I told Lacey I would make good his loss rather than have a charge made, as I feared that any such charge becoming known would prejudice my position in the company—and I did not say so because I was guilty of taking the money. one of the defendants herein that on Saturday night at the Signal Station of the

That Giles, Lacey and Deponent left the Signal visited several liquor saloons in Harlem and drank together - That they returned to the Station in company -

That thereafter Giles and Deponent went from the Signal at other places - That Giles returned to the Station before Deponent - That when Deponent reached the Station he found Giles on the platform of the Station, and Lacey inside - That Deponent sat down in the station and in about twenty minutes Deponent awoke and said his watch had been taken - Then Lacey awoke and said his money had been taken -

Deponent thought they were joking about the matter Lacey then said to a man named Fitzsimmons whom Deponent met near the Station and who went together with defendant "You have my money" - Defendant then went for an officer. - Defendant finding that Defendant and Lucy had the investigation by the Magistrate would result in the exposure of all parties having been under the

 the loss of defendant's place told complainants that he would make good their losses. Rather than have any exposure - That defendant was in no way or knowledge of how, or by whom the complainant's property
