In this case I apprehend that the defendant will claim McGlory or McGlory was convicted on Jan. 8, 1892 upon another indictment charging him with a larceny of a coat of Dr. James was sentenced to one year imprisonment and to pay a fine of $300. After serving his term, this indictment was returned a writ was placed on the calendar. The defendant failed to appear, and the writ was forfeited.

There is no doubt that in imposing the severe sentence mentioned above, the court took into consideration the fact that this second indictment was pending. The defendant is a surety both as to the return of the writ and as to the return of the writ. The defendant received no notice of the hearing of the record in the indictment on the calendar. Further there is a serious question as to whether the conviction is a conviction of the defendant under the first indictment or under the second bill of indictment. Under the provisions of the law, the defendant is entitled to a discharge from the first indictment if he is discharged from the second bill of indictment.

At the time that this bond was forfeited the debt has been thereto been taken into custody by the People
