In the above matter referred to me for examination, I beg to report as follows :

The defendant was indicted on the 21st day of August, 1890, of murder in the first degree in the killing of one John J. Ryan, whose death resulted on the 22nd day of July from injuries inflicted on him by the defendant on the afternoon of the 20th day of July, 1890, on 17th Street east of Avenue A, in this city, under the following circumstances :

The defendant was a hack-driver employed in Vetter's stables situated on 17th Street east of Avenue A. On the afternoon in question, two little boys were playing ball in said street in front of said stable where the defendant then was. The ball belonged to a friend of the deceased. One of the boys playing ball, threw the ball so that it rolled into the stable; the defendant took possession of it and threw it into the dung hole. Shay, a friend of the deceased, a lad of the age of sixteen, whose property the ball was, and who had loaned it to the boys who were playing with it, on learning that the defendant had taken possession of the ball, left his position on the corner of 17th Street and Avenue A, where he had been in conversation with the deceased and other friends, and went to the stable and demanded the ball, and remonstrated with the defendant upon his refusal to deliver it, whereupon the defendant struck him with his hand upon the face and kicked him in the lower portion of his body so that he fell over upon the shafts of a carriage that was standing in the street. Shay then ran down the street towards his friends, the defendant following striking him with his whip. The deceased, Ryan, who witnessed these occurrences, walked down the south side of the street and remonstrated with the defendant for his treatment of Shay, saying "You oughtn't to beat a boy that way", whereupon the defendant struck the deceased on the head with the butt end of the whip. The deceased staggered and was taken to his home and died on the 22nd day of July 1890, from hemorrhage of the brain. The deceased was about 17 years of age.

Whether the circumstances of the case would bring it within sub-division 3 of Section 183, defining murder in the first degree, my examination of the cases has not yet enabled me to finally determine, although it would seem that there would be good grounds for contending that the blow which resulted in death was inflicted while the defendant was attempting to commit a felony. There would seem to be no escape, however, from the conclusion that the defendant is guilty of manslaughter in the first degree.

I have not yet learned the nature of the defense, if any, to be interposed by the defendant.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

My dear Sirs,

If you can I wish you would see the District Attorney about the case of Stephen Mason who killed a boy named Johnny Ryan about ten days ago - Ryan is a nephew of one of my servants and his family is respectable but very poor.
Mason ought not to be let off or helped by any
"pull"; the act seems to have been a most brutal and unprovoked one.

0293

Inquest into the death of JOHN J. RYAN. Before Coroner Schultze and a Jury.

New York, July 30th, 1890.

OFFICER CHARLES J. WADE, testified that on July 22nd a physician came to his house and told him that a young man had died from the effects of a blow on 17th street; he went there to investigate and found that a man by the name of Stephen Mason had struck this boy with the butt end of a whip and on such information arrested Mason, the prisoner, and the prisoner admitted that he had struck some boy but did not know which one.

JOHN J. SHAY, of No. 536 East 16th Street, duly sworn, testified: I was playing ball around there on that day and the ball had fallen in the dung box and they said that Mason took the ball and he said he put it down the dung hole. The prisoner came out after me and hit me and slapped me in the face; he hit me with a whip three or four times and ran after me and this other boy and Mrs. Ryan said you ought to be ashamed of yourself to hit a little boy like that, and he hit Ryan too.

HENRY SHERMAN, of No. 429 East 14th Street, duly sworn:

Two little boys called me down and I saw this boy getting whipped and when I went down there Mason followed them and went to hit them with a whip and I went around the corner and I seen Mason hit John Ryan with the whip and he went to hit Demy Gordon and all the boys there; they run away and he hit them.

CHARLES SCHROEDER, No. 246 Avenue A, duly sworn, testified:

I was standing on the side of the street there and I seen Mason strike this boy Ryan and the other boys, and they run towards first Avenue; he struck him twice up in First Avenue and Ryan spoke to him; I couldn't hear what he said; he struck Ryan over the head but he didn't fall and Gordon grabbed him around the waist and a couple of other boys were also there.

JOHN FINLEY, No. 405 East 17th Street, duly sworn, testified:

I was standing on the corner of 17th Street and I heard the lash of a whip and I saw Mason slashing Shay with his whip; Ryan went over to him and spoke to him and he said to Ryan, "Do you want some too?" and gave him the butt of the whip across the head; Ryan staggered but didn't fall;

DENNIS GORDON of No. 528 East 16th Street, duly sworn, testified as follows: I was standing at the corner of 17th Street in front of Phalen's Liquor Store and all of a sudden I heard the lash of a whip and I looked down 17th Street and I saw Mason strike Shay four or five times, and Shay run down First Avenue and Mason ran after him and struck him twice with the whip; Ryan and I walked over and Ryan says, "You ought to be ashamed of yourself to hit a little boy like that," and then Mason said, "Do you want some too?" and he curled the whip around his hand and hit Ryan, and Ryan staggered; I was afraid he would hit me too; all I could do was to grab him around the waist and I grabbed him and took the whip off him and Officer Reed came over and separated the crowd and Mason went into the stable. That was the last I saw of it.

THE CORONER: Gentlemen of the Jury, it seems that the boys here were playing ball on the 20th of July, in 17th Street, near Avenue A and they wanted to get the ball out of the dung-hole when one of them received a blow from a whip. You heard the testimony that Mason struck Ryan with the whip. The boy was a healthy boy and the medical testimony states that the deceased came to his death from compression of the brain and internal hemorrhage from receiving this blow.

VERDICT: We, the Jury, find that the deceased, JOHN J. RYAN came to his death, on ^{some injuries received} July 20th, 1890 at the corner of 17th Street and First Avenue by being struck with the butt end of the whip. ^{at the hands of the deceased} ~~And we hold~~ the prisoner to await the action of the Grand Jury.
Stephen Mason.

Johnson knew to be the property of deponent and when defendant asked said Robert J. Johnson for three boxes of lemons said Robert J.
