Indictment filed April 20th, 1888.

A P P E A R A N C E S .

For the People, Ass't. District Attorney, Redford.

For the defendant, J. R. Heintzelman, Esq.

LENA SPITZEL, a witness for the people, testified:

I live at No. 83 East Broadway in this city. Between the hour of 6 and 7 o'clock in the evening of the 7th of April I was standing in front of the store No. 31 Division street. While I was standing there looking at the show window with another lady this defendant came along put his hand into my pocket and pulled my pocket book out; there was $5.29 of my money in that pocket book. After he did this I saw him walk away and then when some one made a noise I saw him throw it away. I afterwards identified the pocket book which he threw away as my property.

CROSS EXAMINATION:

The lady who was with me picked the pocket book up as soon as he threw it away. There was quite a number of people around me while I was looking in the show window at No. 31 Division Street. As soon as I saw this man be -

I ran after the prisoner and he was caught about a block away. I didn't take notice as to whether anybody else was running at the time or not.

JAMES J. TURNER, a witness for the people testified:

I am a police officer attached to the 11th precinct. I was on duty in Division street between 6 and 7 o'clock on the evening of the 7th of April. I arrested this defendant about 6:40 o'clock on that evening while he was running through Division street; there was a crowd after him shouting "stop thief". Some one in the crowd told me that he had snatched a pocket book from a lady in Division street. Then this lady came along and she said "Where is my pocket book". I asked her if she was positive that this was the man that took it and she said "Yes, I could swear to it".

Q Did he say anything? A I asked him if he had taken the pocket book but he refused to speak. I said "You better tell me what you done with it" and he refused to say anything. The pocket book was found in the street and identified by the complainant.
