CITY AND COUNTY OF NEW YORK, SS.

AN INQUISITION,

Taken at the house of No 134 1/2 Chatham Street, in the 4 Ward of the City of New York, in the County of New York, this 25th day of October in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and 72 before Thomas C. Tracy Coroner, of the City and County aforesaid, on view of the Body of Mary Pauly, 110 Greenwich An. Upon the Oaths and Affirmations of six good and lawful men of the State of New York, duly chosen and sworn, or affirmed and charged to inquire, on behalf of said people, how and in what manner the said Mary Pauly came to her death, do upon their Oaths and Affirmations, say: That the said Mary Pauly came to her death by a stab wound of the heart inflicted at the hands of Ernest Dubourques on West 14th St. on the 18th day of October 1882.

It was elicited in the evidence that the prisoner was arrested on the 5th day of May 1882 for stabbing an officer while endeavoring to arrest him and was committed by a police justice and arraigned before the grand jury for felonious assault and by them discharged and we think that a fuller investigation by said grand jury might have prevented the sad occurrence in W 14th St.

In Witness Whereof, We, the said Jurors, as well as the CORONER, have to this Inquisition set our hands and seals, on the day and place aforesaid.

INDICTMENT.
LARCENY FROM THE PERSON.
At the night time

24

The People
 vs.
 Charles Dupel (Before Recorder Smyth Nov. 28. 1882.
 Indictment for grand larceny from the person in the night time. Daniel Mc Feiner, sworn and examined, testified. The morning of last Saturday a week ago, I cannot remember the date of the month, I was in a saloon 183 Chatham St. about six o'clock. I had a hunting case American silver watch. I paid sixty dollars for it when I bought it.
 I have owned it since 1871. I saw the prisoner there; he took my watch out of my hand. I pulled it out to see the time. I was trying to get out of the saloon and he took it away from me; he snatched it out of my hand. I caught him and tried to get it back; then he ran. I caught him by the collar of the coat; then he came to stand making out that he did not want to get away with it. I had a rubber coat in my hand. I pulled the coat back in a minute and he ran out of the door. I followed him and ran to the intersection of those two streets, Chatham St.
 and the Bowery and I lost him there;
 that was only two or three doors from the saloon; he carried the watch away with him. I saw him that evening at the station house I made complaint at the station house. It was in the evening about dark that I complained about it and the larceny took place at six o'clock in the morning. I had no chain or fastening of any kind on my watch. I always carried it in the fob pocket of my pantaloons. Cross Examined I had not been to bed that night. I had been out with some friends until it was very late I did not state to the Magistrate that I had since seen watches as good as mine in silver smith shops that they charged only thirty two dollars for. I said that a friend of mine, where I bought this watch said he would give me as good a watch for thirty two dollars, that they fell so in value I do not know how much the watch would fetch in the market. I cannot be positive as to what time it was when the watch was taken. The prisoner insisted on my drinking, I threw the liquor on the floor and the prisoner told me of it. I went through the motion of drinking twice in that saloon I had been in numerous saloons, I cannot tell how many. The prisoner did not ask me to look at the watch, but he took it forcibly out of my hands; we did not take a drink together in any saloon after he took the watch. What is your business? Carpenter. Where do you live? At present at Linhurst N. J. where I am at work. I am employed by the Delaware Bridge Co. What were you doing over at six o'clock in the morning? I came over here the afternoon before. What time did you get here in the afternoon? Two o'clock. I spent the night with some friends. I had a little shopping to do and when I done that I went with a few parties that come with me that I work with; they are residents of the city and late in the night they left me and went to their homes. I was not drinking all the night. I had drank a little. I was not drunk at the time this transaction took place. When I met the prisoner I was on my way to go home to get over to work. I work for the Delaware Bridge Co. No 52 Wall st. I never saw the prisoner before that night. I was on my way to go home, and going down the Bowery it was not quite daylight yet, about breaking day and it was stormy. I went into a saloon on the Bowery to get a drink, and while at the bar there were some men come up to me and picked my pocket. I do not know whether that was his intention or not. I found his hands in my vest pocket.

It was not the prisoner who put his hand in my pocket. When I pushed the man off I turned around to settle for what I had got and he struck me at the bar. The first thing I knew there was three or four men on me. I ran into the street. It looked to me all in the bar room was going to get on me. Going down the opposite side of the street, the prisoner came up to me and said, "Go with me, you are liable to get in trouble there." He walked on down the street, it was not more than a block. This prisoner said, "Come in here till those fellows go away, you will get in trouble." This was the saloon we went into where this thing happened. That was the only reason why I went in there because I was afraid I would get hurt. I merely went in for protection. He asked me to have a drink. I told him I did not want anything to drink. I was on my way to work and I must be at work that day. He insisted through friendship and I knew I could not drink; he filled the liquor out for me, and when I went to drink it I could not, it was powerful stuff and I threw it on the floor. I thought he did not see me, but he did and he told me of it; he insisted on my drinking again. I threw most of it on the floor like the other. I insisted on getting away and pulled out my watch to see the time. There was another party with the prisoner in the Chatham St. Saloon but the prisoner was the only one who spoke to me. It was clear day light when the prisoner took the watch. I ran after him. Thomas Maher, sworn and examined. I was a member of the force on the 18th of Nov.; the complainant came to the 4th Precinct Station house. I went after the prisoner; the complainant gave me a description of him and I went to No 183 Chatham St. and arrested him. I found him by the description he gave me. I found him about half past six in the evening. Charles Dupel, sworn and examined in his own behalf testified. My wife resides in Jersey City; I generally stop if I am late for the last car in East Broadway. I am a canvasser and collector. I was out on this night in question. My wife and mother are here. A week ago last Friday night I was out with a party of friends and I was drinking pretty hard myself that evening and I was on the corner of Boverly and Division Sts. and this complainant came running out of a gin mill about in the middle of the block; he came running down the street with his nose bleeding, and I says to him, "What is the matter? O, he says, I had a fight up in the middle of the block, and I can lick so and so," mentioning the name. I says, "The easiest way is the best, you had better go on and leave it alone." We walked down the street I was going down towards home. I stopped in Johnny Dolan's and asked him if he would join me in a drink. I think it is 183 Chatham St. He came along with me and said, "Certainly" he would like to have a drink; we walked in and had a drink. As we were standing there we had two or three drinks. I suppose he felt kind of cheap, he had no money, I paid for all the drinks, and he took his watch out of his pocket to put it upon the bar to call for some more drinks. I told him it was not necessary, that I had money myself, that I would pay a round of drinks if he wanted another drink. So I says, "Let me see it." So he let me see it. I looked at it, and the other party standing by, after I got done looking at it said, "let me see it." I turned my back to order three more drinks and this other party went out with the watch; he ran away with it. He drank the drink and both of us, the complainant and myself, were pretty well under the influence of liquor. I was just so that I could not walk a straight line. He said, "Where is the man who has my watch?" I said, I do not know, he disappeared. He says, "Have you got it?" I says, No, let us go outside. He walked up as far as the corner; we could not see him. The complainant and I stepped into Mr Kelly's, corner of East Broadway and New Bowery and we had a glass of beer together. He came out. I thought it was pretty near time to go home, it was about half past nine o'clock in the morning. So I went home I did not think any more of it. Then I come into Johnny Dolan's in the night time Mr Dolan commenced to tell me that there was an officer with the complainant, that I took the watch. I stayed right there, had my boots blackened and did not think any more of it I am innocent. I did not take the watch. I was arrested that time and taken to the station house. Cross Examined.

I had never seen the complainant before that night; at the time I met him there was nobody with me; he was on the opposite side of the way and he ran over towards me. I was sober enough to know it was laybreak, I staggered a little. There was no one with me but the complainant when we went into the saloon at Chatham St.; we met a person right in front of the door. I knew him by sight three or four weeks. I did not know his name. I invited him to come in too and have a drink; the complainant drank; he did not spill his liquor on the floor. I don't know the name of the bar tender. Mr. Dolan was sleeping in the chair. I have been visiting that saloon off and on three months. I met the man two or three times here before this. I have been working for Dr. Moore. I have never been convicted of any offence. About six months ago I was arrested on suspicion of knowing something about a watch which was stolen from a man in a saloon in Christie St. I attended for there for two days for a gentleman who was sick.

Julius H. Moore sworn. I live at 1060 Dekalb Ave. Brooklyn, am a physician.

the prisoner was in my employ about a year and I trusted him to make collections for me; his character is good. I know him for a five years. Larnelia Dupel, mother of the prisoner, swore that she never knew him to be in trouble before, except his arrest on suspicion of taking a watch. He had always been a truthful, dutiful son and never gave her a hard word in his life.

The jury rendered a verdict of guilty of petty larceny.
