acting for said company entrusted to said William Holmes a quantity of ice cream of the value altogether of thirty three dollars and fifty cents for the purpose of delivering the same to sundry persons who had ordered it, in lots, from said company and collecting money in payment for such lots from such persons and paying over the money so collected to deponent. A memorandum of the sums to be collected in payment for said ice cream was given to said William Holmes by Louis H. Perrechean an employee of said

Hon. Frederick Smyth
Recorder.

Dear Sir,

I mentioned the case of Edwin O. Stope to you last week when I was at your office and asked your clemency on his behalf; you were kind enough to promise it, and requested me to notify you on the day of his trial -

I see that his case is set down before you to-day - charge Grand Larceny - I really think, Sir, that it is a case deserving pity and sympathy - he is almost a stranger to me - the facts are briefly these: he came from England 2 years ago and the major part of that time was in the employ of the man who now brings this charge - Craig - who took him to pool rooms, race courses, &c. and never tried to curb any passion for gaming that the young man had, but, on the contrary, seemed to encourage him in it. His employer saw him loose $70, I believe, in one day at a race-course and yet never questioned him as to how he procured such a sum of money, on a salary of ^{$7.50} to $10 per week. Indeed, Craig has gone so far as to make bets with the lad.

Now, Judge, any clemency, or mitigating circumstances you may be able to show him, or find in his behalf, I feel confident you will and so leave him in your hands. The few points given above may enable you, in your ~~off~~ judicial capacity, to ask Craig a few pertinent questions.

Apologizing for troubling you, but assuring you that I shall appreciate fully whatever you may do

Believe me, Sir,

Yours Obedtly

A. Westbrook

I forgot to state above, that a friend who had accepted presents from Stope was the means of drawing him back from Canada into the Detectives hands - (Percival - is the name of this friend, should he be called against him.)

0003

City and County of New York s.s.

Given J.B. Cragg being duly sworn deposes and says: that on the tenth day of August 1882, one Edwin C. Hope employed by deponent in the capacity of book-keeper and cashier, stole from the cash drawer of deponent the sum of one hundred and seven dollars in money, and afterwards upon the same day said Hope stole a check drawn by deponent to the order of one William Ellen Dahl or order upon the Ninth National Bank for the sum of sixty dollars, and presented said check at said Bank where he collected upon the same the sum of sixty dollars in money: after which said Hope disappeared and has not been heard of by deponent since said time.

Deponent further says that said Hope at various times has stolen from this deponent various ^{other} sums of money making in all about the sum of five hundred dollars, and upon the seventh day of August 1882 admitted to deponent that he had stolen the sum of one hundred
