testified

Court of General Sessions. Part I.
Before Judge Gildersleeve. Jan. 22, 1893.
Indictment for grand larceny in the first degree.
William W. Dudley, sworn and examined.
I live 71 West Third St. am a waiter, and upon the night of the 10th of January I was in company with the defendant; she stole twelve dollars from me at 166 Thompson St. I was out quite late, it was about half past two o'clock when I met her in a saloon. I went in to get a drink and the defendant and another woman was at the bar; the defendant said, "Won't you treat?" I said, "yes." I treated her, the other woman and the bar tender; the drinks cost 25 cents. She said,
"Do you want to go around to my room?" I said, "How much do you ask?" She says, "We will make the bargain when we get round there." I went around there and she said, half a dollar. I gave her half a dollar; we had the half dollar's worth, and she says,
"Have 'nt you got a dollar more and stay all night?" I says, "I have to get up at half past five;" she said, "I will call you." I put the money in my stocking and fell asleep.
In the morning the money was gone; she was there. I went out for an officer and had her arrested; she was not searched them. She said, "I have not got a cent I pay six dollars a week for my room and I want to make some money." I gave her 50 cents and she went out for some oysters. She said, "I will lock the door, you go to bed; there cannot ~~get~~ <sup>any</sup> one get in except I open the door; she had the key and opened the door and came in. Cross Examined. It is not true that the defendant treated me to a glass of beer. I had four or five drinks, but I knew what I was doing. We left the other girl at the whiskey saloon; she came to the defendant's room afterwards; the defendant told me to lie down on her bed and she would be back in a few minutes. She said, "Don't be scared, if you had a thousand dollars, it will be all right. I cannot tell you what time it was when she came back and woke me up; she said it was near seven o'clock. The other girl was then with her. I had a five, a two, and five one dollar bills. I identify this two dollar bill (now shown) as mine by the number. Catherine Burrows sworn. I am the matron at Jefferson Market. I searched the defendant when she was brought in; when we were going in the room she handed me $7.88 saying, "I may as well give you this; you will find it anyway."

0312

0313

James A. Brooks sworn and examined.
I am an officer of the Fifteenth precinct. I don't know anything more about the case than arresting the defendant. Cross Examined.
I took two women to the station house that morning; the complainant made a charge of either one of the women robbing him. He said he picked the defendant up in a saloon in Houston St. and both of them went around to the room together and when he got up in the morning he found another woman there.
When I went around to make the arrest, the other woman was in bed; the defendant was out. I went around and found her in a saloon in Houston St. This was about twenty minutes of six o'clock in the morning.
Annie Buckhardt, sworn and examined in her own behalf testified. I live 166 Thompson St. corner of Houston. I remember the night of the 10th of January. I was arrested at 6 1/2 in the morning on the charge made by the complainant. On that evening, a girl whom I took to be a white girl, but she claimed to be "half in half" before the judge in Jefferson Market. I was slightly acquainted with her; she told me a sad story, that she had no home and no place to stay.
She asked me if I would take her in a few days; she said she felt cold and thirsty I asked her in to have a glass of beer and this "nigger" was standing at the bar. I had this money in my possession at the time, I took it out and he was looking at it. I went over to speak to another girl and the "nigger" turned round and smiled on her and treated her and both of them were in conversation together. I started to go out, I said to her, "you come around to the house;" she said, "yes." I opened the door with my key and left the door open. I had occasion to go up stairs to see somebody and when I came back this man and woman were sitting in my room. I got very indignant and said she had no business having a man in there; she said she knew him, she did not want to make any fuss, that he was drunk. Afterwards he ran to the table to get a knife and said, "you damned bitch I will get square with you." I told him I would get an officer to take him out. He had some arrested hours after in a liquor store. I am a landlady. I did not say to the Magistrate, but the clerk says, "you are a prostitute," and I did not answer him. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty of petty larceny. She was sent to the penitentiary for six months.
