My dear Sir:

The statements I made to you last evening, I am perfectly willing to put in the form of an affidavit, if you require it for your own use and information, I do not wish, however, to make any statements or affidavit which will go before the Court. I consider my signature to the application for a pardon sufficient guarantee as to my belief in the man's good character.

Since seeing you
I am more than ever

The People } Court of General Sessions. Part I Joseph Smith } Before Recorder Smyth Feb. 12. 1884.
 Indictment for attempt to commit grand larceny.
 George W. Green sworn. I am the proprietor of a store at 40 Third Avenue and was on the 21st of January; it is a hat store; there was on that day a show case in front of my premises containing hats, caps, umbrellas and canes; the value of the property was $45. I only know the lock was broken. I was not in the store at the time it was broken. I heard of it afterwards about 8 1/2 to 9 o'clock; the case was not broken but the spring lock was broken. I don't know the prisoner. Cross Examined. The goods were in the case two or three days; they were worth over $25.
 David Sussman sworn. I live at 208 Third Avenue and am foreman in a cigar factory; my place of business is 212 Bowery. I saw the prisoner on the evening of the 21st of January. I saw this affair in front of the store of Mr. Green.
 I saw the prisoner and two others trying to smash upon the case standing in front of the hat store. There was two of them looking in the window and the prisoner was at the case; he had something in his hand. I could not see it, he tried to get at the lock. A little newsboy came by and saw him there and ran over and called the officer. I was standing about six feet from him. He was "fooling" around the lock. I heard no noise of anything breaking; he tried to do the same thing in front of another store. I stayed there until the officer came over and arrested him. A piece of iron was found upon him that looked like a chisel. I could not see what he had in his hand. Cross Examined. This was between half past eight and nine, it was dark. The prisoner was in such a position that anybody could see he was trying to break open the show case. The prisoner was standing at the show case and he went over and whispered something to the other two looking in the window; then he went back to the show case. I saw the three walk together towards the store, they tried to break in the case down in the block before that. Edward H. Doyle sworn. I am an officer and arrested the defendant. I was standing on the north east corner of Ninth St. and Third Avenue and the newsboy came to me and informed me that there was three men trying to break open the show case. I went up the Avenue till I got nearly opposite where this show case was placed and then ran across; the prisoner was standing behind the show case; he did not see me till I got very close to him; he then attempted to start away, I was so close that he had no opportunity to go and remained standing still. I arrested him and took him into the store, and in searching him I found a tool, a cigarette lighter and a pawn ticket for a lot of new meerschaum pipes. I looked at the show case and found a mark on the padlock as if some one had tried to open it by force. When I ran across the street the two men who were looking into the window started down the Avenue on a rapid walk. There was nobody else by the show case that I saw other than the prisoner. The prisoner was standing behind the show case. I had no opportunity to see what he was doing. Joseph Smith, sworn and examined in his own defence testified: I was selling clothes lines that day and got through my work and I was going to buy a tie and a collar in Third Avenue at the corner of fourteenth st. The man wanted $1.00. All that I had with me was 79 cents. I left the store and met three young men and we got to the hat store; they were looking in the show case - one was standing and the other two were standing at the show window. I looked in the case and saw nice hats and umbrellas. I came back and said to the young men "If I had money I would not mind buying a hat like that." Just then I walked away and the officer came over and arrested me. I did not try to break open this lock. The boy's name who was standing by the show case is Fox Cross Examined. I live at 515 East Fifth St. The piece of iron that was found on me I used to screw pulleys on clothes lines; it was one of my father's tools; he was a piano maker. Philip Fox was the name of one of the young men who was with me and the other was Sheehan. I just met them by accident. I have been a brass finisher. I have never been arrested before for stealing. I live home with my mother and she is in Court. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty of an attempt at petty larceny.

0266

0267

0268
