Judge Gildersleeve,

Dear Sir,

You are a stranger to me but, my future and that of my three little ones depend wholly on your decision in the case of my husband Chas. B.
Goodrich. He was arrested the first-day of June on the charge of forgery of which he is guilty. But Oh! Judge Gildersleeve God only know how repentant he is for the wrong he has done. Done at a time when he knew not which way to turn. Men pressing him for money and he could not collect that which was due him. He forged the note expecting to collect the money, before it ^{the note} was due. Men had promised on their sacred honor to pay him but when the time came he could collect nothing. He did ^{not} get any benefit of the money neither did we, his family. It was borrow of Peter to pay Paul. He did not do it to be dishonest or to rob any one. And he went to Mr. Raynor like a man and told him all about it - instead of running away, as some would have done. He went to settle with Mr. Raynor when he had him arrested. It is his first offense Judge, and never before has he been arrested or done any thing wrong. He is a man of strictly temperate habits. Such a good, kind loving husband he has been to me, if he was not a good man and an honest man I would not and could not ask you to suspend the sentence, but I know what he is and what he has been ever since I have known him which is ten years. His children love him dearly and ask constantly for him, they know not where he is and I cannot break their hearts by telling them. We have never lived extravagant since we were married which is seven years this October. We have always economized in every possible way and have always lived happy until now. But the trouble was he was too lenient with men and they took advantage of his weakness. He stood very high with his fellowmen and was a master of a masonic lodge of this city. He was twice elected a member of the Produce Exchange, and I have been told that they will yet give him a chance to make his way in the world if he can get released from this. He has suffered both body and mind both since he has been in that terrible cell and God only knows how he has been punished. I have suffered and worked for him and will do so until death shall part us, only to meet where no earthly hand can part us and to part no more forever. Just give him one more chance Judge Bildersee, he has taken his oath he will never do wrong again. I have prayed to God to help me in my trouble and I know he has, for He has answered my earnest prayers more than once and I cannot give up my faith and trust in Him who will never forsake us. He has had mercy and has forgiven my husband of his sin and I pray unto our Father in Heaven that you will have mercy, as you expect to receive it, from a Higher.

Judge than any earthly power, when that-day shall come. We have nothing in this world, but a small Plot in Arlington Cemetery in which to lay our bodies to rest.
I have been living on the charity of friends since my husband's arrest and God only knows what will become of us if he is torn from us.
If he goes away, he will go a good and honest man in the sight of God, if guilty. People know he has done wrong, but they know what he is yet and what what he can be. Hoping that you will consider and I pray you to have mercy on him and his wife and little ones God has had mercy. Won't you?

Hon. Henry A. Gildersleeve Honored Sir

I would respectfully ask your merciful consideration of the case of Charles Woodrich.

As Chaplain of the City Prison, I meet many men in whom I take deep interest. But it is seldom that I make any appeal to you.

In the present case, however, while the prisoner makes no attempt at self defence, all the circumstances of the case seem to make their appeal for mercy. His previous exceptionally good character, his circumstances of embarrassment from his inability to collect his own just claims, his evident intention not to defraud, but simply to gain a little time, till he could raise necessary funds, his domestic affliction in the sickness of his children successively, with diphtheria (so that for three weeks he did not take off his clothes) causing him still further embarrassment, and his going at once to his creditor to confess his fault, and make arrangement for a full reparation, all these, and some other circumstances, show that he had no thought of entering on a course of crime.

His punishment, for a man of his position and character, has already been overwhelming.

He most clearly recognizes, and ^{repents} his own folly, and most keenly feels his disgrace. And his heart is wrung with grief for his family, for whom he was first tempted to commit what he regarded as a temporary wrong.

I trust that, under all these circumstances, your Honor may judge that justice has been sufficiently served in his case by his present punishment, that it need not be pressed to his utter ruin, but that mercy may be properly exercised in the suspension of his sentence.

Praying that you may be guided aright in your most difficult, and responsible,

Up to the time of said dissolution I had implicit confidence in the honesty and integrity of said Goodrich; I had heard his character discussed and never heard anything reflecting upon his integrity in any way. Prior to the time when he was employed by me I inquired of persons who knew him and all spoke of him in the highest terms.

During all my connection with him both as employer and partner, said Goodrich was extremely temperate in his habits, and so far as I then knew had no vices. He was attentive to his business, economical, persevering and industrious. He was conspicuously plain in his attire, and apparently lived in the most frugal manner. I know that he met with many business losses, principally owing to his inability to collect money due him and the firm for goods sold and delivered.

The said Goodrich has told me and others in my hearing that the cause of his downfall was pecuniary distress occasioned by legitimate business losses. Of my own knowledge I know of two instances in which losses occurred. On December 27, 1884, I recovered a judgment for the said Goodrich against one Hannah Himmel, who at that time kept a store at No. 350 Van Brunt Street, Brooklyn. This judgment was based on a claim for goods sold and delivered said Himmel and amounted to the sum of $1,309.51. An execution was subsequently returned wholly unsatisfied and an examination disclosed the fact that said Hannah Himmel possessed no property whatever subject to creditors.

The roll of this judgment is filed in the office of the Clerk of the City and County of New York and was so filed on the 27th day of December, 1884. No part of this judgment has ever been paid to my knowledge. I believe it to be still wholly unsatisfied.

Again on the 17th day of September, 1885, I was retained by said Goodrich to bring an action against one A. P. Bruen and James Bennett on a certain promissory note amounting with interest to about the sum of $425. Owing to the insolvency of the defendants in said suit, said Goodrich accepted about $225 by way of settlement and out of said sum paid my fees some $50.

During all the time I have known said Goodrich, his whole appearance was that of a hard working, industrious and economical man, and this was the reputation he bore a-

The People
vs.
James Gray.

Court of General Sessions, Part I.
Before Judge Gildersleeve.

July 15, 1886.

Indictment for assault in the first degree.

Thomas Hunter sworn. I live 114 Rosevel Street I never saw the defendant before the night of the 9th of May when I saw him at James Smith's oyster stand corner of Water and Rosevel's Streets in this city about ten minutes to one on Sunday morning, I was standing with James Smith who owns the stand, the defendant did not speak to me at that time but he did after I went half a block down the street, he had another growl down there, we had a former growl at the oyster stand; he came and asked the boy how much was the clams and the boy told him a cent a piece, I was standing by the oyster stand at the time, the defendant said, the clams were terribly small for a cent a piece I said, what is the good of your growling, it is Sunday morning, let the boy make a living; there was a friend with him and he wanted Gray to go away but he would not, he kept growling at him; so finally him and his friend went down in the next block and five or six minutes after I went down to get a cup of coffee to go to bed and Gray picked another quarrel with me, he asked me if I wanted to fight and I told him no; he did not say anything then but pulled down a knife out of his sleeve and jabbed me in the abdomen three times, I could not tell what kind of a knife it looked like; after he stabbed me he ran away, I halloped to the witness McCabe on the corner, I am stabbed and McCabe ran after him, I do not believe he was arrested then, I was taken to the Station House and did not see the defendant again until I was able to come out of the hospital which was six or seven weeks after. I identified him before that in the 5th ward Station House I should judge about twenty minutes after, I was taken to the Chamber Street hospital and discharged last Monday, I am not entirely recovered, I have got to go every day to get it dressed, I am not able to work.

Cross Examined. I am a seafaring man, I was in the pilot boat Hopewell March; there was no one at all with me at this time, I saw Dennis McCabe around there and James Smith, the owner of the stand.

James Smith sworn. I live 114 Roosevelt Street, I remember the 9th of May last, the night of the stabbing, I keep an oyster stand at the corner of Roosevelt and Water Streets, he was standing at the oyster stand at the time, I remember the defendant coming there between one and two o'clock in the morning, he called for some clams and when he had pretty near enough to eat he asked him the price of them and he told him a cent a piece. When he got through he says, if you want to get paid for these clams you have to fight. I told him it was not necessary to raise a row at this hour of the morning, finally after I spoke to him he paid me and he and Hunter had a kind of quarrel at the stand and Gray started away, I think it was five minutes after when Hunter left, after Hunter was stabbed I hear of it, Dennis McCabe chased Gray and he came back with Gray's hat, I asked him what was the matter I did not do anything at all, after Gray paid me I waited on the other customers, I did not go to the Station House and did not see Hunter or Gray that night.

0744

Dennis McCabe sworn. I live in Front Street and remember the night of this stabbing, I saw Hunter and Gray at the oyster stand, they seemed to have a few words together, Gray commenced to growl about the price of the clams he had eaten and Hunter said there was no use growling, he might as well pay the boy as he had got to pay for them, Gray went away after that and I think Hunter went away a minute or two after, I saw Gray and his friend going down Roosevelt Street towards the river and Hunter had a friend with him and they started afterwards; the next I saw I believe there was four that came together and I ran down and saw Hunter staggering and asked him what was the matter. He said, "Denny, he stabbed me", so I ran after Gray and he was on the inside of the walk. Officer Brennan caught Gray at the foot of Market Street, he was running at the time.

Cross Examined. I am a friend of the complainant, I did not see Mr Hunter raise any club, I saw a stick taken from behind the oyster s and ~~and~~ put back there again, I do not know of any threats being made to the defendant. The person that threatened the defendant was the man that was not stabbed at all, the defendant was not pursued by anybody from the stand. James Smith wanted to fight with him and this boy to protect himself got hold of this little stick behind the counter and I got hold of him and drew him behind the oyster stand; that was before he paid for the clams. After he paid for them was he let go about his business? Yes.

0745

Dennis J. Brennan sworn. I am attached to the 7th precinct police and arrested the defendant Gray on the morning of the 9th of May between Market and Pike Street on South Street, I was on post on Water Street and heard the cries of murder and I ran back up Water Street to Market down Market Slip to South Street and up South Street, I put in single raps and when I got near Gray he threw up his hands and stopped running, he was running all the time fast and I ran about half a block at the top of my speed. When I arrested him that young man McCabe told me that he stabbed a man down Roosevelt Street, I brought him down to Catherine not thinking the injuries would be as bad as they were, thinking the man would be able to walk to our station. McCabe came back with word that Hunter was very bad in the Station House, in the 4th precinct, I brought him down there and Hunter identified him as the man who stabbed him and they locked him up, I asked Gray if he stabbed the man, he said no, I asked him where was the knife he done the stabbing with; he pulled it out of his left side pocket and he handed it to me, I cut a piece out of the handle of the knife for identification. I had a talk with him in regard to the stabbing at another time in the Tombs; he said that six or seven fellows got at him and he had to do it in self defense. I looked at Gray that night and he did not have any marks of violence on him; he did not complain of any injuries that he had received that night; he was able to walk to the Station House.

Thomas Hunter, May 9, 1886 .

Stab wound of abdomen just above left iliac fossa midway between median line or anterior spine of the ilium, one and a half inches long. From this wound protruded about ten inches of small intestine. The intestine is wounded in two places, one wound is about one and a half long, the other a cut two inches distant is smaller. Considerable hemorrhage, small cut sewn with three sutures; large cut sewn with twelve sutures, black silk. During operation respiration stopped and we used artificial respiration for a time. When patient came in he was in a state of collapse and very nearly died. After operation was on the verge of death two days with peritonitis. Is not entirely well yet.

C. M. Harrison, M. D. , House Surgeon, Chamber Street Hospital .

The Case for the Defence.

James Gray sworn and examined. I am a laborer twenty-three years old , am married and have two children, I live Barrell Hill, Long Island, I never was accused of a crime similar to this, I was accused one time of tearing down an awning when a boy. On this night in question my friend and myself came along through Water Street and we came to where the complainant and another young man was. One of my friends who belongs on the other side of Brooklyn was eating oysters at the time, I never saw Hunter before and never had any quarrel with him and did not know the man who keeps the oyster stand. My friend asked me to have some oysters and I told him I did not like them and then we went away, he told this young man Smith that he had enough; we went into a liquor store on the corner and then I had a drink, we came out again and I stopped and had some clams. I ate to the number of twenty-six and in the meantime there was a few words said there about the clams. I says, they are terrible small clams for a cent a piece; he says, yes and we got arguing, I was talking to Smith. Hunter said that I was too damned fresh, then I paid the man for the oysters and walked away down; there was a club uprised there to strike me and I thought the best way to settle it was to pay and go on about my business which I did. Going away again Hunter made another expression that I was too damned fresh. When I got on the other side of the sidewalk he muttered something else which I did not hear; then my fr end when we walked down the street a little ways turns around and says, these parties is following us, let us step up a little quicker; we stepped up quicker and as soon as we did these parties ran and they caught me about three-quarter way down the block.

I was struck several times under the chin and around the head and another time when I was knocked on the ground I was struck with the club across the back; so I whipped out my pocket knife and used it in self defence as I thought I was justified in doing. There was about six or seven people around at the time.

Cross Examined. I came over to New York that night to see a friend of mine, a policeman in the Mercer Street Station House, I did not see him, I did not go to the Station to see him, I went past in Bond Street, I asked another officer and he told me that he was on post, my friend's name is Richard Coogan, he had gone off post,

I did not go to the Station House after him because it was after twelve o'clock. I had not been home at Long Island that night, I left at half past six in the morning to go to work in the Kings County Oil Works at Newtown Creek. I got through work at half past five and went to the saloon corner of Norman and Kingsland Avenues, Greenpoint, I remained in that saloon about an hour, there was two or three friends that worked in the factory with me, I cannot remember their names very well, I had a few drinks of lager and left the saloon about half past six, I went down to Meeker Avenue then in Brooklyn alone, I went around to get shaved, I went down to buy a pack of cigarettes and a friend of mine Thomas Manly, that was bout a quarter to seven, we went in and had one drink, then we played a game of pool and went down to a theater in Grand Street, I should judge we went out at eleven o'clock, I do not remember the play, I was not exactly sober because I had a few drinks; then I went over to Great Jones Street and had one glass of beer with Manly on the way; after I failed to find Richard Cogan I went down the Bowery to buy a pair of pants, that was about half past twelve I guess down what you call the bay, I never was there in my life before, I was told in Brooklyn by friends that the place was open all hours. I did not buy the pants because the place was not open. We came down through Water Street going home intending to go over the Rosevelt Street ferry; we did not go into any place in Water Street. There was a friend of mine at this oyster stand named Johnnie, his last name I never knew, he works in a stone cutter's place Manly is here. I had $4 .85 in my hand, I pulled out two one dollar bills and small change and I paid the twenty-six cents and went away from there with Manly, I was three quarters of the way down the block before I saw Hunter again, he never opened his mouth but he struck me under the chin a blow that put me on my hand and knees, I was hit again and the skin was taken off my chin and I was struck across the back with this stick, it did not hurt me very much and did not leave any mark. I did not say anything to the officer until I was taken to the Station House, he asked me for the knife and I handed it to him, I was struck two or three blows after in the mouth in the crowd, there was six or seven of them there, I did not have any other mark from the blows I received. I do not know who had the stick. Hunter was coming up close to me and started to make a blow at me to hit me, he had his hand upraised to hit me and then I pulled out the knife, I ran away after stabbing him, I was not able to run very fast because I had a heavy overcoat on. I was not hit at the oyster stand at all.

Thomas Manly sworn. I know the defendant Gray and was with him on this night of which he has been speaking. We got to the oyster stand and then we went from there to the middle of the block, we went to walk towards the ferry and as soon as we got half a block towards the ferry about six got on top of him and as soon as they did I went over to the ferry and took the boat and went home. There was no fight at all at the oyster stand. Afterwards six or seven people got at him, they jumped on him.

2nd testimony in the case

Cross Examined. I met Gray that night on Meeker Avenue in Brooklyn, we went down to Grand Street, went in a saloon and had a couple of games of pool and then went down to the ferry and came to New York; before we went to New York we had a couple of drinks of beer; we went into a theater in Brooklyn and came out again, I do not know what they were playing, we paid fifteen cents, I think one act was over; when we got to New York we went up Grand Street to the Bowery and down to Great Jones Street. We went to buy a pair of pants in the Bay, I think his name is Cohen, he bought the pants, I think he paid $1.50 for them, he took them home and he must have lost them after he got arrested. When we got to the oyster saloon we met a young fellow named John Mullin, whom he calls Johnnie; he asked us to have a drink and we went in and had a drink. I was not with Gray when he bought the clams. After he came back from the clam place I met him on the corner and the five or six fellows got at him, I saw him get hit once with a fist in the face, I skipped over the ferry boat, I was not hit by any of them and none of them followed me.

By consent of the District Attorney the counsel read letters testifying to the good character of the defendant.

One letter was from Laurel Hill, G. H. Nichols & Co., Chemical Works stating that the defendant was sober, industrious and obliging; also a letter from Thomas McDonald a Justice of the Peace of Maspeth, that he had known the defendant twenty years and knew him to be an honest boy, and never knew him to violate the law; also a letter from A. J. Dillingham.

The Jury rendered a verdict of guilty of assault in the third degree.

PEOPLE ON MY COMPLAINT, VERSUS

George H. Green

As complainant in the above case, I beg to recommend the defendant to such leniency and clemency as the Court and District Attorney may see fit to show; but I expressly assert that my reasons for so doing are not controlled by any advantage to myself.

The circumstances, ^{+ Considerations} which move me to make this recommendation are as follows.

- 1st. The respectability of the family of the young man.
- 2^d. That throughout his service with me - about 1 1/2 years - his conduct was flawless until the act for which he is now subject to trial.
- 3^d The family promptly & without any condition whatever, made full restitution for the sum taken from the safe, over & above the portion recovered by Inspector Byrnes.
- 4th. The young man had previously enjoyed a good character & the confidence & esteem of all who knew him.

this being his first known offense of any kind.

5th I believe him to be thoroughly penitent, & that grief over his disgrace & crime has driven him into Consumption, & that his death ^{therefrom} is imminent.

For these considerations I am inclined to ask such clemency as it may be possible to grant.
