District Attorney.

Grand Larceny, second Degree.
[Sections 23, 53, Penal Code.]

In my opinion there is not sufficient evidence
upon which to obtain a conviction. The complainant can not positively identify
the defendant as the man
who had his property stolen. The case has been once tried and the jury
disagreed standing there
for acquittal.

I therefore recommend
defendant's discharge
upon his own recogni-
tance.

July 14th 1892 at about 5:40 a.m.
I met complainant and Defen-

Complainant had hold of Dept.
I asked what was the trouble Compt. said. Dept. stole my Coats. The Dept. said No. I have not done anything. I'll go

I go from one place to an

went to Rutgers Place and there found some coats at the foot of the stairs in the hall on the ground floor
then I took Dept. & coats to 7th Precinct Station House. We then went back to the house
in South Street and made search there but found nothing there. There were some ten or twelve men there.
It appeared as if they lodged there. This case was tried

in General Sessions Part II

standing 9 for acquittal and three for conviction. I have since made inquiries and find that the defendant is a

been honest, sober and industrious. That I have seen him myself nearly every day

The man's voice said I made a mistake. I said who is there again. He said nothing. I then saw he was carrying some coats on his shoulder. I yelled Thief & ran after him. He dropped the coats and ran. He was then on the first floor. I followed him. He ran down Rutgers Place through Jefferson St. through Water St. to a little house there. I don't know the number. He went in the house. A lady told me he went in there. I did not see him after he left Jefferson St. I don't know the lady, I have never seen her since.

I caught hold of him and said

I brought him down to Cor

vs.

Samuel Mikolai.

This case being assigned
time for trial by District Attorney

After careful investigation
I find the following to be the facts. That the complainant is a Tailor at No. 7 Rutgers Place, that on the morning of July 14th 1892
at 5.30 o'clock he ~~heard~~ ^{saw} a man going down stairs, with some coats on his shoulder, that he followed him and saw after him
down Rutgers Place, through Jefferson Street where he lost sight
of him, that a lady informed him
that she saw a man who was running go into a house on Water street. That Complainant waited outside said house about ten minutes when ~~complainant~~ ^{defendant} came out.
The complainant took hold of him and said you thief. The defendant said let me alone. Then Compt. amount handed over defendant to Officer McCarthy & whom he met on the corner of Rutgers and Cherry Streets.

That there is no corroborating evidence or circumstance to support complainant's story. The defendant has always denied the larceny and he is a man of good character, married, father of a family, sober and industrious.

That on Aug 5th 1892 this case was tried in Part II of General Sessions. The jury disagreed, standing three for conviction and nine for acquittal.

In my opinion that a conviction cannot be had and believe that there is reasonable doubt as to whether this defendant committed the larceny and therefore recommend the dismissal of the indictment.

Jan'y 12th 1894.

Tried JULY 25TH, 1892.

Indictment filed JULY 19TH, 1892.

APPEARANCES:

ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY BARTOW S. WEEKS,

For THE PEOPLE.

MARK ALTER, ESQUIRE,

For THE DEFENCE.

2

GEORGE KURZ, THE COMPLAINANT, testified that he was a foreman in Hammerslough Brothers clothing house. On the morning of the 12th of July, 1892, between one and two o'clock, he was going through 16th street. He had the watch and chain shown to him by the District Attorney in the left hand pocket of his vest, and the bar of the chain through the buttonhole of his vest. An old woman came up to him and asked him for ten cents to buy a drink, and he put his hand in his pocket to get it. He felt some one touch his pocket and he felt for his pocket-book, but it was gone. He caught hold of the old woman and a young man came from behind a wagon and hit him, the complainant, in the face. He, the complainant, walked over to First avenue and was met by the defendant. The defendant said to him, "I guess you have been robbed," and wanted to feel his pockets. The defendant grabbed his watch and chain and pulled it out of his vest. He, the complainant, grabbed the defendant, and a man came up and caught hold of the defendant and said, "This time I have got you, young fellow." He, the complainant, took the watch and put it back in his vest again.

In cross-examination the complainant testified that he was a married man. He left his home on the night of the 11th of July, about eight o'clock, in the company of two men, whose names were Koch and Stern. At the time he had sixty dollars in his pocket, but it did not belong to him. He, the complainant, and his friends went to Sulzer's Harlem River Park. He had four drinks of wine that night. He, the complainant, usually drank beer. He stayed in the park until about twelve o'clock. He left his friends in 10th street. He came down town on the Third avenue elevated road, in company with his friends, and they got off at 14th street. He, the complainant, had been living in 17th street for four years. He afterwards found the pocket-book and the money in his breast pocket. He, the complainant, went to the station house with the detective and the defendant and made a complaint. He, the complainant, was locked up in the station house, but he did not know why he was locked up. He was taken to court the next morning, but was discharged.

OFFICER GARRETT F. DOYLE testified that he was attached to the 18th Police precinct. On the morning of the 12th of July, 1892, he saw the complainant and the defendant in 16th street. He, the witness, was passing up First avenue and heard a woman say, "Keep your hands out of that man's pocket, you are robbing that." He, the witness, was behind a wagon and he came from behind the wagon and saw the complainant and the defendant scuffling. The defendant had the complainant's watch in his hand. He, the witness, grabbed the defendant by the neck and said, "Give that man back his watch and chain," and he did so and he, the witness, arrested him. He took both men to the station house, and, in order to have the complainant on hand in the morning, locked the complainant up.

In cross-examination the witness testified that he was not in uniform at the time of the arrest. The complainant had been drinking but was not staggering. He, the witness, had been an officer for nearly twelve years.

FOR THE DEFENCE, JOHN MULHAIR, THE DEFENDANT, testified that Mul-

hair was his right name, but he had been indicted under the name of Mulhall. He drove a coal cart for Jeremiah Skidmore's Sons, and had been working for that firm for eight years. He was a married man, and had one child. He had been working up to the time of his arrest. He met the complainant on First avenue, and the complainant told him that he had been robbed. The complainant was drunk at the time. He, the defendant, was not exactly sober, but he was not drunk. The complainant asked him to have a drink, and he did have a drink with the complainant. He walked to the corner with the complainant and stood there talking, and the officer came along and arrested him and took him to the station house. He did not know how the complainant's watch got into his, the defendant's, possession. He did not mean to steal the watch. The sergeant in the station house let him, the defendant, go, and he, the defendant, was walking down the station house steps when the officer came out and re-arrested him and locked him up. The officer who arrested him did not come from behind a wagon, but came from his own dwelling house.

In cross-examination the defendant testified that he did not touch the complainant's watch at all.

In re-direct examination the defendant testified that he had been arrested once before, for running over a little girl, about a year before the trial. A young man who lived a few doors away from him, the defendant, had died, and he, the defendant, had been to the wake, and stayed at the wake until between twelve and one o'clock. The officer did not tell him why he was locked up; he first learned why he was locked up the next morning, in the police court. He, the defendant, earned ten dollars a week, and took his money home and gave it to his wife. On the way to the station house, the officer did not have hold of him, the defendant, but he walked ahead of the officer.

JANE MULHAIR testified that she was the wife of the defendant. She had never known the defendant to be in trouble before. The defendant was a hard-working man, and always gave her his salary. The defendant supported his mother, who was seventy-two years old. The defendant was a good hus-

7

IN REBUTTAL, OFFICER DOYLE, being re-called, testified that he had hold of the defendant all the way to the station house with the exception of two blocks. The defendant was not discharged by the sergeant in the station house and then re-arrested.

PEOPLE ON MY COMPLAINT,
VERSUS*Frederic Murphy*

As complainant in the above case, I beg to recommend the defendant to such leniency and clemency as the Court and District Attorney may see fit to show; but I expressly assert that my reasons for so doing are not controlled by any advantage to myself.

I desire to withdraw my complaint, and ask that the defendant be discharged. I know the above named defendant for about two years and he has an excellent reputation among all who know him. The fight out of which the complaint grew, was a general one in which others were engaged besides the defendant, and in which the defendant was severely cut on the arm. Again begging the District Attorney to discharge the prisoner
