The People
 Joseph Abbondento and Charles Lucio
 testified

Court of General Sessions. Part I.
 Before Recorder Smyth. July 13. 1891.
 Indictment for grand larceny.
 Frank Morrett, sworn and examined I live 413 Fifth street; there was some property stolen from there on the 1st of July about one o'clock at night. The property taken was a silver watch, a ring, a pair of ear rings and a locket and chain belonging to my wife; also twelve linen sheets and twelve silk handkerchiefs; all the property was worth about one hundred and fifty dollars. The police officer brought me back the watch and the locket and chain belonging to my little girl and my wife's pair of ear rings. Officer Hayes brought them back to me. When I saw this property last in my house it was in two bureaus and a part of the jewelry was in a pocket belonging to my wife in my house. I locked my house at ten o'clock that night, and when the milkman came in the morning to call me at four o'clock we found all broken in. It was through the window that the thieves came in. The window was closed and it was raised by the burglars. I live on the third floor. The burglars must have come by the ladders of the fire escape.

the milkman comes at four o'clock in the morning without fail and on Sunday he comes at half past four o'clock. As soon as I saw the things out I said, "I am robbed," and then I looked over and saw what was wanting. My wife got out of bed and came to help me count the pieces. I went to the station house.

Allan May, sworn and examined. I am an officer attached to the twentieth precinct. I arrested these defendants on Thursday July 2nd at 594 Ninth Ave. about a quarter to one o'clock. These defendants came into the pawnshop. Curcio pulled out of his pocket a silver watch. This was at 594 Ninth Avenue in the Lavery's pawnshop. He took out an open faced silver watch with a locomotive on the back, and he asked the pawnbroker how much he would give for it? The man said, "How much do you want?" He says, "Eight dollars;" the man says, "I will give you five." He turned around to Abberdented and he spoke to him in Italian. He (Abberdented) shook his head, and he (Curcio) spoke to the pawnbroker and said, "No, he wants eight dollars." The man said he would not give him any more than five. Then he pulled out a locket or a charm. He asked the pawnbroker how much he would give him for that, and he said he would not take it because it was brass. I got a description of the watch that was lost. I arrested them and made them prisoners. I searched Abordented. I found a pair of ear rings and two gold chains, a little locket and four or five plated pins, laces & carffins and two razors and another watch, a brass one which he claimed was his. I searched the other man and I did not find anything on him. I showed that property to the complainant. He identified the watch, one of the gold chains and the locket and a pair of gold rings. I had a conversation with the defendants through an interpreter. I asked him where he got this stuff & he says he got it from a loafer. He said that he bought the watch on Monday and the locket, chain and ear ring on Tuesday. I made the arrest on Wednesday. He said that he bought the chain and locket off this loafer on Tuesday, and that if I went to 54th St. and 9th Avenue to the barber shop, that they boss saw him buying the watch.

I went up to this barber shop that he claimed the boss saw him buying the watch, and I asked the boss if he saw this Abbadenté buying a watch from a loafer, and he said, no, he never saw him buy anything, that he had seen him talking to a man outside, but never saw him buy anything. I spoke to Furcio and asked him what he was doing? and he said that Abbadenté came to his place and asked him to go and pawn a watch. That is what he told the Sergeant in command.

Cross Examined. I cannot give you the name of the man who acted as interpreter, but he was a friend of Abbadenté. Officer Smith heard him say the same thing. I am not acquainted with the Italian language. I could not say whether the interpreter interpreted correctly or not. I never saw either of these defendants before.

Rosario Jannatassi, sworn and examined for the defence. I am a barber and live between 54th and 55th streets on Ninth Avenue. Abbadenté worked in my place for a week and a half; the day he was arrested he worked in my place; he slept in my place on Wednesday night. I don't know where he was the night that the other man was robbed. The week and a half that he was with me he slept in my house; that includes Wednesday night July 1st; the last day that he slept in my house was Wednesday. I know he slept there that night.

Cross Examined. I went to bed that Wednesday night between ten and half past ten o'clock. I am positive that was the night. Have seen the defendant have two watches. I knew he had one on his person, and he said that he had another one in his box. He told me that every day that he was with me. I knew of the arrest on Friday morning. Saw him on that Thursday morning and he asked me for a vacation of half a day; that was twelve o'clock. Curcio was not with him then. I opened the shop between six and half past six. I slept right through and was not disturbed at all. I slept in the same room with this man. Saw him last on Wednesday night between ten and half past ten o'clock. I closed up our shop and went to bed. Where did he sleep Tuesday night? The same place. Do you know where he worked before that time? He was a stranger to me. I did not know where he worked.

Charles Chiara, sworn and examined. I keep a barber shop at 2431 West Forty Second St. I am only acquainted with the little defendant Curcio; he has worked for me and he resided in that house about two weeks previous to the day he got arrested; he slept with me in the same bed. Do you know whether or no he has been absent from his bed for any length of time during those two weeks? No sir, not one night. I am sure of that. I am a light sleeper and little things wake me up; he could not get up without my knowing it; we work in the same shop. I have seen him during all the period of two weeks and he has not been absent anywhere. I think he was arrested on Tuesday the second of July; he was only half a day in the shop on the second of July, he was not arrested in the pawn shop. I was not there when he was arrested. The old man came to the shop and asked him to go with him, he came there about half past twelve. I remember I was going to get my dinner, and he asked him to go with him; he said, I want to go up to the corner, I want to pawn a watch. He did not know the place, and the boy said, "up the street."

and the old man said, "Come along with me." They went up; they got caught in the pawn shop. I was waiting for them. They both went up; they got caught in the pawn shop. I was waiting for them and they never came back. The old man said he did not know where to find the pawn shop; he could not come back where he got arrested. I am not acquainted with Affordented.

Joseph Affordented, sworn and examined. I live at 524 Ninth Avenue; it is a barber shop. On July 1st I was at the shop of the witness who was on the stand before me. I sleep in that place, in the back of the shop. My brother in law, Jean Watassi and my nephew slept there in his room in the back with his wife; they are not here in Court. How long had you slept there previous to the first of July? I have been working in his place two or three weeks and that includes the first of July.

On the first of July certain property was found in my possession by Officer May. I bought them in the boss's shop in his presence. I bought it from a loafer. I heard since he was a loafer. He brought me a sample of gold chains and neck chains and a pair of small earrings and a small breast pin, for which I paid $1.50 in the presence of my boss. I bought them for gold. I have never seen that individual since. That is all I know about it. I have not been in the apartment of this Morrett, but I am acquainted with him. I never visited him. I knew him on the corner of Forty First street.

Cross Examined. How much money did you have on the second of July when you claim you bought this jewelry? I had between ten and twelve dollars. I did not pawn any watch the day before. I did not pawn a watch at Lavery's on Ninth Avenue, for three dollars, the same place where I was arrested. The pawn ticket now shown to me does not belong to me. I never had it. Was not that ticket procured for you by a boy in the barber shop? O yes. You gave the watch to a boy to pawn? The boy went. I did not send him; the watch belonged to the boy. How many pawn tickets were there on you when you were arrested? Three. Were those for property that you had bought also from loafers? No sir, they were for a watch which I had for some time and a silver chain and a ring. I was in need of some money and I decided to pawn them. I had been a long time that I had pawned those articles. I could not take them out because I had not the money. This man that you claim to have bought the jewelry from, did you ever see him before?

 I saw him only once where he came in to be shampooed. How much did you pay the loafer for this jewelry? One dollar and a half. I had three dollars in my pocket book and I spent that money - 15 cents one way and 15 cents another way, and with the balance I bought several other articles. Tell him I understood him to say that he had about ten or twelve dollars when this loafer came in, and he gave the loafer a dollar and a half. I want to know what became of the <sup>rest</sup> of the money.
 Out of three dollars I bought the ticket from the son of the boss. Ask him again how much money he had when the loafer came in to sell him this jewelry? About thirteen dollars, but I do not remember exactly. The watch which is represented by this ticket was not mine. Was not that ticket procured for you by the boy in the barber shop? Yes. You gave the watch to the boy to pawn? The boy went

Charles Cursio sworn. I am a barber at 431 Forty Second St. and work for Charlie Chiara, the witness that has been in the stand. I sleep in the same room and in the same bed. I slept there two weeks before I was arrested. I slept with him the night of the first of July. I did not leave the room that night. I do not know the complainant Merrett. I was working at Forty Second St and I saw the defendant at the bar, he came and asked me to pawn a watch for him as he was in need of money. I asked permission from my boss and I went. That is all I know about the matter.

Cross Examined. I did not even pawn a watch for him before; he told me he was in need of the money; he did not tell me where he got the watch from. I did not hear him tell the officer through the interpreter that he got the watch on Monday. Abundant does not understand English. I understand a little bit. The man at the bar put in my hand the watch and he told me to ask seven dollars for it; the pawn broker's clerk said, I cannot give you more than five dollars. He answered, I cannot give it you for five dollars, I want six dollars. Then we were arrested the police officer asked us where we bought the watch. He asked me who gave me the watch, and I said, "This man here," pointing to the defendant at the bar. I put the question to the defendant at the bar in Stationer, and he answered that he bought it at Fifty-fourth street. Then we were arrested and taken to the station house and I know nothing more. Now how have you known the defendant? Since two months ago when he was working on 37th St. and I was working on 39th St., and then he went away and I did not see him for a month.

Joseph Abbadent recalled by the District Attorney: "When you specified the articles which you bought for this dollar and a half that did not include the watch? No sir. I bought from 'the loafer' a small neck chain, a small pair of earrings, and a small breast pin. I afterwards bought the watch from the loafer also, two or three hours afterwards, for which I paid five dollars. Allura May recalled: "When I arrested the defendant I found pawn tickets on him. I went to the pawn shop of Prager Bros where the watch was pawned for five dollars; the pawnbroker valued it at $35 or $40. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty."

Sir:-

Information reaches me that about one year ago a very valuable gold watch, a solid gold chain and charm attached, was stolen in one of your hotels by a young man named Halpin Albrice, or Page, and that five of your officers were working at that time on the case. If you can find the owner one of my officers can get the watch as well as the thief.

Respectfully
