The said Martin J. Nolan

late of the City of New York, in the County of New York aforesaid, on the 25th

That a certain paper writing in the words

"Nolan & Co", which said paper writing, in the said Martin J. Nolan then and there produced and delivered to the said Patrick B. Egan, was then and there a good and valid order for the payment of money, and of the value of twenty five dollars.

And the said Patrick B. Egan

then and there believing the said false and fraudulent pretenses and representations so made as aforesaid by the said Martin J. Nolan and being deceived thereby, was induced, by reason of the false and fraudulent pretenses and representations so made as aforesaid, to deliver, and did then and there deliver to the said Martin J. Nolan the sum of twenty five dollars in money, lawful money of the United States of America, and of the value of twenty five dollars, of the proper moneys, goods, chattels and personal property of the said Patrick B. Egan

The People
vs. Thomas Nugent
Court of General Sessions. Part I
Before Judge Martine.
Tuesday June 3. 1890. Indictment for grand larceny in the second degree.

Isabella Cashell sworn. I live at 53 Columbia St., my father is Thomas Cashell; on the 11th of February I lived at 53 Columbia St.; we have two rooms on the first floor and rooms in the attic; on the 11th of February I saw the defendant about 1/4 to five in the afternoon in our rooms;
my little sisters were with me - one
is seven and the other is four years old; my mother was not in; she went to the doctor's; my father was home;
he was up stairs in the attic asleep;
he works in the post office. My father's watch and chain were in the room
hanging on a hook on the folding doors between the rooms in his vest. I had seen the watch fifteen minutes before the defendant came in, and during that fifteen minutes there was nobody in the room beside myself and sister.
I said to the defendant, "My mamma
don't want any potatoes;" he pushed himself in and he told me to take a potatoe to the lady up stairs, and

ORIGINAL

I went up to her; he had potatoes in his hand when he came in. I had seen him in our house before, I knew his face; he came in to sell potatoes five or six times. I think it was about a week since I saw him before. The lady up stairs did not want any potatoes. I was up stairs about two minutes. I came down, the defendant was not there when I came back, I looked up at papa's vest and I did not see the watch there. This was about ten minutes after I came down; there was nobody in the room during those ten minutes; I looked at the vest, and I saw that the part of the chain that goes in the button hole of the vest was left. I did not see the defendant again until I saw him in the Police Court. I did not hear any talk between him and my father there. The watch was taken on Tuesday the 11th of February. I pointed him out to papa and the officer when he was in a wagon in Thirteenth st; we had been looking for him three or four times before that for about a week in the neighborhood of

ORIGINAL

Thirteenth street and First Avenue. I recollect a talk between him and mother in the Police Court; he said he could get the watch back; my mother said to him that she had seen him a couple of times in the house. I did not hear what he said to her in reply. He said to papa that he could get the watch back from a man in Thirteenth St. Cross Examined. I don't know where the defendant lives. Papa and I went to Thirteenth street three or four times to look for him. I went on one side of the street and he went on the other. My mamma and papa have spoken to me about the case a good many times. Mrs. Martin is the name of the lady who lives up stairs. Before my father went up stairs to sleep he told me to take care of his watch; he told me it was in his pocket. The defendant was in the house about ~~ten~~^{twenty five} minutes on this day. The defendant had never gone up stairs before to see Mrs. Martin about potatoes, and my mother never went up stairs to ask her if she wanted potatoes. I went with my papa to the station house after I told him about the watch being gone. The kitchen door was open when I left the defendant down stairs, but the hall door was not. The defendant knocked at the knocker and I let him in and I closed the door after me. I did not see the defendant run out of the place. The defendant had his arm on the chair which was near the folding door where the vest hung. My father had two other men arrested on this charge the next day, the 12th of February and they were discharged at the Police Court. I saw one of the men in our house before. It was not a usual thing for vendors to come into our house and ask mamma to buy potatoes. The day the watch was stolen the defendant came in alone. When we were in the Police Court my mamma asked the defendant if he could get the watch back; he said when, "Go up to a man in Thirteenth Street by the name of Buckley." That is all I heard. As soon as I was showed the two men I said, those were not the men; one of them was the boss of the defendant. I think it was three months after father lost the watch the defendant was arrested.

Thomas Cashell sworn. I live 53 Columbia
st. and have been employed in the Post Office twenty one years; the last witness is my daughter. I lease the whole house and let out the second floor and basement. I occupy the front and back parlor and the attic. I had on the 11th of February a gold watch which I valued at fifty dollars and a chain which was worth about three dollars. I hung it up about four o'clock on the 11th of February on the edge of the folding door; the chain was through the button hole of the vest. I went up stairs to the attic to sleep
I left my daughter Isabella and her little sisters down stairs; the next I saw of Isabella was about five o'clock; she came rushing up to me crying. I ran down stairs in my stocking feet with my pants on. I went inside in my room where the watch was and I found that it was gone and the chain also with the exception of a small part of it - the bar was broke. After she told me something I rushed to the door and I saw there was no one there. I tried to find out who the party was that stole it. I found out that a party named McGlynn owned the wagon which the defendant drove that day. I did not know the name of the defendant; my wife and daughter knew the defendant as he had been to the house four or five times selling potatoes. McGlynn was arrested and brought to the Court, and when my daughter saw him she said he was not the man who was in there, and the consequence was he could not be held. She said it was a stout man came in with the potatoes. I received information afterwards as to the whereabouts of the defendant. I am not familiar with the neighborhood of Thirteenth St. My daughter and I went up nightly on four occasions to point this man out; we went up through First Avenue and Thirteenth St.; which is frequented by pedlars. We walked up and down the street, and he was pointed out to me by my daughter as the man who took my watch. I did not have him arrested at that time, and when I found the officer he was gone. In the neighborhood of two days or so I went up to see the Ward officer, and from the description I gave him he said he would help me to arrest this man. My daughter and I went up in the same neighborhood again and she saw the defendant. I stated my case to an officer and he arrested him, and the next time I saw the defendant ^{was} when he was committed by Judge Patterson. I had a talk with the defendant. I went to the prison in Essex Market and told him there was no use in him trying to talk about anything - that he was the man, and I says, "I want you to get my property." He says, "I will try and get your watch." I told him I knew his whole character, that there was no use in your talking to me in my trouble. He had been stating to the Judge that he was not guilty. I says, I have been talking up in ^{thirteenth} street about you and I know where you are in the afternoons up at 74th street at some rock up there where peddlars congregate. The prisoner said he would try and get my watch. He asked me to send down a friend of his to him. I tried to find out from him where my

POOR QUALITY

0313

watch was. He would not tell me; he said he could not tell then, but he would try and get it. I had another talk with him at the Tombs. Then he was in Court my wife went to him and said, "you loafer - (he claimed he had never been in the house and never had seen her) - you have got cheek to talk to me, selling me potatoes four or five times." He said, "Lady, I don't know you at all, I never seen you." She said, "If you give my husband back his watch, it will be easier for you." In answer to her he said, "I will try and get the watch back for you." Then he said he would return the watch. I said, "if there is anybody that you know that you want here I will get him." He said there was a friend of his up town whom he wanted to know that he was locked up named Buckley. I went up and found Buckley and told him the defendant wanted to see him. I had a talk with the defendant at the Tombs. He said, "I will get it for you." I said, "Tell me where it is and it will be easier for you." He evaded the question. I could not get anything out of him.

I have not seen my watch since.

Cross Examined. I am foreman or head clerk over the distribution table. I have been living in Columbia St. nearly five years; No 53 Columbia St. is about 15 or 20 minutes walk to Thirteenth Street. My hours at the Post office at the time the watch was stolen were from one o'clock in the morning till 10 a.m., so that I would be home mostly in the day time. When I last looked at the watch was about four o'clock in the afternoon before I retired. I told my little girl that I was going up stairs to sleep and I would take the alarm clock up with me, that I would leave my watch for her to take care of and to be sure to look after it. I was asleep less than an hour till I was awakened by the little girl. The attic is used by me and my family for sleeping. After I discovered the loss of the watch I went to the police station and reported the loss at the 12th precinct; my daughter gave me a description of the man and told me it was a pedlar - a vender; she did not go with me to the station house.

POOR QUALITY

0315

It was nearly two months after the watch was stolen that my daughter went with me to Thirteenth street; that was after the man McGlynn was discharged; he was arrested three or four days after the watch was taken. He had been walking up and down Thirteenth st. about ten minutes before we saw the defendant for the first time; we visited the street the next time three or four days after that, and we stayed around there an hour and a half. The prisoner was arrested on a Sunday morning and taken before Judge Patterson. My wife had a conversation at Essex Market with the prisoner in my presence and I had a conversation with him in her presence and in the presence of the officer. I said to him, "There is no use in your talking as you do. I know where you came from and who you are; the best thing you can do is to return that property;" and he said, "I will try and return you your watch" - words to that effect as near as I remember, that he would get me my watch. My daughter was there, but I could not swear that she heard all the conversation. I heard him say after he was committed by the Police Magistrate that he was not guilty. Three or four days after this I got a pass and visited the defendant at the Jumbos. I tried to find out where my property was. I asked him if he could tell me where my watch was? He promised to return it, he said he would try and get the watch. He says, "I cannot tell you now where it is." I said, "you promised to return it." He says, "I will try, I am trying to return it," and then I concluded that he did not intend. My conversation was very short with him then after that. All the conversations I had with the defendant about the return of the watch were commenced by me. I have had general conversations with my wife and daughter about the case. I told my daughter when I was taking her to Thirteenth street what it was for. My wife was present when I left the house and she knew what I was going up to Thirteenth street for. As near as I can remember I went four times to Thirteenth street searching for the defendant. I went there alone on my

0317

Third visit, and that was some time about the middle of April. I had my watch about ten years. I paid sixty dollars for it, it was a double case Waltham movement. I had worn it continuously. I will swear it was worth fifty dollars. I have never been in the jewelry business. I did not get any information from McGlynn as to the whereabouts of the defendant but I did receive information as to his being in the vicinity of Thirteenth street.

Helena Cashell sworn. I am the mother of Isabella and the wife of Thomas Cashell and live at 53 Columbia St. I was out on the 11th of February about half past three o'clock. I left my husband and the children at home and returned about half past six o'clock. I know nothing of the larceny. I know the defendant quite well. I saw him five or six times in my house selling potatoes. I had a talk with him in the Essex Market Police Court after he was arrested in the presence of the little girl, my husband, and the policeman. I said to him, "you ought to be ashamed of yourself to come into my house when there was only a little girl there and take advantage of her and take the watch from off the door. He says, "Lady, I don't remember ever seeing you before." I says, "you don't remember ever seeing me." I says, "you ought to be ashamed of yourself, you are nothing but a loafer to go and stand up before me and tell me you never seen me before when I bought potatoes off you for six months every month. The last potatoes I bought I gave $3.80 for, five bushels of potatoes. He then said, "Lady, I will try and get the watch." I did not go to the Courts to see the prisoner Godfrey Heidenreich sworn. I am an officer of the 14th precinct and was on duty on the 17th of May in East Thirteenth St. I arrested the defendant then on the complaint of Mr. Cashell; the little girl was there. I had no conversation with the defendant about the case. I was present in the Police Court the time the complaint was made. I heard the defendant say to Mrs. Cashell, "I will try and get the watch for you." She told him he was a loafer, he said to her that he had never seen her before. Then she turned around and said, "you loafer, how can you say that? I bought potatoes from you three or four times." At that time my attention was called by the clerk asking me a question, and I heard him say no more after that. It was to Mrs. Cashell the defendant said that he would try and get the watch. I did not hear Mr. Cashell have any talk with him. The defendant asked me to see a party the name of ~~Mc~~ Coy and another party whose name I cannot recall to go bail for him. I went in the evening and saw Mr. McCoy

Thomas Nugent, sworn and examined in his own behalf testified I live at 343 East Thirtieth street and have lived there all my life. I have never been arrested before only taken ten minutes for selling old peaches. I run a wagon for five years for Pete Befley in Brooklyn and worked nearly a year for McGlynn. I worked eight years with my father peddling with a horse and wagon. I have been to the house No 53 Columbia st. a dozen times on and off for the last two years selling the lady (the complainant) potatoes. I know Mrs. Cashell and have seen the little girl before. I do not exactly remember the last time

0320

I was there, but it was about four months ago. I saw the little girl on the last occasion. I knocked at the door and she said, "Come in." I asked her if she wanted potatoes. She did not want any. I sold her mother six baskets of potatoes two months before. The lady up stairs only bought potatoes off me once before. I said to the little girl, "may the lady up stairs wants them." She said, "I will run up and see." I said, "All right." She went up and came back, and said, "No, she dont want none either." I went out of the door and drove to Cannon Street and sold the two baskets of potatoes to another customer. I did not send the little girl up stairs for the purpose of stealing. I never stole in my life. I did not steal anything from the premises of Mrs. Lashell. I did not steal a gold watch from the vest pocket of Mr. Lashell. I did not run out of the house. I guess I was ten minutes talking to a butcher who lived in Columbia St.; he used to sell potatoes. My wagon was across the street. I drove around to Cannon St. and sold a woman the two baskets of potatoes. I did not give the little girl as she testified three potatoes.

POOR QUALITY

0321

She said in the Police Court, "you know me". When she mentioned Columbia St. I said, "yes," I sold you potatoes many a time. She called me a dirty loafer when I said I did not know her. I did not see the vest hanging up when I went into the house that day. I did not ask the little girl to go up stairs and ask the lady if she did not want potatoes. I did not leave the house before the girl came down. I was outside ten minutes talking to a butcher on the other side of the street. I don't know his name, he lives in Cannon Street, but I don't know the number. I have not made any effort to find him. I have not told my counsel about it. I have communicated with my parents since I have been arrested. I have not told my people about my talking with the butcher. I did not leave the three potatoes behind me in the house and clear out. I took them in my hand and chucked them in the wagon. I worked for McElynn not quite a year. I was working for myself but I hired the wagon from him. I paid him so much a day for the use of the wagon. There was no name on the wagon, but the license number was on it, No. 1005. I had McGlynn's wagon up to the day I was arrested. I was not home five minutes with his horse and wagon till I was arrested. I was not arrested for four months, about that I guess.

POOR QUALITY

0322

Q All that three months did you ever go near Mrs. Cashell's house? I was working on sods, sodding grounds and yards. I was working with McGlynn's wagon. When did you stop selling potatoes? That very day - that was my last load. Did you know that everybody was after you? No. I did not. McGlynn came up the morning after he was discharged and told me he was after getting arrested for a watch, he had to pay ten dollars to the lawyer and he got discharged; he did not tell me where he was accused of taking it from and I did not know that McGlynn was arrested on a charge of taking a watch from 53 Columbia St. Didn't you know that McGlynn was informed that a vender came into that place with potatoes and that he was the man who took the watch. It is not true that I knew that I was the person they were looking for. I was in my mother's house every night in the week in Thirteenth St. Some days I would get through at two o'clock. I never told the Cashells my name; they did not know my name or residence. I never knew all this time that they were looking for the man that drove McGlynn's wagon and McGlynn did not tell me that McGlynn did not tell me when he was discharged that he was told that the man who drove his wagon the day before was the man who was wanted. I drove his wagon through Columbia St. and I was in the room of the complainant. McGlynn is not in Court as a witness. I did not send for him. Mr. Cashell came to me in the Police Court, ^{in the Tombs} and said, "Do you know where my watch is?" I said, "I don't know any more about your watch than that iron gate." I said, "I will try to get it, but I did not know any more about the watch than that desk." All I meant was that if I could get any clue to the watch I would let him know. I wanted Mr. Buckley, who is a friend of mine sent for to tell my mother that I was arrested. I don't know what McGlynn said to the officer about me. I have never been arrested before for anything, never stole anything and always worked hard for a living. I never stole a dog on the east side of the city.

Thomas Nugent sworn and examined. I have been in the peddling business for years and my son was in business with me nearly eight years; about two years ago my son was in business for himself. He has never been arrested before to my knowledge; he was living home with me for the last six months in Thirtieth street; he slept home nightly continuously.

James Ward sworn. I have been driving a truck for the last three years. I know the defendant Thomas Nugent about seven years and know other people who know him; he has been an honest fellow. I never knew him to do anything wrong and I have seen him pretty much every night during that time. Cross Examined. I have not employed him. I only know him as a friend in the neighborhood where he lives. I have only heard talk in reference to his honesty since this thing occurred. I have always heard him spoken of as a general, good fellow. If he had been arrested before I would have known it.

Rebutting Testimony.

Isabella Cashell recalled. When I came down stairs from seeing the woman I bought the potatoes which I had in my hand with me and put them upon the bureau, and when my father and mother came in, they were still there - two potatoes.

Thomas Cashell recalled. When my daughter called me I saw two potatoes on the bureau. I did not hear the defendant make any acknowledgment to my wife that he had sold her potatoes. I heard him deny it, and my wife said, "you loafer, you have been to my house and I have bought potatoes off you."

Melena Cashell recalled. When I came home that night I saw two potatoes on the bureau. I have heard the testimony of the defendant in respect to the conversation I had with him in the Police Court. It is false what he swore there. In the Police Court he denied at first that he had ever seen me. I said, "you ought to be ashamed of yourself, you loafer, why don't you acknowledge you stole the watch and it went go so hard against you?" He then said, "Well, lady, I will try and get it for you!"

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty of petty larceny. He was remanded for sentence.
