Louis Bernstein,
George Lewis
and Louis Nathan

Court of General Sessions. Part I
Before Judge Martine August 8, 1892.
Indictment for carrying burglars tools.

Michael J. Cooney sworn and examined. testified Are you a police officer? I am of the fourteenth precinct. How long have you been a police officer? About nine years and three months. On the 27th of July 1892 did you see these defendants? I did. What time was it when you first saw them? About nine o'clock in the morning. Where were they? On the north east corner of Seventh street and Second avenue. What were they doing there? I was standing on the south east corner of Seventh street and Second avenue myself and I noticed Nathan coming through from First avenue. He stood in front of the flat on the north east corner looking into the vestibule and then he walked up to the corner of Second avenue right directly on the corner, and in about two moments afterward Bernstein and Lewis came up and spoke to him and then he (Bernstein) walked part of the way up Second avenue, Lewis and Nathan still remained on the corner of Seventh street and Second Avenue; the other two, Bernstein and Lewis, came down afterwards.

in about two or three moments and Lewis went into the vestibule flat alone. The entrance to the flat is about fifty feet off the avenue. I saw them together conversing. You did not hear what was said? No sir. I did not. When Nathan entered the hallway Bernstein and Lewis remained outside. Bernstein then crossed over to the south side of Seventh street and stood within three feet of me while Nathan was on the north east corner. He remained there some three or four minutes and went down and spoke to Lewis in the vestibule of the flat, he did not enter but spoke from the sidewalk. I could see him, he was within my sight, he addressed him; then he crossed the street (Nathan) after speaking to Lewis in the doorway and spoke to Bernstein on the corner within three or four feet of where I was standing. I did not hear what he said, he spoke in a low tone. Bernstein was looking diagonally across at Lewis, and after that Nathan came over and spoke to Bernstein; then Nathan walked down Second Avenue towards Sixth street; and I noticed Lewis leave the doorway and came away as though some person had come towards the direction that the other two were standing. Nathan alone went down Second Avenue. Bernstein still standing in the corner, then Lewis came from the doorway out of the flat, and I called officers McCarty and McShane, who had been coming down the Avenue to my assistance and I arrested the three of them on suspicion.

Where did you arrest them? On the corner, one was midway down the block and the other two were in the corner of Seventh Street and Second Avenue. What did you say to them? I told them I was an officer and had been watching their movements for the past 15 or 20 minutes. That was said in the presence and hearing of all of them. Were you in officer's clothes? I was not. Did any of them speak when you said that? They said that they had not been doing anything - they all said that, but not at one time. Nathan said first, "we ain't been doing anything." He is the first one I remember saying it, and they all denied having any knowledge of anything. When I spoke to Nathan about being in company with those other two I asked him what they were trying to do, if they were trying to enter that flat? Nathan said "no", I do not know those people, they are strangers to me. Were the others present at the time? All were in one group at the time. What other talk was there? I spoke to Bernstein. I asked him if he knew the other two? He said, No, he claimed he was not in ~~their~~ company with any one although I seen him with Lewis. The others also said the same. They did not know one another. I searched them then and there, and afterwards brought them to the station house - each officer searched one of them. Did you see what was found on each? Yes. I was present. I went into a store and searched them. These are the articles found on Lewis (showing skeleton keys, a jimmy, and this badge) and also two ordinary keys, which were attached to a chain.

What did you find on Bernstein? This small bunch of ordinary keys and a pen knife. What did you find on Nathan? Nothing but this one small latch key.

When you found that iron instrument the two skeleton keys and the chain of keys on Lewis did he say anything?

I asked him why he was carrying them and he said he had found them in the street. Did he say anything else? That is all he said. Then you took him to the station house? I did. Did he say anything on the way to the station house? Nothing - no conversation passed. Did you have any conversation with him regarding this matter after his arrest with Lewis alone? I had a conversation about the other two people. I had a conversation with Lewis in the station house on the same day. Were the other defendants with him when you had a conversation with them, was it in their presence and hearing? No, sir. What did Lewis say on that occasion and what did you say to him? I asked him if he did not know the other two people and what his intention was going into that flat with this instrument in his possession? and he claimed that he knew nothing about the other two, and that he did not intend to steal - that he only picked those up. He could not seem to give any reasonable explanation. I was trying to get some confession from him. He said he did not know them, he merely picked those things up in the street. What is this iron instrument? It is an iron chisel, but it is used as a "jimmy." It could be used as a "jimmy" for prying open doors and prying off locks. What sort of keys do you call these two long keys? Those are called skeleton keys. Do you know what they are used for? Picking locks and opening locks. Do you know what they are used for? Picking locks and opening locks. These two keys (are they ordinary keys) (showing other keys) they are ordinary latch keys. Did you have any conversation with either of the other ^{two} defendants Nathan or Bernstein? Only in reference to their knowing one another, and that I have already stated. Have you given us everything you found on Lewis? I have. Who was present at the time they were searched besides yourself? Officers McCarty and Meehan, the officer in charge at the desk and Officer Myers. Who was present in the store when you searched them first? Officers Meehan and McCarty. Are they here today? No sir, the Captain sent them away on another case this morning and they could not come.

Anthony Thaler, sworn and examined.
I live at 143 East Fourth street. On the 27th of July did you see these defendants?

I saw one man, the middle man, I mean Bernstein on the 20th of July but I did not see him on the 27th to my knowledge. I was called to the station house after Bernstein was arrested to identify him. The Captain asked me if I knew any of the three men and I told him that that man (Bernstein) looked very much like a man that I had seen carry a bundle on the 20th of July. Bernstein got up and said he never carried a bundle in his life, and the Captain ordered him down stairs. I was not bed on the 20th. I did not see any of the three prisoners on the 27th and I went sworn positively that Bernstein is the man I saw on the 20th, but he looks very much like him.

Caroline Merkler sworn and examined.
You live at 43 East Fourth street? Yes sir.
Did you see these defendants on the 27th day of July last? No sir, the 20th day of July.
Which one did you see then? The end gentleman (Mr. Nathan). Where did you see him? I heard a sound in the hallway in what hallway, of your house? Yes sir, 143 East Fourth street. Was he alone? No. There was another gentleman with him. Do you know the other one? I do not know him. Did you go to the station house?

Yes. I went there. Then was that? A few days ~~before~~ ^{after} I saw him in the hallway. I saw these three defendants at the station house. Was anything said in their presence and hearing so they could hear it? No sir. I was asked whether I knew any of the three men. I told them I knew that gentleman (Nathan) I saw him in the hallway.

Nathan was there where you said that? Yes. And he and the others could hear you say it? Yes. Was anything else said? No.

Counsel for the defence moved that the Court direct the jury to acquit two of the defendants on the ground that the evidence did not bring them within the charge laid in the indictment.

The Court granted the motion. Counsel said that Lewis would plead guilty to the charge laid in the indictment that of having burglar's tools in his possession.

The plea was accepted by the Court and the defendant was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year.
