Mr S. Israel. New York

In answer to your letter of the 23/12. I have the honor to inform you, that my son is back in America since the last 4 weeks.

I have had knowledge of the for me very disagreeable case before, but my son confessed to me that he was not the only one guilty but has had several accomplices whose names I am able to make known to you at anytime you may desire, but this is certainly no excuse, at all hazards he has done wrong.

For the repayment of his theft I have offered to him at the time he was here 100²⁵ but he has not accepted my offer, but faithfully promised to me to better himself and to repay the sum as soon as possible.

As you have written to me you intend to take lawfull steps at the courts in this place to recover your money, if that would be wise is certainly for you to decide, but I can assure you that such a measure is all the same to me, whether you would gain anything through that you can hardly imagine as my son far from here, would even not get any notice of it.

You would through this proceeding only take on yourself unnecessary expenses and fail certainly in the desired result, and also would I cease to assist you to recover your money.

I have told my son, sincerely that only then if he is able to show me a receipt from you he will have any claim on his father's property after my death.

So it would be in your interest to have patience, and it shall cause me great pleasure to hear that my son has taken the first step to repay to you your money.

Very Respectfully
W. Hammerschlag.

P.S.

As soon as I will be in the possession of the address of my son I shall make it known to you.

being duly sworn, says,

That on or about the 16th day of July 1898, he deposited in the Rovers Savings Bank, in the City of New York, the sum of one hundred and seventy Dollars, and at the same time, received a Bank Book from said Bank, showing the above sum to his credit, and which Book was numbered 462.216.

That at the time of making the above deposit, deponent resided at No 200 East Broadway in the City of New York; that about that time and for about two weeks subsequent thereto, one Otto Hammerschlag, who was an acquaintance of deponent, occupied deponent's room with him, in which room deponent kept his (deponent's) Trunk, and in which deponent also kept the aforesaid Bank Book.

That on or about the 14th day of October 1898, deponent, desiring to draw Twenty five Dollars, from the said Bank, took his Book from said Trunk, and went to the Bank, and requested to be paid Twenty five Dollars, but was then informed and told, that all his money, but the sum of Five Dollars had been drawn, and payment of the sum demanded, was refused.

That at said time the said Bank retained deponent's Book for the purpose, as he was informed, of writing it up.

It also then appeared that pages two and three, of the said Book, had been torn therefrom, the said second page, as deponent was informed by said Bank and supposes to be the fact, being the page on which the credits or payments made to the person other than deponent, as claimed by said Bank, were written.

That when deponent went back to the Bank, the day subsequent to the day on which he had demanded his money, the Book had written on page 4, thereof, two payments, one of $120, and the other for $42, both being made on the 30th day of July 1898, and was also shown two drafts for the above amounts, dated that day, which deponent then and there pronounced to be forgeries, and not his act.

That deponent suspected that the said Hammerschlag, had stolen his money and forged his name, and on reaching home, and making inquiries, was informed by the landlady Mrs Lyons that, one day in July, just about the time the money was drawn, from said Bank, the said Hammerschlag came to deponent's room, about dinner or noon time, and went in deponent's room, and came out right away.

That he never was in the habit of so doing, and from that day, the said Hammerschlag ceased to room with deponent. And deponent further says, that he (deponent) was always the first to leave the room of a morning, leaving the said Hammerschlag therein.

That deponent fully and sincerely believes that the above named Otto Hammerschlag personated him and presented his Bank Book at the Bank and drew his money therefrom, and in order to draw said money, wrote two checks or drafts, one for $20.00, and the other for $42.00 on said Bank, and forged deponent's name.

That deponent, hearing that said Otto Hammerschlag had returned to Germany, wrote to the father of said Hammerschlag, accusing his son of having drawn his money and forged his name and deponent received in reply, a letter from the Father of said Otto Hammerschlag in which he states that his son, (deponent's old roommate,) had confessed to him that he, the said Otto Hammerschlag and others, whose names are unknown to deponent, did draw the money, and do the act charged to them; a true translation of which letter is hereto annexed and marked "A".

Deponent further says that at the time of the discovery of the loss of his money, and the forgery of his name, he made endeavors to find the said Hammerschlag, but could not do so, and some time subsequent thereto, only learned that he was in Germany,

That deponent has lately heard that the said Otto Hammerschlag is now of or travelling for the Northwestern Suspender Company of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and is in the United States, of which fact, deponent is informed by letter from one George Levy at Milwaukee, Wis. Minn.

Mrs. Leonard, v

City and County of New-York, SS.:

Nora Schevalier of No. 192 Bleecker street, in said City, being duly sworn, deposes and says: That she is a respectable married woman, living with her husband, Joseph Schevalier, at the above number; that on the evening of the 9th day of October, 1883, at about the hour of half past five in the afternoon of said day, one Christopher Hankoff, who lives on the same floor in the same building as this deponent, came into deponent's room in the absence of her husband, and taking hold of deponent told her that he wanted to have to do with her; that deponent asked him what he meant, and the said Hankoff replied that she knew what he wanted; that the said Hankoff then took hold of deponent around the shoulder and tried to throw her on the bed; that deponent struggled with the said Hankoff for about fifteen minutes, during which time deponent hollowed and cried for help; that when she began to cry for help the said Hankoff struck deponent several times in the eye and on the ear and tore her chemise from her back and also bruised her on the leg; that before the said Hankoff succeeded in accomplishing his purpose his woman, Rosie, and deponent's landlady, Mrs. Leonard, came running to deponent's room, whereupon the said Hankoff went out into the hall and said that deponent was no better than any other whore, and that he had often had connection with her and every time he did so he had paid her one dollar, all of which this deponent says is utterly untrue.

And this deponent further says that when the said Rosie and the said Mrs. Leonard came into her room she was lying on the floor, bleeding profusely from the wounds she had received in her struggle with the said Hankoff.

That deponent had the said Hankoff arrested and he was arraigned at Jefferson Market Police Court, before Justice Duffy, on Sunday, October 14th, 1883; that deponent appeared at said Court against the said Hankoff with her husband and Mrs. Leonard, and after hearing the case the said Justice Duffy fined the said Hankoff ten dollars and put him under three hundred dollars bail to keep the peace for one year.

17th day of Oct., 1883. :

The People
 Christopher Hankoff } Court of General Sessions, Part II
 Monday, November 5th 1883. Before Recorder Smythe.
 Indictment for assault in the second degree.

Norah Chevelier sworn and examined. I am a married woman; my husband is in Court; on the 9th of Oct. I was living at 192 Bleeker st. on the second floor, room No 11.
 The prisoner was living on that floor; he came in that room at half past five in the evening. He says to me, "Halloo." I says,
 "Halloo." He said, "I swear by you." I said,
 "What do you mean?" He said, "You know what I mean," taking me by the person outside my clothes; he knocked me down and threw me on the floor, and when I screamed for help he kicked and beat me and blackened my eyes and bled me on the head and grabbed me by the thigh. He said, "If you dont come in I will take that piece off flesh out of you."
 I says, No, I dont. I screamed, and the first one came to my assistance was the woman Rosa and my landlady seen me bleeding, Mr. Leonard. He (the prisoner) went out in the hallway; he said I was no better than any of them; he had connection seven or eight times with me and every time he went with me he paid a dollar. I knew the man by going into his room and waiting on his wife; she was a sick and delicate woman; he was living on the same floor with his wife; she is his woman; he is not married to her; the prisoner had never entered my room before and never sought any intimacy before. I was dressed at the time he attacked me; he turned my chemise right over my head and he tore it and my skirt came off; there was nothing left of my waist but the sleeves; he took hold of me in a brutal manner by the shoulders and by the waist - every way that a man could try to get the best of me in my room. I screamed and the landlady and his woman came to my assistance before he left the room. Cross Examined. I was friendly with Rosa, I knew she was not married to him, I used to go out for beer; she was delicate and drank it sometimes. I waited on her for charity's sake. I went before Judge Duffly and after hearing the case fined him ten dollars for disorderly conduct and ordered him to give bail in $300 to keep the peace. I did not tell the Justice all I told her. Afterwards came down to the District Attorney's office and made another affidavit. I was not jealous of Rosa, I am positive there was no trouble with the prisoner and her on that point. I did not scream after she found me in my room with him; the landlady heard me scream; he tried to accomplish his object but could not. Rosa did not charge me with trying to take her man away from her. Elizabeth Leonard sworn. On the 9th of Oct. I was the landlady of the complainant at 192 Bleeker St. I could not say the time I went to her room, but I heard the screaming and I ran up stairs; the prisoner was in her room I went in; she showed me her limbs; they were torn and bleeding; there was blood upon the floor; it was coming from her nose; her nose was swelled out; she told me he fought desperately with her trying to have connection with her. I ordered him out of my house; he said he would leave when his time was up. That was on Saturday night. While she was speaking to me the prisoner was fastening up his clothing; he looked very excited. She was all bleeding from her face and legs; some of her chemise was up here. (pointing) I could not tell how it was; he kind of laid her out on the floor on the side of the carpet; she was wore out; he got towards the door; he was fastening up his pantaloons; I lifted her up; she was bleeding where he had torn her; she said that he tried to have connection, that she fought desperately and screamed. I heard her screams. I saw Rosa coming in with a bundle of wood; she had not been out for three months. When I went to the complainant's room Rosa was not there; she stood in the hall. I did not see her go into the room; there was such excitement. Cross examined. I went before Justice Duffy, but I was not allowed to speak, I could not get a chance. They asked me if I seen the man give that black eye to her. I said, No. I did not see the blows struck. I could not get a chance to say any more. I was not allowed to say any more. Christopher Hankoff, sworn and examined in his own behalf testified. I work for Mr. Sweitzer and Mr. Dorrett driving a truck. I was working up to the time of my arrest. I was living with a woman named Rosa at 192 Bleeker St. I had known her two or three months. There is a sort of jealousy between this woman and my wife; she used to drink and fool and flirt with me. I have had connection with her several times. This day I went into the room I sent my wife out for groceries. The complainant called me in and asked where Rosa was? I said she had gone for groceries.

She was sitting on the bed; she was half drunk at the time, she told me to sit alongside of her; we got talking about different things. My wife came up and had an idea something was wrong; she went and halloed for Mrs. Leonard; it was my wife that screamed, it was not this woman. Mrs. Leonard came up about three or four minutes after. I walked out of the room when my wife was there. She (the complainant) said, "Never mind, Rosa, there is nothing wrong." I took Rosa off the street and was taking care of her. Did you assault her in the manner she has stated? No. I gave her a black eye before this and was arrested. They made their statement (the complainant and the landlady) and I made my statement to the Police Justice and Judge Duffy fined me ten dollars and $300 bail to keep the peace. I did not assault her and never had any idea of having connection with her.

Cross Examined: This Rosa is not my wife; the complainant was jealous of the woman I was living with; she asked me from time to time to live with her and to shake off Rosa, that the man she was living with had ~~been~~ reformation she would leave her husband - her husband only worked in the summer, he was idle in the winter and she had to work for him, she liked a young man much more than her husband. It was my wife called to Mrs. Leonard to come up stairs.

Ernest Schweitzer sworn. I am a truckman and the prisoner worked for me up to the time of his arrest; he worked for me six months and we worked together seven years. His general character is first rate. Once in a while he would get tight, but in other respects he has been a decent hard working man.

Rosa Smith sworn. The prisoner is taking care of me; he took me off the streets and has cared for me for the last three or four years. I know the complainant; she has been in my place many times. There has been trouble between us on account of her making free with my "old man". I did not like it. On the day in question I went out for some groceries and when I went back to my room I did not find him there. I went to her room and the two were sitting on the bed beside each other. I ordered him out of the room. She said, I asked him.

He said, she called me in. I got excited. He said he would come out as soon as he got his money back which he paid her, that she had a dollar bill in her hand. I stood on the head of the stairs and called to the landlady, I am the one that halled for the landlady, gave the alarm, for there was not a soul around but myself. I was in the room before Mr. Leonard came up, that is how I came to call her. When she says that I was in the hallway she does not speak truly; she knew nothing about it; she was on the first landing. We have had trouble several times about the prisoner. Cross Examined. About a month before this she came into my room; my husband, or whatever you call him was in bed after coming from work, he got up to have something to eat; she was in the room, she was half tight, she put her arms around him, she says, I would like to have you for the winter to keep me warm, I think I will shake my husband for you. I struck my husband for it; there was bad feeling between us. That is all I have got to say about that. I saw blood on her face after I called my landlady; she showed me her thigh. I don't know how she got the marks but I know she had them. A week before that her husband beather and put her out of the room; she had slept in my room all night; that was about a week before she came into my room and kissed my husband on the bed. I was present when her husband had beaten her. Her nose was not swollen and bleeding. I did not see any blood upon the floor at that time. Mrs. Leonard came about five minutes after I called her. I said, "Mrs. Leonard, what do you think of your respectable tenants you have got in your house that takes another man and woman in her room?" She said, "I will fix you for raising this trouble for me." Elizabeth Leonard recalled. I was called into the room by screams; the complainant was as sober as I am now.

Joseph Chevalier recalled. I was not beaten by my husband a week before that. I have not had any difficulties with this man and woman before. I never entered her room at a time when he was lying in the bed.

Joseph Chevalier sworn. I did not assault my wife at any time.

Delia Morris was called, but she said she did not see the occurrence.

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty upon assault in the second degree.
