Two Very Disastrous Failures in the Woollen Trade.

EXCITEMENT IN THE DRY GOODS DISTRICT.

Mayer and Co. and Levy Brothers and Co. and What Led to Their Collapse.

A SUCCESSION OF BUSINESS DISASTERS.

When the announcement was made yesterday forenoon that the woolen house of F. Mayor & Co., of White street, had collapsed there was consternation in the dry goods district, anxiety in business circles generally and a ripple of excitement even in Wall street, for the liabilities were said to be as high as two millions. Furthermore the house was known to have been a very large and important one, and the rumor that other firms would be likely to be carried under was generally believed. Later on, when three years were realized by the stricken concern

HOW THE TROUBLE AROSE.

Several theories are advanced as to the cause of the troubles. One is that they arose from the fact that a number of firms in the woollen and manufactured clothing lines of business have been in the habit of exchanging paper, one concern indorsing the notes of another for convenience of discount, and the failure of one firm necessarily affecting all the others in the degree to which they had respectively indorsed its paper. When Bronner & Co., of London, failed last week, Levy Brothers & Co. found themselves seriously involved, having largely indorsed the notes of the suspended concern. Mayer & Co., although they themselves were not upon Bronner & Co.'s paper, were aware that Levy Brothers & Co., between whom and themselves there had been heavy exchanges, were large importers for Bronner & Co. If Levy Brothers & Co. were so seriously injured that they could not withstand the shock there would necessarily be a reaction upon Mayer & Co.

While the latter firm was in this condition of suspense disaster came from another and unexpected quarter. On Monday last the firm of Stodensch, Schwab & Co. went under. Mayer & Co. had mayor & son, was greatly prostrated by the blow. Throughout the day sympathizing friends called at the office to condole with him. When asked as to the cause of his failure he shook his head and responded:—

"What can I say?"

"State simply the fact," said a broker who stood by, "that it requires a great deal of money to carry on the business at the present time, and you could not command the money for the time being. Many good men got into just that position."

Mr. Mayer referred the reporter to the assignee, Mr. Danzig.

"I really can give you no particulars at the present time," said Mr. Danzig. "I have begun an examination of the books, but it will take several weeks to prepare the schedules. While I can tell you nothing definite, however, I am convinced that the assets will cover the liabilities. Mr. Mayer owns a great deal of real estate, and every dollar's worth of it has been turned over for the benefit of the creditors."

Bradstreet's Commercial Agency records show that the firm of F. Mayer & Co. was established in 1857, the partners being F. Mayer, Lee Mayer, Sampson Hirsch and Benjamin Mayer. On December 31, 1872, Leopold Mayer withdrew; on February 2, 1874, S. Hirsch withdrew and Ferdinand and Benjamin Mayer continued the business. The firm was largely interested in real estate. In 1882 they sold out their interest in the building at the corner of Broadway and Houston street, which they had jointly owned with Levy Brothers & Co. The firm was one of the largest in the business. They were heavy buyers and their affairs were well conducted. Their paper sold at very low rates, and in the trade they were pronounced in high credit.

LEVY BROTHERS & CO.'S FAILURE.

The County Clerk's office was just about to close when an application was made to file a list of preferred creditors of the firm of Levy Brothers & Co., wholesale manufacturers of clothing at No. 472 Broadway, who had made an assignment to Solomon H. Kohn. The preferences amounted to nearly $960,000, some of the principal ones being as follows:—H. Herrmann Steinbach & Co., $45,000; Bronner & Co., $65,000, and Frankel & Butler, of Denver, Col., $32,000; notes of the assignors made yesterday for $17,000; Perry Brothers & Co., $65,000, and Henry Herrmann, of Herrmann, Steinbach & Co., $200,000. Among other preferred creditors are Stern Brothers, A. Levy & Brothers, M. Samter & Sons, Frankel & Butler and J. Rodecker & Co.—all these latter being preferences on notes. The amount of the liabilities was not stated. According to Bradstreet's reports the firm claimed a capital last fall of $600,000, and to have as much more in real estate. They did a large business, which had grown rapidly in the past five years. The business was established in 1864 by Adolph and Simon Levy, who were brothers, under the name of A. Levy & Co. It was afterward changed to Kamack, Levy & Co., and then to Levy Brothers & Co. Adolph Levy withdrew from the firm in January, 1893, and there were various changes in the personnel of the firm after that date, but the name was not changed.

REAL ESTATE SPECULATIONS.

"Going too heavily, and perhaps injudiciously, teriously murdered in his twenty-third street residence. The circumstances of the terrible crime and the facts of the unavailing search for the assassin are still familiar to the public. It will be remembered that shortly after Mr. Nathan's murder his executors offered for probate in the Surrogate's office a will made by him, dated December 31, 1869. The will was probated without objection and no dispute as to its provisions has ever arisen. In 1879, nine years after the tragic death of the banker, his widow, Emily Grace Nathan, also died, leaving a will which in many respects is the counterpart of Mr. Nathan's. A suit for a distribution under this will and an interpretation of its provisions is now pending in the Supreme Court, and, it is expected, will soon be tried.

PROVISIONS OF MRS. NATHAN'S WILL.

The action is brought by the United States Trust Company, of New York, trustee under the will, against Harmon H. Nathan, Frederick Nathan, Washington Nathan, Julian Nathan, Francis R. Wolff, Sarah Moss, Justina Cohen, Rosalie Florence and Clara Nathan. The trust company seek to make a division of the property as directed by the will, the interests of the children being unequal. Among the other clauses in Mrs. Nathan's will, following closely in its terms a similar clause in the will of Mr. Nathan, is one which provides that if any or either of the testatrix with a person not born or existing of her estate should be set aside for such child, or children, nor should any such child, or children, have any share whatever in her estate or any part thereof, either of income or principal, but for the purpose of her will the offending child, or children, should be treated as if he or they had never been born, and his or their shares shall go to the children who do not marry as prohibited.

Since the execution of this will Washington Nathan married Mrs. Arnett, the daughter of Colonel Mapleson, of operatic fame, a Christian lady of many accomplishments. It is said that this marriage was a great surprise, and, indeed, a source of vexation to some members of the Nathan family, although since the marriage Washington has been on the most friendly terms with his brothers and sisters. But he married her in direct opposition to the provisions of his mother's will. Hence the United States Trust Company, in their bill against the defendants above named, recite the fact on information and belief that Washington, prior to the death of the testatrix, "intermarried with a person not born in and professing the Hebrew faith or religion."

ALLEGATIONS OF THE COMPLAINT.

It is also alleged that the trust company has received from the executors a large amount of funds, consisting of money, railroad bonds, bonds and mortgages and have paid the defendants on account of their respective shares. It is further averred that the estate has never been formally divided by the trustee, owing to the fact that until very recently the bulk of the trust estate had not been transferred to the plaintiff and that for the purpose of making a division, as the will directs, the plaintiff desires a judicial determination of the value of the assets constituting the trust estate in order that division can be made without a sale.

It was expected that a trial of the suit would soon be had, but, owing to the recent death of Mrs. Moss, a daughter of the testatrix, it is necessary that now parties shall be brought in, and until that is done the case cannot be tried. It may be stated that Mrs. Nathan in her will left a large amount to Christian charitable institutions.

Ex-Judge Cardezo is counsel for all the children except Washington Nathan. Everts, Southmayd & Choate are the opposing counsel.

won't let me."

"Yes, I will," said Justice Smith.

"Well, I will not make any."

Justice Smith then wrote that the prisoner would not say anything in answer to the charge. He read this to the prisoner, who signed his name to it.

"You are held for trial in default of $1,000 bail," said Justice Smith.

Feeny began again to abuse the British government and was taken down stairs to the prison, where Dr. Jackson, one of the city physicians, examined him, and upon his advice Feeny was placed in the padded cell on the ground tier of the male prison.

A HERALD reporter had an interview with the prisoner shortly afterward. Feeny during the conversation spoke rapidly and excitedly about his arrest and what led up to it.

"I am one of the most persecuted men in the world," said Feeny, "and my head is very weak owing to all that I have passed through. From January last until March last I was in a British prison."

"Why were you arrested?"

"I do not know, unless it was under law. I was a coach builder in Dublin, a long way off when they arrested me. I was of other young fellows were taken in at the same time. I was a member of Guard Band. I know poor Joe Brady. They tried to make me go against him. Mullett. I was first taken to Chancey Mullett. Dublin. I was then taken to one Fitzsimons, but I would not go. I wanted of me. Fitzsimons said to Mullett entering the police van now. so that you can know him again if you would not do as they wanted me, but the other way. Mullett, the superior. Prison, tried to get me to do as Mullett. For the Crown, wished; but although I me a large sum of money I refused. After four weeks in Chancey lane I was taken to Kilmalham Prison. One day they asked me. I would do if they released me. I told them I would make known their villainy through the press."

SHIPPED TO AMERICA.

"Did you see Carey?"

"I had that misfortune. He was in Kilmalham with me, and he tried to make up to me in a friendly way. I struck him in the face. One dark night I was taken to the North Wall and put aboard the Circassian. I did not know where I was. The doctor saw that I was very sick and had me put in the hospital ward in the ship. I was landed in Toronto. There I was put in a hospital. I was afterward examined as to my condition. A lawyer named Murphy appeared for me. He proved that I was sane. The ecclesiastical authorities persuaded me to go to Buffalo, where I have friends. Money was furnished to pay my expenses. When I arrived in Buffalo I worked very hard. I thought that under the Stars and Stripes I would enjoy liberty. I was again sent to hospital, and, feeling how much I had suffered from the persecution of the British authorities, ventilated all my grievances. Mr. Mullett, as word from Dublin that I was a fraud and a Parnell Park murderer. I was at this time employed in Cunningham's factory in Rochester. People told me not to mind what was said, but I could not stand the persecution. Yesterday this city to buy a ticket to be rearrested as soon as I wanted to put an end to it."

OVER THREE MILLIONS.

Two Very Disastrous Failures in the Woollen Trade.

ECUENAT IN THE DRY GOODS DISTRICT.

Mayer and Co. and Levy Brothers and Co. and What Led to Their Collapse.

A SUCCESSION OF BUSINESS DISASTERS.

When the announcement was made yesterday forenoon that the woollen house of F. Mayer & Co., of White street, had collapsed there was consternation in the dry goods district, anxiety in business circles generally and a ripple of excitement even in Wall street, for the liabilities were said to be as high as two millions. Furthermore the house was known to have been a very large and important one, and the rumor that other firms would be likely to be carried under was generally believed. Later on, when it was feared were realized by the "shortened account" that Levy Brothers & Co., one of Mayer & Co.'s creditors, had also suspended with preference of nearly a million, the feeling for a time was decidedly panicky. In Wall street it was said that the stock market itself had been unfavorably affected and that the afternoon dealings in prices was to be in part attributed to these serious troubles in the dry goods trade.

Several theories are advanced as to the cause of the trouble. One is that they arose from the fact that a number of firms in the woollen trade in the factored clothing lines of business have been in the habit of exchanging paper, one course of discounting the notes of another or, conversely, of discounting the claims of one firm to which they had respectively issued paper. When Broome & Co., a fairly prosperous firm, failed last week Levy Brothers & Co. found themselves seriously involved, having largely induced the notes of the suspended concern. Mayer & Co., although they themselves were not upon Broome & Co.'s paper, were aware that Levy Brothers & Co., between whom and themselves there had been heavy exchanges, were large donors for Broome & Co. If Levy Brothers & Co. were so seriously injured that they could not withstand the shock there would necessarily be a reaction upon Mayer & Co.

While the latter firm was in this condition of suspense disaster came from another and unexpected quarter. On Monday last the firm of Broome, Schuch & Co. went under. Mayer & Co. had exchanged paper with them to the amount of nearly $200,000, most of which would mature within the next month or six weeks. It was then determined by Mayer & Co. that their affairs were hopelessly involved, even though Levy Brothers & Co. should pull through, and an assignment was decided upon. On Monday evening Mr. S. Danzig, of the firm of Danzig Brothers, No. 382 Broadway, was requested to take the assignment, which was recorded in the County Clerk's office at nine o'clock yesterday morning, and a list of preferences given amounting in the aggregate to $400,000, of which the largest part represented the largest part of the sum.

Some of the creditors.

The creditors of the firm referred for the largest sums are as follows, some of the amounts being estimated:—
F. J. Fuchsman & Co. $100,000
R. Fuchsman & Co. 30,000
Pomeroy & Fuchsman 100,000
Levy Brothers & Co. 100,000
Hindkopf Brothers & Co. 25,000
Simon Luck & Co. 25,000
Wick & Co. 25,000
Lidur Rosenheim 25,000
David Mayer 25,000
M. G. S. 25,000
M. G. S. 25,000
Rosenberg & Co. 25,000
Klein, Lohman & Co. 25,000
Joseph L. Lohman 25,000
L. M. Lohman 25,000
L. M. Lohman 25,000
L. M. Lohman 25,000
Van Valkenberg & Lohman 25,000
F. Mayer 25,000
To the above are added others whose claims do not exceed $400 each.

It is thought that Mayer & Co.'s assets will be sufficient to cover all their liabilities. Mr. Newcomb, of the firm of Cantor & Newcomb, attorneys for the failed concern, estimated the value of the real estate above mortgages which Mr. Mayer and his son owned to be about $1,500,000, while the bills receivable and stock on hand would amount to $800,000 more. Among other valuable properties owned by the Mayers are the Strathmore, Newport and Adelphi.

ASSIGNOR AND ASSIGNEE.
Mr. Ferdinand Mayer, the head of the firm of Mayer & Son, was greatly prostrated by the blow. Throughout the day sympathizing friends called at the office to console with him. When asked as to the cause of his failure he shook his head and responded:—
"What can I say?"
"State simply the fact," said a broker who stood by, "that it requires a great deal of money to carry on the business at a present time, and you could not command the money for the time being. Many good men got into just that position."
Mr. Mayer referred the reporter to the assignee, Mr. Danzig.

TO KILL THE BRITISH CONSUL.

The Morning Visitor at the Consulate Who Was Bent on Murder.

TWO SHOTS FROM A REVOLVER.

Flight and Arrest of the Madman.

JOHN A. FEENEY'S STRANGE STORY.

A young man carrying a satchel in his hand, three open the outer door of the British Consul's office, No. 27 State street, about a quarter past eleven o'clock yesterday morning, and, stepping quickly up to the partition, behind which were three or four clerks at work, asked abruptly, "Where's the British Consul General?"

David E. Oak, Jr., one of the clerks, replied, "Is out of town."

"Well," said the stranger, "I want to know if or the Vice Consul is up at Buffalo?"

"No," said Oak. "Why do you ask?"

"I wish to see the other the Consul or the Consul," was the answer.

"You cannot see them," said Oak.

"I tell you I must see one of them," said the stranger, "I will go even if I have to go to the British Consulate. Looked for the Consul in Buffalo and I have shot him if I find him, and now, after travelling over three hundred miles to New York, it seems that I am to be refused a second time."

The man's eyes flashed, and he spoke, and crying out that the British government had refused him, he reached for the door from his trousers pocket a revolver and, pointing it at Mr. Oak and the other clerks, ordered them to get out of the office.

Whether he meant to discharge the revolver or not the clerks cannot say as in turning quickly the man struck his elbow violently against the glass partition between the two offices.

The bullet struck the wooden frame of the partition, and buried itself in it about an inch and a half. The man then turned and, reaching the stairs, suddenly fired a second shot. The bullet struck the wall and, passing through it, struck the man then ran into the street.

The two reporters, the stranger had accused the clerk, reached the sidewalk the stranger had disappeared. Word of what had taken place was quickly spread, and a large crowd collected. When the man was found he was lying on the sidewalk, and a large crowd collected.

Shortly after half past twelve, Detective Patterson, of the New York police, arrived at the British Consulate. He was carrying a satchel. Carr touched him on the shoulder and, pointing to the man who had been shot, said, "That's the man who shot the Consul."

On the second floor of the British Consulate, the man made no denial of the charge nor did he offer the slightest resistance to the officers who took him to the New York House of Detention.

Sergeant Rorke was at the desk. He asked the prisoner his name.

"My name is John A. Feeny," was the reply. "I am a native of Dublin and I have been residing in Canada for some time past. I came to New York to see the Consul."

In his possession was found the revolver. It was a .32 calibre and of the make of a person employed in the British Consulate.

A box of cartridges was also taken from Feeny. The cartridges were unusually large. On the box was the name of the manufacturer, "The Remington-Union Arms Co., New York."

Feeny, the prisoner, was asked if he knew the man who had been shot. He said he did not know him.

Feeny was then taken to the New York House of Detention. He was dressed in a dark suit and was very pale. He had a large crowd of people who were waiting to see him.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK,

WILLIAM H. McCURDY.

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss:

J O H N J. D O H E R T Y, being duly sworn deposes and says, that he lives at No. 247 Lexington Avenue in the City of Brooklyn; that he knew the above named William H. McCurdy in his lifetime, and that he knew he was charged with the offense of selling Lottery Policies, and was held in bail to await trial therefor in the sum of One thousand Dollars, and that Joseph W. Kay thereupon became his surety for his appearance in the Court of General Sessions, in that sum; that deponent knows that said McCurdy, the above named defendant, died in the month of December, 1893; that deponent saw him dead, and deponent knows that he was the person for whom said Joseph W. Kay became surety in the sum of One thousand Dollars, for the offense of selling lottery policies, and for which offense he was to be tried in the Court of General Sessions, New York County.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK,
-against-
WILLIAM H. McCURDY.

CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, ss:

J O S E P H W. K A Y, being duly sworn says, that he resides in the City of Brooklyn, and State of New York; that the above named defendant was arrested on or about the 28th day of July, 1884, on the charge of selling Lottery Policies; that thereupon and thereafter he was held in bail in the sum of One thousand Dollars for trial, and deponent became his bondsman in that amount, February 21st, 1885, and joined with him in making and executing a bond in that amount to appear for trial in the Court of General Sessions, New York County.

That the reason deponent cannot produce said William H. McCurdy when his case is called for trial in the Court of General Sessions, April 1st, 1897, is that said William H. McCurdy is dead, having died on the 5th day of December, 1893, at St. Vincent's Hospital, in the City of New York, as more fully appears from the certificate hereto annexed. That deponent saw the dead body of said William H. McCurdy at that time, and at the place of his funeral, 460 Washington Street, New York City, and knows that the dead body he then saw was the dead body of William H. McCurdy above named, for whom he went security as bondsman as hereinbefore set forth.

The People } Court of General Sessions, Part I.
John McGrath, } Before Judge Cowing. jointly indicted with
James Malloy for robbery in the first degree.

Terence Cavanah sworn. I live on Jersey City Heights and recollect the 5th of November when I was robbed; it was on 11th Avenue a little way from 23rd Street in this city, something about half past ten at night. I was going home with my little girl, I sent her up to a friend's house with some money. I saw McGrath and Collins, I was standing there and they came up from 23rd Street on the sidewalk; the man who is not here came in advance and bowed his head and said, good-night or something to that effect. He put his arm around my neck and McGrath came on my left and the other on my right and got hold of my arms in this shape. (Illustrating). McGrath took hold of my left arm and held me right back and then hit me across the back of the neck and on the small of the back, I fell and when I fell they came down on the top of me and held me down, the whole three, one at my head and the other two at my arms. I had forty-five dollars in money in my right-hand pants pocket and Collins took the pocket-book out of my pocket and McGrath took the keys and the penknife out of my other pocket; then they opened my vest and clothes and searched my pockets. Collins and the other man ran away and McGrath stumbled and his hat fell on the sidewalk; some of the other two shouted, make sure of the hat; he made sure of the hat and ran. It was quite light there, there is an electric light in 23rd Street

I saw McGrath's face when he had me by the arm and while he was over me too. I had seen McGrath and Collins before this night on 11th Avenue between 23rd and 30th Streets standing on the corner with several others. I next saw McGrath at Police Headquarters about four weeks after the robbery; they sent for me to come there, that they had a man they wanted me to see; they fetched me into a room where there was a lot of men standing about fourteen or fifteen, and I picked him out.

Cross Examined.

McGrath was dressed about the same as he is now; some of the men at Police Headquarters were dressed well and some were not. I picked out McGrath from his face, having seen him before, I can safely say that I had seen him two times before the robbery but I had never spoken to him and did not know his name. I never said in the presence of anybody that I could not recognize the people who robbed me, I never said so in the presence of Peter Kelly or Officer Gray, I did not have Patrick Kelly arrested for this robbery, I saw that young man who has been pointed out to me that night, Officer Gray brought him forward, I am just as sure of Collins as I am of McGrath. The three men walked up together, they were all facing me, I could not help but look at them; to the best of my knowledge this occurrence took about four minutes.

I was lying on the broad of my back, I could see the face right on the top of me, I was not excited and had not been drinking a drop. I did not say in the presence of anybody that I was unable to recognize my assailants. I have seen the keys since that were taken out of my pocket. I am generally over in New York on Saturday, I am a butcher and work in the Hackensack Abattoir. I board over in Jersey since my wife died. I noticed these young men and others around the corner in New York several times, I last saw them between two and three weeks before the robbery. On the night of the robbery I made an outcry and Officer Gray came up I told him about the robbery and he went to look for the men, he got a man whom I afterwards understood was named Kelly, he brought him to me at the corner of 22nd Street, it was away from a lamp-post, there was a crowd around and the man was in a stooping position; he asked me if that looked like any of the men and I told him I thought he was. He brought him to the lamp-post and then I told him he was not the man, that was right after the robbery.

Frank Mangin, Jr sworn. I am a Police Sergeant and am one of the officers who had charge of this case, I was present when the complainant identified McGrath. The night we sent for Mr McGrath to come to Police Headquarters I placed him in the inspector's room, we then called several officers up and some employees of the building, we placed them in a room and then put the prisoner among them and then called Mr. Cavanagh out of the inspector's room, he went right up and looked around and picked out McGrath. Inspector Byrnes says, are you sure that is the man? He said, yes, I am positive. In my judgment it was the best identification I have ever seen.

Cross Examined. The prisoner was arrested I believe on the 8th of December and the robbery was committed on the 8th of November; he was not arrested sooner because he kept out of the way, I had been looking for him in company with my partners Maguire and Murray from the middle of November, Mr Cavanagh had not reported it to Inspector Byrnes before and I had not been detailed to look after him. The people among whom the defendant was placed for identification were pretty well dressed, some were dressed similar to him; when I speak of employees I mean janitors and helpers who clean up the building. We got a description from the complainant of the men who robbed him and then we went in search of McGrath, Collins and Mallooy who has fled. We went around 10th and 11th Avenues and 27th Street but could not find Malloy. We had been out all night and left instructions with two patrolmen of the 20th precinct if they saw him to take him in, we had McGrath's name from some person whose name I decline to give. Detective Vallely and McGarnick assisted us in the arrest. I do not know of my own knowledge that McGrath was ever arrested but I have heard he was.

William Gray sworn I am a police officer and recollect the night of the robbery on the 8th of November, I was on post that evening and heard Mr Cavanagh Holler, Murder, I ran to his assistance as quick as I could and asked him what was the trouble. He said he had been robbed by three men, one tall man and two low sized, stout men, I asked which way did they go. He said, they went down towards the river, I went down around the lumber yard and around the ferry and of course I could not see anything of them and told him so, I told him to look around and see if there was anybody there that he could identify, that looked like the person. He said, this man there. (Pointing to Patrick Kelly) the man standing right by the corner. I grabbed hold of him by the arm and stood him by a lamp. I said, take a good look and be sure. He said, that is the man; then he looked again and excused himself and told me that was not the man, right there and then and I turned Kelly loose.

Cross Examined. . . I went around to see if I could find out who had been there and I found out that one of the men he represented was Malloy, a tall, thin fellow, like Kelly and the other two men represented the prisoners, I did not find this out from Cavanagh but from some one else. Cavanagh did not say to me that he could not recognize the men, it seemed to me he pretended to know them, he says, there were two low, stout fellows with black, curly hair, he told me he could identify them, I might have seen Malloy but I did not know who he was, I did not see McGrath that evening, I have never seen them down as far as that but I have seen them around 26th and 27th Streets on 11th Avenue; they were not doing anything that was good, drinking beer and fighting and standing around corners; it is a kind of lonesome place where there is lumber, I saw McGrath in a fight in 27th Street about a year ago assaulting an officer in the 20th precinct, I am sure that I have seen McGrath and Collins together since the first of October on 11th Avenue between 27th and 28th Streets. McGrath and Collins were both sent to the Penitentiary for assaulting Officer King. There was a charge made against me at Police Headquarters.

Thomas Murray sworn I am a police sergeant and had charge of this case with Mangin, I was present at the identification.

John McGrath sworn and examined. I reside 561 West 26th Street and am twenty-six years old, I live with my father and work every day along shore, moving lumber. The night of the 8th of November last I was in my own house, I was arrested on the 9th of December on a Monday morning and taken from my work and have been in the Tombs since then, I was not feeling well on the night of the 8th of November, my brother opened his store two or three days before and he wanted me to help him to move, I was not able to help him to move and I staid in the house, his name is Daniel and I believe he is in court, I worked every day that week but did not go out in the evening, I am positive I was not between 22nd and 23rd Streets that night and did not assault the complainant or attempt to rob him, I did not see the man. The last time I spoke to Collins was the latter end of August or the first of September, I promised him a job on lumber and he did not come at the time I was to get him the job and I put another man in the place, from that he did not speak to me until we were in the Tombs together. I had not been in the company of Malloy since before the 1st 4th of July. I know all these young men for I have lived in the neighborhood about twenty years, I have not been away from the city of New York from the 8th of November, have been home all the time and any officer could have found me. I was sentenced for assaulting an officer who struck me with a club, I was advised to plead guilty and was sentenced to the Penitentiary for one year. Were you ever loafing around by any foundry with James Malloy and Michael Collins? I never do, I work, I would never be around the foundry at all. I live around the corner from the foundry.

0791

Cross Examined.

I was home sick on the 8th of November, I did not have any doctor, I did not see Cavanagh that night at all, I was not on the avenue, I never saw him until I saw him at Police Headquarters, I had a quarrel with Collins about a job of work last summer, I have known him about three years and was pretty well acquainted with him, Collins was also guilty of assaulting Officer King and pleaded guilty, I do not know where Malloy is, I saw him last around August at 30th Street I heard Cavanagh say at Jefferson Market that he was robbed on the 8th of November. I don't know where I was on the 5th of November, I suppose I was working and suppose I was working on the 10th. I left off work on the 8th of November at five o'clock, I was workin for Mr Ackerman at lumber, I went to work at eight o'clock in the morning and when I got home at five o'clock I remained in all night. I could not say that I was home all night on the 5th or 6th of November, I recollect the 8th and the 10th because I was feeling bad. I was only feeling bad four or five days but I was working every day. I was not convicted on the 26th of June, 1882 by Judge Smith for stealing a side of beef and sentenced for one month, I know Officer McCormack, he never arrested me only this time. There were about ten men present at headquarters when I was identified by the complainant, I had on my working clothes, they put me in among those men with watches and chains, I was put in the corner and Cavanagh walked over and pointed me out. The reason I know this was the 8th of November is because my brother opened a cigar store on the 5th and asked me to help him to move, he moved about half a block down.

0792

John McGrath sworn. I am the father of the prisoner and live at 521 West 26th Street, I remember where he was on the night of the 8th of November last, he was in my house since eight o'clock that night and through the night after; my other son was after moving to the next house, he moved on the 5th, he opened a store but it was not right until Saturday night, John did not feel very good that Saturday night, I have no doubt but he was home that evening.

Cross Examined. I am sure I saw my son on the evening of the 8th at eight o'clock, I have two clocks on the mantel-piece in the sitting-room, he came in by the front door, I was sitting beside the stove at the time, I looked at the clocks when he came in, he comes home from work every night, he came home after six on the night of the 7th and the night before that, too, he went to his supper when he came in and did not go out at all after he got his supper, he threw himself in the bed, the bed-room is two flights up, he went to bed about half an hour after supper, I saw him undress and get into bed, I did not go out of the house that night, I staid in the bed-room about ten or fifteen minutes; we have only two rooms, a sitting and a bed-room, I have four boys, my wife is dead; three boys sleep in the bed and the young one and myself sleep on the floor. I recollect the 7th and that John came home at ten minutes past six, he did not feel well and went to bed. I do not know what disease he had but he did not feel good. James slept with Johnnie, my other son's name is Micheal.

James McGrath sworn. I live 551 West 26th Street and am twenty-two years of age and a brother of the defendant, I know where John was on the evening of the 8th of November he was in the house when I went in about a quarter past nine. He was working all the week but complained of being sick.

Daniel McGrath sworn. I live 553 West 26th Street and am proprietor of a cigar store, I wanted him to help me to move on Wednesday evening and he told me he could not as he did not feel well, I saw him in bed on Saturday night about nine o'clock. I know that my brother John and Mick Collins were not on speaking terms because I saw them one week on one side of the way and the other walked on the other side and would not look at one another, this was before the 8th of November.

Patrick Kelly sworn. I saw the complainant the night he got robbed between 22nd and 23rd Streets, I heard a man holler, murder, watch, I saw the officer run over and I ran over after the officer. We walked down as far as the corner lamp-post and the officer asked Mr Cavanagh could he identify any of the men that assaulted him. He said yes, pointing to me. The officer said, are you sure that is the man? <sup>yes</sup> And Cavanagh said, a friend of his named McVinney told Mr Cavanagh that I was not the man, Mr McMahon told him that I was with him that night. He pointed to another man named George Dickinbiel; there were eight or ten persons present when he picked me out of the crowd.

Cross Examined. I know the prisoner McGrath and his brothers three or four years, I know Collins and Malloy, I was working with Malloy in a box factory, I was arrested once for being drunk and fined five dollars, I have lived in that neighborhood seventeen years and know all the young men.

George Duckenbiehl sworn. I live 603 West 22nd Street I was present with Kelly and others on the evening of November 8th, I was picked out by a man charged with having assaulted him, Mr Cavanagh, I was under a gas lamp at the corner. Officer Gray asked him could he identify any of the men there, he said he did not know. Officer Gray told him to look around, he identified Kelly. The officer said, do you see any more? He says, I do not know, have you got any more? The officer pointed to me and after he grabbed on two of us Officer Gray asked him was he sure that those were the two men and he said yes. As soon as he said that McMahon said I was not the man that I was in his company, Cavanagh was positive at the time until McMahon spoke. I do not know McGrath but I know Malloy about two months, I do not know Collins.

James Grissick sworn. I am acquainted with 22nd and 23rd Streets and 11th Avenue, I went there last night with a friend of mine named Grady about fifteen minutes past nine. There are two gas lamps, they are situated on each side of the street mostly in the middle of the block, there is one of them on the east side of the avenue, kind of shaded by a tree belonging to Bedling's lumber yard, there is a lot of trucks in front of it. The electric light is on the upper side of 23rd Street, a block and a half away, it wont show light on the other side of the street, you could not know anybody unless you got in front of the 23rd Street stables. I made an experiment with my friend, I have pretty good sight, I am positive that I do not think there is a man can recognize a man at any time after dark, I stood about six or seven feet from my friend and it was impossible to recognize him. D

Dennis Grady was sworn and testified to the same effect.

Terrance Cavanagh was recalled and reiterated his former testimony saying that he was positive McGrath was there. John W. King testified that McGrath and Collins assaulted him and were sent to the Penitentiary.

James McGuire sworn testified that he was one of the detectives engaged in this case and that ten days after the robbery he went up to the lamp-post where this robbery took place, I could discern my partners features one hundred feet distant .

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty of robbery in the first degree.
