An examination of this case I am of the opinion that a conviction cannot be had on the evidence adduced. The officer cannot say whether there was larceny or not nor the debt was not a regular v.

William J. Carey

Violation of License.

Deposition:

William J. Carey, the defendant 334 Henderson St. Jersey City, N.J.
I am in the organ builders' business. On the 10th of September, 1884, between eleven and twelve o'clock A. M. I was arrested for selling liquor, in a place that had no license. The place had belonged to my father who died in August of the same year. After his death it was managed by Mr. David M. Koehler, the liquor man. I never was employed as bar keeper, but assisted some times in keeping bar, when the regular bar keeper was out. I did not know that the place was without a license. On the above mentioned day I was eighteen years old, and am an orphan now, being the only one left of the family.

John Irving,

Patrolman, 15 Precinct.

In the 10th of September, 1887, I arrested the defendant for selling to me a glass of whiskey at No. 121 McLaughal Street. The Captain of the precinct told me that the place was not licensed. I did not know it of my own knowledge.
I looked around in the saloon, and did not see any license, but did not make special inquiries or a careful search for the license.

The People } Court of General Sessions. Part 2 Alice Coleman } Before Recorder Smyth. Nov. 23. 1884.

Indictment for grand larceny in second degree.

Martin Lerner sworn. I am a Sandy Hook pilot. I was in New York on the 12th of October. I had been to the city three or four days. I remember being in Rakhe's and Lannigan's saloons on that day. I went into Rakhe's between 8 and 9 o'clock in the morning; it is at the corner of Peck Slip and Water St. I had on me at that time a gold watch, a Constantinian plain, polished Swiss movement, double case watch worth $150. I had it in my vest pocket with a plated chain attached to it worth about seven or eight dollars I suppose. I saw the defendant Alice Coleman just previous to going into Rakhe's saloon on the street and another lady with her named Woods. We spoke to each other, but I do not remember the conversation. I was probably in the saloon half an hour before I missed my watch; we sat down there drinking and another man was with me. I met him in Peck Slip, I did not know him; he was not with these women when I met them. I met him before I saw the woman. The defendant while I was in the saloon was fooling around me, had her arms around me; she sat down on a chair beside me; we called for a round of drinks and the bartender brought them. In the mean time the prisoner went out and the bartender called my attention to my chain hanging down. The woman Woods was in the place at the time, I believe the other man and the defendant went out. My watch was in my pocket when I went into that saloon; at the time my chain was hanging down the watch was gone, I never saw it since. The bartender said ~~he~~ <sup>she</sup> should take care of the Woods woman while he went out to get an officer; he came back with an officer, I believe Officer Baker. I went to the station house and the defendant was brought in there probably two or three hours after I missed my watch. I identified her as the woman who was in my company. I had no conversation with her. No other person than the defendant had their arms around me.

 The occurrence that I have been narrating occurred in Lannigan's saloon. I went from Rake's saloon to Lannigan's in 67 James St. with the same party. I had my watch after I left Rake's saloon and when I entered Lannigan's I had it. It was Lannigan's bar keeper, Mr. Kearney, that called my attention to the chain hanging. Goss Examined The unknown man may have been with me half an hour before I met the defendant.

 I met him at the upper end of Beck Slip; he stayed with me until I lost my watch.
 We possibly had three or four drinks at Rath's saloon of lager beer and whiskey; we reached Lammiman's after 9 o'clock in the morning. I drank some whiskey and I think the ladies drank lager. I discovered that my watch was gone between nine and ten o'clock. I saw my watch half an hour before I missed it. When I missed it Miss Coleman and the unknown man had gone out; he had been out possibly twenty minutes before I missed it. The defendant and the unknown man went out shortly after. I believe the man went out first. I think the defendant went out about ten minutes afterwards. I don't know that she returned to the saloon afterwards, I did not see her.
 I did not see the man nor the watch since.
 I saw the defendant in the station house.
 The Woods woman never left the room.
 I do not know whether or not after the man left the room he returned to the door and wanted the woman, Coleman, the defendant.

Gustave W. Rahe sworn. I keep a saloon at 19 Peck Slip corner of Water St., I remember seeing the Sandy Hook pilot, Mr. Connor, in my place on the 12th of October, I should imagine it was about 8 1/2 when he came in. I don't know who came in with him; the four were in when I came from breakfast, I could not tell who the other man was. I never saw him before; The defendant and the woman Woods were the women. They remained in my place about half an hour. I noticed that Alice Coleman pulled out Mr. Connor's watch a couple of times, and she put it back again in his pocket, I saw her do that. I noticed that they all left the saloon together. The complainant's watch was gold and double case. Cross Examined: I am certain it was not the man pulled out the watch, for he was not near Mr. Connor. After Alice Coleman pulled out the watch he showed it to her and the other woman. He did not have the watch in his hand showing the works of the watch while I was there. The night before I came in. I was in the saloon when she took the watch out, I was between five and ten feet away from them; it is a small saloon about ten feet wide by thirty feet long.

There was some dispute about the drinks and I told my bartender the best thing to do was to get them out as quickly as possible. I thought they were rather rough characters. Lornas was under the influence of liquor, but the man who was with him was perfectly sober. It seemed to me Alice Coleman had a little taken; she had no hat on. Lornas had his watch when he left the saloon. Some of them had beer and others had whiskey.

John Kearney testified that he was a bar keeper employed at Larnigans 67 James St. I remember the 12th of October; the complainant and three others came into the saloon that morning between 9 and 10; the defendant was one of them. I noticed the complainant wore his chain as if his watch was in his pocket; they ordered drinks, beer and whiskey. The defendant had her arms around the complainant. I told her we did not allow that; she made an excuse that she wanted to go to the water closet. I paid no attention to it; she walked out and the man after her. I noticed Lornas' chain hanging and I called his attention to it. I asked him if he lost his watch. He put his hand in his pocket and said he had. I said to hold on to the Woods woman. In the mean time the complainant went to the station house and about an hour afterwards the defendant came down the street. I brought her into the store and sent for an officer and had her arrested. I asked her what business she had to take the man's watch, and she said it was none of my business. She told me she did take the watch and she gave it to the man who was with her. I have <sup>Cross examined</sup> been bar keeper in this place twelve years. The prisoner and I are not good friends because every time she would come in drunk I would put her out. I never threatened that I would get her in trouble. Her mother came to see me six or seven times and I told her I would not come to Court only I am forced to. The police officer was present when I accused her of taking the watch and when she said it was none of my business. George P. Baker sworn. I am attached to the Fourth Precinct Police. I arrested the defendant in Lannigan's saloon on the 12th of October about 1/2 to 11 o'clock. I arrested the Woods woman first and afterwards I saw the defendant going down James st a short while before that.

I was asked if I saw her go down the street, and I said, 'yes'; I was told she was the woman who took the watch. I went into Larrigans and the barkeeper told me that the defendant took the watch and I arrested her. She came along with me fearably. She said she did not take the watch and did not know anything about it; she said if anybody took it it was the strange man. I asked her if she knew the man's name? She said she never saw the man before, that he came with the complainant.

Alice Coleman sworn and examined in her own behalf testified. I met the complainant and his friend in Peck Slip and the Woods woman was with me; the complainant put his arms around me and grabbed hold of me and asked me to go in and have a drink. I went in with him and he had about 70 cents worth of drink. He took out his watch to see what time it was. I passed the remark what a nice watch, I took hold of it with no intention of taking the watch and he put it back in his pocket. When the bartender wanted to get the money for the drinks he wanted to smash him. The first place he went to the bar keeper said he did not sell drinks to ladies, and the complainant kicked the screen doors off the hinges and then we went to Lannigan's; he ordered drinks and the man who was with him went out and came back and called me out; I went out and he showed me the watch. I said it was his friend's watch and that he had better give it back, for if he did not he would get into trouble.

He coaxed me to go with him, but I would not; he left me at the corner of Cherry and Oliver Sts. and I could not say where he went. I went back to Lannigan's and the bar keeper said, "you had better give up the man's watch." I said, I had not it and would give him leave to search me. The officer brought me to the station house, I told him the same thing.

I have never been arrested before. I have been working five years steadily and live with my mother at 42 Oak St. I worked in a cigarette factory in 22nd St.

The mother of the defendant testified that the daughter worked at cigarettes, but had recently begun to drink.

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy.
