Personally appeared before me Albert C. Clark who being sworn deposes and says that, for Seventeen years he has been connected in business as a clerk with Hansen & Co., that the firm has changed names several times and ^{about} the last six years has been known as ^{Hansen} & Co., that on or about July 10th 1882 the said Hansen had your partitioner arrested for applying to his use the same money, of about Eighty^{and} Fifty dollars respectively, that your partitioner has seen the said Hansen since his arrest, and made a full and truthful statement, giving the reasons for using the money and pledging himself to return it if allowed to go to work to earn a living for himself and family which consist of seven children and wife, that in the interview the said Hansen said that he felt very sorry for your partitioner's position and would only do what the law compelled him to do, as he believed your partitioner would have trouble enough without his adding to it, but that he could not mind him from this position, for if he did he was advised that he would himself be held liable, that several interviews have been held with the said Hansen to induce him to entertain a different view but to no purpose, that on March 19th 82 being over eight months since the arrest your partitioner called on the said Hansen again and then explained his position, which was that since his arrest he has been debarred from working and is now wholly without any means of support, that his wife is in delicate health that his oldest son ^(18 years) has been severely crippled by sickness so as to be unfit for work for a long time to come, that his second oldest son about 16 years has failed to get employment and the rest of the children five in number ranging from thirteen to three years of age are wholly dependent for support on their father that the landlord by reason of nonpayment of rent has commenced proceedings of ejectment, all of which was fully explained, but to no purpose, the said Thörn adhering to his original position, and declining to assist your petitioner in securing his release so that he could get work and support his family.
