BRIEF FOR THE PEOPLE.

Lena Richter and

Samuel Richter.

STATEMENT OF THE CASE.

The prisoners are indicted for keeping a disorderly house. But the case is not that of an ordinary disorderly house, but one of a number of recent attempts made to convert sections of tenement houses into disorderly houses. A cigar store is kept in the basement of the tenement, annexed to which is a room used for purposes of prostitution with one or two prostitutes. The upper part of the house, which in the present case is six story, double, is occupied by poor but respectable people. Their children are continually passing by and to and fro this so-called cigar store, where they are brought in contact with the prostitutes, hear the obscene language and witness still worse obscene acts. Repeated complaints have come from families living in these houses, asking the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children to break up the system. It has succeeded in doing so, and almost every case has been tried in the Court of Special Sessions and resulted in a conviction and imprisonment. In the present case the defendants have demanded to be tried in this Court by a jury. The facts appear in the evidence.

EVIDENCE FOR THE PEOPLE.

OFFICER EDWARD BECKER. - Is an officer of The New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, 100 East 23rd Street. In company with Officer Charles W. Gardner of the same Society, on Thursday, March 21, 1889, at 6 P.M., visited the cigar store No. 121 Allen Street, which is in the basement of a six-story double tenement house. Witness purchased two cigars from the defendant Lena Richter, who waited on the officers, and after they had paid for the same, she invited them to go in and see the girls. Witness and Officer Gardner stepped into the next room and there found two girls of about 18 and 20 years respectively, both Hebrews. The older one, who spoke German only, had on no clothes except a jersey, a petticoat and a pair of stockings, and was lying in a very improper attitude on a lounge. The other girl, also only partly dressed, was sitting in a rocking chair. Both girls and also the defendant who served the cigars solicited the officers to have sexual intercourse with the girls. The latter exposed their limbs and persons, and used filthy language. The girls asked the officers to treat them to drinks, which was done, the officers treating them to two rounds of soda water, the defendant Lena receiving the money. A man who was about the place waited on several men who came in for cigars. Two days later, on March 23rd, witness called at No. 121 Allen Street, and a man came out of one of the bedrooms with one of the girls, handed the girl some money and she handed the same to the defendant. The money was a one dollar bill. The defendant Samuel was again about the place. On March 27th witness presented the facts to Justice Patterson at the 3rd District Police Court, who issued a warrant for the arrest, and on the same day at 9 P.M., witness with several officers and two Police officers from the 11th Precinct called at 121 Allen St. and there found the defendant Lena Richter, the defendant Samuel Richter, said to be her husband, and another man. They were taken to the 11th Precinct, and at the station house they gave their names as Lena Richter, 23 years of age, born in Russia; Samuel Richter, 28 years of age, born in Austria, a peddler; and Samuel Krutcher, 21 years of age, 189 Rivington Street, tailor. The defendant Samuel Richter objected to the arrest of his wife when the officers went into the store, saying he was her husband and it was his place. Witness will indentify the man Krutcher. The premises consist of three small bedrooms with a bed in each. The prisoners were then committed.

OFFICER CHARLES W. GARDNER. - Is an officer of The New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and will verify the above statement of the preceding witness. Will also state the number of families occupying the tenement house ^{121 Allen St.} and the probable number of children therein, and the opportunities which the children have of visiting the premises and seeing what transpires therein.
