The People v. Peter Diehl Court of General Sessions Part II
 Before Judge Cowing Dec. 21. 1882.

Indictment for burglary in the third degree.

William Wagner, sworn and examined testified. I am a barkeeper. I live at 238 East Thirtieth St; my place of business is 1214 Broadway. I am in the employ of Henry J. Rapp; it is a saloon and lunch room in the store. The first floor is occupied by a furrier, the second floor is occupied as a dwelling. I have charge of the establishment at night time. On the evening of the 10th of this month I locked up the place; it is fastened by a latch lock; there is one door leading from the hallway down to the cellar and one door inside. I fastened the door leading from the hall down to the basement myself. I left the cellar between ten and eleven o'clock that night. I had in that cellar at the time I closed it up, two coats and a hat; they were kept in about the centre part of the cellar in a little room partitioned off. I returned to that cellar about one o'clock the same night. I found the door locked because it is a spring lock. I took two coats off together, one inside of the other and the overcoat had been stripped off the undercoat, the undercoat was hanging up, the overcoat had disappeared. I saw the defendant that night, I found him in the back part of the cellar I think behind a pile of lumber, I called another man from up stairs, and by that time the defendant raised his head up. There is two windows leading in the next door yard and I heard the glass rattle; he burst two panes of glass I suppose with his fist because his finger was bleeding a little when I seen him coming out. There is a wire screen coming outside, he could not go through there, he wanted to escape. He did not have my coat on his person. We called him and he walked out, I held him and asked him for the coat. At that time Mr. Bangs came down and the other man. We asked him for the coat and he went to produce it; he pulled it out from the corner near the front basement door from between old ash barrels, he had it rolled up.

Cross Examined: There is an entrance to that cellar from the street. I have known the prisoner about two months previous to this I think he was in the employ of Mr. Bangs for about a month; at this time he had been out of his employ somewhere around two months. I never saw him in the place after that, but I heard he came there several times. I never saw him there until that night. I had no difficulty in releasing him at first, he laid very quiet until I called him to come out, and then I ran to the front again to call Mr. Bangs down. By the time I ran back he rose up and made a dash for those two little windows that he broke two panes of glass in. I asked him what he was doing? He said he wanted to sleep, had no lodging no home. Aaron W. Manchester, sworn. I am an officer of the 29th. I arrested the prisoner. I examined the door leading to this basement the morning I made the arrest; the door was not broken at all. There was a scratching where the door shuts as if some instrument might have been placed there. Peter Diehl, sworn and examined in his own behalf testified. I have been in this country fourteen months. Where were you employed before you went to work for Mr. Bangs? In Fourteenth St. at Gice's saloon. How long had you been in Mr. Bangs' employ? One month. When did you leave Mr. Bangs' employ?

About six weeks ago I left Mr. Bangs. Were you in the habit of going to Mr. Bangs place to get something to eat? Yes sir. How often about? About four or five times I went there.
 Come right down to this night in question.
 How did you come to go in that place after that happened? I came through the hall. I opened the door as I usually opened the door before from the cellar and I went into the cellar. I had no money to pay for lodging and I had no money to get something to eat.
 How did you open the door? The door was open - it was not locked; the door leading from the stairway down had a spring lock; I worked there. I knew how to open the door. I came there to see the porter of the house; he often gave me something to eat. Did you break open that place that night? No sir. Did you go in there with any intention to steal? No sir. What were you doing with that overcoat? I did not like this man here because he was not a good man to me and I took his coat off and threw it in the corner.
 I was lying there asleep; it was warm; I jumped up when I saw him come and I ran against the window with my arm.
 I have never been arrested before.
 The jury rendered a verdict of petty larceny with a recommendation to mercy.
 Penitentiary six months.

William Wagner, 32 years old, bartender of No. 238 East 35th Street New York City, being duly sworn, deposes and says, that the premises No. 1214 Broadway Street, Ward, in the City and County aforesaid, the said being a store and dwelling and which was occupied by ~~deponent~~ as a Henry J. Bangs as a saloon and dwelling were BURGLARIOUSLY entered by means of prying open and raising the latch of a door leading from a hallway on the first floor of said premises to the <sup>basement</sup> cellar stairs therein, in the night time at about one o'clock on the morning of the eleventh day of December 1882 there being at the time a person or persons in the portion of said premises occupied as a dwelling and the following property feloniously taken, stolen, and carried away, viz: One cloth overcoat of the value of eighteen dollars the property of deponent who was at the time in charge of said premises and deponent further says, that he has great cause to believe, and does believe, that the aforesaid BURGLARY was committed and the aforesaid property taken, stolen and carried away by Peter Diehl, now here, for the reasons following, to wit: At about seven o'clock in the afternoon of December 10th 1882 deponent left said coat hanging in a room in the basement of said premises. At about one o'clock on the following morning deponent went to said basement and found said Diehl lying hiding behind some lumber in the rear of said basement and found said coat rolled up in said basement on the floor near the front door. At about ten o'clock on the night of December 10th 1882 deponent closed and fastened said Basement a cellar door and when deponent went to said basement as aforesaid he found said door open and saw that the latch thereof had been forced and the wood work in which said latch fastened broken away.

0182

ASSAULT in the 5th Degree

42

The People } Court of General Sessions. Part I vs. John Gorman } Before Judge Cowing, Dec 21. 1882 Indictment for assault in the third degree.
 Ellen Gorman sworn. I live 30 East Fourth St in this city, I am the wife of the prisoner I have been married eighteen years; he committed an assault upon me on the 11th of this month; he came in under the influence of liquor; he kicked me in the side; he is a very good man when he is sober, but when he is drunk he is fearful; he treats me cruelly; he kicked me only once this last time. Cross Examined. He is my second husband; I never had any children by him.
 I had no quarrel the last time he came in to see; he does not give me time to speak but comes in and strikes me. A drunken man coming in would make anybody lose their temper; he never comes in only when he is drunk. I sent him to the door. I said, "Go out and stop out." He does nothing for me, he don't support me, I keep a little home. I ordered him out. I did not try to put him out. I told him to go out; he did go out and came back and broke open the door. I did not tear his coat, I never touched him; he came back again in about half an hour and broke open my door. You had been in the habit of quarreling with him? No sir, I am too old to pick up a great fellow like that at the door, I think so; a person of my years is not fit to be struck. Ah! cowardly. He kicked me in the side. You did not strike him in the face? No, I did not, I swear to tell the truth. Did it knock you down? No, it knocked me over, but it did not knock me down. He kicked me with his foot; it was not accidental. You want to get rid of him, he annoys and bothers you? Yes sir, because he comes in drunk and abuses me. You don't want him any more? No sir. How old are you? A. I am 55 years of age. John Dorman, sworn and examined in his own behalf testified. Where do you work, Dorman? On Monday the 11th of this month I was discharged from Blackwell's Island after putting in three months and five days, she put me up on a charge before. I came down between the hours of five and six o'clock; it was cold. I was dressed just as I am now. I went around to what I supposed was my home. I knocked at the door and at the same time I opened it. My wife was standing there; the table was laid for supper. "Halloo Ellen," I said. She said, "you bloody villain, go out, you cannot stop here, you have no business here." She came to put me out, to slap the door in my face. I sat down in front of the parrot and spoke to her, and in trying to pull me off the chair she took hold of me and lifted me up. I would not go, she had me arrested, I was taken out of the house, I never put a hand near her. If she had told me peaceably I would have gone out, I did not know but it was my home. When she put me on the Island I had paid the rent and bought a pound of hazel nuts for the parrot. I never had any children; she has a very violent temper. You cannot speak a word upon any circumstance but she will fly in a violent temper right away if you do not try and nurse her. I did not kick her, I never touched her. I was after coming off the Island. I had better judgment than to strike her, she can walk lame and put on crying. She had an accident two years ago being rode over by a butcher wagon. She has means in her own name; she has got some money in the bank: I have no money; she said that she was boss of the pocket. I have got drunk once in a while. I was not drunk when I went into the house, I had nothing to get a drink. Cross Examined. I was sent to the Island the last time for threatening her life. I did not strike her. My wife swore to a falsehood; she is feigning this lameness; she walks lame partly all the time. She is not a drunkard, but I have seen her drink liquor. I never seen her what you would say drunk. I was wearing this coat. I don't know what I had in the pockets. I had no trouble with the officer when he arrested me. I did not fill my pockets with coffee stones and break open the door.

Martin Stepper sworn. I am an officer of the 17th precinct and arrested the prisoner on the 11th of the month at about 8 o'clock in the evening; she told me that he hurt her and kicked her in the groin; he was in the hallway when I went in the door; she said to me that she wanted him arrested. It is not true that he was sitting in the room where I arrested him. He resisted me and I found four coffee stones in his coat pockets and a knife. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty.
