James L. ~~Elmore~~ Moore, of No. 103 Bowery, in said City, being duly sworn, deposes and says: That he is in the employ of Pinkerton's detective agency; that on October 6', 1884, he was detailed to work up election frauds in the 8' Assembly district; that on the 11' day of said month he was approached by John Stevens, of No. 103 Bowery, the clerk of the Empire lodging house at said number, who called deponent into the office of said house and showed him a card of the Republican naturalization bureau; that deponent told said Stevens that he, deponent, did not need to get naturalized as he was already a citizen; that said Stevens was talking to others present about registering, and then turned to deponent and told him that he might make something out of this (meaning by registering and voting); that deponent told said Stevens that he had been in the State only three months; that Stevens then told deponent that he would introduce him to George Oestreicher, Jr., who was a United States marshal, and he would put deponent through; that on the 15' of said month the said Stevens told deponent that if he would register there was a five dollar stamp in it for him.

And deponent further says that on the 15' day of October, 1884, he was approached by George Oestreicher, Jr., who tried to induce deponent to register, notwithstanding deponent told him that he had only been in the State six months; that Oestreicher told deponent not to say that, but to say that he had been here not less than one year; that Oestreicher then told deponent that he was a United States marshal, at the same time displaying to deponent his shield, and that nobody around there would trouble deponent but him, and that he would not.

TESTIMONY.

This is to certify that man called Geo. Rohde was brought in ambulance from corner of Jay & West Streets to this hospital (Chambers Street Hospital) at 2.51 pm. October 3rd, 1884 suffering from a compound depressed fracture of the skull. He was said to have been struck on the head with the spoke of a wheel. On admission he was able to stand and walk. He had no paral., no bleeding from ear or nose, pupils were normal. Patient complained of intense pain in the head. An ice bag was applied to his head, and 20 grs. of bromide of potassium ordered for him. The pain in his head increased and about one hour after his admission he became comatose; reflexes in his extremities were preserved: right pupil became widely dilated, left remained normal. He was removed to operating room. By extending wound in scalp and making an incision across it bone of skull was exposed. This was found extensively fractured, depressed fragments occupying an area, about 2 inches long and $\frac{3}{4}$ inch wide; this area was just to right of median line on scalp drawn in antero-posterior direction: anterior extremity of area occupied by depressed bone was about at frontal suture. ~~This area~~ Depressed fragments were removed, and as much as could be of the blood clot under them. From opening thus made in the skull a crack in bone extended toward the left beyond that part of the skull which had been laid bare by flaps made in operation. Soon after operation pupils returned to normal size, but patient remained comatose until he died: this was at 6 pm. October 4th, 1884.
