know anything about her. As for officers, there was none in my travels. I went and got some whiskey. I am subject to stomach aches because I have neglected my body for the last couple of years, and the child stood outside. If any of the "cruelty" men or any officer wanted to they could have taken her or anybody else. I left the child outside of the liquor store. I don't know what store it was. I am not acquainted down this part of the city at all; and the child took me astray in place of me taking it astray. I was only endeavoring to find a home for the child. I was too intoxicated to go out Sunday night. When I went up in this man's room and I was in bed and he said that there was two men. I says, by that time I will be fit to go out anywhere, and when the two men came into the room they asked me what brought me there? I said a man brought me.

I says, "Dont disturb the little young one. I am talking about the house I went up to sleep in, Sunday night. I dont know where it is; the child was tired from walking. The man opened the door and let me in; he had a hall bed room. I thought I recognized him as having seen him before but I am not certain; there was a bed in the room. I slept in the bed; he gave me a room all to myself; the two men came in and made me get up and the child; it was late then, I did not want to walk long. I had a bottle of whiskey; the child was with me all this time. I had seven children and I do not want anybody's child. I have enough to do to take care of myself. You had no intention of kidnapping this child? I did not. You did not want to steal it from its parents? No, the child was suffering from being dragged and pulled by these boys. I thought, if she knows where she lives I will take her home. I kept walking along and when I would come to one street the child would take me to another street. I am the mother of seven children and I have had five fathers for them.

Do you want me to repeat their names?
Cross Examined. Easter Sunday I came out of a hotel. I dont know where it is; ^{it was} on the side of the city. I slept with a man in the hotel and I was very glad to have him. I had two dollars on Easter Sunday, and I wanted to buy a pair of shoes. I started out to buy them near ten o'clock in the morning. There are plenty of few stores open all over the city. I don't know where Orchard St. is. I have only been as far as Catherine St. I know up town fourteenth street. I brought the child down into the shoe store in a basement. I paid five cents for getting some nails in my shoes, and I says, "Are you a German man?" He says, "yes." I says, "will you speak to this little girl. I think she is German; ask her where she lives." He had no shoes - only gentlemen's shoes. I only went to that one place that day to buy shoes. I was walking with the child from ten o'clock in the morning of Sunday until two o'clock on Monday afternoon. The reason why I did not hand the child over to the custody of a police officer was because I could not see any.

You want the Court and jury to believe that during the time, as you state yourself, from ten o'clock Sunday morning until two o'clock on the Monday you did not see a policeman in your travels at all? No - I saw one - I was paying attention to the child. She said, "Down there," and when I got to the avenues she told me, "over here, over here."

and over there," that is the way she talked to me. I thought by the child ~~telling~~ me that it was over there, the child had nothing to do but walk into the door where she belonged. I remember being arrested, but I do not remember what avenue it was ~~was~~. The officer came and asked me, what the hell are you doing with that young one, that ain't your young one. I said, No, it is not my young one. I have been taking care of it, and I am going to see the end of it." Where did you sleep Easter Sunday night? I did not sleep only two or three hours. I do not know the place. A man took me in there. Where did you get the man? On the street. I asked him if I could not lie down. I told him this child is lost, and I say, "I have been around and I am lost myself. I am drunk." He says, "Perhaps you can lie down I know where station houses are in the city of New York, but I was not able to walk. I had been walking considerable with that child. I did not know any station houses where I was in that part of the city; it was along this side of the river. I don't know whether it was east or west. What time was it when you went to bed? It must have been near five o'clock in the evening. What did you do with the child when you went in the room,

I put it to bed and lay down with her. Where did the man go? The man went into his own room. If I would see him I would know him, but the man told me the room I entered belonged to two other men. He said, I don't know what time they will be home. I says, "Perhaps I will be all right before they do come home. What hour of the night they came I do not know. You were put out? Yes I was. It was very late at night. I did not go on the street. I slept on the stairs; the child was with me. When you woke up after having slept on the stairs where did you go to? The officer got hold of me then; it was about noon time. Where were you from the time you slept on the stairs down to noon time on that day? I was walking around. Did you not see a police officer? No sir, not one. I do not remember the streets through which I went. I fed the child. I could not tell you how many drinks I took on that Monday morning. I bought it by the bottle. I fed the child from two o'clock on Sunday afternoon until the next day. I brought her into the eating saloon. What did you give her to eat? She had what I ate, ham and eggs, a cup of coffee, milk, anything. I fed her several times. I had a package of cakes on Monday. If she would not drink or eat any thing it was not my fault.

By the Court. As near as you can tell us where you met this child, the place where you last recollect being just before you met that child? I came from the hotel; it was in the centre of the city, I think it was on Broadway. I think it was somewhere around the Battery. I don't remember the time I left the hotel. I had not long left the hotel when I rescued the child from the boys. I did not have any liquor, beer, brandy, wine, coffee nor nothing. I think it must be about ten o'clock in the morning. I left there alone. I walked from the hotel to the place where you found the child? I had nothing to drink from the time I left the hotel until I saw the child. I walked considerably around to look first for an eating saloon. I did not have my breakfast at the hotel. I was attracted by the two boys who had the child. I don't know what street it was I met her; it was a business street having store houses. There were not a good many people in the street. It must have been about seventy five minutes after I left the hotel that I found the child. Had you spoken to anybody or seen any one you knew from the time you left the hotel until you saw the child? Not a soul.

I had nothing to drink and I was sober. I said to the boys, "What are you doing to the child? They said they were trying to fetch her around. I did not take her from them. She was on her feet; they were pulling her just like that. I was passing by. I did not go deliberately up to her, I interfered because the child was screaming and crying. You told us the child put her arms out to you and you took her up? Yes and the boys were glad. I did not carry her, I took her by the hand. You said she put her arms out? Yes I did not pick her up. I stooped down and asked her, "Where do you live, sissey? She told me, "This way." I took her by the hand and led her along. I went the way she pointed. After I left the shoe store I went along by the river. I don't know where the East river or the Brooklyn bridge is. I know where Chatham Square is. It must have been twelve o'clock when I went into a saloon to get a glass of beer. I remained there about half an hour. I have been in New York since the closing of the war. I lived in Rothschild's No. 41 University Place; it was a furnished room house, it was twelve years ago I was in his employ. I hired the house for three months. I am Irish, and came here with my sister. The first employment I ever had in this country was little chores around the house. I did not understand anything about working; the first employment I had was to learn to sweep and dust and to act as chamber maid. That was in Troy with Mr. Taylor. It was in Troy that I landed. I came in the cars; the steamer landed in Troy. Do you mean the steamer on which you came from Ireland landed in Troy? Yes sir. After landing in Troy from Ireland where did you go? I came to New York in Fifty ninth st. I could not tell you the year. I am a mother since I was seventeen and a half years old. It is some years since I left Troy; it is going on eighteen years. I did not stay in New York long. I only stayed here four or five months. I went to a place called Bonundale, Pa.; I did not stay very long there. I stayed there over two months; my people came after me. Where did they take you to? Fifty ninth street. I did not stay there more than about two weeks. I did not go back to Fifty ninth street; my baby was born. I must have been in New York eighteen or nineteen years. If you were to give me a fifty dollar bill I could not tell you where the east river is. I lived in Thirty Seventh street between the eighth and Ninth avenues. I lived there going on a year.

I knew that locality pretty well, from thirteenth up to one hundred and ninth street on Ninth avenue. Do you recollect where you met this officer? No, I do not. Would you be surprised to learn that he says he met you on Ninth avenue? I know I did not meet him on the Ninth avenue. Tell us why you know that? I will tell you, he said that he spoke so many words to him and that I told him about the child when he said, "Damn you, what are you doing with that child around the streets. I was sentenced by the Judge for three months on Monday afternoon. Do you say you were not on Ninth avenue? Yes sir, I was not on Ninth avenue. Where did the officer arrested you? He arrested me about two or three blocks from the house where I was stopping, that is the house where I tried to sleep in. Where is that? I do not know. What station house did he take you to? I was not taken to any station house. I was brought right off the street into Court - the Jefferson Market Court. When I went down to the shoe store to buy a pair of shoes I spoke to the German man and told him the child was lost, she was crying and I felt sorry for her. I says, Can you ask that child where she lives? The jury rendered a verdict of guilt. She was sent to the penitentiary for 4 years and 10 months.
