vs.
Erasmus Brown.

Court of General Sessions, Part I.
Before Judge Cowing.

July 7, 1885.

Indictment for grand larceny in the first degree.

Charles T. Cook sworn and examined. I am a jeweler and silversmith, dealer in jewelry; I am the vice-president of the corporation of Tiffany & Co., Union Square, New York. I saw the defendant Brown, he came in our store on the 10th of June, 1885, I was standing in the back part of the store talking with Mr Tiffany and the defendant came in and touched me on the shoulder and said, Mr Tiffany, I wish to speak with you when you are at liberty, but as he touched me I turned round and said, what is it and he stepped back a few steps and said to me, do you know Mr Peacock? I said no. He says, why don't you know Mr Peacock, the manager for Mr Stokes of the Hoffman House? I said no, I am not acquainted with him, still he may be known here and I not know him. He said, I want to buy rather an expensive piece of jewelry and Mr Peacock told me if I would come down here and see you you would do as well for me as anybody. I said, well what is it? He said, I want to buy a diamond and emerald bracelet and you, as a jeweler know the significance of an emerald. To that I did not reply but I said, step over to the case and I will show you what we have. When I got over I found from the young man in charge of that case that we did not have a bracelet such as he described. So I told him I could make him one and that if he would step back in the office with me I would show him the unset stones and show him what we could do. He said he would like to see them and that I must bear in mind that he was not a wealthy man, he could not spend a good deal of money, that he did not want to go over four hundred or four hundred and fifty dollars at the outside. I stepped in the office and gave him a seat upon the sofa and took out a package of emeralds and selected one paper that had two emeralds in it and showed it to him, and I told him I thought either of those might answer and that now I would show him a diamond. I took out a box containing unset diamonds and set it before me and took out a paper of diamonds and then he remarked, I suppose you can give me two diamonds that will weigh a carat into a carat and a quarter a piece. I told him I would have to see and with that I opened a paper and spread some diamonds on the table and commenced to try to match to pick out two alike to go along side this emerald; while doing so I saw his hand come from taking a paper out of the box; my head was bent so I sort of just got a glimpse of it. I immediately raised up my head and said, what do you mean and he replied in a similar manner. I told him that he had stolen that paper of diamonds, he had it in his hand, I raised my hand immediately and took it out, he had his elbow resting on the table and had a paper of diamonds in his hand and was evidently trying to put it in the sleeve. He immediately opened his hand and said, I do not see any harm in that, I only picked up a little piece of paper off your table. I told him no, you stole a paper of diamonds, you are not the man I want to show any stones to. I immediately closed the box and told him I wanted him to step in the next office. He said, I have not anything. I said I don't know, you may have got a paper or diamonds before I detected that one. He said, if you think so, you had better search me. I told him, no, I did not wish to search him, I had already rung the bell. We have a bell beside the table, a young man came back and I sent up for our floor manager immediately and asked him to go for an officer. The prisoner commenced to say I was making a great fuss about a little thing, he only picked up this paper, I could go to the Hoffman House and find out about him. I said, if you are all right, if you are a respectable man, who are you and where did you come from, make some explanation. He would not do that, he walked up and down the office and in the meantime the officer came and arrested him. He was searched at Police Headquarters but we did not find anything on him. I asked him his name, he would not tell me his name but shook his head and walked up and down the office, he did not tell me what his occupation was or where he lived, he gave no account of himself. He was leaning over on the table with his arm and he bent his hand like that and took a paper or diamonds out in that way. (Illustrating.) As if he was trying ~~his~~ his hand was bent and I saw the paper just through the hand in that way. (Showing.) These diamonds are folded I should say about two and a half or three-quarter inches long by two wide; there were ten diamonds in the paper and they would average about three hundred dollars each; they belonged to Tiffany & Co.

I

0393

Cross Examined. By the Defendant. I was sitting at the side of the table and the defendant was sitting at the end of it, the box was midway between us, the defendant had not to pass his arm and reach in front of me to reach the box, the box was immediately in front of me; it was a great chance that I saw the defendant because my head was bent down and I was intent on matching these stones, the stones were immediately under my eyes. I can fold a paper in a moment for the Court to see the appearance of the paper in which the diamonds were. (The witness did so.) The defendant had the paper crumpled in his hand in that way. (Showing.) when I took it out of his hand. I do not think the defendant had the paper in his hand more than two seconds. I put my hand over there and said, you have taken a paper of diamonds and took them out of his hand. He opened his hand right away and made no resistance. Diamonds were in that ~~was~~ paper. I got them all back, the paper was not opened. It was a tin box that the diamonds were in. I should think the box was at equal distance from us.

Ralph M. Hyde sworn. I am a jeweler with Tiffany & Co., Union Square and saw the defendant on the 19th of June about a quarter of two, Mr Cook sent word to me by a messenger to come back immediately, I was in the front part of the store, I ran back to the rear of the store and opened the door. Mr Cook said, here is a man whom I have caught in the act of stealing, he may have something yet concealed about his person, I wish you would get an officer and we will have him arrested and searched at Headquarters. So I ran out and found an officer on 14th Street and brought him to the store. In the meantime I had also sent another young man for an officer and the two officers met together in the room. Mr Cook began telling his story to the officer and wished the man arrested. He was taken to Headquarters in Mulberry Street; the prisoner protested against being arrested and wished to be searched there. We said no, he would be searched by the authorities. One officer immediately put handcuffs around his wrist and the other officer took his left hand in which he also had an umbrella, Mr Cook and myself following; we all started down through the store and down Union Square and University Place. When we were a few blocks below the store on University Place I noticed the man attempting with his left hand to put it behind him several times and thinking possibly he had something concealed in the way of diamonds we watched him very particularly, the officer also noticed it and the officer then put his hand in the prisoner's hip pocket and pulled out a revolver. We still continued walking down and when we reached the precinct in Mercer Street below Fourth, I think it is, the charge was made either by Mr Cook or myself. We took the umbrella from him, thinking there might be something in that. At that moment the man seemed to free himself from the officer on the left hand and dealt a blow at me which fortunately I escaped, I seized the umbrella and ran into the Station House; in the meantime the man had then struck at the officer and the officer was compelled to use his club, in the meantime I ran into the Station House and opened the umbrella in front of the Sergeant's desk but we found nothing concealed therein. The officer then made his report and we started to Headquarters, 300 Mulberry Street. We were taken into the presence of Superintendent Murray who asked a few questions in regard to the case and handed us over to the Detective Bureau. The man was then searched and we were given orders to appear at the Jefferson Market Police Court the next morning, which we did; that is all I know about the case.

Alonzo E. Bray sworn. I am clerk in the employ of the Gorham Manufacturing Company, I have seen the defendant Brown before, I saw him at Jefferson Market Court Saturday morning when I went down to identify him with Mr Cook and the other gentleman. The defendant came into the store where I am employed on Thursday afternoon and asked to look at some silverware, I showed him some and he selected a case valued at $100 and asked to have it sent to the Hoffman House, care of Mr Peacock whom he said was a friend of his and that he would pay the bill if he was not there. It was to be sent on Friday morning, the 19th about ten o'clock; he gave me the name of C. T. Wells. I sent the case to the Hoffman House, I was not in the Hoffman House, he was not known there and the goods were returned.

Philip Blass sworn. I am an officer of the 25th precinct and arrested the defendant in this case, ~~then~~ I have not anything more to state than Mr Hyde has already stated, I fully corroborate him. When we brought the defendant to Police Headquarters he refused to give his name and said to the Sergeant, you may put me down for John Brown, I searched him and found thirty cents, a revolver and a pocket-knife.

The Jury rendered a verdict of guilty.
