Defree, grand larceny and receiving stolen goods.

{ Court of General Sessions. Part First.
 Before Recorder Smythe. Oct. 6. 1880.
 Indictment for burglary in the third

Lena Ernst sworn and examined. I live at 143 Bleeker St.; my mother's name is Bridget, she is a widow; my mother lived at 143 Bleeker St. about two years. On the 17th of Sept. I left the house in the morning at 8 o'clock; we occupied the front of the attic and above that is the roof. There is a skylight there on the top of the roof. It was by a fan light over the door that they got in; which leads from the hall into the room. I fastened all the doors before I left. I did not leave anybody in the house when I went away. I came back at six o'clock; my mother came home at four o'clock; she is not in Court. When I got back at six o'clock I noticed that the fan light was half open and when I went away it was closed; the fan light was big enough for anybody to get in. I missed under clothes; a cloth sash worth five dollars and a white sash worth about a dollar; a black silk sash, two skirts and four sheets; six red napkins, two chemises and two pair of shawls. The scarf was found in the pocket of one of the prisoners. I saw it on Sunday when the officer showed it to me. The burglary was on Friday; the rest of these articles were got in a pawnshop in Bleeker st. Madame Chameroy I did not go with the officer, but he brought it to me. Two skirts were found in South Fifth avenue pawnshop and four sheets and two pair of drawers were found in Bleeker st. Cross Examined. My mother was in the house the afternoon of the larceny from four to six o'clock and told me of it when I came home. There was another man arrested for this larceny beside the two prisoners named Welsh. The woman with whom the pawn tickets was found was Lesseurter; she bought them from one of these prisoners for 20 cents.

 The other prisoner said he picked up the scarf on the stairs; the prisoners were arrested on Saturday night. Welsh was brought before the judge at Jefferson Market and he let him go because there was not sufficient evidence against him.
 Clementina Lesseurter, sworn and examined through the interpreter. I bought the pawn tickets now shown me, and gave the prisoner Briand 20 cents for them on the 18th of September about 9 o'clock in the morning. I did not go to the pawn office to see what was pawned there. I knew the prisoner by sight for sixteen years and had seen him during that time about ten times.
 When he gave me the tickets he told me he needed money and that the next day he would go to work. So I gave him that money. I did not ask him what the tickets represented. I told him he could have the tickets whenever he desired them. The young girl who was sworn came to me and asked me if I bought pawn tickets? I said, "yes," and showed them to her. I gave the tickets to her. I did not see the articles at all. Michael Crowley sworn. I am a detective officer. I know where the pawn office of J. Carroll is 19 South Fifth ave. and of Mr. St. Charney 128 Bleeker St. I visited those offices and got certain articles - sheets, skirts and drawers; the young girl identified them as property which had been stolen from 143 Bleeker St. I got the pawn tickets from Lena Ernst. I searched the prisoners. I arrested them about 9 o'clock on Saturday night the 16th on the top floor of 143 Bleeker St. In Gulliard Edwards's pocket I found a scarf which she said belonged to her. He said he found it on the stairs; he did not say when there was another person arrested named Welsh. Briand said he did not know anything about the pawn tickets. I told him that that woman said he had sold the tickets to Madame Lesswater. He said he did not. He did not to my recollection say that he got the tickets from Welsh. He did not say so in the police court.

Lena Ernst recalled. The tickets I got from Mrs. Lesanta are the same ones which I gave to Officer Grosley and these are the ones. Francis Briand sworn and examined in his own behalf. I did not go over this fan light. Mr. Edmond gave the ticket to me and he received it from Mr. Welsh and I sold them for twenty cents to Mrs. Lesanta. I was never arrested before. Cross Examined. I know the other prisoner. I was living with him about nine days in the same room. I am a cook by trade, it is a month and a half since I worked at that. I worked in the Parovian hotel New Brighton, S.I. The other man is a watch-maker. At the time these clothes were stolen neither of us had anything took. I did not have any money that day. I did not know what the tickets represented. Galliard Edmond, sworn and examined testified through the interpreter. I did not enter these premises on the 17th of Sept. I was away and in the evening came back to the locality. I went away with Mr. Welsh in the morning. I went to look for work on the Railroad. I got home 1/4 to 4. I found the scarf on the stairs when I went up stairs. The jury rendered a verdict of petty larceny. His Honor sentenced each of the prisoners to the penitentiary for the period of six months.

The People
vs. William H. Elliott

Court of General Sessions. Before Recorder Smythe. October 6, 1880.

Indictment for grand larceny.

Elmira Billings, sworn and examined. I live 120 Clinton Place, I have known the prisoner ten months; on the 18th of September he lodged with my mother. I live with my mother. I am not married; on the 18th of September I owned a gold watch valued at $35. I laid it down myself on the shelf in the bed room about one o'clock in the day time; the prisoner was eating his dinner in our room; he left the house about an hour after he ate his dinner.
I missed the watch about an hour or an hour and a half after he went out. There were no other persons in the house except my mother and myself. I next saw Elliott at 4 o'clock that same afternoon. I did not say any thing to him about the watch then; he went out and came in again an hour afterwards. I asked him for the watch and he denied having seen it. I saw him next Sunday and he denied it and on Monday night he owned he took it; he said he smashed it. This was in my mother's house; he was not arrested then.
He said he had smashed it up and I never would see the pieces of it again. The detective had been notified, but he came and did not find him at home, he was in the street. The next day, Tuesday, while he was asleep the officer came, Crowley, to our house and arrested him. Crowley asked the prisoner what he did with the watch and he would not tell what he had done with it; he would not make any answer. I saw my watch afterwards in Crowley's hands. Cross Examined. I am 20 years old. I have known the prisoner about ten months. I am not about to become a mother in the course of two or three months. I have not been living with the prisoner as his wife up to the time of the alleged larceny; we have not slept together. In the afternoon when the detective came the prisoner was in bed asleep in my mother's room. I have used that bed some time, but I have never slept with the prisoner. I presume the prisoner took my watch twice before the last time without my consent. I did not know that he had taken it till he brought it back; he brought it back the first time. He did not have the watch more than two or three hours the first and the second time; a month intervened between the time of the taking the first and the second times, and during that he had been coming backwards and forwards and stopping at our house. He went to bed in our house after he had informed me that he had taken the watch.

Michael Crowley sworn and examined testified I am an Officer attached to the Fifteenth precinct and arrested the prisoner. I got a note in the station house from the girl notifying me to go down to their house. I went to 120 Clinton Place and asked Elmira Billings what she wanted. The prisoner was not there when I spoke to her. I told her I would come again to arrest Elliott. I arrested him on the Tuesday following. I went into the house and asked her if Elliott was there yet. She said, yes, he was in his room. I went in and woke him up. When he woke up I told him I was a police officer and I was about to arrest him for a watch he had taken from Elmira Billings. I asked him if he had taken the watch. He said, "yes," he had destroyed it. I asked him what he done with it after he destroyed it; he said he would not tell. I told him to put on his hat and coat and come to the station house. I expected the complainant to come there and I had to go after her and I brought her to the station house. I then asked the prisoner in the presence and hearing of the complainant where the watch was? He said it was broken up, that it was broken in pieces; he told me that the pieces were with a friend of his and he attended bar in Johnson's liquor store corner of Tenth St. and Sixth ave. I then went to Johnson's and found the watch in possession of the bar keeper and a receipt that Elliott admitted that he had signed for twenty dollars for the watch. I showed the watch to Elmira Billings and she said it was her watch.

William W. Elliott, sworn and examined in his own behalf testified. I lived at 120 Clinton place very near seven months with Elmira Billings, I occupied the same bed with her for the last six months. I was arrested once for carrying a revolver and fined ten dollars, but was never arrested for anything else. I worked for Mr. Woods Gymnasium & West 28th St. I took this watch twice before; the first time I wore it a day and a half and she knew that I took it; the last time I got it on the shelf in the morning when I got up. I took it for the purpose of wearing it but with no intention of stealing it. I sold the watch when I was "tight," "pretty full." I told Miss Billings that I took the watch and went to bed with her afterwards and slept with her all night. I got four five dollar bills from the bar keeper for the watch and I signed the receipt. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty of grand larceny. He was sent to the State prison for two years and six months.

The People ^{v.} Edward Enright } Court of General Sessions. Before Judge Edward Enright } Clawing. November 10, 1880. Indictment for grand larceny from the person in the night time and receiving stolen goods.

Albert Cole, sworn and examined, testified. I live in Linden, New Jersey. I do business in the New York Stock Exchange. I was in New York on the evening of the 30th of Sept., and about 9 o'clock I was going toward my home, going down Cortland St. to the ferry. I saw the prisoner. I had been drinking, but not to any great extent, but I had been under great mental excitement all the day. I stepped into some saloon in Cortland St., drank there, and got in conversation with the prisoner. All of a sudden I discovered that he made a dash for the chain and watch and he ran out of the place. I made a dash after him, he gave me a push and I fell down, and then by that time I lost all sight of the man. I supposed every thing was gone when to my surprise Officer Sullivan came toward me with the property and asked me if this was mine? (the watch and chain and pocket book) I said it was. The officer asked me to make a complaint if it was mine. I made the complaint. I identified the prisoner as the man who took my property. My chain was fastened to the button hole. I carried my pocketbook in my inside vest pocket. I saw the prisoner at the station house and at the Tomb. The officer brought him and the property to me and asked me if that was the man who had taken my property. I identified the man and the property. Cross Examined. The saloon I was in in Cortland Street was on the left hand side going down to the ferry. I could not tell how many men were in the saloon at the time; there may have been three or four there. I am under the impression that the prisoner drank with me. I do not think my vest was open, the upper button might have been open. I am sure it was in there at that time. I did not see the prisoner take the pocketbook but I saw him take the watch and chain. I saw him stand up by the side of me, talking to me and in a minute slip it out and run away. I did not actually see him take the watch and chain, but he was fumbling with me. I saw it in his hands; he ran away and he pushed me against some barrels that were outside. I did not take notice how the other men in the saloon were dressed, but I know how the prisoner was dressed; he is dressed entirely different now. What kind of clothes did he have on then? He had on a drab suit; the suit he has on now looks different; he has been shaved and fixed up since then.

William M. Sullivan sworn and examined.

I am attached to the 27th precinct and arrested the prisoner on the 30th of Sept. I was standing on the corner of Washington and Cortland St. in the neighborhood of 9 o'clock. I was on patrol that evening. I noticed a man running across Cortland St.; he turned into Washington and I thought it very strange he kept running so fast. Then he got halfway in Washington St. toward Gey St. I ran after him; he did not see me running till I caught him by the arm. I asked him what he was running so fast for? He said he had some trouble with a man in Cortland St. I said, "Why didn't you stop running?" He said, "I didn't care about being arrested." I said, "I am going to bring you back, and in case the man wishes to make a complaint against you; if he don't, I will let you go." I knew the prisoner. As I was going on the sidewalk he handed me a wallet. I said, "What have you got there?" He said, "It is counterfeit money; put it away." I said, "Is that the kind of business you are into?" Then I got on the stoop of 73 Cortland St. Mr. Cole was standing at the door. He says, "Where is my watch?" I paid no attention to that. I said, "Is this your pocket book?" He kind of drew back and said, "Yes." I said, "Did you lose a watch too?" He says,

"Certainly I did." I searched Enright and found the watch and chain in his pocket. I asked him (the complainant) was that his watch and chain. He said, "yes." I then took him to the station house. Albert Cole recalled. The watch and chain was worth one hundred and fifty dollars. Edward Enright swore and examined in his own behalf. On the night of the 27th of Sept. I met the man in 73 Cortland St; he was drinking and acting like a maniac; he asked me and another man who was in his shirt sleeves to have a drink. I took a cigar; he took out his pocket book and he put it in his pocket again somehow or other he put it inside; he did not put it in his pocket; he put it inside the lining of his vest and it fell on the floor. I picked the pocket book up. I saw it drop in the saw dust. There was $49 and some cents and a $60 check in it. I was going to take it to the station house; then he dropped the ^{watch and} chain on the floor and I picked it up; he "seen" me with it. They cannot send me to the state prison for picking up a watch; he cannot swear he "seen" me take it from his person. The house where I lived 74 Cortland St is burned down.

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty. In consequence of the prisoner being an old offender he was sent to the state prison for ten years.
