FOR THE DEFENDANT, MR. MAURICE MEYER.

MOSES GOLDSMITH, a witness for The People, sworn, testified: I am a bookkeeper and cashier, and live in the City of Brooklyn. On the night of the 2nd of June I was here in the City of New York. I am employed uptown. On that night I met the defendant on West 25th Street, in front of a house. It was about five minutes after 12 o'clock. She told me that I was a very nice fellow, and other things like that. She asked me to come into her room, and I told her I hadn't any time, but she coaxed me somehow or the other. She kept on coaxing me till I went into her room. I had three 5-dollar bills in my trousers pocket when I went into the room. I saw those bills about a minute and a half before I met this woman. The occasion of my seeing them was that I stopped to buy some fruit from an Italian who kept a stand on the corner. The house where I met this woman was about a hundred feet away from this stand. The room I went into was a small room on the ground floor. We were alone in the room. I did not undress. We got on the bed, and I got on her. She kept telling me that I couldn't get it in. At the same time I felt her hand poking at my trousers pocket. I endeavored to get up and go out, and I did get up and went outside. I had no more than got outside when I put my hand in my pocket and found that my money was gone. I did not want to go back into that house, but I went right around the corner to get an officer. I am quite certain I wasn't in that room over two minutes. I gave the woman fifty cents, which I had, in small change. I found the officer on 6th Avenue, between 25th and 26th Streets. He went with me around to 25th Street, and as I got down there I showed him the place where I went into. It was hardly necessary to go into the place, because I saw this woman in an adjoining saloon, standing against the bar, drinking. I told the officer that was the woman, and he went in and arrested her. She insisted on being searched right there.

C r o s s - E x a m i n a t i o n .

That is the way I was going to Brooklyn; through 25th Street, towards 7th Avenue. I had been at the Fifth Avenue Theatre, on that evening, and was on my way to 9th Avenue, to take the Elevated Railroad. The elevated railroad on 9th Avenue does run, to my knowledge, as late as 12 o'clock at night. The reason I was going to 23rd Street and 9th Avenue to take the Elevated Road was that I usually go that way to get to Brooklyn. I intended going to the South Ferry. I have often gone by the 9th Avenue Road late at night. I was not in any hurry that evening, and that is the reason I did not take the 6th Avenue Elevated Road. I did not go through 25th Street looking for any colored woman. I had never been in that street before, and did not know the character of the houses in it. I want the jury to understand that I was only in bed with this woman about a minute and a half. As soon as I felt her tugging at my money, I got up and went out of the room. I did not say anything to the woman about having taken my money before I went out. The clothes which I had on that evening are the same that I have on my person to-day. This woman coaxed me to go into her room with her. There was a small lamp lit in the room. I did not take off any portion of my clothing when I got into bed with this woman. I did not discover that my money was gone until I got out on the street.

JOHN H. DONOVAN, a witness for The People, sworn, testified: I am a police officer, attached to the 19th precinct in this City. On the early morning of June 3rd, the complainant, Goldsmith, came to me on 6th Avenue, between 25th and 26th Street. That was my post at that time. As near as I recollect, it was about a quarter-past 12 o'clock. I was going down to relieve the man on post. He spoke to me. In consequence of what he said, I walked with him to West 25th Street, and I arrested Eliza Moody in a saloon at No.123 West 25th Street. The complainant said that he went into the rear house and had sexual intercourse with this woman, and, while he was there, she robbed him. The woman said that she did not do it. She admitted being in the room with him, but that she did not rob him. The complainant then accused her of taking his money, and she denied it again.

C r o s s - E x a m i n a t i o n .

I did not go into the room where this occurrence took place. I took the complainant's word that this was the woman who was with him. I immediately took her and the complainant to the station-house. The complainant was perfectly sober at the time I met him. The woman was searched in my presence, but I found no money on her.

THE DEFENSE.

---

ELIZA MOODY, the Defendant, sworn, testified: I heard the evidence of the complainant. I never saw him before the time I was arrested. I never robbed him of any money. I never went into a room with him at 123 West 25th Street. I was in the saloon, drinking, when the officer and this man came and accused me of having taken this money from him. That was the first time I ever laid eyes on Goldsmith. I was convicted, about four years ago, of larceny, and sent to the penitentiary for six months. That is the only time in my career I have ever done anything wrong. I have been working in a laundry steadily for the past year.

C r o s s - E x a m i n a t i o n .

I never was convicted under any other name but the name of Eliza Moody. I do not remember being charged, in 1888, with grand larceny in the second degree and of pleading guilty to receiving stolen goods. That must have been some other Elizabeth Moody. It was not me. I lived in New York in 1888. If I had been convicted of such a crime, and served time for it, I would be very likely to remember it. I was sitting on the stoop, in front of the house, most of the evening of my arrest. I did not see the complainant there at all. I never told my counsel that the complainant was in the room with another woman. I told my lawyer just what I told on the stand here.

JAMES P. DAVENPORT, a witness for The People, sworn, testified: I am one of the Deputy Clerks of the Court of General Sessions. I have the record of the case of the People against Elizabeth Moody. The indictment was filed on the 8th of May, 1888. It appears from that indictment that the woman pleaded guilty to receiving stolen goods, and was sentenced to six months in the penitentiary by Judge Gildersleeve.

(The Jury returned a verdict convicting the defendant of the crime of Grand Larceny in the First Degree.

Abstract of testimony
at trial, New York, June 16th 1893.

Police Court 2 District.

Affidavit—Larceny.

City and County }
of New York, } ss:

Moses Goldsmith
of No. 93 Myrtle Avenue, Brooklyn Street, aged 21 years, occupation Book-keeper

being duly sworn, deposes and says, that on the 3 day of June 1893 at the City of New York, in the County of New York, was feloniously taken, stolen and carried away from the possession of deponent, in the night time, the following property, viz:

Good and lawful money of the United States of the amount of fifteen dollars - and a Penn. ticket representing a diamond ring, pawned or pledged at the a Pawn Office on Sixth Avenue - the property of deponent -

and that this deponent has a probable cause to suspect, and does suspect, that the said property was feloniously taken, stolen and carried away by

Elizabeth Moody (now here) from the following facts to wit: That about the hour of 12-15 o'clock A.M. of said date, deponent met the defendant, who was standing in front of premises No 123 West 25th Street. and in company with her accompanied her to a room in the rear of said premises. And that deponent and said defendant after entering said room, went to bed together for the purpose of sexual intercourse, and that while deponent was in said bed, he felt the defendant's hand, in the pocket of the pants then and there worn on his person, and in which pocket deponent had placed the aforesaid property. And in about five minutes

Sworn to before me, this

A TRUE BILL.

In this case, a conviction cannot be had without the officer Gaffney's testimony & his service to arrest after the few days has left the Police force cannot be paid, I doubt whether behind in the event, in view of the present good character of the defendant.
I suggest that defendant be discharged upon their
