TESTIMONY.

Dr. M. J. D. Messemmer being sworn says: On September 11th 1883 at the Morgue attached to Bellevue Hospital, foot of 26th Street East River, I made an autopsy on the body of deceased (Mary Lyons). She was a hunch back, of short stature and very much emaciated. A cicatrix (scar) was found about the centre of the top of the Scalp, somewhat to the right of the Median line near the Vertex. On cutting through the Scalp it was found that the Cicatrix or Scar caused by a recent Scalp Wound penetrated down to the Skull, the Skull under the Scar being denuded of Periosteum. When the Scalp was removed from the Skull the entire Periosteum (thin membrane covering and protecting bony structure) of the Skull came away with the Scalp. A fissured Fracture of the Skull was found about an inch behind the Frontal Bone, one and one quarter inches in extent running across the Inter Parietal Suture of the Skull. A false membrane was found under the Dura Mater (the Dura Mater is a thick membrane covering the Brain). There was slight Oedema of the Brain and Meningitis. There was Pachymeningitis Interna. Congenital Malformation of the Heart was found, there being only two Aortic Valves. That is she was born with a heart that had but two Aortic Valves whereas it should have three. There was Pericarditis (an inflammation of the external lining membrane of the Heart) and Endocarditis (which is an inflammation of the internal lining membrane of the Heart). An Aneurism of the Arch of the Aorta was discovered about three inches in diameter (that is to say the main blood vessel of the body where it emanates from the Heart is called the Arch of the Aorta and is normally about one inch in diameter was enlarged to three times its natural size. The Peri Cardial Sac (which contains and covers the Heart) was filled with Serous fluid measuring one half pint. Both Lungs were tied down by old and recent Pleuritic Adhesions and three fourths of a quart of fluid was found in the Left Pleural Cavity (this cavity contains the Left Lung). The Abdominal Cavity contained three quarts of fluid. All the Valves of the Heart were thickened and the Aorta was Atheros-matous. There were two cavities in the apex of the right Lung and caseous nodules and Miliary Tubercles in both (which denotes Phthisis or Consumption). There was Atrophy of the Intestines. Atrophy of the Liver and Kidneys the Kidneys being also congested. The condition of her Stomach demonstrated that she was a hard drinker of spirituous liquors. Death in my opinion was
