People
vs
Pauline Jacquin.

Hon. Randolph B. Martine,
District Attorney:

Dear Sir,

With your permission we, as complainants in the above entitled actions would beg leave to call your attention to the position of the actions.

Alfred Jacquin was tried last month by Mr. Parris before Judge Gildersleeve upon a charge made by us of stealing from us a pair of diamond stones, of the value of $1,000 and owing to the able efforts of Mr. Parris was convicted of grand larceny in the first degree.

He has however, not been sentenced notwithstanding vigorous efforts on our part.

Pauline Jacquin is indicted for stealing a pair of diamond earrings of the value of $1450 upon the complaint of Nathan Kauffmann, representing the firm of Veuve L. B. Citroen & Company

She has been lying in the Tombs ever since, has not been tried and so far as we can ascertain may not be for sometime. In the meantime our witnesses against her are disappearing and the delay is becoming a serious matter to us.

The two Jacquins are Mother and son, their real names are Levi, they came here as fugitives from Justice from Paris, about two years ago, assumed the alias of Jacquin and concealing their previous history from the diamond merchants here succeeded in defrauding them out of about $30,000 worth of diamonds. It would be a great mortification to us were they to escape because of delay and it appears to us if there were danger of such an event happening.

The firms whose signatures we have appended and ourselves have therefore thought it our duty to bring the cases to your personal attention, in order that you may take such action as will best further the ends of justice.

Yours respectfully,

A P P E A R A N C E S :-

Assistant District Attorney. Purdy, for the People; S. H.
Randall, for the defense.

Nathan Kauffman, the complainant, being duly sworn, testified that he was an importer of diamonds, and that his place of business was at 21 John street, with L. R. Citron and Company. He was a partner in the firm. On the 13th of July, 1885, at the store at 21 John street, he met the defendant, Pauline Jacquin. Mrs. Jacquin asked whether she could have ear-rings that her son had had on a memorandum sometime before, because the customer was willing to pay cash for them.
He gave her the ear-rings on memorandum, and she was to report to him, the next day. He gave them to her for fourteen hundred dollars, and she told him that she would faithfully report the next day. But she did not come the next day. She came on the 15th, and he asked her if she had the money or the ear-rings, and she said that she had to leave the ear-rings with Mrs. Morgan, in 39th. street. He told her that she had no right to leave his goods with anybody else, without his special permission, and she promised him to let him have the ear-rings, or get him the cash, and pay that to him, the next day. She was to receive a commission of $35 for the sale of the diamonds. On the following day, she did not come. On the 17th, her son came. He, the witness, sent his young man up to her store, but he did not recover the diamonds from Mrs. Jacquin. He saw them again, at Green's pawnshop, in the Bowery.

1054

Under cross examination, the witness testified that his firm had dealt with Mrs. Jacquin about six months, but they had given her no diamonds except on memorandum.

Joseph Loewenbaum, being duly sworn, testified that he was a commission dealer in diamonds. On the 17th. day of July, 1885, he went to the store of Mrs. Jacquin, at 253 5th. Avenue. The firm name was P. Jacquin and Son. He saw

Mrs. Jacquin, and told her that he called at the request of Mr. Kauffman. She promised to send her son down on the next day, to make a report about the diamonds. He heard Mrs. Jacquin tell Mr. Kauffman, when she obtained the diamonds from him on memorandum, that she had a customer, and Mr. Kauffman made her promise that she would bring the diamonds next day; but, when she came down on the after-noon of the 15th, she said that a thing like that could not be settled so soon, and that her customer had to make up her mind, and that she had left the diamonds with her.

Under cross examination, the witness testified that he quitted the employ of Kauffman on or about the 11th or 12th of February, to go into a commission jewelry business on his own account.

On the re-direct examination, the witness testified that Mrs. Jacquin said that her customer was a Mrs. Kitty Morgan, who lived in 39th St.

KITTY MORGAN, being duly sworn, testified that she lived at 240 West 39th Street. She never met the defendant, Pauline Jacquin, but once. She never received any diamonds from her. She could not say that she saw her in July, 1885. <sup>the</sup> ~~On one~~ <sup>On</sup> one occasion that she saw the defendant, she was with her son, and had a great many diamonds with her--rings, pins, lockets, and bracelets. It was about Christmas, in 1885.

THOMAS ADAMS, being duly sworn, testified that he was a pawnbroker, and that his place of business was at 171 Bowery. The present name of the firm was John Simpson, but it was formerly Thomas Green. He was in the employ of the firm. He identified the pawnticket shown to him by Mr. Purdy, as a pawnticket issued by Mr. Thomas Green. He knew of his own knowledge, that the ticket represented diamonds in the possession of Mr. Green. Mr. Simpson had the goods belonging to the estate of Thomas Green in one of the compartments of his safe. He, the witness, was prepared to produce the diamonds at any moment, and would produce them on the following day. Mrs. Jacquin redeemed them on the 12th of May; they were pawned at that time. She put them back in pawn, again, about the 13th of July, for $600.

GEORGE C. COMSTOCK, being duly sworn, testified that he was an Attorney and Counsellor at Law. He saw the defendant, Pauline Jacquin, in the State of New Jersey, about the 22nd of July, 1885. He was acting as attorney for the firm from which the diamonds were obtained. He went to Bloomfield,

New Jersey. He was accompanied by a Newark attorney, ~~and~~ an officer of the Newark police, ~~and~~ one of Pinkerton's Detectives, <sup>and</sup> <sub>1</sub> Mr. Weil. <sub>1</sub> He found the defendant at a house on the outskirts of Bloomfield, in Mrs. Meecham's house. Her son was with her. He, the witness, spoke French. The conversation was conducted entirely in French. The conversation was partly between the witness and Mrs. Jacquin and Mr. Weil, <sup>and</sup> the Pinkerton detective. Mrs. Jacquin and her son were sitting on the porch of the house, for it was a warm evening. Mr. Weil addressed her as Mrs. Robert. She was living there under that name, and she responded to it. She asked Mr. Weil upstairs. Mr. Weil did not tell her, that he, the witness, spoke French. But told her, that since she wanted to go to Canada, it was time for her to go, and that he, <sup>the witness,</sup> <sub>1</sub> would accompany her through the city, to the depot. Because he didn't care to be seen by other creditors, or other persons from whom she had taken memorandum goods, for fear it would implicate him in the transaction. She questioned Mr. Weil as to whether anything had been found out or not, and he said that he did not know, but that detectives were on her track and very likely something would be found of her whereabouts very soon, and she said, "You had better have let me sail for France when I wanted to, or go to Canada." He said "It was better for you. I thought perhaps the thing would blow over, after the creditors and the people you had taken memorandum goods from had thought you had gone away, and perhaps you could manage to arrange in some way with them." She said that she was glad that she could go now to Canada, and wanted to get off as soon as possible. Mr. Weil asked her what she was going to do for him as to the memorandum goods she had taken from him. He said that she had taken two or three thousand dollars worth of goods of his, and pawned them in <sup>the</sup> some way. The defendant said, "If you will get us to Canada safely, we could manage there to get some money, and we will send it to you just as soon as we can, which will be in a comparatively short time." He then went over the list of the persons from whom she had taken memorandum goods, whose goods she had pawned, which were quite a number, and among others was this complainant. He asked her what she was going to do about those persons, and she said that she could not do anything about those persons yet. When she had got safely away, where she could have some sort of respite, and a chance to engage in something, and look up her affairs, she might be able to make some arrangement with them. She then packed her things, with her son, and he, the witness, accompanied her and Mr. Weil and her son to the depot. She asked him, the witness, if he would get her tickets to Canada, and how soon she would get there. She tore up some memorandum slips of goods, which the witness and his companions afterward found. Mr. Weil questioned her about them and she said that they were of no account. When the party got on the New York side of the ferry, Mrs. Jacquin and her son were arrested. When she was arrested, she turned around and said to Mr. Weil, in French, "You played us a dirty trick, but you will get nothing now from us." The prisoners were taken to Police Headquarters, and she, the witness, made a complaint against them. They were searched, and some papers were found upon them. Then the mother and the son both repeated the assertion that Weil had played them a dirty trick, and that he would not get his money nor his goods, just the same as the others. In Bloomfield, when Mr. Weil went over the list of those from whom she had obtained goods on memorandum, the amount was about Thirty thousand dollars. She also said, at that time, when Mr. Weil asked her how she would settle with him, that the pawnticket which she had given him ought to satisfy his claim. He, the witness, went to Bloomfield as the representative of all the creditors, being counsel for the Jewelers' Association.

1058

THOMAS ADAMS, being recalled, testified that he had the diamonds in court, and had ~~to~~ delivered them to the District Attorney. When the diamonds were pledged, the defendant talked French, and he could hardly understand what she said. She gave the name of George. When she first pawned the diamonds, she said that she wanted $700 to pay a creditor. When she pawned the diamonds again, on or about the 13th of July, he asked her if she wanted the same amount again. She said that she only wanted $600. He told her that she could have $700, if she wanted it.

MR. LOEWENBAUM, being recalled, identified the diamonds as those that were obtained from Mr. Kauffman on memorandum.

MRS. MORGAN, being recalled, testified that she desired to correct her testimony. Madam Jacquin called upon her about Christmas, 1884, instead of 1885.

For the defence, the defendant, Pauline Jacquin, testified that she was 40 years of age, and married. She had two sons. The youngest being 13 years old, and the oldest 19. She came to the United States three years and a half before. When she came to America, she went to Mr. Morris Weil and he gave her some brooches to sell. Her son was engaged with her in business ~~with her~~ from the month of April, 1885. They bought and sold from Fifty to Sixty <sup>Thousand</sup> Dollars worth of diamonds. They bought from a number of jewelry houses in the lower part of the city. She first saw the diamonds in question when her son brought them to the office, in the month of March, 1885. She ~~could~~ <sup>did not</sup> remember whether he had any bill or invoice for them. They had them in the store for several months, on open account. Neither she nor her son ever bought on commission or memorandum. They always got invoices or bills, paying their creditors every two or three months. She saw Mr. Kauffman in July 1885. She bought a diamond from Mr. Kauffman, and could not pay him, and that was the reason why she went to see him. She asked time to pay for it and he granted it to her. That diamond was not one of the diamond ear-rings. Mr. Kauffman gave her back the diamond ear-rings, to put in her store in Fifth Avenue, to see if she was able to sell them. She was to get $1350 or $1400 for them. Nothing was said about allowing her a commission of $35 if she sold them. When her son received the diamonds before, she pledged them

1062

I note, and two notes were still unpaid. He never sold to her on open account. He sold her some goods on memorandum, and some goods out and out. He ran after her, and wrote to her, and it required two weeks to get back the bracelet. He knew from his own personal knowledge, that they were pawned with Simpson and Green.

-----000-----

with Mr. Green, and used the money in her business. When she took the diamonds back to her store, at Mr. Kauffman's request, she had a payment to make and went and pledged them, to take up one of her notes that fell due.

Under cross examination, Mrs. Jacquin denied that she had had any such conversation with any-one, at Bloomfield or in New York, as had been testified to by Mr. Comstock.

GASTON JACQUIN, being duly sworn, testified that he was the son of the defendant, and that he was 13 years of age. He corroborated his mother as to her denial of the conversation testified to by Mr. Comstock, in Bloomfield and in New York.

SIGMUND SARIL, being duly sworn, testified that he had known Madam Jacquin for about a year and a half. He had had transactions with her and with her son. She formed the partnership with her son about March or April, 1885. She had bought goods of him, and paid for a part of them. He had got one bracelet back from her in July last, because he insisted on the return of it. The bracelet was worth about Three thousand Dollars. So far as her dealings with him were concerned, her transactions were not quite correct. She bought a bill of goods from him, but only paid the first

On April 7th I gave to Alfred Jaquim a lot of Jewelry <sup>on memorandum</sup> Alfred having told me that he had customers for the same. On March 20th I gave him a pair of earrings 9 1/4 carats for $1365.00 on memo. on the representation that he had a sure customer for such a pair. Shortly after Alfred got them he came to me saying that a Mrs Morgan of Phila. ~~the~~ the wife of a Mr Morgan of D. M. T. Co. intended to buy them. that she might give notes for the same which he would tender to me. On upon inquiry I could not find out anything about that lady. I told him that I do not care to do any transaction of that kind and that he should try to get the cash or return the earrings to me. I left for Europe on April 29th. On May 4th Mr Lowenbaum who is in my employ gave Alfred one bkt 2 7/8 ct 1/32 @ 59 for carat <sup>= $167.18</sup> and one bkt 3 1/8 ct 1/6 1/4 " 90 for carat <sup>= $288.27</sup> on. The next day he gave to Mrs Pauline Jaquim two bkt 4 1/6 ct 1/32 for $400.00 and two bkt 6 7/8 ct 1/32 for $1110.00 and one bkt 2 3/4 ct 1/32 for $515.00 all on memorandum. but on representation that they her customers for such goods. On May 13 Alfred said to my said employee Mr Lowenbaum he could sell the 4 1/6 ct 1/32 ct pair for $400.00 and he would make the sale if he could have them for $380.00

1 B. 3. 18/16/64

Lowenbaur acceded to it, but remarked that he would not consider them sold until he had the money for them.

On June 12th the money not having been paid, Alfred upon Lowenbaur's request returned the earrings, saying that his customer had not money at that time and that he would take them <sup>as soon as</sup> his customer had the money. The same day Alfred returned the 113 ct 2 3/4 1 1/2 ct

On the 18th of June he returned the pair of Earrings 9 1/4 ct. On the 5th of July Mrs. Jaeger <sup>upon my request</sup> sold the 113 ct 2 3/4 1 1/2 ct given to Alfred on May 5th. The one 114 3 1/8 1 1/4 she said was as good as sold, but she produced the stone, saying that she had taken it out of a ring setting, and that it would be sold as soon as her party was ready to pay for it. She begged me to let her keep it yet and ~~not~~ to deprive her of the benefit which the sale of the 9 1/4 ct pr. on the part of Mrs. Lowenbaur.

Alfred on or about June 15th brought a sealed package and said in substance that his customer sealed them because she had not the money as yet. Lowenbaur kept the package until following of that time might have given her, in view of the trouble which I suppose she had to sell it, I allowed her to keep it yet. Subsequently found that she passed it to the same day she had the conversation with me about it.

Wednesday (?) Alfred then called for them remarking that his customer would be in that afternoon with the money and take the earrings. Loevenbaum told him then he should pay the money to us the same afternoon or return the earrings. As Alfred did not put in an appearance Loevenbaum went up the next morning and Alfred having <sup>left their place of bus.</sup> ~~gone~~ with the earrings in order to see their customer Mrs. Jaquim said that she would send him down to fix it up one way or the other. Upon urgent endeavors Alfred returned there next morning.

In reference to the 9/405 pair of earr.

On July 15th, after having returned from Europe, Mrs. Jaquim called on me (on the same day she sold the 1.13.15 2 7/8 1 1/2) and asked me whether she could have the earrings the following week as her customer would then be ready to pay the cash for same. I told her she could have them but that she must either pay me for the earrings or return them. <sup>she called to get them and did get them on July 13th and</sup> ~~she~~ called next day and told me that she had left the earrings with her customer and that she could let me know the next day. She told me that I could well imagine that private parties don't decide so quickly and that it needs patience to sell such a pair of earrings. I then told her that she had no right to leave the earrings with anybody without my permission, whereupon she answered me that her party is perfectly <sup>and to strengthen this statement she says</sup> responsible ~~and~~ furthermore that she had sold her a great many goods, and that she would feel perfectly safe even if her customer would owe her several thousand dollars.

 She promised me daily to return the earrings or give me money.
 but she failed to do so and I have since <sup>found out that she had pawned the very same day she got them of me</sup> when she had the earrings the last time she told me that a Mrs. Morgan
 - was de la mondaine - reflects upon the same. To whom she referred when she told to me that they were in the hands of a responsible party.
 When I asked Alfred how he came to speak to me about a Mrs. Morgan of Draxel, Morgan & Co, while his mother told me of the above mentioned <sup>Mrs. Morgan</sup> ~~person~~, he answered that they had a number of Morgans as customers, and ~~at~~ that at the time it was a Mrs Morgan of D. M. Co.

Regarding the jewelry Mrs Joaquin + Alfred Holdine that they had given it out on memorandum to different parties who are in the habit of selling for them, and both promised repeatedly to return them. Alfred paid Mr Fowcubacca for one lace pin 30 - saying that he had sold it, although I identified this pin among my other jewelry at Simpsons, which, as it appears by the receipt he (or Mrs Q.) pawned the same day (Apr 7) I gave the goods to him. <sup>accepting a few articles which I don't know what has become of them</sup> ~~the same~~ <sup>in reference</sup> to the 1 Pearl 3 1/8 1/4 1/6 1/6 which I identified ~~also~~ <sup>over</sup>.

Joseph Löwenbaum
21 Jan

It might be proper to state here that it is a custom in our trade to give goods on memorandums given to parties of whom we know that they are financially responsible. Such goods are given with the understanding that they must be returned <sup>to the owner</sup> on demand and that the title shall only pass if the equivalent amount is paid in cash or fair. In some cases the party entrusted with the goods can make their own profit or sell them on a stipulated commission. Where a sale of a package of loose diamonds can be effected, (where larger amounts are involved) it is also necessary to entrust the "broker" with the goods as the package of diamonds cannot be sold by samples.
