New York, May 23rd, 1884.

Hon. Peter B. Olney,
Dist. Atty. City & Co. of New York.

We, the undersigned Citizens, residents and property owners in the immediate neighborhood of East 116th Street, in this City, do respectfully present the following facts:

The block between 2nd and 3rd Avenues on 116th Street is composed of private residences, except the corners of those Avenues, on which there are stores.

On the South side of 116th Street, between the same Avenues, is a vacant plot of ground of about 125 feet on the Street and of the depth of the block running back to 115th Street.

About the first of this month this plot of ground was enclosed by a wooden structure covered with canvas in the shape of a tent of irregular conformation. The walls of this structure have been covered with lurid announcements on highly colored bills describing an "Indian Village", the "Far West", "Texas Charley" and other such sensational catches. A show or performance of some theatrical character is being conducted there nightly in a most disorderly and boisterous manner. Some of the performers dress in the alleged costume of native Indians and more or less truthfully represent themselves to be such. They parade the Streets in fantastic trappings, feathers, moccasins, warpaint &c., gathering about them crowds of ragamuffins and rabble from all directions who hoot and jeer them as they pass; and particularly in the evenings, from half past six to eleven o'clock are these crowds drawn there making it impossible for the occupants of the houses in the vicinity to enjoy the comfort and repose of their dwellings as heretofore. It is positively unsafe to allow children on the Streets since this show has been established. The conduct and language of the crowd so attracted there being disorderly, immoral and ruffianly.

Heretofore these two blocks, 115th and 116th Streets between 2nd and 3rd Avenues, have been remarkable for their quietness, respectability and orderly condition at all times. This show or exhibition has transformed it to such extent that it now resembles a neighborhood of the lowest character. The property owners in the neighborhood realize that their property, from these causes has depreciated in value and been made almost useless to its owners for home and dwelling purposes.

We represent that the owner of these lots has stated that she was imposed upon when granting the permission to establish this concern by the representation that the business to be conducted there was of an orderly and quiet character, consisting of the making and sale of native Indian medicines.

The noise of the performances in the evening is such that reading, writing, home enjoyments, comfort or repose for the residents in the neighborhood has been destroyed. The performances are loud and turbulent, with brass band accompaniment. The audience, admitted for ten cents each, is largely composed of minors unaccompanied by adult persons, street scamps and loose characters, generally. The applause of the audiences consists in hootings, yells, stamping of feet, cat calls and such emphatic demonstrations. A part of the performance which can be heard from the inside of any of the houses in the locality, consists of Indian war dances, explosion of fire arms, clog dancing, singing, Indian fights, attacks and defences, and the shouts, cries and whoops supposed to be peculiar to the North American Indians.

The sanitary arrangements of this place are of themselves a shame, and detrimental to the health and well being of the neighborhood. There is no sewer connection; an excavation made by them within the enclosure is used for privy purposes, and the occupants of it can be and have been seen in the act of answering the calls of nature there.

The structure we believe to be dangerous to the safety of any one entering it and to the adjoining property in case of fire; there being but one entrance or mode of ingress and egress to a structure which covers the space of ground described herein holding thousands of people: In case of fire the result would be appalling. The lights consist of naphtha or coal oil burners, similar to those used on corner stands, are unprotected by globes or any other device and liable to set fire to the combustible materials which surround them. In front of the entrance to the place are two unsightly, unpainted poles, on which, every evening, are suspended two enormous uncovered naphtha torches, which smoke, flare and smell in a most disagreeable manner.

The residents in the immediate vicinity are obliged to keep their windows closed day and evening to avoid as much as possible the foul sights and sounds; and we claim that the nuisance, as it now exists, not only endangers our health, and injures our property, but is demoralizing in its influences on our children; and we claim that some action looking to an abatement of the nuisance should be immediately taken.

CHARGES AGAINST "TEXAS CHARLIE"
Superintendent Jenkins and Officers Barkday and Wilson, of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, arrested Charles Bigelow, better known as "Texas Charlie," on Saturday night for permitting Katie Rowe, age thirteen, to perform at his show in One-hundred-and-sixteenth-st., between Second and Third aves. The show is called "The Big Indian Wigwam." The child lives at No. 36 Myrtle-ave., Brooklyn. She and her sister dance and sing under the name of the "Innan Sisters." Charges were also preferred against Bigelow for allowing Egnatz, a juggler, to throw knives at a man, in one of his acts, which is contrary to law. Mrs. Catherine Rowe, the mother of Katie, was also arrested. At the Harlem Police Court Justice Power held Bigelow in $1,000 bail. Mrs. Rowe in $300 and Katie, as a witness, in $300.
