427
 The People
 vs
 Bessie Jacoby
 Bessie Marshall

Court of General Sessions, Part I
 Before Judge Cowing. April 23, 1880.
 Indictment for grand larceny.
 Thomas Durkin sworn and examined. I am an ~~United~~ United States Marine, I am stationed in Brooklyn. I was in New York on the 15th of October. When I left Brooklyn I had $32.58; when I got paid I got $31.58 and I received a dollar from another party. I spent about 45 cents over there and then came to New York. I had another friend a marine with me; he was dressed in citizens clothes, but I was in uniform. We went from one place to another until we got into the place where this prisoner and another lady was. I order ed drinks and we got talking. I could not tell what place it was where I met the prisoner, but it was some saloon in the Bowery.
 We went out and walked down the street;
 she took me to this place in the Bowery;
 she asked me to pay for the bed. I said it was too early to go to bed, "we have not seen anything." She says, "go on and pay for the room; it was a dollar; we went in the room, and she made me undress naked.
 I wanted her to undress and she would not do it; she only took her hat off. I had four dollars in silver in my pocket book.

I had a $20, a $10, and a $2 bill also. I ordered some bottles of ale and they were brought to the room. I then locked the door and put the key under the mattress. My money was in a book in a watch pocket. I then put it in the leg of my pantaloons and left the pants on the chair; she would not let me touch her. I went to sleep and the first I knew she woke me and wanted to get out; the night clerk came to the door and they were hurrying me out. I knew there was something ~~going~~ wrong, I looked and my money was gone. I said to her, "you give me seven dollars and keep the twenty dollar bill, I will be perfectly satisfied. She denied she had any money. I said, if you don't I will have you arrested. I told the clerk to hold her till I came back. I went out of the door and halloed, "Police." An officer in citizens clothes came with me, he came up and searched her and found $1.25; which she said I gave her, but I had not given her anything. It was my intention to give her money in the morning as a gentleman should. Cross Examined. I intended to stay in another house in Bayard St. that night. I had been drinking beer that evening. She said to the officer, I am willing to be searched."

Bessie Jacoby sworn and examined in her own behalf testified. I met the complainant at O'wney Geofan's 105 Bowery about 11 1/2 o'clock at night, we had several drinks; he said to me, "we will take a walk; we went in to several concert saloons in the Bowery. I took him to this hotel; he paid one dollar for the room; we went to bed. He said, I want you to take every stitch off, I am going to do it, I said, "I aint going to do it, I took my skirt and waist off. He paid for the beer and then he gave me $1.25, saying that he would give me the balance in the morning. I stayed with him a while, and then woke him up. I said, I want leave you till I call the man, so you wont miss anything. You want go out of here, he said, I will call the man; the key was in the door, I went to open the door, he jumps out of bed and shoved me away. He said to the clerk, "I want you to keep this woman here." "I will keep myself, I said, I will wait here for anything you want me to do. "He says, I missed twenty dollars out of my book." "I says, "as you have missed something, I want the gentleman of this place to search me, or if you like I will let you search me." He said, No, I want you arrested. I wanted the officer to search me. I was brought to the station house and searched and there was nothing found but $1.25 on me, which he gave me. I did not see a cent of the man's money. I did not see him count the money; the only thing I "seen" with him was a black pocket book with silver in it. He wanted me to stay all night with him and I refused. Bennett Wickman sworn and examined, testified. I am night clerk at 15 Bowery, the American hotel. I recollect the evening of the 15th of April when this soldier and woman came in there; they took a room and registered as Charles Towers and wife; they went to their room and were noisy. I stood outside the door; he complained that he lost some money. I asked him how much, and he said a twenty dollar note. The prisoner wanted to be searched. I told her I could not do that.

Officer Christopher Brady was called by the prosecution. He said he arrested the prisoner on complaint of the soldier who said he lost $27 and some change in silver. She was searched in the station house and $1.65 found on her. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy. He was sent to the penitentiary for one year.

locked the door and concealed the key under the mattress of the bed, and no persons other than dependent and said Bessie were then within said room.

That said Bessie refused to undress but lay with dependent on the bed with her clothes on.

That shortly after midnight she awoke dependent up and wanted to go away and attempted to open the door but found it locked. That dependent then examined the bag and found that said money had been taken therefrom. That dependent then got the key where dependent had concealed it and opened the door and told the clerk of the premises to detain said Bessie until dependent procured an officer. That dependent went out and found officer Brady, New York, and caused her arrest.
