& I also found in the pockets of Dorney - a key known as a skeleton key

Craft - They were acting in a suspicious manner & I followed them because I knew one of them (Dorney) to be a thief. Dorney is not his right that she is the wife of Joseph M.

12th day of July 1883 deponent left her house in the company of Susan Grant for the purpose of a walk on the Eighth Avenue and while we were walking along said Avenue in a gay manner two young men who were strangers to me accosted us and got into a conversation with them we walked together. There or four blocks and ^{they} asked us to go to the Theatre with them the next ^{night} and we agreed to go with them and I then suggested as it was getting late that I wanted to go home and they agreed to see me as far as my house the said strangers did not know that I was a married woman nor did I tell them of it we walked with said strange men from 30th Street and 6th Avenue to Ninth and when near Eight Avenue I met my husband who had followed me during the whole of said walk defining further I says that her husband grief in Steinhower often told her not to go out after dark and never to speak to any strange men and notwithstanding his telling me to do so I did meet the above mentioned strange men and contrary to his wishes walked and talked to them and made an engagement to go to the Theatre with them the next night at the time I met my my conduct and I told him that I would go with whom and where I pleased and that he could not me to come home with him and I then told him that I would go home when I pleased and with whom I pleased I then got angry with him and he was also very much excited and he put his hand in his pocket I then felt a stinging blood on my neck and found that
