Indictment for obtaining money by false pretences.

Ship

Court of General Sessions, Part I Before Judge Gildersleeve Monday, January 24, 1887.
Charles C. Durcan, sworn. I am United States Commissioner for this port. My office is 187 and 189 Cherry St. I was engaged in the same business in the fall of 1879. I remember the prisoner I remember seeing him at my office in the fall of 1879; that is as near as I can remember he came into my private office and sat down and introduced himself as an attache of the New York Times; he stated that he had a brother formerly employed on the Herald staff who was then sick with consumption; it was necessary that this brother should go to Colorado for his health, and the brother had obtained from the Appletons some work which they were publishing for which he was getting subscriptions and in that way he hoped to get money enough to get to Colorado. This man Briggs stated further that he had just come from Snow and Burgess office, whom he knew were friends of mine, who had declined to take the book, but had given him for his brother the amount which would have been made by the brother ^{in the sale} of the book.
I stated to him that I did not want the book but I would give him five dollars to help his brother along to Colorado. He took the money and left. He said he came to me at the suggestion of Snow and Burgess. Though they declined to subscribe for the book they had given him the amount of his commission? Yes sir. I gave him five dollars; he introduced himself to me under the name of Briggs. Did you part with the money which you gave to the prisoner on the strength of your belief in the representations which he had made to you? I did because I believed them. Cross Examined. Did he not name Appleton's Art Journal, five volumes, the price of which to subscribers was $75? I do not remember that he named the book. Mr. Appleton's name is fresh in my mind. I do remember it as Appleton's. I do not think he said anything to me about the commission on the five volumes that ~~you~~ ^{he asked me to} subscribed for. I do not think he said that his commission would be fifteen dollars. Did he name the work known as Picturesque ~~Art~~, three volumes, the value of which was forty eight dollars? I do not think he did. He did not ask me to subscribe for the books he was canvassing for. He came to me saying that he had asked Snow and Burgess to subscribe, and they preferred giving him what he would probably make on the subscription. I was pressed for time, I immediately stated. I did not want the book, "I will give you five dollars for your brother." I do not remember that he requested me to subscribe for the book, but I would not swear that he did not. You did not give him the money because he represented he was attached to the New York Times? I cannot answer that "yes" or "no." I will answer it in my own way if you choose to have an answer. I have already stated that I gave him the money because I believed his statement. That was part of it. I gave him the money on his general representations. I cannot discriminate in my mind. You believed all he said and were influenced in what you did by what he said? Precisely. Henry C. Murphy, sworn and examined. I am the uncle of the prisoner. We call him Henry Clark. I think I know his handwriting. Is that his handwriting? (paper shown) He signs his name as Charles H. Clark. It has some resemblance to it, I should say it was his if I saw it by itself. He is the son of your sister. What other male children did she have living in the fall of 1879 that you know of? She had another son by the name of Richard whom I have not seen for four or five years or more. That was the only other son that I know of. How long is it since you saw this young man before today? Well, I must reflect a little and recall my memory. It is betwixt one and two years. I cannot say exactly what time. Did you ever hear that he was ill of consumption? Objected to. Objection sustained.

0370

0371

0372

left. He said he came to me at the suggestion of L. 1 13 H. D. D. I. I.

Ambrose Snow, sworn. That was your business in the fall of 1879? Shipping and commission merchant? What was the title of your firm? Snow and Burgess? Where is your place of business? No. 66 South St. Was there then or any time since any other firm of that name? No. Did you know Capt. Duncan, knew him at that time, he was known to your firm? Yes sir. Do you know the prisoner at the bar? No. Did you ever see him? Not to my knowledge. Did you ever converse with him in your life about anything? I have no recollection of ever having seen him before. Did you give the prisoner any money? Never that I have any knowledge of. Did your firm give him any? Not that I know of. Have you any recollection of ever having seen this prisoner in your life? I have not. Have you any recollection of any one's coming to you in the fall of 1879 and eliciting a subscription for a book published by Appleton's representing himself to be an employee or in some way connected with the staff of the New York Times? I have no recollection of it. You were at that time one of the Pilot Commissioners of this city? Yes sir.

Robert B. Clark sworn and examined. I am the father of the prisoner. I always call him Henry. I never gave him the name of Henry. I never knew of his taking that name. Do you know his handwriting? I have not seen it lately.

Is that his handwriting? (paper shown) Not that I know of, I would not swear to it. What was he christened, do you know? I do not remember whether it was Henry or Harry. Do you remember that it was not Charles Henry? I do not think it was. In the fall of 1879 I had two sons living; the name of the other one was Richard. I cannot remember that I saw him in the fall of 1879. I have not seen either of them but two or three times in the last six or seven years. I saw my son Richard once last summer in Broadway. Do you remember to have seen him that year prior to last summer? My impression was that I have, but I do not remember exactly whether I have or not. He was living on this side of the water and I am living in Brooklyn. Do you know whether it is a fact that he was in the fall of 1879 suffering from the disease called consumption? (Objected to. Objection overruled.) I do not know anything about his condition, his health or anything else. Where is he now? I do not know; my impression is he is in New York somewhere. Do you know where he lives? No sir. Henry Lovewell sworn. I am city editor of the New York Times. I have been acting City Editor since about the middle of December 1878 and have been the City Editor since the 15th of May 1879. I have been connected with the Times since the fall of 1875. I never saw the prisoner until some time ago when he was arrested. I state positively that I know every person who is employed as a reporter on the staff of the New York Times for the last five years and perhaps longer. There is no question about that, and I have made enquiring. The prisoner has not been connected with the New York Times in any capacity. Cross Examined. Mr. Jones and the other proprietors do not employ persons whom I do not know. There is no proprietor that I know of; it is a corporation. Mr. Lord is the editor. I do not know in what capacity Mr. Jones acts. I have heard him testify to being Secretary of the Association I think. The reporters and correspondents in certain localities are hired by me. There are a number of correspondents attached to the paper that are not employed by me - persons who contribute articles that are paid for. Thomas Love, sworn. I am the cashier of the New York Times Association, a Corporation that owns the N. Y. Times newspaper. I do not know the prisoner. I never saw him before. I have been cashier since May 1, 1880 and Assistant Cashier about five years previous to that. I do not recognize the prisoner's face at all. I never saw him before. I know all the employes of the paper in this vicinity. I do not know the prisoner. Cross Examined. I pay everybody I never knew Charles H. Clark. ~~That was~~ a man by the name of Briggs, whom I knew; he was not the prisoner. Charles Russell, sworn. I am one of the Commissioners of Emigration of this Port. I know the prisoner; he called at my office in September of last year, in the fore part of September 1850. Artemus W. Holmes, sworn. I am a practicing lawyer in this city; I recognize the prisoner. I did not see him at my office but at my then residence 25 Madison Avenue in the month of November or December a year ago, 1849. He sent in a card bearing the name of Lee, I was at breakfast, it was in the morning about 1/4 of 9. He stated that he had come to see me in regard to a brother of his who was very sick, that he (the prisoner) was then upon the Tribune daily newspaper, a reporter, and that his brother had been upon the Times newspaper; that his brother had been very clever and had gone out of his way to report the proceedings at some meeting of the Harvard club and at the dinners given by that club; that his brother was very sick, and that the prisoner and some others of his confederates had interested themselves to raise a sum of money by the sale of some of the books or subscription, the proceeds of which was to send the brother and his family to ~~Switzerland~~ ^{Switzerland} that my friend Mr. Charles W. Tweed and Dr. Francis M. Wilde had mentioned my name as a member of the Harvard club and also other members as a person likely to assist in the charity. Almost the only word I said to the prisoner was, "What did Mr. Wilde and Mr. Sweed give? The prisoner said, "They gave the price which would arise on the subscription; they did not take the books." I asked how much that was? He said it was five dollars, and I gave him five dollars; he thanked me and I left him. I believed those representations and I parted with the money believing them to be true.

0374

0375

Cross Examined. Did he tell you that he was canvassing for Appleton's Art Journal, five volumes the price of which was $75? No sir. Did he mention any books he wanted you to subscribe for? I think he did not, but he was soliciting subscriptions for some books, I did not stop to enquire what they were. Charles W. Sweed sworn. I am a lawyer, one of the firm of Everts, Southmayd and Choate, I know Mr. Holmes. I do not remember ever to have seen the prisoner. I cannot definitely answer whether I ever saw him to have any conversation with him about any employment. I never gave him any money. Joseph S. Burgess. I am one of the firm of Know and Burgess. I know Capt. Durican. I never saw the prisoner before to my knowledge. I never gave him any money. Judson A. Brewer. I am cashier of the Herald Office. I do not know the prisoner. I know no person by the name of Richard Clark. There never was such a name employed on the Herald to my knowledge. I have no recollection of any such person.

My dear Sir

In the case of Mr. C. Clark I feel that I ought to say a few words: while there is no doubt of the wrong doing of Clark, there is I believe on some mitigating circumstances and mainly that he is not alone in the possession of a sound mind, also that he is not of the common class, having relatives of the very highest character and standing in the community, I shall be glad if you can temper justice with mercy for the sake of his family.

Very sincerely yours

I would respectfully inform

My dear Sir

I have intended to see you in reference to the case of Mr Clark who was committed in your Court on Thursday last, but my arrangements are such as to prevent my leaving & I write you instead.

It seems to me that there is good ground to suspect perjury. The case is not clear and there is much to be said on that point which I have not time to state to you. But if you can grant that favor, which I believe you have full an aching heart and do the convicted young man eternal disgrace.
