The condition of John Shea is somewhat improved this morning.
Should the wound close by primary union without inflammation, as we hope and expect it will, the patient will be able to go home in a short time; a few days at most.

That secondary inflammation may arise, we can not at present state, though it is our hope, that Shea

Laceration of vagina - July 17th Mary Mitchell - 14. & 122 North Str.

Ambulance brought patient to hospital from Pres. St. 11:50 PM. There is a history given of attempted rape - Examination: There is some blood about the parts externally. Patient near the menstrual period - no lacerations of the vulva - no signs of trauma. Hair about parts at lower angle matted with blood - Examination of the vagina reveals 3 bleeding points, slight laceration.
The further examination made with eye - The finger when partially passed into vagina causes severe pain - There is a slight effusion of blood from the vagina other than from the bleeding points above described - No semen found upon the vulva nor as far as could be ascertained by ocular inspection at the mouth of vagina - Patient extremely nervous - Tells a straight forward story and does not contradict upon cross questioning.
Hemorrhage is apparently arterial -
