She said give us a ride meaning herself. I said do you want my company to ride with me. She said I don't care or don't mind. I then she got in the cab & I called the man in front of me. I said Can't give me a ride & he said I don't care. I then got in & I said give me a drive & he started off without telling him where to go, or anything. He then started to go up 3rd St. She wanted me to stop at every saloon but I wouldn't. We got as far as 47th St when I told the driver to stop. She told the driver to stop. ~~the cab~~ she screamed. She called a P & said Oh. Of. this man has stolen my pkty. He said Lady this is a serious chg. See if you have your pkty. She & the off. searched me.

MISS CUMMINGS TAKES A CAB.

Her Charge Against the Driver Entertained, Though She Had No Witnesses.

A black-haired girl in a flowered linen dress with dotted sleeves was complainant in the Yorkville Police Court, yesterday, against Walter Coleman, a hack driver of 406 East Seventeenth street.

"My name is Minnie Cummings," the girl said. "I am 22 years old, a dressmaker, and live at 241 East Thirty-first street. On Tuesday night I was at Jamaica, and returned to New York on the 11:30 o'clock boat from Long Island City. I was afraid to walk home alone, and so, when the prisoner here asked me if I would have a cab, I paid him a dollar to drive me home. I got in the hack. The driver slammed the door, and, as I supposed, jumped on the box. While the cab was turning up First avenue, instead of down, as I wanted to go, the cabman sprang in and grabbed hold of me. I screamed, and he struck me heavily in the eye (you see my face is blackened), and snatched my pocketbook from my hands. It had $8.30 in it. He was getting out of the hack, which had not stopped, when this policeman (pointing to Policeman Ferris of the Fifty-first street station) came up and grabbed him. I told the policeman the man had stolen my pocketbook, and ordered him to arrest him. I saw the policeman get up on the box with the man, but after we had gone several blocks the policeman jumped down, and I did not see him again. Then the driver put me out of the cab. Next morning I reported my loss at the Thirty-fifth street police station."

Counsel for the prisoner asked Miss Cummings if she had ever been in the Haymarket, the Cremorne, and like places. She said the questions were intended to insult her, and she would not answer them. She refused to tell whom she had visited in Jamaica, or for whom she had worked as a seamstress.

"She wanted me to drive her around town," said Coleman. "She told me to stop at a saloon. I was driving in the direction of one, when she began hollering, and she broke the glass in the window with her parasol, and I got down from the box to put her out. She immediately accused me of stealing her pocketbook."

"I heard the girl's screams," said Policeman Ferris, "and found Coleman standing at the door of the cab at First avenue and Thirty-fifth street. The girl said he had taken her pocketbook. I lighted a match and looked for the pocketbook, but couldn't find it. I told Coleman he was under arrest and got upon the box with him. At Forty-seventh street and First avenue the girl called from the cab window that she had found her pocketbook, and told me to let my prisoner go, and I did so."

Simon Goodman, night watchman at Thirty-fifth street and First avenue, said that the girl was drunk, and was swearing with a crowd around her.

Thomas Colby, a hackman, said that he was standing on the northeast corner of Thirty-fourth street and First avenue, and that the girl came up First avenue and turned down Thirty-fourth street. He asked her if she wanted a cab, and she answered that she did, but had no money.

Justice Duffy held Coleman for trial for highway robbery. John Royle, of 181 East 123d street furnished $1,000 bail for the prisoner.

Court of General Sessions of the Peace

OF THE CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, against

Anna Colapen

The Grand Jury of the City and County of New York, by this indictment, accuse

— Anna Colapen —

of the CRIME OF KEEPING AND MAINTAINING A COMMON BAWDY HOUSE AND HOUSE OF ILL FAME, committed as follows:

The said Anna Colapen

late of the ~~Ninth~~ Ward of the City of New York, in the County of New York aforesaid, on the ~~first~~ day of ~~August~~ in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-~~four~~ and on divers other days and times as well before as afterwards, to the day of the taking this inquisition, at the Ward, City and County aforesaid, a certain common house of ill fame, unlawfully and wickedly did keep and maintain; and in the said house divers evil-disposed persons, as well men as women, and common prostitutes, on the days and times aforesaid, as well in the night as in the day, there unlawfully and wickedly did receive and entertain; and in which said house the said evil-disposed persons and common prostitutes, by the consent and procurement of the said Anna Colapen

on the days and times aforesaid, there did commit whoredom and fornication; whereby divers unlawful assemblies, disturbances and lewd offences as well in the night as in the day, were there committed and perpetrated; to the great damage and common nuisance of all the good people of the said State there inhabiting and residing, in manifest destruction and subversion of, and against good morals and good manners, against the form of the Statute in such case made and provided, and against the peace of the People of the State of New York and their dignity.

SECOND COUNT.—And the Grand Jury aforesaid, by this indictment, further accuse
the said Anna Colapen

of the CRIME OF MAINTAINING A PUBLIC NUISANCE, committed as follows:

The said Anna Colapen

late of the ~~Ninth~~ Ward of the City of New York, in the County of New York aforesaid, afterwards, to wit: on the ~~first~~ day of ~~August~~ in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-~~four~~ and on divers other days and times between the said day and the day of the taking of this inquisition, at the Ward, City and County aforesaid, with force and arms, unlawfully did maintain a certain common, ill-governed house, and in her said house, for her own lucre and gain, certain persons whose names are to the Grand Jury aforesaid unknown, as well men as women, of evil name and fame and dishonest conversation, to frequent and come together then and on said other days and times, there unlawfully and willfully did cause and procure, and the said men and women in said house, at unlawful times, as well in the night as in the day, and on said other days and times there to be and remain, tippling, drinking, gaming, cursing, swearing, quarreling, making great noises and otherwise misbehaving themselves, unlawfully and willfully did permit and suffer, to the great annoyance, injury and danger of the comfort and repose of a great number of persons, good citizens of our said State there residing, and passing and repassing, to the common annoyance of the said citizens, against the form of the Statute in such case made and provided, and against the peace of the People of the State of New York and their dignity.

THIRD COUNT.—And the Grand Jury aforesaid, by this indictment, further accuse the said Anna Colapen, of the CRIME OF KEEPING A DISORDERLY HOUSE, committed as follows:

The said Anna Colapen,

late of the Ninth Ward of the City of New York, in the County of New York aforesaid, afterwards, to wit: on the twist day of August in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eightyfour and on divers other days and times between the said day and the day of the taking of this inquisition, at the Ward, City and County aforesaid, unlawfully did keep a certain ill-governed and disorderly house, the same being a place of public resort, and in her said house and place of public resort, for her own lucre and gain, certain persons, as well men as women, of evil name and fame, and of dishonest conversation, to frequent and come together, then and on the said other days and times, there unlawfully and wilfully did cause and procure, and the said men and women, in her said house, at unlawful times, as well in the night as in the day, then and on the said other days and times, there to be and remain, drinking, tippling, gambling, rioting, disturbing the peace, whoring and misbehaving themselves, unlawfully and wilfully, did permit, and yet continues to permit, by which the peace, comfort and decency of the neighborhood around and about the said house were, and yet are, habitually disturbed, against the form of the Statute in such case made and provided and against the peace of the People of the State of New York and their dignity.

Dear Sir:-

In the case of the People --against-- Annie Colgan, indicted for keeping a disorderly house, and set down for trial Tuesday April 21st 1885, both the witnesses for the people have been ascertained by our officers to be absent from the City.

The facts of the case show that this Annie Colgan had ~~the~~ three daughters, the youngest Jennie she was in the habit of taking around with her to beer saloons. At one of these places with the child she met these two men, they went to her house, one of them had intercourse with one of the girls there, and the other wanted this Jennie Colgan but was refused. His companion paid the girl Ten Dollars with the understanding that he was to have the ~~the~~ privilege of staying the night with her. Having received the money she refused to permit him to do so, and he then had her arrested. In Court he withdrew the charge, but the Magistrate with a view, if possible of saving the girl Jennie, held Mrs Colgan to answer to the charge of keeping a disorderly house. On subsequent habeas corpus the girl was returned to her mother by order of Justice Donohue on a technicality.
