ss.:

of No. 54 South Street, being duly sworn,deposes and says, that the premises No. 54Street, 2nd Ward, in the City and County aforesaid, the said being a Warehouseand which was occupied by deponent as a Warehouse for thedeposit of Merchandise, were BURGLARIOUSLYentered by means to deponent unknown ~~and~~ unknown in said premises, did attempt to break the lock fastening on the door ~~on the door~~on the Night of the 6th day of March 1887 and the following property, feloniously taken, stolen and carried away, viz:

One bale of tanned Wolf Skins
One thousand pounds weight and sundries articles of Merchandise consisting of Coffee, tin plate &c in all of the value of twenty thousand dollars or more the property of William A. Avis and others all in deponent's charge as street keeper and deponent further says, that he has great cause to believe, and does believe, that the aforesaid BURGLARY was committed and the aforesaid property taken, stolen and carried away by

Charles Williams now
present

for the reasons following, to wit:

That the door leading from the public street into said premises was securely fastened at about seven o'clock on the afternoon of said day and deponent is informed by Officer Dought that about 10 o'clock A.M. on the night of said day he saw the prisoner

Coming from the direction of said door who on seeing the Officer following him turned the corner of the next street viz Fletcher Street and ran away. That deponent is further informed by said Officer that after he pursued and arrested the prisoner ~~he~~ returned to the aforesaid premises and discovered the cross bar and fastenings of said door ^{removed} and the door ^{and deponent believes the same to be} ajar. Therefore deponent charges the prisoner with unlawfully entering said premises with the intent and purpose of taking stealing and carrying away the within described property —

Henry W. Blankhard

City and County of New York

Henry Drought of the 1st Precinct being sworn says that on the night in question he saw the prisoner at about 11 O'clock A.M. coming from the direction of the aforesaid premises deponent followed him and when he ran away deponent pursued and arrested him and subsequently found the ^{front} door of said premises ajar and the fastenings of said door removed which said door a short time before deponent passed, examined it, and found it secured. Edward Morrison was admitted to St. Luke's Hospital January 12th 1880 at 2 P. M. On examination by me a wound was found about $\frac{1}{4}$ inch in diameter and $\frac{3}{4}$ inch to outer side of left eye. Another wound was found at the back of the head about 1 inch to the left of the median line about the size of the one in front with the edges somewhat lacerated. No injury to the bone was found and it was evident that the wound was made by a ball which passed between the scalp and the bone from before backward. Some powder grains were found imbedded in the skin below the eye and to the outside of the cheek.

Patient had no symptoms of injury to the brain. He left the Hospital January 14th.

I have no chance of obtaining a

Dear Sir.

Do not think from my long silence that I have forgotten you, or your kindness to me while in your employ. I have had so many things to attend to and not having entirely recovered from my "shot" I have not had the energy to do all I wished. In your kindness to me you did not charge me for sundries on foot - or for Carriage hire on that "Sensible night" (Bartholomew Campbell I believe) I am rather low in finances at present, but if you will be kind enough to make a Memo of the items I will pay you as soon as I obtain employment. My case comes off this week in Court of General Sessions - Judge Cowing - hope to send some one some where for some time. Am now again presentable i.e. my eye &c. narrow escape very. and I think will prove a thorough lesson and end to my "sight" seeing in Gotham. I am sincerely sorry to have caused you and your business so much trouble through my foolishness, but believe me I have been more punished against than I deserve. Would be pleased and grateful to have the pleasure of referring to you.

THE MULLAT'S PISTOL SHOT.
Verdict Verdict Verdict
 down Edward Morrison, Dr. Sayre's drug clerk, was brought into the Jefferson Market Police Court yesterday morning by Captain Mount, of the Nineteenth precinct, and Detective Schmittberger, of the Twenty-ninth. Who had discharged the shot which had almost proved fatal to the young man was not known to the police till the detective heard of a young woman who had been with Morrison at the time and had died on the discharge of the pistol, fearful of being implicated in the offense. Her name is Lottie Irving, and on the information extorted from her the police were able to arrest Charlotte Wilson, at No. 130 West Thirty-third street. She is a mulatto, and on her appearance before the bar yesterday was habited in rich satin and costly furs. She seemed quite cool and self-possessed, and left the entire conduct of her case to her counsel. Lottie Irving with apparent reluctance gave her testimony. She had met Morrison on the night of the shooting, and had been in his company since or twice before; they were walking together when a woman came up from behind them and confronted her: "Do you know this man?" she asked. The witness replied they were almost strangers. "Are you sure you are not his wife or his mistress?" she next demanded. A negative was returned to both queries. Then she turned upon Morrison and asked if he would go along with her. He refused, and on that she levelled the pistol at him and discharged it. The witness said she had gone off frightened and had presently been still more alarmed to hear that she herself was suspected of the crime. The detective had come after her then and she had told all she knew.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING CASE.
Verdict Verdict Verdict
 the past three months has been employed Theodore H. Sayre as night clerk in his place. No. 814 Sixth avenue, was found at an early hour yesterday morning in the laboratory, in the rear part of the store, by Officer Thomas Kelly, suffering from pistol shot wounds in the head. Morrison refused to say how he had received his injuries, and as his wounds appeared to be dangerous a stretcher was procured and he was removed to St. Luke's Hospital. The detective learned that between one and two o'clock in the morning two pistol shots were fired at the corner of Forty-seventh street and Sixth avenue, and immediately a young negro was seen running down the street toward Seventh avenue. Later in the day a statement was obtained from Morrison that between one and two o'clock in the morning he was about to enter the store, when he saw some men and women quarrelling near the corner of Forty-seventh street. He walked toward them, and when a short distance from the party two shots were fired and the party dispersed. He returned to the store, and some time later found blood trickling down his face. It was then he discovered that he had been wounded. Morrison stated positively that he did not recognize any of the people, but that he thought one of the women was colored. A report was circulated that a woman with a negro man had been quarrelling near the store, and that he had run out into the street and she had followed and shot him. This story could not be verified. A search has been made for the woman, but without success. The negroes found that Morrison had been wounded early in the day. The ball entered the left side of his neck, between the eye and the ear, and ploughing through the flesh, passed around the skull, and taking a curved course, passed out at the back of the head. The bullet was an undersized one and some delay in its recovery was feared.

SHOT THROUGH THE HEAD

MULATTO WOMAN'S VENGEANCE.

CLERK'S NARROW ESCAPE—JEALOUSY

REFUSES TO SPEAK ON THE

Early in the morning yesterday, Mr. Ed. Morrison, employed as clerk in Sayre's pharmacy at Forty-sixth-street and Sixth-avenue, was carried to St. Luke's Hospital, where he is likely to remain there for some time. The shooting occurred just in front of the store, but as Morrison resolutely refused to tell who shot him, the cause of the shooting, the affair became known about as a "mysterious shooting." The man would undoubtedly prefer to have it remain as mysterious as possible, and whatever he thought of his wisdom in getting into the store, he at least has shown some sense in keeping about it since. Unfortunately for him, the shooting was done in the presence of several persons, the ubiquitous small boy was also around, (in the shape of a district messenger,) and the evidence of these witnesses and that of the officer on post leaves little of the mysterious about the matter. All that remains unknown is the name of the woman who shot Mr. Morrison. That it was a woman, and a mulatto woman at that, is certainly known. Putting together the stories of the various persons who have more or less knowledge of the affair, we have substantially the following story: On Sunday night a good-looking mulatto woman (name unknown) called at Mr. Sayre's pharmacy, and after waiting about a little, made a small purchase of epsom salts, and went off. Late again the same night, after the store was closed, she came and rang the bell. Mr. Morrison, who sleeps in the store, had not yet returned, having been absent since the afternoon, and Mr. Sayre had to answer the bell himself. The mulatto woman was there, but evidently it was not Mr. Sayre she expected to see, for she had no better excuse to give for her unreasonable call than that she wanted 10 cents' worth of hemp-seed. Obtaining this, she apparently went off, but there can be no question that she merely prowled about the corner, well knowing that Mr. Morrison must shortly return for the night. It was about 1 o'clock when he reached the store. The account he gives is that, approaching the store, he saw some men and women quarrelling on the sidewalk; stepped up to see what was the matter; a shot was fired, he thought it was time to run away, did so, and afterward found that he was shot. The latter part of his statement was correct to this extent, that he was shot and ran away. It seems unlikely that there was any quarrelling on the occasion between Mr. Morrison and the woman. At least the messenger boy says he heard none. The woman evidently meant business, and merely wanted to make sure it was the right person, and then blazed away. The pistol was so close to the man's face that the powder burned it.

Mr. Morrison was taken to the hospital. Officer Kelly accompanied by Mr. Kelly, there in a carriage. Officer Kelly said that he did not see the driver, assailant without effect. In fact, Morrison was killed and everything. He had even hidden away the gun and had the bullet-holes in it, was stained with blood that to wear to the hospital. At first, the hospital doctors thought Morrison had been shot twice, but after the back of the head; but, after a pronounced examination of the wound, they ascertained definitely that the wounds were from a single bullet which had penetrated the forehead, passed through the skull and came out at the back of the head. The wound itself is not deep, but the examination should set in, of which, last night, Morrison was not examined; it should nothing but a mistake.

Police authorities had two men out yesterday probing through all the neighborhood of North Avenue, but no trace could be found of the man. Officer Kelly will know her, for he says he has seen her some four or five times. His attention was called to her one evening by an altercation between her and a mulatto woman in the drug store. The mulatto woman was standing in the doorway and occasionally the drug store.

The man was accusing the woman of unfaithfulness. The woman knew she came from a drug store, while she was talking to the man, and she felt that she had the right to be faithful to him. The man, however, was not so faithful to her. The Police have no doubt that the man who did the shooting has no doubt that the woman who was there at the time of the shooting was the cause of the act.

And at about the hour of 12 1/2 o'clock on the morning of said day, a man known to deponent by the name of Edward Morrison, and who is a drug clerk in the store of one Rogers on the corner of 46th Street and 6th Avenue, was violently and feloniously assaulted and beaten by Charlotte Wilson, now here, with the intent as deponent believes to take the life of said Edward Morrison and without any cause or justification on the part of said assailant.

That at said time deponent and said Morrison were walking together up 6th Avenue on the West side between 46th and 47th Streets, when the said Charlotte Wilson approached deponent and said Morrison from behind and said to said Morrison "Mr. Morrison I want to see you". That deponent walked on a little way while said Morrison and said Charlotte talked together. That said Charlotte then called deponent and said to deponent "Are you his" (meaning Morrison) "wife", or his mistress, and deponent replied, "No he is a stranger to me."

That said Charlotte then said to said Morrison "Will you come home with me" and he replied "it is too late I cannot go with you". That said Charlotte repeatedly asked him to go home with her and he refused to go with her. That the said

Charlotte then raised her right arm and deponent saw a pistol in her right hand and the said Charlotte did aim and point said pistol at the body of said Morrison and while so aiming and pointing said pistol at said Morrison did fire off and discharge the contents of the barrel of said pistol at said Morrison, ~~from whence~~ ^{the} said pistol fired off from said pistol entering and wounding said Morrison in the left eye and passing round to the back of his head.

That deponent became afraid of personal violence at the hands of said Charlotte and hurried quickly away.
