Mr Mayor:

I venture to enclose herewith a clipping from the Sunday Tribune about Bridge matters because I am personally cognizant with many of the facts and know that Mr Barstow's statements can be relied upon as entirely accurate and not prejudiced -

I am a Director in the Edison Company of Brooklyn one of the bidders - but it is not a matter of much importance to that Company - but in my judgment it is a matter of real importance to the Greater New York and particularly to Brooklyn people - that no more money should be expended upon half baked plans for the future - by useless construction work - I have made Bridge matters a study for some time and know that very great mistakes have been made by the Engineers - I think that if you would confer with

Mayor Wristler he would tell you that he had reason to doubt the correctness of the Estimates of Mr. Martin - The chances are I think that if the Trustees authorize now $65,000 - they will be told later on that more will be necessary to complete and there is no guarantee as to future operation expenses -

I am sure that if this were a matter more closely within the sphere of your own activities it would call for your doubt, & say the least, of the prudence of constructing a plant now.

I trust that it may not be too late for other expert testimony to be called for by the Trustees to explain the alleged discrepancies in Mr. Martin's Estimates.

I am with great respect

Very truly yours

The East River Bridge

and its Approaches

Report of the Commissioner

MAJOR

New York City.

Commissioner Deeves moved that the engineer be instructed to prepare plans as soon as possible, with details for same, for this bridge, about the foot of Delancey street to about the foot of South Fifth street, Brooklyn, and to also show approaches to the same; this plan to show all the land necessary for said approaches. The said approaches on the New York side from Pier ~~to~~ foot of Delancey street up to Sheriff street to be on the south side of Delancey street extending southward 175 feet from the southerly line of Delancey street, turning up on the westerly line of Sheriff street and extending the approach so as to form a plaza from the westerly line of Sheriff street from Delancey street to the easterly line of Pitt street extending to Delancey street, taking in two blocks east and west for a plaza. And to provide in its approach on the New York side for a carriage way across Grand street.

That the approaches on the Brooklyn side extend as far as Bedford Avenue and not to exceed 200 feet in width and the necessary land beyond that point for a plaza.

Engineers' Office,

Brocklyn, June 3, 1896.

To the Commissioners of the New East River Bridge.

Gentlemen :-

The more I study the question of the bridge approaches the more thoroughly I am convinced that to land the bridge on any principal thoroughfare would be a serious error. It would be so in the case of Bedford avenue and fully as much so in the case of Grand street, a street only seventy feet wide.

Grand street already has a considerable traffic from street cars and trucks. Should we turn the line and go into Grand street between Pitt and Willett streets, a good share of the traffic from the bridge would probably continue along Grand street as far as it could; a portion of it would cross Grand street to get on East Broadway. This would certainly cause congestion at Grand street. At the same time we would be turning our backs upon by far the largest portion of the territory of New York, which it is desirable to reach by the bridge and which could then be reached only by turning out of Grand street as soon as possible into some street leading north, unless another approach were made toward the north. Such an approach would require the southerly tracks and roadway to cross the northerly tracks and roadway on the bridge, thus creating confusion and consequently danger. Where these crossings would take place the grade of the tracks would be over thirty feet above the grade of the street beneath. Should we turn into Grand street, we would be going out of our way to make the same mistake that was made on the old bridge at both its ends.

Should we continue the approach straight forward to Clinton street, where it would land with a 3% grade, it would be only three short blocks longer and the whole bridge and the approaches would be straight from end to end; it would cut less valuable property than by turning into Grand street, as shown by the table of assessed valuations hereto annexed; and with a plaza beyond of two blocks would give several outlets in different directions without any confusion.

Were the city then to widen Delancey street to a width of one hundred feet as far as Third avenue or to open a thoroughfare one hundred and twenty feet wide diagonally, from the corner of Suffolk and Delancey streets, to the corner of East Fifth street and Third avenue where the latter intersects Fourth avenue, (which would cut no first-class property,) there would thus be made a direct connection with all the avenues east of Broadway, allowing just as easy connection with the latter thoroughfare and with Grand street, for all who wish to go there, as if the whole bridge were turned into Grand street; Clinton street, from Howard street to East Broadway, might be widened to eighty feet, or one trolley track could be placed on Clinton street and the return track on Suffolk street.

I do not propose to ask the Commission to assume the responsibility of making these changes in the streets. I only wish to point out that the arrangement suggested of going straight to Clinton street with a plaza beyond would leave the approach in the best possible shape for outlets in every direction and would readily admit of further improvements by the city when required.

I strenuously urge upon the Commission the necessity of going to Clinton street. A bridge as large as the one proposed will make a thoroughfare in itself and a very large one; it should distribute its traffic into several streets, which the proposed arrangement would enable it to do with the least trouble.

As soon as the location of the approaches is definitely determined, the details required by the law creating the Commission can be placed on the General Plan herewith submitted, No. 27A, and an estimate of cost can be given. This general plan will then be ready for adoption by the Commission and for filing with the Commissioners of Public Works as required by statute. After which the contract for constructing the New York tower foundations can be advertised at once and for the Brooklyn tower foundations in a few days, and the actual work of construction be begun this year.

I am satisfied that the general plan for adoption to conform to the law should have as few details as possible. There will be times as the work progresses, when it will be found decidedly advantageous to make changes in details. Every detail requires deep and careful study and the conditions to be met are developed as the work goes on. The method outlined is the most efficient for working them up. It would be detrimental to take such a course as would prevent the work from going on at an early date.

In addition to the proposed General Plan, No. 27A, I submit Map No. 31, showing lot lines and assessed valuations of right of way in New York from assessment roll of 1895.

Respectfully submitted.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

The Commission meets at 1 o'clock to-day. We open bids at two for the foundation of the Brooklyn tower. Mr. Thurber writes me from Washington that he cannot be here and says that he called at your office on Wednesday to ask you to attend the meeting in order that ^a quorum might be present, but failed to speak to you as you were engaged.

Col. Baird sends me a message in which he says he wishes me to try and have Mayor Strong at the meeting by 1:30 to-day.

Yours very truly,

Mayor Strong

Dear sir:

Answering your letter of July 23rd, would say that the American Sugar Refining Co. finally accepted the appraisalment of the appraisers appointed by the Commission, $350,000, for the property required for the Brooklyn anchorage, although they had previously asked $500,000 for the property. The Commissioners thought it best to thus have an amicable settlement with the Sugar Refining Co. and avoid litigation and possible delay.

The Contractor for the Brooklyn Tower Foundations, Mr. McLean, has perfected his Surities and is at work on the caisson for the Brooklyn side. Negotiations for the property required for the anchorages on both sides are in active progress and steps have been taken to condemn any parcels where an agreement as to value seems impracticable. The work in all Departments is progressing as fast as could expected.

Respectfully,

C O P Y.

Engineers' Office,

Brooklyn, August 19, 1896.

To the Commissioners of the New East River Bridge,

Gentlemen:

I present herewith an estimate in tabular form, intended to show the amount of money which should be appropriated each year for the work of construction in order that the bridge may be completed by the first of January, 1900. This estimate is purposely made large enough to be sure that it will cover the necessary amount, exclusive of the cost of site which must be added. Should the estimate for any year be in excess of the requirements for that year, the surplus could be deducted from the appropriation for the next year. The table also shows the times at which the various parts of the work should be begun and finished in order that the whole may be carried on with the utmost economy and speed. The first of January, 1900, is about the earliest date at which it can be completed.

I have set as the time for beginning the anchorages January 1, 1897. Before beginning these some test pits should be sunk, especially on the New York side where the site will be made ground. It will be necessary to acquire the land for the anchorage sites before sinking these pits, unless the Commission can obtain permission to sink them before obtaining title.

I also submit completed plans for the New York tower foundations and caissons, (Nos. 53 and 55,) and for the Brooklyn tower foundations, caissons, and coffer dams, (Nos. E 41, E 42, E 43, E 56, and E 57,) together with completed alternative specifications, notices to bidders, approximate bills of materials, and forms of proposals for both the New York and the Brooklyn tower foundations. The alternative specifications and forms of proposals have been so drawn that the Commission can receive tenders for building the foundations of all granite masonry or of masonry partly limestone, and can thus determine whether there would be any material saving in the use of part limestone. These plans and specifications have been carefully studied over and I have consulted Mr. Alfred Noble, a recognized authority on Foundations and Masonry in regard to the

I have received many valuable suggestions from him, which are embodied in the plans as submitted.

As the foundations of the Brooklyn tower are considerably the deeper, it would advance the work materially to have them started at the same time with the others. If, however, both cannot be begun at the same time, it would be better to begin the Brooklyn foundations first provided that the site therefor can be obtained without delay. It will be seen from the table that from two to three months longer will be required for them.

Respectfully submitted,

(Sig.) L. L. Buck,

Chief Engineer.

Dear sir:

The last issue of the ENGINEERING RECORD contains a valuable paper on the artistic element in engineering by F. O. Marvin, Vice-President of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, which was read at a recent meeting of that Association. The RECORD also has an interesting editorial on this subject, and, thinking that you would be interested in these utterances on account of their bearing upon the New East River Bridge, I have taken the liberty of sending you a copy.

With much respect, I am

Fair Treatment. Oct 22/96

The East river bridge commission acted wisely when it decided to award the contract for building the foundation for the New York tower of the bridge to Patrick H. Flynn of this city. Mr. Flynn's bid was the lowest received. He owns part of a granite quarry and he has had building contracts in the past. He was objected to because "he had a habit of putting his nose into everything." This was hardly a valid objection, if his bid were the lowest and he were able to do that which the commissioners desired to have done. He believes that he can build the pier and he is willing to give bonds in any amount for the faithful performance of the contract. The personality of Mr. Flynn is not a matter with which the commissioners need have bothered themselves. The Eagle takes pleasure in saying this, because it has criticised this man in the past. But its criticism has not been based on charges against his financial responsibility. It has happened that the acceptance of Mr. Flynn's bid involved a principle which could not be safely disregarded, and the Eagle has insisted that this principle be respected. The only valid objections to awarding to him the contract would lie in his inability to do the work or in the inadequacy of the security offered on his bonds. We are glad to note that the action of the commissioners has been such as to encourage bidders to compete for the work. They are now assured of fair treatment.

Chairman, Commissioners East River Bridge

Dear Mr Mayor: In the interest of property owners who will be affected by this proceeding I write to learn whether you will acquire the property by purchase or Condemnation. Application to some of your associate Commissioners has not elicited a definite response.

The block, Norfolk, Delancy, Broome Suffolk contains 40,000 sq. feet; the block Clinton, Delancy, Broome, Suffolk 40,000 sq. feet; the strip 150ft wide from Clinton to E. River 340,000 sq. feet - a total of 480,000 sq. feet, equivalent to 192 City Lots, all densely packed with buildings -

The sense of owners whom we have seen is in favor of a general action as provided in street openings, as they consider such a proceeding fairer to all parties, and offering less opportunity for pre-emption by speculators, or partiality in awards.

I will thank you very much to advise me of your decision on the matter -

Very respectfully
Geo. P. Byrne

Dear Mayor Strong:

At your request, I have had an interview with Commissioner Buckley in regard to the removal of the viaduct in the neighborhood of 105th street and 4th avenue. I spent considerable time with him at his office going over the plans and we had an engagement for this morning to go up to take a look at the situation. The storm prevented our carrying this into effect. I will, at the first opportunity, visit the ground, and, in due time, communicate to you my conclusions.

I was very much pleased to see that you partook of "Weatherbee's Harmony Pie." I hope it tasted good.

Very truly yours,

William J. Pratt Treasurer.

NEW YORK, April 12th, 1897.

Mr. Wales not being able personally to appear before the Mayor at the public hearing to-day in regard to a Legislative bill entitled "An Act to incorporate the Wards' Island Bridge Co.", presents the following views for the consideration of the Mayor:

At the time when the application was pending before the NEW EAST RIVER BRIDGE COMMISSION to purchase what is familiarly known as the "Uhlmann franchise", I took occasion to present my views somewhat at length upon the subject.

It was made to appear to the Commission, and after a very careful investigation into the law and facts in the case, that the East River Bridge Company held to them a perfectly legal and valuable franchise and the contention of the Company in suits made by citizens in dispute thereof has since been upheld by the Courts. The Commission, therefore, decided with the approval of the Mayors and Comptrollers, to purchase the Uhlmann franchise, paying therefor the sum of $200,000.00. I said then and I say now that the two Cities paid out a large sum of money for a franchise which possessed little intrinsic merit or money value to the work of the Commission in the construction of the NEW EAST RIVER BRIDGE now in progress, but which particular locality was found upon examination of our Engineers to be the most proper and economical one for the Commission to adopt.

Now, so far as I know in the history of this city, there is but one other precedent of the kind. I find upon examination that under Chapter 399 of the Laws of 1867, which provided for the organization of the present New York and Brooklyn Bridge, that this franchise was given to certain residents of the Cities of New York and Brooklyn. This law authorized the two Cities to take the Bridge in payment of costs. What these costs amounted to, I have no means of knowing but they must have been considerable. After a lapse of nine years of fruitless effort, the Company found itself in a position unable to carry the work into effect, so, under Chapter 300 of the Laws of 1895, a transfer of the franchise was made to the Cities of New York and Brooklyn and the work was carried forward and paid for by these two cities.

Without undertaking to go into an elaborate argument in opposition to the Bill now pending before Your Honor for approval, we must accept the fact that the Legislature has seen fit to grant to certain parties ~~this~~ large, and, in a public sense, valuable franchises and the City has been asked to purchase, and has purchased something, that the Legislature ought never to have granted and which in the case of the Uhlmann franchise increases our burden of ^{unnecessary} taxation against which the authorities are required to exert all their influence to prevent. If, in times past, municipal authorities had properly safeguarded the interests of the people in the disposition of corporate franchises, the present burden of taxation would have been very largely mitigated. The point I would make in opposition to your approval of this Bill is what seems to me should be a true policy to pursue, ^{viz} that the right to bridge the waterways which surround the two cities should never be surrendered to any private party or corporation without the most complete guarantee that the work will be carried into effect. I do not find any such guarantee in the Bill now before you and that is one of the reasons that I recommend that the Bill should not receive your approval.

Office of President

Workingmen's Assembly, State of N. Y.,

885, 3rd Ave., New York City.

New York, July 7th 1897.

Hon. Board Commissioners,

New East River Bridge,

Gentlemen:-

Your attention is hereby called to violation of Law by P. H. Flynn, contractor for one of the piers for New East River Bridge, the said Flynn employing stone cutter, dressing stone for said pier, near Saugerties, N. Y., and working them ten hours per day for $2.50 as the annexed affidavits of Angel^o Tomasine and Patrick K. Coyle will show, while the prevailing rate of wages in said Location is $2.75 per day as the annexed affidavits of Thomas J. Russell and John M. Smith will show. I would respectfully call your attention to the following "the eight hour law reads as follows:- Eight hours shall constitute a Legal days' work for all classes of employees in this State except those engaged in Farm or Domestic Labor. Unless otherwise provided by Law this section does not prevent an agreement for over work for extra compensation. This section applies to work for State or municipal corporations or for contracts therewith."

The wages for public work shall not be less than the prevailing rate for a Legal days work in the same trade or calling in the Location where the work is being performed, I would also call your attention to decision of Deputy Attorney General as to duties of Commissioners charged with the general superintendence and improvements of such lands etc. "That Officer having General Superintendence of the improvements to property and power to contract. Therefore have also imposed upon them the duty of seeing to it that the contract is complied with and not in any manner evaded. It is the duty of the contractor under the Laws of the State and under his contract, to pay the prevailing rate of wages in the Location; to ascertain the fact is in my judgement part of your duty as Commissioners; the failure of the Contractor to comply with the Law and the terms of his contract amounts to a breach thereof. I would respectfully request your Hon. Board to take prompt action in this matter and either compel contractor Flynn to comply with the Law or revoke said contract.

Very truly yours,

W. J. O'Brien
