My dear Colonel:

now of Pittsfield Mass.

The Reverend William Wilberforce Newton is the clergyman who managed the Sanitarium at Greenwood Lake and who is willing to testify as to the absolute falsehood of the Press' statements in regard to that institution. He tells me that he goes to the Church Congress in Buffalo in October, and will sail for Europe in the latter part of that month. If, therefore, the trial is likely to be postponed, it will be necessary to take his testimony, and he is willing to come to New York, on his return from Buffalo, in order to make the necessary affidavits. My impression is that when the other side come to examine him they will realize what a dreadful hole they have placed themselves in. I wish to write Mr. Newton, telling him what to do. Please advise me as to the probabilities of the trial.

Yours sincerely,

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE PEACE OF THE CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK.

The People of the State of New York against
Robert P. Porter and Herbert L.
Bridgman.

The Grand Jury of the City and County of New York by this indictment accuse Robert P. Porter and Herbert L. Bridgman of the crime of libel, committed as follows:

The said Robert P. Porter, late of the City of New York, in the County of New York aforesaid, and the said Herbert L. Bridgman, late of the same place, being persons of an envious, evil and wicked mind and of most malicious disposition, and wickedly, maliciously and unlawfully minding, contriving and contending (as much as in them lay) to injure, oppress, aggrieve, and vilify the good name, fame, credit and reputation of Abram S. Hewitt, a good, peaceable and worthy citizen of this State, and then being the Mayor of the said City of New York and also as well the proprietor and owner of certain ~~xxxx~~ lands and real property situated on the shores of a certain lake in the State of New Jersey composing an estate known as Ringwood, as also a member of a certain business copartnership doing business in and by the firm name of Cooper & Hewitt

and also a member of a certain other business copartnership doing business in and by the firm name and style of The Greenwood Lake Ice Company, and employing in the management and operation of the said estate and in the carrying on of his business large numbers of workmen and laborers, and to bring him, ~~the~~ said Abram S. Hewitt into public scandal, hatred, infamy, contempt and disgrace, and to cause it to be believed that he the said Abram S. Hewitt in the management and operation of the said estate called Ringwood and in the carrying on of his private business had been guilty of cruelty and cruel conduct toward the workmen and laborers in his employ and had most inadequately compensated his said laborers and workmen for their labors in his behalf and had paid to them much less than their labors were reasonably worth and much less than they were justly entitled to receive therefor and that he the said Abram S. Hewitt was then engaged in harsh and cruel practices, and pursued and operated a system of wicked, oppressive and unjust tyranny, exaction, and wage slavery in the conduct and management of the said estate and in his treatment of the said workmen and laborers in his employ enuring to their great detriment and prejudice and to the personal pecuniary advantage of himself the said ~~Abram~~ S. Hewitt, and was so unjust and oppressive in his conduct in the management and operation of the said estate and toward his said workmen and laborers, and so greedy and avaricious that many of the said workmen and laborers had been from time to time reduced from a condition of ordinary comfort to one of absolute pauperism and slavery, and whereby their manhood had been destroyed and all feeling of hope and ambition entirely crushed, and further that by such conduct and by his avarice he the said Abram S. Hewitt had driven a certain family of the name of Ryerson, formerly in easy circumstances and comfort, to pauperism and slavery, that in ~~the~~ treatment of his employes ~~he~~ the said Abram S. Hewitt had been guilty of a criminal violation of the laws of the State of New Jersey forbidding an employer from paying his employe in anything but cash, that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had at divers times unlawfully attempted to obtain the possession and ownership of real property bordering upon his said estate by unlawful and Fraudulent means and without any proper consideration and by false and fraudulent surveys made by his direction and procurement, and further that by reason of his greed and avarice and by fraud and deception on his part in the matter of a certain worthy project for the erection of a charitable institution on the said estate and his deceitful conduct with and toward the persons having charge of the said project, the objects thereof had been defeated and a large sum of money which had been expended in the erection of the said proposed institution entirely lost from its intended purpose and the said institution partially erected had come into the hands and possession of him the said Abram S. Hewitt as a result of his avarice and cupidity, that by reason of his oppressive, tyrannical and wicked conduct towards his said laborers and workmen, and particularly in his conduct toward the said family named Ryerson, a condition of immorality existed among his said workmen and laborers, as an incident of which a daughter in the said family of Ryerson had come to her death whilst engaged in a wicked debauch with two men, for which condition of morals and the degradation of these people and the death of said daughter he the said Abram S. Hewitt was responsible, and that the conduct of him the said Abram S. Hewitt in his private affairs and business was such as that an exposure of the same to the public would result in a loss of all confidence and esteem on their part toward him and a distrust of his sincerity and worthiness, on the twenty-ninth day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, at the City and County aforesaid, of their great hatred, malice and ill will toward the said Abram S. Hewitt, did unlawfully, wickedly and maliciously print and publish, and cause and procure to be printed and published, in a certain newspaper and publication, published in the said City of New York, and entitled The Press, a certain false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory libel of and concerning the said Abram S. Hewitt and of and concerning the matters aforesaid, containing the false, scandalous, malicious, defamatory and libelous words and matters following, of and concerning the said Abram S. Hewitt, and the matters aforesaid, that is to say: CRUELTY AT RINGWOOD. (Thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had been guilty of cruelty and cruel conduct in the management and operation of his said estate called Ringwood.)

Avarice of a High Official Drives a Noble Family to Pauperism and Slavery. (Thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt by his avarice had driven a noble family, to wit, the said family of the name of Ryerson, to pauperism and slavery.)

PITTANCE FOR LABOR. (Thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had ill and most inadequately compensated divers persons employed as workmen and laborers by him in and upon his said estate for their labors and services in his behalf and has paid to such persons for their labors and services much less than the same were reasonably worth and much less than such persons were by reason thereof entitled to receive therefor.)

A Man who Preaches Philanthropy Reveling in Harsh and Cruel Practices. (Thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt was at the time of the publication of the said libel and had been for a long time prior thereto engaged in harsh and cruel practices in the management and operation of his said estate and that so engaging therein was a source of pleasure and gratification to him.)

His Greed Stops a Noble Work. (Meaning thereby that the greed of him the said Abram S. Hewitt has caused the stoppage of the worthy and charitable project aforesaid.)

Promulgating Doctrines concerning the Glorious Republic, He Manages his Estate in a Monarchial and Despotic Manner--Practice at War with Theory. (Meaning thereby that while pretending to hold doctrines and theories in conformity with principles of freedom and justice and a democratic form of government he the said Abram S. Hewitt managed his said estate in an entirely different manner and in a monarchial and despotic way.)

"I am as much opposed to tyranny on the part of capitalists as on the part of workmen. I am ready to denounce such tyranny in either case, and when a positive injury is shown I am as ready to make an appeal to the public for redress in one case as in the other."

So wrote Mayor Hewitt of this city (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) on Thursday last in reply to a letter sent him (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) by Workingman Hurley. The Press (meaning the said newspaper and publication) is glad to hear such words from Mr. Hewitt (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt). So will be his (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt's) own workingmen, whom he (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) has cursed with a system of slavery both obnoxious and unjust--men whom in his (meaning the said Abram S.

Hewitt's) thirst for wealth he (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) has ground down until their lives have been robbed of both hope and ambition. It may be hard to believe that there is in the conduct of this professedly charitable personage a Hyde as grasping and oppressive as is the Jekyll mild and amiable, who sends forth such unctious letters full of manliness and of kindly feelings from the Mayor's chair (thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt in the conduct and management of his said estate and in his private and business life was entirely different from and unlike himself in his conduct as such Mayor of the said city and in the discharge of his official duties, and the utterance and expression of sentiments and views, as well verbally as by written communications, and that though occupying the position of a professedly charitable and kindly person and speaking worthy sentiments while acting as such Mayor and to the public and people in general, in truth and in reality, in his private and business life and in the conduct and management of his said estate and in the treatment of his workmen and laborers, he the said Abram S. Hewitt was most greedy and avaricious, and so unjust and oppressive that many of his workmen and laborers had been from time to time reduced from a condition of ordinary comfort to one of absolute pauperism and slavery and whereby their manhood been destroyed and all feeling of hope and ambition entirely crushed). And yet to The Press (thereby meaning the said newspaper and publication) has come information that almost seemed incredible in view of the sanctimonious garb in which this companionable gentleman (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) promenaded before the public.

0767

It was hard to believe that the man who sent forth such a piteous appeal for aid for a workman whom he considered had been wronged (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) was himself profiting from a tyranny to which his own workmen are being subjected. And yet such is the fact (thereby meaning that the said Abram S. Hewitt was at the time of the publication of the said libel receiving pecuniary benefit as a result of most injurious, oppressive and tyrannical conduct on his part in the treatment of his workmen and laborers). The charges which were sent to The Press (meaning the said newspaper and publication) have been carefully investigated. Under the guise of a man seeking employment one of its reporters has been over the ground, has mixed in with the workmen, has seen for himself the system of grinding exaction and ^{of petty} tyranny to which they are subjected, and has found a thorough confirmation of all the stories which connected the name of the aspirant for Gubernatorial honors with one of the most vicious systems of wage slavery that exists on the continent today (meaning thereby that a person acting on behalf of the said newspaper and publication had visited the said estate of the said Abram S. Hewitt, and had in the character and guise of an applicant for employment gained a personal knowledge of the methods used by the said Abram S. Hewitt in the conduct and management of the said estate and had obtained personal and absolute knowledge that a most wicked, oppressive and unjust system of grinding exaction and petty tyranny and wage slavery enuring to the detriment and prejudice of the workmen and laborers of the said Abram S. Hewitt employed on the said estate and to his personal pecuniary advantage was in vogue and operation by his own act, procurement and sufferance). It may have been modesty that has hitherto deterred Mayor Hewitt (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt in his official capacity as such Mayor) from denouncing Abram S. Hewitt of the firm of Cooper & Hewitt (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt in his private affairs and business and as a member of the said business copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) for the way in which their employees (meaning the workmen and laborers in the employ of the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) have been treated. Mayor Hewitt (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt in his official capacity as such Mayor) has always been extremely careful to draw the line which divided his officialism from his individuality, but now that The Press (meaning the said newspaper and publication) will make known some of the doings of one of the proprietors of Greenwood and of the firm of the Greenwood Lake Ice Company (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt in his private and business life) Mayor Hewitt (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt as such Mayor as aforesaid) will be more at liberty to lash with his trenchant pen Mr. Abram S. Hewitt (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt in his private and business life) and to intimate to that gentleman (thereby meaning as last aforesaid) that no man can pursue a course which he (thereby meaning as last aforesaid) has been doing and retain the confidence of the public (thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had been guilty of such conduct in his private affairs and business as that an exposure of the same to the public would result in a loss of all confidence and esteem on their part toward him and a distrust of his sincerity and worthiness).

Today The Press (~~thereby~~ meaning thereby the said newspaper and publication) will publish what is mainly a historical review of the case in order that it may be properly understood. Should Mayor Hewitt (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt as such Mayor) be unwilling to believe that Abram S. (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) was the guilty party The Press (thereby meaning the said newspaper and publication) will bring such proof forward in the matter as will of necessity carry conviction to everybody. It will assist Mayor Hewitt (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt as such Mayor) to redress the tyranny of the capitalist, and it will begin with a subject of which he (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) has a personal knowledge and a profitable one.

When justice has been done the workingmen

(meaning thereby the workmen and laborers of the said Abram S. Hewitt), when they (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) are paid wages promptly and in cash, when the truck system of all trash and little cash from the firm's store (meaning thereby the store of the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt on the said estate) has been abolished, when oppressive landlordism (meaning thereby the system of tenancy in operation on the said estate) has been wiped out, when men whose only crime is that they are the possessors of little holdings that excite the cupidity of firms powerful in politics and in wealth (meaning thereby persons owning property bordering on the said estate) are allowed to live in peace, then and not till then, will The Press (meaning thereby the said newspaper and publication) cease in its efforts.

Within fifty miles of the City of New York (meaning thereby on the said estate of the said Abram S. Hewitt called Ringwood) there exists a condition of affairs quite as degraded as the worst presented by Ireland, continental Europe or China--a state of affairs right under our American flag which rivals the miseries of down-trodden Ireland and the wretchedness of the European peasantry. To how many of the light hearted wanderers who frequently enjoy the charms of that beautifully sequestered spot known as Greenwood Lake, that favored body of water whose waves lap the shores of two States, bidding farewell to the Jersey side even as they greet New York--(thereby meaning the said lake upon the shores of which the said estate is situated) to how many men and women, watching the play of light and shadow on that mountain embosomed, sun kissed liquid jewel, has there ever come an intimation of the dark shadow lying just beyond those shores (meaning thereby the cruelty and oppressive and tyrannical conduct of the said Abram S. Hewitt in the conduct and management of the said estate)?

Yet the same hours which have chronicled the merry song and the gay laugh of the young men and maidens on Greenwood Lake (meaning thereby the said lake) have just as surely chronicled the many sighs, the bitter tears, of a group of people who are scarcely less in bondage than the antebellum southern slaves (meaning thereby the workmen and laborers of the said Abram S. Hewitt on the said estate). Possibly the bondage is even more frightful in the sight of heaven, for once these men (Meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) knew not only freedom but manhood, while now they (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) have been ground^{down} to a point where mere subsistence is their only expectation (thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt in the conduct and management of the said estate and in the treatment of his said laborers and workmen used a system so unjust and oppressive and was so greedy and avaricious in his methods that his said laborers and workmen had been placed in a condition where they were able to obtain a mere existence and nothing more).

Yet the ancestors of these wretched people (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) were at one time sole owners of the land on which now they (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) are allowed only a precarious foothold, as long as they (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) have the health and strength to add to the daily increasing wealth of the man who is lord of this domain (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt). He (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) is indeed as much a lord as any on the British isles; he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) is even more, for between him (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) and his tenants there exists no mutual affection and obligation inherited from remote ancestors; in the eyes of this American lord (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) the obligation is entirely on one side, the side of the unfortunate who gives all that is in him for the privilege of being treated like a dog.

This remarkable estate on the shores of Greenwood Lake consisted of 22,000 acres, and is what is known as Ringwood, a property which combines at once a great industry and a gentleman's country seat (meaning thereby the said estate of the said Abram S. Hewitt.) Originally this estate (meaning the said estate) was owned by a large English family of the name of Ryerson (meaning thereby the said family of the name of Ryerson).

son), who came across the water with the intention of identifying themselves with American institutions. They (meaning the said family) did not prosper as they hoped to, were obliged to mortgage the land that they (meaning the said family) had put their money into, and in course of time were compelled to part with their property under foreclosure. But the man into whose hands their homes and industries fell was Peter Cooper and as long as he owned it they (meaning the said family) scarcely knew the difference between what had been and what was, so beautiful was the relation between them (meaning the said family) and the old philanthropist.

The Ryersons (meaning the said family) were intelligent, educated people, blood relations of the same family now so much respected in Newark and its environs, and there was every reason to believe that they (meaning the said family) would be a pride and credit to the country of their adoption. Had Peter Cooper continued in possession this would undoubtedly have been the case, but in course of time the property went into very different hands, and a very different policy thenceforth prevailed. To watch the history of this family as they descended from prosperity to misfortune, from misfortune to pauperism, from pauperism to absolute slavery, is as sad a task as one could undertake.

In an old dilapidated hut on the edge of the lake, just beyond Cooper Station, dwells one of the last of the Ryersons (meaning of the said family).

Boards, thinly covered with whitewash, constituted the frame work of the building, the inside of which the poor people have vainly tried to improve with paper. Although the structure is but a low hut at best, consisting of but one room, the upper part was obliged to be partitioned off by a thin flooring, this furnishing all that there could be in the way of a sleeping apartment. It was merely a shelf, with bunks for the accommodation of the sleepers, and was reached through a hole in the boards by means of a movable ladder. The main room was carpetless, and had for furniture only a table, a wooden couch and a few poor chairs.

The cooking stove stood outside the door, and anything more forlorn than is this hut which shelters human beings can scarcely be imagined. No man with a soul, however poor and unfortunate he might be, could envy poor Ryerson (meaning the said member of the said family) and his family this habitation. And yet time and again has he (meaning as last aforesaid) been ordered to move away.

The riches that have made him (meaning as last aforesaid) poor have grown ashamed of his wretched house. It is an eyesore on the beautiful grounds handy by. It interferes with a plan for having a picnic grove and beer garden in the vicinity. He (meaning as last aforesaid) has been threatened and annoyed and branded as a bad character because he will not surrender the home of himself and his children. He is there now living under a threat that he will be thrown out bodily when the rich firm (meaning the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) gets ready to do so. He (meaning the said member of the said family) has offered to go out for a compensation of $50, but has been told that it would be cheaper for them (meaning the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) to throw him out.

There he (meaning the said member of the said family) stands today, driven to bay, and only holding his little place with that strength which nature gives to every man who is crowded by the strong. Not a shoe nor a stocking was on either the poor fellow (meaning as last aforesaid) or his wife when the reporter called, and as for their clothing, it was almost threadbare. Sometimes the man (meaning as last aforesaid) had worked at the icehouse, a little further up the lake, but he (meaning as last aforesaid) could never get any cash for his labor. He (meaning as last aforesaid) had to deal at either "the store" which is kept at the village of Hewitt, or in the one at the village of Ringwood, both of which are kept by the lord of the domain (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt, and meaning by matters aforesaid referring to the said family of Ryerson) that by his conduct in the management and control of said estate and by his avarice he the said Abram S. Hewitt had driven the said family of Ryerson to pauperism and slavery). It is the only place where they (meaning the said family), with the others (meaning the others of said workmen and laborers) could obtain their food without the risk of being discharged, and, as one of the workmen (meaning one of the said workmen and laborers) remarked, "the boss always takes care that we come out even" (meaning thereby that the said Abram S. Hewitt took care that his laborers and employees should at all times be indebted to the full extent of their wages so that no money was ever paid them, and this by indirect and improper means). How this little scheme is worked will be explained in a subsequent article. It is ingenious, even if it is vicious.

The laws of New Jersey now forbid an employer paying his employe in anything but cash, but at Ringwood (meaning on the said estate) it always happens ~~that~~ that the employe is in debt to the store, so when he (meaning the laborer and workman of said Abram S. Hewitt) receives his money he (meaning as last aforesaid) is immediately invited to turn it back to his employer (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) and invariably walks out with his pockets empty (meaning thereby that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had been in the practice of criminally violating the laws of the State of New Jersey forbidding an employer from paying his employe in anything but cash).

It will be seen that by this system--the lowest wages at best, the store machinery by which whatever is earned goes directly back again, and the pigpens which are called houses and have to serve as shelter--that the calculation is to get a man's labor for the bare price of his subsistence, and the most beggarly subsistence at that (meaning thereby that the said Abram S. Hewitt by his methods in operation on said estate intended and calculated to obtain from his employes their services for little and wholly inadequate recompense).

Compare this with the public spirited methods of Pullman, McCormick and Sprague, where each man is helped and encouraged to earn his own home, where the best sanitary arrangements and the most inviting little villages are the order of the day, and where each pretty cottage has not only ample room and nice furniture, but even a piano at times! Think of the happy colonies called into existence by men of no undue saintliness, men of merely good, sound, business sense, and a natural desire to see human beings in a state of comfort rather than misery; think of what can be accomplished by a modicum of unselfishness, or call it enlightened selfishness if you will, the better work to be obtained from those who are happy and hopeful; contemplate this and then turn to the degraded beings who make up what is known as Cooper * Hewitt (meaning thereby the workmen and laborers of the said Abram S. Hewitt).

No churches, no schools, the children unable even to read and write, and the fathers and mothers not much better off; without hope, ambition, education, why are they (meaning the said laborers and workmen and their families) one whit more enviable than slaves?? They (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) have legal rights it is true; theoretically they (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) are masters of their own bodies, but practically they (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) are not, for all manhood has been crushed out of them (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers); they (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) have almost ceased to feel. They (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) have no means to build their own houses, while the land they (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) stand on could not be bought at any price, so that they (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) can never be anything that savors of the faintest proprietorship--that boon so sweet to the American Soul. Sprague encouraged and aided his employes to own their own homes, but the master of Ringwood (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) would rather part with one of his fingers than a foot of his land (meaning thereby that the said Abram S. Hewitt by his avarice and cupidity had reduced his laborers and workmen to a condition of absolute penury, their manhood destroyed and themselves deprived of every means of bettering their condition).

Not alone this but the tenants (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) have not even a lease. They (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) are simply tenants at sufferance. Let them (meaning thereby the laborers and workmen) dare to disagree with their masters (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt and the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) and eviction follows at once. One young fellow (meaning thereby one of the said workmen and laborers) who refused to work on a Sunday, was ordered peremptorily out of his house on that very day (meaning thereby that the said last mentioned workman and laborer had been evicted from his dwelling on the Sabbath for refusing to perform labor on that day). The truck system at the store leaving them (meaning the said laborers and workmen) absolutely without money, and the tenant sufferance system, which admits of eviction at any moment, places the poor people (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) entirely at the mercy of their masters (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt and the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt). They (meaning the said laborers and workmen) have not the ability to free themselves from this tyranny. It is simply a case where a maximum amount of labor is ~~maximized~~ recompensed by a minimum wage, paid in goods sold by the firm of employers (meaning the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) at maximum prices, of which firm this Abram S. Hewitt (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) is a member, (meaning thereby that the said laborers and workmen were recompensed for their labors by grossly inadequate wages and that these wages were paid to them in goods sold by the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt at extortionate prices and in violation of the laws of the said State of New Jersey). Mr. Hewitt (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt), however, does not confine his attentions merely to seeing that he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) gets men to work for him (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) for a living.

He (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) is always in litigation trying to get hold of somebody else's property to add to his (Thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt's) already pretty well swollen estate (thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt was continually attempting to unlawfully obtain the possession and ownership of real property bordering upon his said estate by unlawful and fraudulent means and without any proper consideration). Every little while a new survey is made by a complaisant surveyor who manages either through accident or design, to rake in half a dozen neighboring farms, the titles to which date back nearly a hundred years (thereby meaning that the said Abram S. Hewitt for the purpose of unlawfully gaining possession of lands not belonging to himself had caused false and fraudulent surveys to be made of his estate whereby his said estate should be made to include parcels of land belonging to other people). These new surveys enable the gentleman at Ringwood (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) to claim possession on the principle that money will carry everything before it possibly, but the original owner fights hard, and the Croesus (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) has been worsted in almost every one of these struggles. Thomas Storms, who has owned for many ~~many~~ years, and through his ancestors since 1806, the pretty bit of land in Greenwood Lake (meaning thereby the said lake) known as Storms' Island, told me his tale with his face all aglow--how Ringwood's owner (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) swooped down upon him in a night as it were, took possession of his tenant and supposed all was well till Storms flew into the courts, valiantly fought it out, and now owns the property above question.

It was quite an exciting event, particularly on that night when the usurper (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) tried to run in, under cover of the darkness, an undisputed tenant of his own in place of the William Morgan who was originally Storms' tenant but who proved rather shaky under the circumstances. The new tenant floated down from the north at midnight, while Mr. Storms awaited him with sheriffs and revolvers, having had a sudden intimation that ~~some~~ something was "up", and before the Ringwood tenant could plant his great toe on the coveted property Mr. Storms himself had entered bag and baggage. There seems to be a wonderful unanimity of opinion in the courts about these matters. Every case has been decided in favor of the disturbed party and against Ringwood (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt).

This greed for what does not belong to him

(meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) is only equaled by his (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt's) reluctance to part with an inch of his own, even to what would seem to be one of the wisest and best of enterprises, and which he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) had virtually pledged himself to. Take for example the children's hospital that was partially erected on the Ringwood estate and whose melancholy walls are still standing to tell the tale of man's cupidity (meaning thereby the said worthy project for the erection of a charitable institution on the said estate). This building (meaning thereby the said proposed institution) was suggested by the church people of Newark who contributed without regard to sect to so charitable an object, a committee (meaning the said persons so having charge of the said project) having obtained from the owner of Ringwood (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) carte blanche to place the building (meaning thereby the said proposed institution) on his (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt's) land. Certainly they (meaning thereby the said persons having charge of the said project for the erection of the said charitable institution) should have the land, they (thereby meaning as last aforesaid) should have his (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt's) assistance, anything, everything, was what the deluded committee (meaning thereby the said persons having charge of the project) understood.

So Van Campen Taylor was engaged as architect,

$8000 was raised, and the good work (meaning the erection of the said institution) begun, a work which would enable hundreds of poor, ailing children to grow well under the healing influence of the breezes from Greenwood Lake (thereby meaning the said lake). The master of Ringwood (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) placed everything at their (meaning thereby the persons having charge of the said project) disposal, and they (thereby meaning as last aforesaid) accepted the services of his men (meaning thereby the laborers and workmen of the said Abram S. Hewitt) to haul the building materials from the station to the hospital grounds, a distance of about 100 yards. Rapidly the work progressed, the summer passed and autumn came, and with it a bill from the American nobleman (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) for cartage (meaning thereby that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had deluded and deceived the said persons so having charge of the said project into accepting the services of his laborers and workmen in the erection of the said proposed institution, they believing such services had been tendered gratuitously and had subsequently presented them with a claim for such services).

The committee (meaning thereby the said persons having charge of the said project) was nonplussed, a meeting was called, the maker of the bill (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) interviewed, and a deed of the land (meaning thereby the portion of the said estate upon which the erection of the said proposed institution had been commenced) requested before the work (meaning thereby the erection of the said institution) went further, as faith in promises was beginning to be shaken. Indignation on all sides; the nobleman (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) horrified at the idea of parting with his (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt's) land; never said, never thought, never dreamed that he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) should give it to them (meaning thereby for the purposes of the said project for the erection of the said proposed institution); but he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) did mean to have his (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt's) bill for cartage paid. Proceedings came to a standstill; it was impossible to ask any more contributions under the circumstances, so the committee (meaning thereby the persons having charge of the said project) was obliged to request the carpenters (meaning thereby the carpenters who had been engaged at work in the construction of the said proposed institution) to file a mechanic's lien to cover the $400 due him. The owner of Ringwood (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) bought the mechanic's lien in order to satisfy his (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt's) bill for cartage, and in due time the building in which had been invested $8000 (meaning the said institution so partially erected as aforesaid) came into his (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt's) hands, and he (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) now uses it (meaning thereby the said partially erected institution) to store away a certain batch of his employes (meaning thereby the laborers and workmen of the said Abram S. Hewitt) in. Forlorn enough it looks (meaning thereby the said partially erected institution) in its unfinished state, with the wretched bunks inside telling one sorrowful tale, and the unfinished exterior bearing witness to another (thereby meaning, and by all the matters in the said libel contained relating to the said project for the erection of the said charitable institution that he the said Abram S. Hewitt, by his greed and avarice and fraud and deception and deceitful conduct with and toward the said persons so having charge of the said project had caused the objects thereof to be defeated and a large sum of money expended in the partial erection of the said proposed institution entirely lost from its intended purpose and had as a result of his avarice and cupidity gotten into his hands and possession the said institution so partially erected as aforesaid).

In the centre of this vast estate (meaning thereby the said estate of the said Abram S. Hewitt) is the castle so to speak, where the lord (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) lives in princely style. There is no sign of poverty at the manor house, no matter how wretched the quarters beyond. I wonder do the women of that household (meaning thereby the household of the said Abram S. Hewitt) ever think of that poor, depraved girl, a Ryerson and direct descendant of the former owners of the land (meaning thereby a certain daughter in the said family of Ryerson), who left her home one winter's day to spend the night with two men on top of the mountain, where they had erected a hut out of boughs for their sinful purposes. She (meaning the said daughter) was the daughter of the sad eyed woman who talked with me so long, and who saw her daughter go forth to her shame only to receive her dying of her injuries on her return, the hut having taken fire and burned the girl (meaning the said daughter) so that she could not live. It is a horrible tale, but who is responsible for this degradation, for this ignorance which leads to vice, this vice that leads to crime? Certainly not the poor parents, who are worked and fed and sheltered like so many cattle, who are allowed no hope this side the grave (meaning thereby that as a result of the oppressive, tyrannical and wicked conduct of the said Abram S. Hewitt toward his said laborers and workmen and particularly in his conduct toward the said family of Ryerson a condition of immorality existed by reason of which a daughter in the said family had come to her death whilst engaged in a wicked debauch with two men, that for this condition of morals and the degradation of the families of his laborers and workmen he the said Abram S. Hewitt was wholly responsible)?

The children, particularly these Ryerson children (meaning thereby the children of the workmen and laborers of the said Abram S. Hewitt, and particularly those of the said family of Ryerson) are born with the stamp of a superior race on their brows. As children they are beautiful, with bright sympathetic faces, and the possibilities of noble manhood and womanhood in them. But the deadening effect of this terrible Ringwood policy (meaning thereby the conduct of the said Abram S. Hewitt in the management and operation of the said estate) soon makes itself felt, and before natural proclivities can assert themselves the whole being is poisoned and they sink down as dull and ignorant and hopeless as their parents before them (meaning thereby that the conduct of the said Abram S. Hewitt in the management and operation of the said estate and his treatment of his workmen and laborers and their families was such as that the children of the said workmen and laborers though possessing in childhood all the qualities requisite to a noble manhood and womanhood, became from the effect and as a consequence of the acts of the said Abram S. Hewitt demoralized and depraved, their whole beings poisoned and themselves rendered dull ignorant and hopeless).

In the mean time the author of their miseries (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) enjoys the distinction of his superb summer home (meaning thereby the said estate), rides to town on a railroad which he practically owns, and begins work in New York before an admiring public. He (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) refuses to put the American flag at half mast as a mark of respect to a dead foreign ruler

(who died more in sympathy with our institutions than the man who refused to raise the flag), but on the same day he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) places his railroad and the railroad's steamer on Greenwood Lake (meaning the said lake) at the disposal of the loathesome Duke of Marlborough, with whose bride he (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) as Mayor afterward had the famous kissing scene in the City Hall.

-----to the great scandal, injury and disgrace of the said Abram S. Hewitt, to the evil example of all others in like case offending, against the form of the statute in such case made and provided, and against the peace of the People of the State of New York and their dignity.

The People of the State of New York :

Robert P. Porter and Herbert L. :

The Grand Jury of the City and County of New York by this indictment accuse Robert P. Porter and Herbert L. Bridgman of the crime of Libel, committed as follows:

The said Robert P. Porter, late of the City of New York, in the County of New York aforesaid, and the said Herbert L. Bridgman late of the same place, being persons of an envious, evil and wicked mind and of most malicious disposition, and wickedly, maliciously and unlawfully minding, contriving and contending (as much as in them lay) to injure, oppress, aggrieve and vilify the good name, fame, credit and reputation of Abram S. Hewitt, a good, peaceable and worthy citizen of this State, and then being the Mayor of the said City of New York, and also as well the proprietor and owner of certain lands and real property situated on the shores of a certain lake in the State of New Jersey composing an estate known as Ringwood, as also a member of a certain business copartnership doing business in and by the firm name of Cooper & Hewitt

and also a member of a certain other business copartnership doing business in and by the firm name and style of The Greenwood Lake Ice Company, and employing in the management and operation of the said estate and in the carrying on of his business large numbers of workmen and laborers, and to bring him, said Abram S. Hewitt into public scandal, hatred, infamy, contempt and disgrace, and to cause it to be believed that he the said Abram S. Hewitt in the management and operation of the said estate called Ringwood and in the carrying on of his private business had been guilty of cruelty and cruel conduct toward the workmen and laborers in his employ and had most inadequately compensated his said laborers and workmen for their labors in his behalf and had paid to them much less than their labors were reasonably worth and much less than they were justly entitled to receive therefor and that he the said Abram S. Hewitt was then engaged in harsh and cruel practices, and pursued and operated a system of wicked, oppressive and unjust tyranny, exaction, and wage slavery in the conduct and management of the said estate and in his treatment of the said workmen and laborers in his employ enuring to their great detriment and prejudice and to the personal pecuniary advantage of himself the said Abram S. Hewitt, and was so unjust and oppressive in his conduct in the management and operation of the said estate and toward his said workmen and laborers, and so greedy and avaricious

that many of the said workmen and laborers had been from time to time reduced from a condition of ordinary comfort to one of absolute pauperism and slavery, and whereby their manhood had been destroyed and all feeling of hope and ambition entirely crushed, and further that by such conduct and by his avarice he the said Abram S. Hewitt had driven a certain family of the name of Ryerson, formerly in easy circumstances and comfort, to pauperism and slavery, that in the treatment of his employes he the said Abram S. Hewitt had been guilty of a criminal violation of the laws of the State of New Jersey forbidding an employer from paying his employe in anything but cash, that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had at divers times unlawfully attempted to obtain the possession and ownership of real property bordering upon his said estate by unlawful and fraudulent means and without any proper consideration and by false and fraudulent surveys made by his direction and procurement, and further that by reason of his greed and avarice and by fraud and deception on his ~~in the market~~ part, a certain worthy project for the erection of a charitable institution on the said estate and his deceitful conduct with and toward the persons having charge of the said project, the objects thereof had been defeated and a large sum of money which had been expended in the erection of the said proposed institution entirely lost from its intended purpose and had ~~passed and~~ the said institution partially erected had come into the hands and possession of him the said Abram S. Hewitt as a result of his avarice and cupidity, that ~~as a result~~ ^{by reason} of his oppressive, tyrannical and wicked conduct towards his said laborers and workmen, and particularly in his conduct toward the said family named Ryerson, a condition of immorality existed ~~by reason of his said conduct and behavior, on an incident~~ ^{under which condition of morals and the degradation of these people and the death of said daughter he the said Abram S. Hewitt was involved,} ~~son~~ of which a daughter in the said family of Ryerson had come to her death whilst engaged in a wicked debauch with two men, and that the conduct of him the said Abram S. Hewitt in his private affairs and business was such as that an exposure of the same to the public would result in a loss of all confidence and esteem on their part toward him and a distrust of his sincerity and worthiness, on the twenty-ninth day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight, at the City and County aforesaid, of their great hatred, malice and ill will toward the said Abram S. Hewitt, did unlawfully, wickedly and maliciously print and publish, and cause and procure to be printed and published, in a certain newspaper and publication, published in the said City of New York, and entitled The Press, a certain false, scandalous, malicious and defamatory libel, of and concerning the said Abram S. Hewitt and of and concerning the matters aforesaid, containing the false, scandalous, malicious, defamatory and libelous words and matters following, of and concerning the said Abram S. Hewitt, and the matters aforesaid, that is to say:

CRUELTY AT RINGWOOD. (Thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had been guilty of cruelty and cruel conduct in the management and operation of his said estate called Ringwood)

Avarice of a High Official Drives a Noble Family to Pauperism and Slavery. (Thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt by his avarice had driven a noble family, to wit, the said family of the name of Ryerson, to pauperism and slavery.)

PITTANCE FOR LABOR. (Thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had ill and most inadequately compensated divers persons employed as workmen and laborers by him in and upon his said estate for their labors and services in his behalf and has paid to such persons for their labors and services much less than the same were reasonably worth and much less than such persons were by reason thereof entitled to receive therefor.)

A Man who Preaches Philanthropy Reveling in Harsh and Cruel Practices. (Thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt was at the time of the publication of the said libel and had been for a long time prior thereto engaged in harsh and cruel practices in the management and operation of his said estate and that so engaging therein was a source of pleasure and gratification to him.)

His Greed Stops a Noble Work. (Meaning thereby that the greed of him the said Abram S. Hewitt had caused the stoppage of the worthy and charitable project aforesaid.)

Fromulgating Doctrines concerning the Glorious Republic, He Manages his Estate in a Monarchial and Despotic Manner--Practice at War with Theory. (Meaning thereby that while pretending to hold doctrines and theories in conformity with principles of freedom and justice and a democratic form of government he the said Abram S. Hewitt managed his said estate in an entirely different manner and in a monarchial and despotic way.)

"I am as much opposed to tyranny on the part of capitalists as on the part of workmen. I am ready to denounce such tyranny in either case, and when a positive injury is shown I am as ready to make an appeal to the public for redress in one case as in the other."

So wrote Mayer Hewitt of this city (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) on Thursday last in reply to a letter sent him (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) by Workingman Hurley. The Press (meaning the said newspaper and publication) is glad to hear such words from Mr. Hewitt (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt). So will be his (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt's) own workingmen, whom he (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) has cursed with a system of slavery both obnoxious and unjust--men whom in his (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt's) thirst for wealth he (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) has ground down until their lives have been robbed of both hope and ambition. It may be hard to believe that there is in the conduct of this professedly charitable personage a Hyde as grasping and oppressive as is the Jekyll mild and amiable, who sends forth such unctuous letters full of manliness and of kindly feelings from the Mayor's chair (thereby meaning ^{that} ~~the~~ he the said Abram S. Hewitt in the conduct and management of his said estate and in his private and business life was entirely different from and unlike himself in his conduct as such Mayor of the said city and in the discharge of his official duties, and the utterance and expression of sentiments and views, as well verbally as by written communications, and that though occupying the position of a professedly charitable and kindly person and speaking worthy sentiments while acting as such Mayor and to the public and people in general, in truth and reality, in his private and business life and in the conduct and management of his said estate and in the treatment of his workmen and laborers, he the said Abram S. Hewitt was most greedy and avaricious, and so unjust and oppressive that many of his workmen and laborers had been from time to time reduced from a condition of ordinary comfort to one of absolute pauperism and slavery and whereby their manhood been destroyed and all feeling of hope and ambition entirely crushed). And yet to The Press (thereby meaning the said newspaper and publication) has come information that almost seemed incredible in view of the sanctimonious garb in which this companionable gentleman (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) promenaded before the public.

0797

It was hard to believe that the man who sent forth such a piteous appeal for aid for a workman whom he considered had been wronged (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) was himself profiting from a tyranny to which his own workmen are being subjected. And yet such is the fact (thereby meaning that the said Abram S. Hewitt was at the time of the publication of the said libel receiving pecuniary benefit as a result of most injurious, oppressive and tyrannical conduct on his part in the treatment of his workmen and laborers). The charges which were sent to The Press (meaning the said newspaper and publication) have been carefully investigated. Under the guise of a man seeking employment one of its reporters has been over the ground has mixed in with the workmen, has seen for himself the system of grinding exaction and of petty tyranny to which they subjected, and has found a thorough confirmation of all the stories which connected the name of the aspirant for Gubernatorial honors with one of the most vicious systems of wage slavery that exists on the continent today (meaning thereby that a person acting on behalf of the said newspaper and publication had visited the said estate of the said Abram S. Hewitt, and had in the character and guise of an applicant for employment gained a personal knowledge of the methods used by the said Abram S. Hewitt in the conduct and management of the said estate and had obtained personal and absolute knowledge that a most wicked, oppressive and unjust system of grinding exaction and petty tyranny and wage slavery enuring to the detriment and prejudice of the workmen and laborers of the said Abram S. Hewitt employed on the said estate and to his personal pecuniary advantage was in vogue and operation by his own act, procurement and sufference).

~~XXXXXXXXXX~~ It may have been modesty that has hitherto deterred Mayor Hewitt (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt in his official capacity as such Mayor) from denouncing Abram S. Hewitt of the firm of Cooper & Hewitt (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt in his private affairs and business and as a member of the said business copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) for the way in which their employes (meaning the workmen and laborers in the employ of the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) have been treated. Mayor Hewitt (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt in his official capacity as such Mayor) has always been extremely careful to draw the line which divided his officialism from his individuality, but now that The Press (meaning the said newspaper and publication) will make known some of the doings of one of the proprietors of Greenwood and of the firm of the Greenwood Lake Ice Company (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt in his private and business life) Mayor Hewitt

(meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt as such Mayor as aforesaid) will be more at liberty to lash with his trenchant pen Mr. Abram S. Hewitt (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt in his private and business life) and to intimate to that gentleman (thereby meaning as last aforesaid) that no man can pursue a course which he (thereby meaning as last aforesaid) has been doing and retain the confidence of the public (thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had been guilty of such conduct in his private affairs and business as that an exposure of the same to the public would result in a loss of all confidence and esteem on their part toward him and a distrust of his sincerity and worthiness).

Today The Press (meaning thereby the said newspaper and publication) will publish what is mainly a historical review of the case in order that it may be properly understood. Should Mayor Hewitt (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt as such Mayor) be unwilling to believe that Abram S. (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) was the guilty party The Press (thereby meaning the said newspaper and publication) will bring such rproof forward in the matter as will of necessity carry conviction to everybody. It will assist Mayor Hewitt (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt as such Mayor) to redress the tyranny of the capitalist, and it will begin with a subject of which ~~ix~~ (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) has a personal knowledge and a profitable one.

When justice has been done the workingmen (meaning thereby the workmen and laborers of the said Abram S. Hewitt), when they (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) are paid wages promptly and in cash, when the truck system of all trash and little cash from the firm's store (meaning thereby the store of the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt on the said estate) has been abolished, when oppressive landlordism (meaning thereby the system of tenancy in operation on the said estate) has been wiped out, when men whose only crime is that they are the possessors of little holdings that excite the cupidity of firms powerful in politics and in wealth (meaning thereby persons owning property bordering on the said estate) are allowed to live in peace, than and not till then, will The Press (meaning thereby the said newspaper and publication) cease in its efforts.

Within fifty miles of the City of New York (meaning thereby on the said estate of the said Abram S. Hewitt called Ringwood) there exists a condition of affairs quite as degraded as the worst presented by Ireland, continental Europe or China--a state of ~~affairs~~ affairs right under our American flag which rivals the miseries of down-trodden Ireland and the wretchedness of the European peasantry. To how many of the light hearted wanderers who frequently enjoy the charms of that beautifully sequestered spot known as Greenwood

Lake, that favored body of water whose waves lap the shores of two States, bidding farewell to the Jersey side even as they greet New York--(thereby meaning the said lake upon the shores of which the said estate is situated) to how many men and women, watching the play of light and shadow on that mountain embosomed, sun kissed liquid jewel, has there ever come an intimation of the dark shadow lying just beyond those shores * (meaning thereby the cruelty and oppressive and tyrannical conduct of the said Abram S. Hewitt in the conduct and management of the said estate) ?

Yet the same hours which have chronicled the merry song and the gay laugh of the young men and maidens on Greenwood Lake (meaning thereby the said lake) have just as surely chronicled the many sighs, the bitter tears, of a group of people who are scarcely less in bondage than the antebellum southern slaves (meaning thereby the workmen and laborers of the said Abram S. Hewitt on the said estate). Possibly the bondage is even more frightful in the sight of heaven, for once these men (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) knew not only freedom but manhood, while now they (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) have been ground down to a point where mere subsistence is there only expectation (thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt in the conduct and management of the said estate and in the treatment of his said laborers and workmen used a system so unjust and oppressive and was so greedy and avaricious in his methods that his said laborers and workmen had been placed in a condition where they were able to obtain a mere existence and nothing more).

Yet the ancestors of these wretched people (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) were at one time sole owners of the land on which now they (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) are allowed only a precarious foothold, as long as they (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) have the health and strength to add to the daily increasing wealth of the man who is lord of this domain (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt). He (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) is indeed as much a lord as any on the British isles; he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) is even more, for between him (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) and his tenants there exists no mutual affection and obligation inherited from remote ancestors; in the eyes of this American lord (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) the obligation is entirely on one side, the side of the unfortunate who gives all that is in him for the privilege of being treated like a dog.

This remarkable estate on the shores of Greenwood Lake consisted of 22,000 acres, and is what is known as Ringwood, a property which combines at once a great industry and a gentleman's country seat (meaning thereby the said estate of the said Abram S. Hewitt).

itt). Originally this estate (meaning the said estate) was owned by a large English family of the name of Ryerson (meaning thereby the said family of the name of Ryerson), who came across the water with the intention of identifying themselves with American institutions. They (meaning the said family) did not prosper as they hoped to, were obliged to mortgage the land that they (meaning the said family) had put their money into, and in course of time were compelled to part with their property under foreclosure. But the man into whose hands their homes and industries fell was Peter Cooper and as long as he owned it they (meaning the said family) scarcely knew the difference between what had been and what was, so beautiful was the relation between them (meaning the said family) and the old Philanthropist.

The Ryersons (meaning the said family) were intelligent, educated people, blood relations of the same family now so much respected in Newark and its environs, and there was every reason to believe that they (meaning the said family) would be a pride and credit to the country of their adoption. Had Peter Cooper continued in possession this would undoubtedly have been the case, but in course of time the property went into very different hands, and a very different policy thenceforth prevailed. To watch the history of this family as they descended from prosperity to misfortune, from misfortune to pauperism, from pauperism to absolute slavery, is as sad a task as one could undertake.

In an old dilapidated hut on the edge of the lake, just beyond Cooper Station, dwells one of the last of the Ryersons. (meaning of the said family.)

Boards, thinly covered with whitewash, constituted the framework of the building, the inside of which the poor people have vainly tried to improve with paper. Although the structure is but a low hut at best, consisting of but one room, the upper part was obliged to be partitioned off by a thin flooring, thus furnishing all that there could be in the way of a sleeping apartment. It was merely a shelf, with bunks for the accommodation of the sleepers, and was reached through a hole in the boards by means of a movable ladder. The main room was carpetless, and had for furniture only a table, a wooden couch and a few poor chairs.

The cooking stove stood outside the door, and anything more forlorn than is this hut which shelters human beings can scarcely be imagined. No man with a soul, however poor and unfortunate he might be, could envy poor Ryerson (meaning the said member of said family) and his family this habitation. And yet time and again has he (meaning as last aforesaid) been ordered to move away.

The riches which have made him (meaning as last aforesaid) poor have grown ashamed of his wretched house. It is an eyesore on the beautiful grounds handy by. It interferes with a plan for having a picnic grove and beer garden in the vicinity. He (meaning as last aforesaid) has been threatened and annoyed and branded as a bad character because he will not surrender the home of himself and his children. He is there now living under a threat that he will be thrown out bodily when the rich firm (meaning the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) gets ready to do so. He (meaning the said member of the said family) has offered to go out for the compensation of $50, but has been told that it would be cheaper for them (meaning the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) to throw him out.

There he (meaning the said member of the said family) stands today, driven to bay, and only holding his little place with that strength which nature gives to every man who is crowded by the strong. Not a shoe nor a stocking was on either the poor fellow (meaning as last aforesaid) or his wife when the reporter called, and as for their clothing, it was almost threadbare. Sometimes the man (meaning as last aforesaid) had worked at the icehouse, a little further up the lake, but he (meaning as last aforesaid) could never get any cash for his labor. He (meaning as last aforesaid) had to deal at either "the store" which is kept at the village of Hewitt, or in the one at the village of Ringwood, both of which are kept by the lord of the domain (meaning ~~by~~ ^{the} said Abram S. Hewitt, and meaning by matters aforesaid referring to the said family of Ryerson that by his conduct in the management and control of said estate and by his avarice he the said Abram S. Hewitt had driven the said family of Ryerson to pauperism and slavery). It is the only place where they (meaning the said family), with the others (meaning the others of said workmen and laborers) could obtain their food without the risk of being discharged, and, as one of the workmen (meaning one of the said workmen and laborers) remarked, "the boss always takes care that we come out even" (meaning thereby that the said Abram S. Hewitt took care that his laborers and employes should at all times be indebted to the full extent of their wages so that no money was ever paid them, and this by indirect and improper means). How this little scheme is worked will be explained in a subsequent article. It is ingenious, even if it is vicious.

The laws of New Jersey now forbid an employer paying his employe in anything but cash, but at Ringwood (meaning on the said estate) it always happens that the employe is in debt to the store, so when he (meaning the laborer and workman of said Abram S. Hewitt) receive his money he (meaning as last aforesaid) is immediately invited to turn it back to his employer (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) and invariably walks out with his pockets empty (meaning thereby that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had been in the practice of criminally violating the laws of the State of New Jersey forbidding an employer from paying his employe in anything but cash).

It will be seen that by this system--the lowest wages at best, the store machinery by which whatever is earned goes directly back again, and the pigpens which are called houses and have to serve as shelter--that the calculation is to get a man's labor for the bare price of his subsistence, and the most beggarly subsistence at that (meaning thereby that the said Abram S. Hewitt by his methods in operation on said estate intended and calculated to obtain from his employes their services for little and wholly inadequate recompense).

Compare this with the public spirited methods of Pullman, McCormick and Sprague, where each man is helped and encouraged to earn his own home, where the best sanitary arrangements and the most ^{inviting} ~~thriving~~ little villages are the order of the day, and where each pretty cottage has not only ample room and nice furniture, but even a piano at times! Think of the happy colonies called into existence by men of no undue saintliness, men of merely good, sound, business sense, and a natural desire to see human beings in a state of comfort rather than misery; think of what can be accomplished by a modicum of unselfishness, or call it enlightened selfishness if you will, the better work to be obtained from those who are happy and hopeful; contemplate this and then turn to the degraded beings who make up what is known as Cooper and Hewitt (meaning thereby the workmen and laborers of the said Abram S. Hewitt).

No churches, no schools, the children unable even to read and write, and the fathers and mothers not much better off; without hope, ambition, education, why are they (meaning the said laborers and workmen and their families) one whit more enviable than slaves? They (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) have legal rights it is true; theoretically they (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) are masters of their own bodies, but practically they (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) are not, for all manhood has been crushed out of them (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers); they (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) have almost ceased to feel. They (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) have no means to build their own houses, while the land they (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) stand on could not be bought at any price, so that they (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) can never be anything that savors of the faintest proprietorship--that boon so sweet to the American soul. Sprague encouraged and aided his employes to own their own homes, but the master of Ringwood (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) would rather part with one of his fingers than a foot of his land (meaning thereby that the said Abram S. Hewitt by his avarice and cupidity had reduced his laborers and workmen to a condition of absolute penury, their manhood destroyed and themselves deprived of every means of bettering their condition).

Not alone this but the tenants (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) have not even a lease. They (meaning thereby the said laborers and workmen) are simply tenants at sufferance. Let them (meaning thereby the laborers and workmen) dare to disagree with their masters (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt and the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) and eviction follows at once. One young fellow (meaning thereby one of the said workmen and laborers) who refused to work on a Sunday, was ordered peremptorily out of his house on that very day (meaning thereby that the said last mentioned workman and laborer had been evicted from his dwelling on the Sabbath for refusing to perform labor on that day). The truck system at the store leaving them (meaning the said laborers and workmen) absolutely without money, and the tenant sufferance system, which admits of eviction at any moment, places the poor people (meaning thereby the said workmen and laborers) entirely at the mercy of their masters (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt and the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt). They (meaning the said laborers and workmen) have not the ability to free themselves from this tyranny. It is simply a case where a maximum amount of labor is recompensed by a minimum wage, paid in goods sold by the firm of employers (meaning the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt) at maximum prices, of which firm this Abram S. Hewitt (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) is a member. (meaning thereby that the said workmen and laborers were recompensed for their labors by grossly inadequate wages and that these wages were paid to them in goods sold by the said copartnership of Cooper & Hewitt at extortionate prices and in violation of the laws of the said State of New Jersey). Mr. Hewitt, (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) however, does not confine his attentions merely to seeing that he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) gets men to work for him (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) for a living.

He (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) is always in litigation trying to get hold of somebody else's property to add to his (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt's) already pretty well swollen estate (thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt was continually attempting to unlawfully obtain the possession and ownership of real property bordering upon his said estate by unlawful and fraudulent means and without any proper consideration). Every little while a new survey is made by a complaisant surveyor who manages either through accident or design, to rake in half a dozen neighboring farms, the titles to which date back nearly a hundred years (thereby meaning that he the said Abram S. Hewitt for the purpose of unlawfully gaining possession of lands not belonging to himself had caused false and fraudulent surveys to be made of his estate whereby his said estate should be made to include parcels of land belonging to other people). These new surveys enable the gentleman at Ringwood (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) to claim possession on the principle that money will carry everything before it possibly, but the original owner fights hard, and the Croesus (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) has been worsted in almost every one of these struggles. Thomas Storms, who has owned for many years, and through his ancestors since 1806, the pretty bit of land in Greenwood Lake (meaning thereby the said lake) known as Storms' Island, told me his tale with his face all aglow--how Ringwood's owner (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) swooped down upon him in a night as it were, took possession of his tenant and supposed all was well till Storms flew into the courts, valiantly fought it out, and now owns the property above question.

It was quite an exciting event, particularly on that night when the usurper (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) tried to run in, under cover of the darkness, an undisputed tenant of his own in place of the William Morgan who was originally Storms' tenant, but who proved rather shaky under the circumstances. The New tenant floated down from the north at midnight, while Mr. Storms awaited him with sheriffs and revolvers, having had a sudden intimation that something was "up," and before the Ringwood tenant could plant his great toe on the coveted property Mr. Storms himself had entered bag and baggage. There seems to be a wonderful unanimity of opinion in the courts about these matters. Every case has been decided in favor of the disturbed party and against Ringwood (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt).

This greed for what does not belong to him (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) is only equalled by his (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt's) reluctance to part with an inch of his own, even to what would seem to be one of the wisest and best of enterprises, and which he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) had virtually pledged himself to. Take for example the children's hospital that was partially erected on the Ringwood estate and whose melancholy walls are still standing to tell the tale of man's cupidity (meaning thereby the said worthy project for the erection of a charitable institution on the said estate). This building (meaning thereby the said proposed institution) was suggested by the church people of Newark who contributed without regard to sect to so charitable an object, a committee (meaning the said persons so having charge of the said project) having obtained from the owner of Ringwood (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) carte blanche to place the building (meaning thereby the said proposed institution) on his (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt's) land. Certainly they (meaning thereby the said persons having charge of the said project for the erection of the said charitable institution) should have the land, they (thereby meaning as last aforesaid) should have his (thereby meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt's) assistance, anything, everything, was what the deluded committee (meaning thereby the said persons having charge of the said project) understood.

So Van Campen Taylor was engaged as architect, $8000 was raised, and the good work (meaning the erection of the said institution) begun, a work which would enable hundreds of poor, ailing children to grow well under the healing influence of the breezes from Greenwood Lake (thereby meaning the said lake). The master of Ringwood (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) placed everything at their (meaning thereby the persons having charge of the said project) disposal, and they (thereby meaning as last aforesaid) accepted the services of his men (meaning thereby the laborers and ~~workmen~~ workmen of the said Abram S. Hewitt) to haul the building materials from the station to the hospital grounds, a distance of about 100 yards. Rapidly the work progressed, the summer passed and autumn came, and with it a bill from the American nobleman (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) for cartage (meaning thereby that he the said Abram S. Hewitt had deluded and deceived the said persons so having charge of the said project into accepting the services of his laborers and workman in the erection of the said proposed institution, they believing such services had been tendered gratuitously and had subsequently presented them with a claim for such services).

The committee (meaning thereby the said persons having charge of the said project) was nonplussed, a meeting was called, the maker of the bill (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) interviewed, and a deed of the land (meaning thereby the portion of the said estate upon which the erection of the said proposed institution had been commenced) requested before the work (meaning thereby the erection of the said institution) went further, as faith in promises was beginning to be shaken. Indignation on all sides; the nobleman (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) horrified at the idea of parting with his (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt's) land; never said, never thought, never dreamed that he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) should give it to them (meaning thereby for the purposes of the said project for the erection of the said proposed institution); but he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) did mean to have his (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt's) bill for cartage paid. Proceedings came to a standstill; it was impossible to ask any more contributions under the circumstances, so the committee (meaning thereby the persons having charge of the said project) was obliged to request the carpenters (meaning thereby the carpenters who had been engaged at work in the construction of the said proposed institution) to file a mechanic's lien to cover the $400 due him. The owner of Ringwood (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) bought the mechanic's lien in order to satisfy his (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) bill for cartage, and in due time the ~~xxx~~ building in which had been invested $8000 (meaning the said institution so partially erected as aforesaid) came into his (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt's) hands, and he (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) now uses it (meaning thereby the said partially erected institution) to store away a certain batch of his employes (meaning thereby the laborers and workmen of the said Abram S. Hewitt) in. Forlorn enough it looks (meaning thereby the said partially erected institution) in its unfinished state, with the wretched bunks inside telling one sorrowful tale, and the unfinished exterior bearing witness to another (thereby meaning, and by all the matters in the said libel contained relating to the said project for the erection of the said charitable institution that he the said Abram S. Hewitt, by his greed and avarice and fraud and deception and deceitful conduct with and toward the said persons so having charge of the said project had caused the objects thereof to be defeated and a large sum of money expended in the partial erection of the said proposed institution entirely lost from its intended purpose and had as a result of his avarice and cupidity gotten into his hands and possession the said institution so partially erected as aforesaid).

In the centre of this vast estate (meaning thereby the said estate of the said Abram S. Hewitt) is the castle, so to speak, where the lord (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) lives in princely style. There is no sign of poverty at the manor house no matter how wretched the quarters beyond. I wonder do the women of that household (meaning thereby the household of the said Abram S. Hewitt) ever think of * that poor, depraved girl, a Ryerson and direct descendant of the former owners of the land (meaning thereby a certain daughter in the said family of Ryerson), who left her home one winter's day to spend the night with two men on top of the mountain, where they had erected a hut out of boughs for their sinful purposes. She (meaning the said daughter) was the daughter of the sad eyed woman who talked with me so long, and who saw her daughter go forth to her shame only to receive her dying of her injuries on her return, the hut having taken fire and burned the girl (meaning the said daughter) so that she could not live. It is a horrible tale, but who is responsible for this degradation, for this ignorance which leads to vice, this vice that leads to crime ? Certainly not the poor parents, who are worked and fed and sheltered like so many cattle, who are allowed no hope this side the grave (meaning thereby that as a result of the oppressive, tyrannical and wicked conduct of the said Abram S. Hewitt toward his said laborers and workmen and particularly in his conduct ~~toward~~ toward the said family of Ryerson a condition of immorality existed by reason of which a daughter in the said family had come to her death whilst engaged in a wicked debauch with two men, that for this condition of morals and the degradation of the families of his laborers and workmen he the said Abram S. Hewitt was wholly responsible)?

The children, particularly these Ryerson children (meaning thereby the children of the workmen and laborers of the said Abram S. Hewitt, and particularly those of the said family of Ryerson) are born with the stamp of a superior race on their brows. As children they are beautiful, with bright sympathetic faces, and the possibilities of noble manhood and womanhood in them. But the deadening effect of this terrible Ringwood policy (meaning thereby the conduct of the said Abram S. Hewitt in the management and operation of the said estate) soon makes itself felt, and before natural proclivities can assert themselves the whole being is poisoned and they sink down as dull and ignorant and hopeless as their parents before them (meaning thereby that the conduct of the said Abram S. Hewitt in the management and operation of the said estate and his treatment of his workmen and laborers and their families was such as that the children of the said workmen and laborers though possessing in childhood all the qualities requisite to a noble manhood and womanhood, became from the effect and as a consequence of the acts of the said Abram S. Hewitt demoralized and depraved, there whole beings poisoned and themselves rendered dull ignorant and hopeless).

In the mean time the author of their miseries (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) enjoys the distinction of his superb summer home (meaning thereby the said estate), rides to town on a railroad which he (meaning thereby the said ~~Abram~~ Abram S. Hewitt) practically owns, and begins work in New York before an admiring public. He (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) refuses to put the American flag at half mast as a mark of respect to a dead foreign ruler (who died more in sympathy with our institutions than the man who refused to raise the flag), but on the same day he (meaning thereby the said Abram S. Hewitt) places his railroad and the railroad's steamer on Greenwood Lake (meaning the said lake) at the disposal of the loathesome Duke of Marlborough, with whose bride he (meaning the said Abram S. Hewitt) as Mayor afterward had the famous kissing scene in the City Hall.

-----to the great scandal, injury and disgrace of the said Abram S. Hewitt, to the evil example of all others in like case offending, against the form of the statute in such case made and provided, and against the peace of the People of the State of New York and their dignity.
