DISTRICT COURT.

City and County of New York, ss:

I, M A R T I N B E R G, being duly sworn, depose and say, that I am a member of the firm of M. BERG & CO., engaged in the Hat and Cap Business, at No. 36 West Houston Street, New York City.

In the latter part of October, 1890, complaint was made to deponent by some of his employees, growing out of the fact that deponent desired to give three dozen lot of Caps to certain of his employees to be made up, and which employees deponent chose to select, because the same required certain workmanship and skill. The persons to whom these three dozen lots were offered declined to receive the same, demanding that the same be distributed by deponent between such of deponent's employees as the persons to whom the work was offered as aforesaid might select or nominate, for the purpose of doing such work. To this deponent objected, and immediately all of deponent's employees left their work and deserted deponent's shop. Business was absolutely suspended in deponent's shop for about the period of one week, when, in pursuance of repeated requests made by representatives from the Hat and Cap Operators Union No. 1 of the City of New York, deponent was induced to call upon the Executive Board of said Union. Finally deponent appeared upon the Executive Board of said Union, when a contract was submitted to deponent for execution, and the sum of Ten Dollars was demanded from deponent, as a fee for drawing the same, which contract deponent then refused to sign and declined to pay.

said fee.

Thereupon one Jacob Blum stated to deponent that none of his men would be permitted to return to work unless said contract was signed, and a fee of Ten Dollars paid for the drawing of said contract. At said time all of deponent's employees or hands were in attendance at said meeting and the said Blum then and there instructed deponent's hands not to return to work until the contract submitted, was signed by deponent and the aforesaid fee paid to the said Blum. The strike continued for an additional four weeks, when deponent again, upon the request of the Executive Board of the Union, called upon said Executive Board,. This was on or about December 2nd, 1890. One Julius Menzke presided at said meeting. A motion was made by Julius Menzke to fine deponent's firm, Seven Hundred and Fifty Dollars ($750) and that on default of said sum ~~not~~ being paid, deponent's employees be instructed to continue in the said strike. The said resolution was carried. Said Menzke then and there stated to deponent that the Executive Board would not permit any of deponent's hands to return, or allow said strike to be called off until said sum was paid, together with Ten Dollars legal fees for the drawing of the contract, then and there submitted to deponent for execution, but which up to said time had not been signed by deponent.

Said Menzke then and there exacted as a further condition of allowing deponent's hands to return to work, that deponent forthwith execute a certain contract, a copy of which is hereto annexed. That deponent was required to sign said contract before the said Menzke would permit the return of his said hands or the aforesaid strike to be declared off. Accordingly deponent signed said contract and paid Ten Dollars fees.

Further deponent states that the said contract was, in no way or manner, submitted to him, at no time prior to said December 2nd, when, as one of the conditions of declaring said strike off, he was compelled to execute said contract. at the dictation of said men.

And further deponent states that he was required to and that his said firm did pay the sum of Five Hundred and Ten Dollars, before the said Jacob Blum and Julius Mencke would allow deponent's hands to return or permit the resolution to be carried, declaring the aforesaid strike off in deponent's shop.

The proposed fine of $750.00 was finally, after much argument, reduced to $500.00

WHEREFORE deponent prays that the said Julius Mencke and Jacob Blum be dealt with according to law.

Sworn to before me this *10*th) day of April, 1891. )

Court General Sessions. Part I Before Recorder Smyth. July 10. 1891.
Indictment for grand larceny in the first degree.
James Ginn, sworn and examined, testified:
I landed in the United States on the 30th of June. I don't know the name of the place where I landed. I met the defendant; he tapped me on the shoulder and asked me what did I work at. I told him firing a locomotive. He said he would bring me a job for two dollars a day; he got me into an eating house and gave me a breakfast.
He went into the hallway and shut the door; he went up stairs and came down.
Another man came in and said, "I cannot change money in the street;" he had a check in his hand. This man (the defendant) asked me if I had any money? I said, I had. I had the purse in my hand. He grabs the purse out of my hand, and handed the money to the other man and shut the door and went out. What did he do with the ~~purse~~ after he took the money out? He gave me back the purse without any money.
How much money was in it when he took it out of your hand? Four dollars.
What happened after that? He came out and he say, "I will get your money."

and he went into the public house and I could not see him at all. The defendant handed the money to the man who had the check. I could not say where he went. This was in the hallway; the other man shut the door leading into the street leaving the defendant and me in the hallway. I went back the next morning to Castle Gardens. I was to go to work for a gentleman, and as I was going to work I met the defendant and the other man. I asked him for my money. He put his hand into his pocket and he pulled out a two dollar bill and offered it to me. A witness I have here saw him do it. I held him, and a policeman came up and arrested him.

Cross Examined. I don't know the names of the streets I went through. I don't know how much he paid for my breakfast. The other man did not say he was an agent for the procuring of employment. I did not hand the defendant my pocketbook, I had it in my hand and he grabbed it out of my hand. I took the pocketbook out of my pocket because I thought he would make me pay for the breakfast. I did not take my pocketbook out for the purpose of paying the man for getting me employment. Had the pocket-book in my trousers' pocket. Then you took it out did you open it? No sir. Did you ask him much was the price of your breakfast? No sir, he paid for it. Did you see him pay for it? I seen him paying for it. Did you ask him to pay for it? He said he would pay for it himself. What pocket did you put it back into? This pocket (showing) Did you take your hand away from it when you put it back? Yes sir. What position did you take after you put your pocketbook in your pocket? I walked down the street along with him. What was the conversation between you and him at that time after that? He was telling me that if I was a good boy —. What did he say? He said if I was a good boy and keep from drink I would get a good job.

Was anything said about paying this other man so much money? No sir.

Was anything said about money at all? No sir, not a word. Are you sure about that? I am certain about that. Notwithstanding the fact that nothing was said about money by you or by the prisoner or by any person you took your pocketbook out of your pocket and had it in your hand? I had it in my hand and put it in this pocket.

 Did you take your pocketbook out for the purpose of giving money to anybody? I took the pocketbook in my hand to see if it was all right and put it in my pocket again. You knew it was all right? I don't know whether it was or not.
 Nobody had been in your pocket? No sir.
 When you took it out, did you open it?
 No sir. I did not open it. Were not the bills in that shape (showing) folded up that way? Yes sir, they were folded four one dollar bills. Did you take the pocket book up this way (showing) open it and hand it to the prisoner and he took it, did you not open the pocketbook?
 No sir. I did not open the pocketbook.
 Did you not open the pocketbook and did he not take out two one dollar bills and ask you if this is all the money you had and you said, "yes", is that so or not? There was four single one dollar bills. Did you not open the pocketbook? No. I did not open it, he opened it and snatched it out of my hand. Did you hand it to him? No. I did not. Had it in my hand and he snatched it out of my hand. How much money did he hand you back? No money at all.

Did he hand you any book at any time? No sir, at no time. How much did he offer you next morning? He offered me a two dollar bill. to not get him furnished. You would not take it? No sir.

By the Court You handed him over to a policeman? Yes sir.

By Mr. Weeks Where were you born? In Dingle. Have you ever been in a big city like this before? No sir. Were you ever in any city before? No sir. I never was in this city. I never was in as big a city as this, but I have been in small towns. Where are you from? Ballyshannon, Co. Donegal. I have been in Bundoran and Enniskillen. Who spoke to you first the next morning, you or the prisoner? He spoke to you before you did. He tried to avoid me coming down the street. I went after him, and this other gentleman below was with him. Henry Colvin, sworn and examined by Mr. Weeks. Where do you live? No. 538 East Fourteenth street. When did you first see James Ginn, the man that was on the stand before you? I seen him on the afternoon of June 30. Whereabouts?

 In Castle Garden. And did you then engage him to work for you? Yes sir. Where did you go there to get him to take to your place of business? Not that night. Where did you first see this defendant? On the following morning about 25 or 30 minutes to nine o'clock. Whereabouts? About two hundred and fifty feet from West St.
 in Chambers street. Who was with you at that time? The plaintiff here. I was taking him down. That is James Finn?
 Yes sir, I was taking him down to put him on board the Erie Railroad, sending him out to Orange Co. to work on a farm. He were walking down, and this other gentleman and a friend of his had been — You were taking him down to put him on board the train?
 The Buffalo express, nine o'clock, at the Erie depot, and all of a sudden — you were taking him to put him on the train and then you saw this defendant and another man in Chambers street? Coming up the side we were going down. He crossed the street and he jumped from my side and without saying a word grabbed this gentleman by the shoulder. What did this man do when he saw you coming? He stood a little while and he said he was the wrong man, and a second after James Ginn had hold of him while he put his hand in his right vest pocket and pulled out a two dollar bill, and some man came out; then I told James Ginn to hold on, that he had the right man and he put the two dollar bill back in his vest pocket. He stood half a minute, and then he pulled it out the second time and said, "If this is your money, here it is," and the man said still, "hold on to him," and the officer came along and arrested him. That is all I know about the case.

Cross Examined. Did not Ginn say to you that he handed the contents of the pocket book to this man (the defendant) and that he took the money out and handed him back one dollar? No, I won't say that he did, he might have, but I did not pay any attention to it; he told me about being robbed. He made a remark going up in the car to my residence that he got robbed that morning. Did he say how the money was taken from him? Yes, he told me that two men came and promised to get him work and one asked him how much he wanted. He said he did not know. He says, "I will give you two dollars a day", and then they asked him if he had any breakfast, and he said not. They took him away and gave him his breakfast, and as I understood it that they had a check and could not get the check cashed and asked him for money, and that he pulled out his pocketbook to give them the money and they took it and went away into the place, and that he stood outside for four hours waiting for them to come out again. That is what he told me. Did he say that he took out his money to give it to them? I want be positive as to that because I did not give it much heed at the time. Did he not say that he was going to give him the money? Not to my knowledge he did not. I did not hear him make a statement in the Police Court that the defendant handed him back a dollar. The defendant pleaded guilty to an attempt at grand larceny.

it to him? No, I did not. Had it in my hand and he snatched it out of my hand. How much money did he hand you back? No money at all.

Did he hand you any book at any time?

No sir, at no time. How much did he offer you next morning? He offered me a two dollar bill, to not get him furnished. You would not take it? No sir. By the way, you handed him over to a policeman?

Yes sir.
