Dear Recorder.

I think I may even in the interests of Justice, ask you to consider the fact that John Cronin is under sentence for his first crime, that he is a hard working youth, who seems to have been carried away by drink -

I am led to address you these few lines from the representations of parishioners whom I greatly respect for truth and probity - and who would not ask me to sign my name in favor of a condemned one - if the case would not in charity and justice admit it

Very truly yours

Court of General Sessions of the Peace

OF THE CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK,

against

John Kelly

The Grand Jury of the City and County of New York, by this indictment, accuse

John Kelly

of a Misdemeanor, committed as follows:

HERETOFORE, to wit: On the fourteenth day of November in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and eighty nine, certain buildings, twelve in number, were in the course of construction and were being erected in the Twelfth Ward of the City of New York, in the County of New York aforesaid, to wit: upon the land and premises situated on the avenue and highway there, known as Eight Avenue, and also upon the streets and highways known as West 147th Street, and West 148th Street, the said buildings being contiguous, and the said avenue, two upon the said 147th Street and two upon the said 148th Street, in the said city. And the said

John Kelly late of the Ward, City and County aforesaid, being a plumber, then and there had the charge, control and supervision of the doing, putting in and execution of the drainage and plumbing of the said buildings, and such drainage and plumbing were then and there being done, put in and executed by the said John Kelly and by his authority and direction.

And before the day and year above mentioned, certain plans had been duly submitted to and placed on file in the Health Department of the said City of New York, as required by law, of and for the drainage and plumbing of the said buildings, setting forth, stating, requiring and providing amongst other things, in substance and to the effect that the joints in all iron pipes to be put in, laid and to constitute part of such drainage or plumbing should be caulked with oakum and molten lead, and made impermeable to gases, that all connections of lead with iron pipes, so to be put in laid and to constitute a part of such drainage or plumbing should be made by brass or copper ferrules and caulked in with lead, and no putty or cement joints were permitted; that all of such plumbing work should be done in a good and thoroughly workman-like manner; that all materials used in such drainage and plumbing work should be of good quality and free from defects; that defective pipe should be removed; and that

The house drains in the said building should have an even fall to the house trap, and that all waste and vent pipes should be enlarged to four inches in diameter from the roof upwards, which said plans were thereafter and before the said fourteenth day of November, in the year aforesaid, duly approved by the Board of Health of the said Health Department

And the said John Kelly so having the charge, control and supervision of the said drainage and plumbing work, and of the doing, putting in and executing of the same, and such drainage and plumbing work being so then and there done, put in and executed by him and by him

him authority and direction as aforesaid, well knowing the premises, and the requirements and provisions of the said plans so approved by the said Board of Health as aforesaid, afterwards, to wit: on the said day of fourteenth day of November, in the year aforesaid, at the Ward, City and County aforesaid, did unlawfully and wilfully neglect and omit to execute the said drainage and plumbing of the said building in accordance with the said plans, and to cause and procure such plumbing work to be executed in accordance therewith, and did then and there unlawfully and wilfully execute the said drainage and plumbing work, and cause and procure, and suffer and permit the same to be executed contrary to and in violation of the said plans and of the provisions and requirements of the same, in that he the said John Kelly did then and there unlawfully and wilfully neglect and omit to cause the said drains to be caulked with salmon and molten lead, and to make impermeable to gases, or to cause the said drains to be caulked with salmon and molten lead and made impermeable to gases, a large number of the joints in drains were imperfect, put in, laid, and then and there constituting a part of the said drainage and plumbing, and did then and there wilfully and unlawfully cause said drains to remain defective and to remain defective and imperfectly caulked and drains thereof to be and remain open: And did then and there wilfully and unlawfully neglect and omit to make, or to cause to be made, drains connections of lead with iron pipes so put in, laid and constituting a part of said drainage and plumbing. and there wilfully and unlawfully did use, and cause suffer and permit to be used, in the plumbing of said joints, putty and cement, and did then and there wilfully and unlawfully omit to cause the said house drains to have an even fall to the sewer, and the said lead put waste pipes to be so enlarged, and also in that he the said John Kelly*

then and there wilfully and unlawfully did neglect and omit to do all of such plumbing work, and to cause and procure the same to be done in a good and thoroughly workmanlike manner, and to use and cause and procure to be used in the executing and doing of such drainage and plumbing work materials of good quality, and free from defects; and did then and there wilfully and unlawfully do the said plumbing work, and cause and procure, suffer and permit the same to be done, in a poor, inferior and un-workmanlike manner, and did then and there wilfully and unlawfully use in the executing and doing of such drainage and plumbing work, and cause and procure, suffer and permit to be used therein, materials of poor and inferior quality, and defective materials; against the form of the Statute in such case made and provided, and against the peace of the People of the State of New York, and their dignity.

OFFICER JOHN J. CURRAN testified that he was attached to the Second Police Precinct. He arrested the defendant on the morning of November 26th. at about half past eleven, in Greenwich Street, near Battery Place. He searched the defendant and found $6. and two pawn tickets in his pockets. He found no pocket book. He knew the man that was asleep. He was not in Court. The man made no accusation against the defendant. He was completely drunk. When he arrested the defendant, the defendant said "I didn't do nothing" to the complainant, and that he was only going to wake the man up.

William W. Meeter, being duly sworn, says, that he resides at number 1833 Baitgate Avenue Street, in the City of New York, County of New York and State of New York, is 48 years of age, and an expert appointed by HON. JOSIAH K. BROWN, the New York State Dairy Commissioner; that, at the times hereinafter mentioned, one Jacob Kiehl was the keeper and proprietor, of a restaurant a place of public entertainment, and had his said restaurant in a room in number 18 Bond Street, in the City of New York, County of New York, within this State, and occupied and controlled such room and was in charge of such restaurant; that on the 6th day of December, 1887, deponent went to such Jacob Kiehl's said restaurant and ordered a regular dinner; and the said Jacob Kiehl, in response thereto in his said restaurant, then and there served to deponent as food for deponent and as a part of the said dinner so ordered by deponent, who was then a guest and customer of said Jacob Kiehl in his said restaurant, a substance in imitation and semblance of natural butter, produced from pure unadulterated milk or cream of the same, which had been made out of some animal fat or animal or vegetable oils not produced from unadulterated milk or cream from the same and by mixing, compounding with and adding to milk, cream or butter such animal fats or animal or vegetable oils not produced from milk or cream, so as to produce an article, substance and human food in imitation and semblance of natural butter and which had been made in violation of the provisions of Section 7 of Chapter 183 of the Laws of 1885, as amended by Chapter 577 of the Laws of 1886; that a more particular description of such manufactured substance, the ingredients thereof and the amount of the same are unknown to deponent and cannot be stated herein for that reason; that the same was so served by said Jacob Kiehl in the ordinary course of his said business; and said Jacob Kiehl asked, and deponent then and there paid him 25 cents for such dinner; that deponent then and there took from the substance so served to him by said Jacob Kiehl a sample thereof for analysis in the manner required by law; and thereafter, on December 6th, 1887, deponent delivered such sample so taken by him as stated, to one Edward G. Fenn who was and is known to deponent to have then been, and who since has been and is now, a chemist, practicing as such at number 122 Boring Street, in the City of New York County of New York, within this State, and deponent caused the said substance to be analyzed by such chemist; that the certificate of such analysis thereof, made by said chemist, is hereto annexed.

Deponent charges that the said Jacob Kiehl against the peace and dignity of the People of the State of New York, and the statutes in such case made and provided, wrongfully and unlawfully so served such manufactured substance and caused, procured and suffered the same to be so served to deponent, and was thereby guilty of a misdemeanor; and deponent, therefore, asks for a warrant against the said Jacob Kiehl for violation by him of Section 27 of Chapter 183 of the Laws of 1885, as added thereto by Chapter 583 of the Laws of 1887, and that he may be dealt with as the law directs.

Tried, January 4th., 1888.

APPEARANCES:

Assistant District Attorney Bedford, for the People:
Mr. Joseph F. Moss, for the Defence.

EMILIE BARBIES, the Complainant, testified that she lived at No. 219 Wooster Street, and that she was a married woman. She and her husband kept a restaurant, at that number. On the evening of the 12th of December,, 1887, they went to bed at about 10 o'clock. The door of the restaurant was locked. They had about $700 worth of jewelry and other property in their store and bedroom. The bedroom and store are on the first floor, just one step up from the street. At about 11.30 they were awakened by a noise. A man was in their bedroom, in the bed. She called her husband and her husband was asleep at the time. Her husband called out, "robbers" and then the man went out of the window and broke the glass. The window opened on to the hall. It was a thick French plate glass window. She didn't know the man that was in her room. There was no light and she only saw the man's back. She didn't know how the man entered her room, but believed that he got in through the rear window. All of the doors and windows of the room and store were closed. when they went to bed.

CROSS--EXAMINATION----None.

LOUIS MILLER testified that he lived at 203 Green street. He was a cashier at 137 Bleeck-or street. At about half past 11 on the night in question, he was in the vicinity of 219 Wooster street. He heard the rapping of a policeman's club, and through curiosity he ran that way, and as he turned the corner there he heard the breaking of glass. It was right opposite where he stood, and he saw the man come through the door--the broken door. He followed the man about two blocks and a half, and had a good look at his face. The defendant was the man that came out of the broken door. He had known him for about 10 years and he could not be mistaken as to him.

UNDER CROSS--EXAMINATION, he testified that he had known him for about 10 years. He had only associated with him in a business way at the restaurant. He, the witness, had never been convicted of burglary or grand larceny. He had been in the Elmira Reformatory. He had met the defendant in a restaurant where he, witness, was the cashier and the defendant a customer. He had no trouble with the defendant about a girl eight or nine years before. He had seen the defendant that night before in Bloeker street, and if he was not mistaken also in Houston street. He knew where he worked part of the last seven or eight years---in prison. He didn't know that the defendant had been out of prison for more than three years. He had never ate in the restaurant where the burglary was committed. About half past 11 o'clock every night he, witness, was in the habit of going to the restaurnat where he worked to eat his supper. It was about two blocks from where the burglary was committed. As he was following the defendant, he met several police officers and talked with them. The defendant meanwhile was walking ahead. He said to the police officers, "there is the gentleman that broke the pane of glass," and one of the police officers said, "you can come and get him and I will take him in." When the police officers took hold of the defendant, he, the witness, saw his face. The officer said, "is this the man?" and he witness, said, "yes." He didn't follow the defendant with the object of getting him arrested, but because they were going in the same direction. Then he said to the officer, "why don't you take that man around and let those people identify him. He meant the people in the restaurant. After the police officer refused to lock the defendant up, he, the defendant went to the restaurant and had his supper and went to bed. On the following night officer Sullivan came to his house and spoke with him. He went with the officer to the station house and saw the defendant there.

OFFICER JOHN S. SULLIVAN testified that he belonged to the Fifteenth Precinct, and was on duty on the 12th of December. He arrested the defendant at the corners of Varrick and Spring streets in company with a man named Waters. When he arrested Kirk, Kirk asked, "what am I arrested for," and he, the officer, said "for that burglary up in Wooster street," and the other man, Waters, said to him, "Frenchy, you stale pigeon son of a bitch, don't give anything away." On the way to the station house the defendant said, "Sullivan, you have got me dead wrong." And he, the witness, said, well, we will try to prove whether you are the proper parties or not." Then he, the witness, took Miller to the station house, and Miller said, "I saw him coming out of the door." The defendant made no answer, but in the Police Court when Miller made some charge against him, the defendant said to the Judge, "Your honor, that is an ex--convict," pointing to Miller. Miller said, "I was never arrested in my life for any felony, and I will make you prove it."

UNDER CROSS--EXAMINATION, the witness testified that he had learned that there were two men engaged in the burglary--one on the inside and one on the outside. He took three persons to the station house to identify the defendant, but none of them identified him, the defendant. We heard that several persons were standing outside at the time the glass was broken, and that was the reason that he took several persons to the station house to try to identify the defendant. He learned that Miller had spoken to Gilligan on post the night before and had charged the defendant with breaking the glass, and that when Miller had refused to identify the defendant, and had requested Gilligan to take the defendant around ~~around~~ to the restaurant that was broken open, and Gilligan had refused to arrest the defendant and had released him, and Miller had gone home. He, witness, then got Miller and took him to the station house to identify the defendant. Waters, who was arrested with the defendant, was discharged. He was arrested, because he, the witness, knew that he was a thief, and he arrested him on previous record. He took them both to the station house and he made a charge of being suspicious characters against both of them. In the Police Court on the following morning he withdrew the charge against Waters, and made a charge of burglary against the defendant.

FOR THE DEFENCE, WALTER KIRK, the defendant, testified that he knew the witness, Louis Miller. He had known him in the neighbourhood of nine or ten years. They were formerly friends and associated intimately together for three or four years, when he, the defendant, was accustomed to visit South Fifth avenue, Bleecker and Wooster streets. About seven years before he had trouble with him about a woman, and he had not spoken to Miller more than half a dozen times since that, except when he ordered meals in the restaurant where Miller worked, off and on. Miller was away from the restaurant at least a year and a half, and he was informed that he was in prison. He, the defendant, took no part in the burglary in question. On the night in question he was at the People's Theatre. The name of the play was "Humbug." He forgot the name of the actor that played the principal part. It was a variety piece, and a number of persons were in it. He left the theatre at about a quarter past 11, and walked up the Bowery to Bleecker street and then to the corner of Wooster and Bleecker, and went into McDonald's saloon to see a man named Brown that he used to work with. Brown was a painter, and he made inquiries for him, and they said he was not there. He picked up a paper and read a couple of articles in it, and so it was about 12 o'clock, and then he wanted to go to the ferry, and the cars didn't run, to his brother--in--law's place. He wanted to catch the last car on the Jersey side. He was hurrying down to take the Houston street car and go to Desbrossus street Ferry, and he was stopped about three blocks away from where the burglary was committed. He knew nothing about the burglary. Officer Gilligan was the officer who stopped him. He was hurrying down the street pretty fast, and the officer said "stop," and he said "what's the matter?" and the officer said to Miller, "Is this the man that broke the pane of glass," and Miller said, "I think that man broke the pane of glass," and the officer said, "are you sure?" and Miller said, "no," and the officer said, "You ought to be sure before you stop people in the street," and the officer said to him the defendant, "where have you been," and he, the defendant, said, "to the theatre," and the officer said "go along home," and he, the defendant took a car and went home. He was arrested on the following night at the corner of Varrick and Spring streets. It was ten or twelve blocks from where the burglary was committed. There were several officers. One of them grabbed him and put a revolver to his head, and another man was arrested with him--Waters. They returned to the station house. Four persons were brought to the station house, and in the presence of Officer Sullivan they failed to identify him. Miller was the only person who identified him. He had been convicted of an attempt to commit burglary and he was sentenced to State Prison for 5 years, eight years before. Since he had been out he had been working with his brother, in Nyack, painting. He had also been in the coal business with his brother--in--law, in Jersey City for the last three years. He was a married man. His wife lived in Trenton. He left his wife at 10 o'clock on Monday morning, stopped in Newark, and reached New York at about half past 5. He came on to get clothes from his sister--in--law that he left when he went on to join his wife.

UNDER CROSS--EXAMINATION, he testified that he didn't know Waters very well. He met him first about five minutes before they were arrested. He didn't make any reply to Waters, when he called him a stale pigeon, because when he turned to make a reply, an officer hit him on the head, and said, "come along." He was forty years of age. He had served about seven years in State prison. He had been convicted of crime three times. The first was an attempt at Grand Larceny, and he was sentenced to State prison for one year. He was out about four years, and was then charged with grand larceny, and was sentenced for three years. He served 28 months, and got out in the year 1875. He was out about five years when he was arrested again, and he was indicted for an attempt at burglary, and was sentenced to State prison for five years. He left State prison last about three years before, in 1885. He went alone to the theatre and saw no one that he knew. McDonald's saloon that he went to after the theatre, was at the corner of Wooster and Bleecker streets.

13

New York.

Jan'y 5th 1888

To the Hon^{ble} Judge Cowing

Dear Sir,

I was tried and convicted on Jan'y 4th before you on a charge of burglary of the 2nd degree. At my trial I claimed I was innocent, but as my case was brought up before I had any chance of proving my innocence, which I could have done had I had the least chance. At my trial I confessed to the Court that I had previous to my arrest, been in prison three times, and if I had been allowed the least chance, I could undoubtedly, with respectable witnesses, have proved to the Court that I was innocent of this crime.

It is now near three years since I came home from prison, and in that time I have never committed any crime, or ever been arrested. The first year I was home I worked for my brother who is chief of Police and Deputy Sheriff of Rockland County, and resides at Nyack, N.Y.

And the remaining 2 years I have worked most of the time out of the City.

When I last came out of prison I made a firm resolve never again to do anything against the law and I have lived up to that resolution to the present day.

Therefore as it is the duty of your Honor, to pass sentence on me for the charge of which I am convicted I therefore humbly beg of you in passing sentence you will weigh up these few lines I have addressed to you; you will take in consideration my poor wife and family, for as sure as there is a God in Heaven I again declare I am innocent of the charge against me.

So hoping your Honor will be as lenient to me as the law allows, I will always remain
