Anthony Cornstock of 150 Nassau Street New York City being duly sworn deposes and says, that on or about the 28th day of February 1884, Charles Grimm and Robert Doe whose real name is unknown, but who can be identified, did at the City and County of New York aforesaid, unlawfully contrive and propose a lottery and did assist in the contriving and proposing of a lottery which said lottery was set on foot for the purpose of disposing of property by lot and chance against the form of the statutes of the State of New York in such case made and provided and particularly in violation of Chapter 8 of the Penal Code of the State of New York.

Deponent further says, that on the 28th day of February 1884 he called at the place of business of the said Charles Grimm and Robert Doe at Number 254 Greenwich Street in the City of New York aforesaid, and there saw the said Charles Grimm and had conversation with him in substance as follows, the said Robert Doe being present,

Deponent asked for Silver Hook Packages, the said Charles Grimm did then and there show to deponent a box containing a bag which the said Charles Grimm informed deponent contained 150 pieces of chewing gum with numbers wrapped with each piece of chewing gum, that these were to be operated as follows, that they were to sell the little piece of chewing gum which was wrapped in a paper with a number upon it, to the children for a penny a piece, that they were to display certain prizes which were then and there shown to deponent, and particularly three capital prizes which were then and there shown to deponent, that there was in the box 150 pieces of the chewing gum, that each piece had a little paper wrapped with it containing a number, that this number drew one of the prizes in the scheme, that the prizes were in three different apartments of the box, which box contained 150 pieces of chewing gum and numbers, and these three apartments were divided into sub departments, and on the front of these sub departments were numbers, and these numbers corresponded to numbers that were posted with the chewing gum, that with each of these numbers thus packed with the chewing gum there was a prize, and that whatever number was drawn the child would get in addition to the little pieces of chewing gum. the prize called for by the number wrapped with it. The said Grimm then took one of the small papers containing a number and piece of chewing gum and opened it and said, this is number 9 and then picked up one of the smallest prizes, and said to deponent, number 9 has drawn this prize. Deponent further says, that the said Grimm did also show to deponent three capital prizes which were to be drawn by the numbers 1, 2 & 3, which numbers appeared on the front apartment of the box which contained these three capital prizes, and the said Grimm did inform deponent that the number which drew capital prizes were in a little envelope, which he recommended to deponent should be kept out at first, so that none of the children would draw it at first, otherwise they would not buy the small bits of chewing gum fast, but that if they would keep them out for a while and suppose the capital prize, they would all be eager to get the capital prize, and so would buy more of the gum. The said Charles Grimm informed deponent that the price of the boxes containing the chewing gum and prizes and capital prizes complete with the numbers for drawing the said prizes was 65¢ a box. And deponent then told the said Grimm that he would take four boxes, and paid the said Grimm the sum of $2.60 for the same, which the said Grimm immediately handed to the said Robert Doe who was standing near by. Deponent further says, that from conversation with said Grimm and from personal observation, he is informed and has just cause to believe and verily does believe that the said Charles Grimm and Robert Doe aforesaid, now have in their possession at, in, and upon certain premises situated and known as number 254 Greenwich Street in the City of New York aforesaid, several hundred other lotteries which they have contrived and proposed and now have in their possession with intent to commit a public offense by selling the said lotteries then contained and proposed by them, to the retail dealers in confectionery in the City and State of New York, and with intent that the same shall be exposed to public view by the said retailers, and be drawn and the property be disposed of by the children purchasing the small pieces of chewing gum and a number representing a chance, share and interest in the lottery for the sum of one penny each, and the said lottery to be drawn by the children presenting the said numbers to the said retailers for the prizes thus prepared and offered for distribution by lot and chance by the said Charles Grimm and Robert Doe aforesaid.

Wherefore, deponent prays that the said Charles Grimm and Robert Doe may be arrested and dealt with according to law, and that the lotteries so contained and proposed by them, which they now have with intent to sell to retailers of confectionery, may be seized, thus preventing the said lotteries from being drawn in the retail confectionery stores of the City and State to the great detriment of the children aforesaid, who shall be tempted by the large prizes to purchase the almost worthless bits of gum with view of drawing the capital prize.
