Indictment filed June 7, 1893.

Indicted for burglary in the third degree.

New York, June 9, 1893.

A P P E A R A N C E S:

For the People, Asst. Dist. Atty. E. S. Weeks;

For the Defendant, J. Waldheimer, Esq.

JULIUS WOLLMAN, a witness for the People, sworn, testified:

I keep a liquor store at 505 Canal Street. On the night of the second of June I closed up my store at 12 o'clock sharp. The door is fastened with a key. The storm door on the side entrance was also locked by me. I was aroused about half past one o'clock in the morning by an officer. At the time I closed up my premises I had a stock of cigars and liquors in there of the value of about $1500. I only left a small amount of money in the drawer. When I reached my place I found that the lock on the storm door had been broken. The saloon door was open.

CORNELIUS J. FLEMING, a witness for the People, sworn, testified:

I am a police officer attached to the 8th. Precinct. On the early morning of the 3d. of June of this year the premises 505 Canal Street were on my post. About one o'clock I was passing the corner of Canal and West Street when I saw the three defendants walking along. They went up West Street to Spring and turned into Spring St. The next I saw them these two boys were in the store and the other man was in the custody of an officer. At the time I saw the two boys they were about five feet inside of the storm door standing up. Six officers had gathered at the time I was there and the defendants were placed under arrest. One of the officers said that he had seen them acting suspiciously; that he saw McQuinlan and Farrell dispute in the saloon and that he ran off and grabbed King and then whistled. I came up and at the time I reached there I saw the two boys in the store. One of the boys spoke up and said that they had sat down on the stoop of the storm-door for a sleep; that they had not broken into the place and had not attempted to steal anything. The premises are in the Eighth Ward. I examined the lock on the storm door. It showed that it had been sprung at the time I examined it..

DEFENSE.

EDWARD KING, one of the defendants, sworn, testified:

I live at 253 Hester Street. I was in company with these two other boys on the night of my arrest. I had only known them previous to that by sight. On that night I was out late and I could not go in. I was standing at my door when these boys came along and asked me what the trouble was. I told them I was locked out and they said the same thing -- that they were locked out. The police officers were going on duty for the night from 12 to 6 the next morning, so I asked these two boys to take a walk. I says: The policeman will chase us if we stay here. We went to the corner of Canal and Renwick Street and one of the boys said he knew a milkman that passed there every morning about two or three o'clock. There was a little affair going on up on the third floor of one of the houses so one of the boys sat on the water pump listening to the music and so on upstairs. Myself and the other boy thought we would go to sleep, so we went over and sat down on the stoop of the storm door. The door opened behind us as we leaned against it and we sat inside of the door and fell asleep. The policeman came along and took hold of us and accused us of having broken into this place. He blew his whistle and four or five other officers came running up to his assistance. None of us had any intention of breaking into the liquor store on that night. We simply sat down there to go to sleep and the door opened behind us.

EDWARD C. McQUINLAN, one of the defendants, sworn, testified ;

I live at 48 Clarkson Street with my mother. We were sitting on the door-step. I had my feet against the door. I found it was open. I said to Farrell: "This door is open and we can go inside". The two of us then got up and went inside and laid down for a sleep.

Shortly after we got inside the officer came and placed us under arrest. We did not break into this place. We merely sat down there to have a sleep. Five or six officers came to the assistance of the officer who placed us under arrest. King sat out on the water pump in front of the saloon listening to some music that was going on in a house on the opposite side of the street. He also told us that he wanted to wait there for a milkman who would come along about half past three o'clock in the morning. I have never been arrested or convicted of any crime.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty of burglary in the third degree.

Before,

HON. FREDERICK SMYTH,

and a Jury.

Tried JUNE 27TH, 1893.

Indicted for ATTEMPTED BURGLARY, in the THIRD DEGREE.

indictment filed JUNE 13TH, 1893.

APPEARANCES:

ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY THOMAS J. BRADLEY,

For THE PEOPLE.

MR. COSTELLO,

For THE DEFENCE.

GEORGE KAPLAN, THE COMPLAINANT, being duly sworn, testified that he lived at 32 East Broadway, and did business at the same address. He was a manufacturer of clothing. The clothing department was on the first floor, and he resided on the third floor. The building was three stories high. On the night of the 9th of June, 1893, he closed his place at 11 o'clock. Everything was in good condition when he closed up, and the door was securely fastened.. There were two large show windows on the ground floor, and between them was a glass door. The glass in the door was about 18 x 14. There was no shutter on the door. There was about twelve hundred dollars worth of property in the store on the night in question. There were fifty-two pairs of pants in the show window, valued at $110.00. He had a man named Isador Cohen employed as a night-watchman.

In cross-examination the complainant testified that he was awakened by a policeman at half past one in the morning. When he went down stairs he did not see the defendant; the defendant had been taken to the station house then.

ISADOR COHEN, being duly sworn, testified that he lived at 15 Wooster street. He was a night-watchman, on East Broadway, from Catherine to Rutgers street. No. 32 East Broadway was part of the premises which he was expected to watch. He usually went to work at 9 o'clock in the evening, and remained until day-light--sometimes six o'clock, and sometimes later. On the morning of the 10th of June, 1893, he saw the defendant and the co-defendant. No. 32 East Broadway was on the North side of the street. While he was walking through East Broadway he noticed the defendant and the co-defendant. He sat down on the stoop of No. 43 East Broadway, "in a shady place," to see what they were going to do. A gentleman who lived at No. 41 East Broadway came along and sat down next to him, the witness. The defendant walked along as far as No. 32 East Broadway. The defendant and the co-defendant looked in the windows, and then went into the hallway of No. 34 East Broadway, which was open . In about two minutes they came out of the hallway, and the defendant had a handkerchief in his hand, with something tied up in it. The defendant hit the show window with the handkerchief, twice. The defendant looked up at the house. The defendant and the co-defendant then went into the hallway of No. 34 again, and remained in there about five minutes. Then they came out of the hallway again, and the defendant went up to the window again and hit it with the handkerchief and whatever was in it. He sent somebody for a policeman, but the man couldn't find an officer. A third man then walked along on the side of the street on which the defendant and the co-defendant were and said something to them. The defendant and the co-defendant started to run towards Market street. He the witness, followed them, and he met a roundsman at the corner of Market street. He, the witness, had a conversation with the roundsman. At that time the defendant and the co-defendant were standing at a soda-water stand drinking soda-water. The roundsman went across the street and arrested the defendant and the co-defendant. He, the witness, told the roundsman, in the presence of the defendant, that the defendant had tried to break into the complainant's store. The defendant did not say anything. The prisoners were taken back to 32 East Broadway, and a young man came along and said he saw them dropping the handkerchief with the store in it, in front of the soda-water stand.

In cross-examination the witness testified that he had been a night-watchman four years. From where he sat he could see the handkerchief distinctly, and could see the color of it. He told the roundsman that the handkerchief was white, with red stripes. . The name of the man who sat on the stoop beside him was Korn. He, the witness, was watching the defendant about fifteen minutes. The defendant was searched by the roundsman at 32 East Broadway.

OFFICER ANDREW J. HENDRY, being duly sworn, testified that he was attached to the 7th precinct police. On the night of the 12th of June, 1893, he went on post at 12 o'clock. On that morning his post was from the corner of Rutgers and Division street, through Division street to Pike street, through Pike street to East Broadway, East Broadway to Rutgers, and Rutgers to Division. He left the roundsman on the corner of Pike and Division streets, and proceeded to the corner of Pike street and East Broadway. He then heard a whistle, and he ran to the corner of Market street and East Broadway, where he found the roundsman. He had a conversation with the roundsman. He was present when the watchman made the complaint against the defendant; the defendant said he had nothing at all to do with it. While he, the witness, had the two prisoners under arrest, the roundsman went up the street and returned with the handkerchief with the stone in it. The prisoners did not see the handkerchief and stone until they got to the station house. When the handkerchief and stone were shown to the defendant in the station house, the defendant said ~~he did not recognize them.~~

In cross-examination the witness testified that he did not know the name of the man who said he had seen the defendant drop the handkerchief and the stone. Cohen said in the station house that he saw the defendant go into the hall of No. 34.

FOR THE DEFENCE, THOMAS FARRELL, THE DEFENDANT, being duly sworn, testified, in his own behalf, that he lived at 41 Hamilton street, with his mother. He had lived there about two years. He had not worked for three months preceding his trial on account of a stab wound in the chest, and a touch of pleurisy. He had been in the New York Hospital. He had worked for a man of the name of Moran during the winter of 1892-3. Before that he had worked for a man named Connolly, driving a cart, and he had worked for a Mrs. Burns, 548 Manhattan avenue, Greenpoint, for fourteen months. He was twenty-eight years of age. For the past five years he had been working. He did not know the co-defendant, the complainant, or the officer. He had never seen the co-defendant before his arrest. . He was not near the premises 32 East Broadway on the night in question, until he was taken there by the officer. He did not go up to the window at that place and knock against it with a handkerchief with a stone in it. He had never seen the handkerchief until he saw it in the officer's possession. He left his mother's house at half-past nine on the night in question, and went over to see a friend of his, at 118 Center street. His friend's name was Moran. He stayed there until half past 12, and then he went through Franklin and Division streets, to where there was a soda-water stand. There were several men around the stand. He didn't take notice whether the co-defendant was there at the time or not. He waited there until he was served, and then an officer went up to him and placed him under arrest. He asked the officer what was the matter, and the officer said that he, the defendant, had just broken into a window in East Broadway. He told the officer that he had just come up Bayard street. The officer took him to the store, 32 East Broadway. The officer then said, "This window ain't broke," and they looked around for a break, and they could n't find any break. The policeman blew his whistle and several more policemen came up. The police officers held a conversation among themselves for about twenty minutes before they took him to the station house. He heard the watchman, Cohen, say at the stand, that the window was broken with a brick. Cohen did not say anything about a handkerchief at the stand.

In cross-examination the defendant testified that he had been in State Prison twice. He was charged with stealing a watch the first time, and he served two years. That was in 1883, and he got out of prison in 1885. He was convicted the second time on December 21, 1885. He had then been out of prison about eleven months. His second conviction was also for stealing a watch. He served four years the second time. He got out in 1888, for good behavior. Since 1888 he had been working steadily. He did not know how many times the co-defendant had "done time." It was an officer, and not a roundsman, that arrested him, the defendant. There were three other men at the soda-water stand at the time. The co-defendant was not next to him when he was arrested. The co-defendant was at one end of the stand, and he was at the other. A man by the name of Patrick Kelty had stabbed him, the defendant. He had Kelty arrested, and sent to prison. None of his former employers were in court.

OFFICER HENDRY, recalled by Counsel for the defendant, testified that the watchman, Cohen, told the roundsman that it was a brick that the window was broken.

In cross-examination the witness testified that Cohen said it was a brick covered with a handkerchief.

As complainant in the above case, I beg to recommend the defendant to such leniency and clemency as the Court and District Attorney may see fit to show; but I expressly assert that my reasons for so doing are not controlled by any advantage to myself.

I am under the impression that the defendant has been deceived by his friends, and that he has been sufficiently punished already for what he did to me.

The damage to my wagon is not so great as at first appeared to be. I have since learned that the defendant was under the influence of liquor, and the injuries have been minimized. Therefore I request this Honorable Court to permit me to withdraw the charge,

I Herman Lautman,

— As complainant in the above case, I beg to recommend the defendant to such leniency and clemency as the Court and District Attorney may see fit to show; but I expressly assert that my reasons for so doing are not controlled by any advantage to myself.

The defendant at the time was under the influence of liquor and I am credibly informed that she has two children to support and does some business in way of hair dressing. That she lives with her family in the Stairhead Flats between 60 & 61st Streets. For these reasons I am desirous of withdrawing the charge made by me.

As complainant in the above case, I beg to recommend the defendant to such leniency and clemency as the Court and District Attorney may see fit to show; but I expressly assert that my reasons for so doing are not controlled by any advantage to myself.

I do not believe the defendant ^{intended} to commit a crime. I do not believe the defendant was in his right mind when he took the horses and coupe, and I do tell the examining magistrate: I do not want to make a complaint in the first instance. From all I can learn he has always been an honest hardworking man and is well liked in his community. I think he has been sufficiently punished, and I do not wish to prosecute him further and would ask that he be dis-
