The People of Court of General Session, Part I
Frank Fisher Before Judge Caring April 12, 1887
Indictment for burglary in the second degree Adolph Rosenweig sworn I live in 103 Division St. in this city; my place of business is 10 Allen St. I was there on the first of April I left it securely locked and fastened and when I came back a quarter past eight o'clock I saw the back door was a little open and the lock was broke off; I also saw that the door leading from my father-in-law's room was open too. I had in the place thirteen wraps, brockaded velvet and silk wraps and jackets worth from four to five hundred dollars I missed six of the wraps and they were worth sixty dollars, which were in my place on the night of the burglary. I have seen one of the wraps since in the Thirtieth District Court in Houston St.

Michael Plumburg sworn I live at 5-
Allen St. and No. 10 is on the opposite side I am working for my father in the rear of the room where they broke in the door. I quit work that day about 6 1/2. The last witness is a brother in law of mine. I took a walk that night and when I came back I found my father inside and my brother in law also with the door broken

Joseph Feinberg sworn I only know that the place was broken into. I don't know who broke in.
Patrick Brennan sworn I belong to the 13th precinct. I arrested the prisoner on the night of the 1st of April corner of Houston and Willett sts about three quarters of a mile from 10 Allen st. at halfpast nine or twenty minutes of ten. He had this bundle under his arm [the witness produced a lady's wrap] It is a new wrap. I asked him where he got it and he told me he found it around in Willett st. I brought him around there; then he told me he found it on a barrel, there was a barrel there. I brought him to the station house. The complainant identified the wrap as his. I searched the prisoner and found this bundle of keys and a candle. I asked him what he was doing with the keys, and he said they belonged to his home. I asked him where he worked, and he said in North Second St. Williamsburgh; he said he lived in 119 Attorney St. I went around there and enquired, and he did not live there at all. Two of the keys in the bundle of keys I found are skeleton keys. I did not go to the place where he said he worked. I asked him in the morning about the keys and he said he found them on a barrel and the wrap on the street.

Frank Fisher sworn and examined in his own behalf testified I have never been arrested before. I work at 75 North Second St. Brooklyn and I go to Ganzeront Market to buy stuff. It was on a Friday night, I went home. I board with a lady. I met two intoxicated young men walking along quarreling about some money. One of them had a pillow case over his shoulder. The first thing I picked up was a handkerchief tied in a knot by a cellar door. I saw a lot of keys scattered on a barrel, picked them up and looked at them. I found a pin for a tie and a candle and lottery ticket and I also picked up a bundle, somebody from the other side came over and asked me what was in the bundle. I told them I did not know. I told him just where I found it.

Cross Examined. I was so excited at the moment I could not give an account of myself. I told the officer I found the wrap against the barrel. I did not tell the officer that the keys belonged to the place where I worked. I gave him where I lived 119 Attorney St. front house on the top floor. I boarded with a lady. My mother is dead three years and my father works in Scranton, Pa. I boarded with the lady two weeks, Mr. Guttlip is her name, a few lady I am 18 years old. I dont know the number in North Second st. where my employe lives, he keeps a grocery store; he is a Jew and his name is Abrahams. [The case was adjourned in order that the officer might find out whether the prisoner lived at 119 Attorney St. and worked in North Second st. Brooklyn.

Patrick Brennan recalled. The defendant said he lived at 119 Attorney St. I brought him there through Attorney from Stanton to Division st. and he could not tell where he lived. I brought him to North Second st. Williamsburg to where he said he worked. I asked him where did he work, and he said, I cannot tell, somewhere around, but I cannot find it.

Frank Fisher recalled. The reason why I didnt want to tell him where I lived or worked was because I was afraid to bring disgrace on my parents.

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty.

Before

Hon. James Fitzgerald

and a Jury.

Tried December 1st, 1890.

Indictment filed November 19th, 1890.

Indictment for Assault in the First Degree.

APPEARANCES:

Assistant District Attorney Bedford, for The People.

C. F. Kinsley, Esq., for the Defense.

W I L L I A M H E N R Y S T E W A R T, the complainant, testified that he was an assistant stevedore. At half past 1 o'clock, on the afternoon of November 6th, 1890, he was putting some men to work, and was taking their names, at the front gate of the Metropolitan Outside Line of steamships, at Pier 11, North River. He had written down about 10 names, when he received a blow on the forehead. He did not know with what the blow was struck, but it dazed him. He staggered around for a moment, and somebody caught and supported him, and he saw a stone lying at his feet. He did not see the stone before he was struck. He was taken in a cab to the Chambers Street Hospital, and remained there about half an hour. Then he was taken back in a cab to the pier again. In the Hospital his wound was sewed up with three or four stitches. His forehead was scarred, and probably would be scarred for life. When he was taken back to the pier, he went up into the office where there was a bed, and he laid down all the afternoon, and in the evening he was taken home. He was confined to his home for six days. Before he was struck with the stone, he had no quarrel or hard words with any one, and he did nothing to provoke an assault. The stone first struck the rim of his hat, and had it not been for the rim of his hat, he would probably have been killed. Under Cross-Examination, he testified that he had never seen the defendant before, to his knowledge. There were about a dozen men standing in front of him whose names he was taking when he was struck.

HUGH DONOHUE, testified that he was a truck driver. On November 8th, 1890, he was on his truck in Carlisle Street, about 100 feet from Pier 11. He saw the complainant, Mr. Stewart, at that time. He was standing on the bulkhead of Pier 11, putting men to work. He, the witness, saw the defendant walk across West Street with a stone in his hand towards where the complainant stood. The witness then identified the stone in evidence as the stone which he saw in the defendant's hand. 10 or 12 men stood in front of Mr. Stewart, and he was taking down their names. He, the witness, saw the defendant walk up to within 10 feet of Mr. Stewart. Then he, the witness, heard a yell and looked again and saw the defendant walk across the Street again. He did not him throw the stone. He saw the defendant walk fast back from where he last saw him stand within 10 feet of Mr. Stewart. Under Cross-Examination, the witness testified that he was acquainted with the complainant. He only knew him by sight from seeing him on the dock. He, the witness, worked for the Transfer Agent on that dock. He, the witness, was waiting on his truck to deliver a load of corn on the truck, when he saw the defendant walk across West Street with the stone in his hand. The defendant walked quite hurriedly back across West Street, after he, the witness, saw him standing about 10 feet from Mr. Stewart. He knew the defendant by sight before that.

OFFICER JOHN H. LYONS, testified that he was attached to the 2nd Precinct. He arrested the defendant on the morning of November 8th, at the corner of Albany and West Streets, at a lodging house there. He went to the room in which the defendant was, and found the door locked, and he, the witness, knocked at the door, and he, the defendant, said, "I know what you want me for; I have been drunk for three days---for firing a stone at Pier 11." Then the defendant began to curse and damn.

OFFICER ARTHUR A. CAREY, testified that he was attached to the 2nd Precinct. He, the witness, accompanied Officer Lyons when he arrested the defendant on November 8th, 1890. The witness corroborated Officer Lyons as to what occurred at the time of the defendant's arrest. On the morning after the arrest, when the witness took the defendant to the police court, and on the return to the station house, and when they were in Fulton Street, the defendant said, "I wonder if those people will prosecute me. I didn't mean to hit anybody. I meant to hit a post." This conversation occurred in Fulton Street, between Church and Broadway.

For the defense

MARTIN FOGARTY, the defendant, testified that he worked along shore and carried the hod in summer. He was 30 years old, and had been in the United States 9 years. He remembered the 6th of November, 1890. He was in the neighbourhood of Pier 11 on that day. He did not throw the stone at the defendant or anybody else. A man hit him in the back with the stone, or a stone like the one in evidence. It was thrown at him in sport, and was not thrown to hurt him. He saw the man about to throw the stone, and he ran back across West Street, and the man threw the stone and struck him in the back. He, the defendant, after his arrest, asked the two Officers what they wanted him for, and he said to the Officers, "I suppose it is for the fellow that got struck with a stone, but I don't know anything about it. I don't know the man; I never seen him." He had heard between the 6th of November and the 8th, when he was arrested, that Mr. Stewart had been struck with a stone. Under Cross-Examination, he testified that he did not walk across West Street with any stone in his hand, but picked it up after he was hit with it, and dropped it again. He did not admit to the officers that he struck the complainant with the stone. He heard that he was charged with throwing the stone in James Reilly's barroom opposite Pier 11. Reilly himself told him that he was blamed for throwing the stone, and that the police were looking for him. He had been in trouble before. He was sentenced to Blackwell's Island for three months for fighting. He did not strike the man that he was charged with fighting with with a shovel. He struck him only with his fist.
