Agreeable to your invitation I visited Austin at the City Prison, and found him suffering from a severe attack of neuralgia of the head face and eyes. On a general examination I found that Austin had contracted syphilis some ten years back and had never received proper treatment. In most cases of syphilitic neuralgia of the head the trouble is in the brain tissue proper (generally in the form of a gum humor) in other cases it merely destroys the integrity of certain nerves.

From a careful examination I conclude that Austin is suffering from gummy humor of the brain.
