v.

John W. Smith

Larceny.

Lizzi Berle, 357 E. 72^d Street.
I am married. Keep home for my father. On the 10th of December, 1888, I went to my uncle's house, at 147th Street and Eastern Boulevard. He had invited a little party. My six years old son was with me. Among the party were the defendant, a friend of my uncle's son. Between ten and eleven in the evening we were in the kitchen. The defendant asked me the time and when I had taken out my watch, he took it off my hand, without asking me and without my consent. He immediately put it into his inner side coat pocket. I asked him to return the watch to me, but he said: Take care of this watch. Thereupon said: Look out for it then. Soon thereafter I fell ill and had to go to bed. Before I retired, the defendant remarked that the hour being so late, he would be locked out for the night. My uncle thereupon invited him to spend the night in his ~~son's~~ chamber. About eight o'clock the next morning I sent my boy down to the kitchen to see whether the fires had been made, as I wanted to go home without delay. On his return up-stairs he informed me that he had found the silk ribbon used by me as a guard for my said watch, in the kitchen. This ribbon was so fastened to the watch, that it could not be taken off without being untied or cut apart. Thereupon I went to Pruth's room and asked him for my watch. He replied: That's all right, I got it here. About half an hour later the defendant came to my room, put his head in and said: Pizzi, where you want your watch? I'll be down stairs in the kitchen. I did not find him in the kitchen, he had in the meanwhile returned to his room. There he said to me, that he had not my watch, that somebody must have taken

0724

0725

it from his coat which he left down stairs overnight. There was a watch on the dresser in the basement during the night, but it was not stolen. The watch was given to me by deceased mother. She paid $4.50 for it Martin Handy, Detective Sergeant,
Central Office. On the 12th of December, 1888, I arrested the defendant at the request of the complainant. He said that she had given him the watch, but not to keep it. That it had been stolen from his pocket during the night.

William Ryan, Jr., 147th Street
and Southern Boulevard, Door-maker. My place of business is at No. 18 Harvard Street. During the night of December 10, 1888, when the defendant slept in my house there was a watch lying on the mantle
of the kitchen, to which the defendant had access. It was still there the next morning.

(If anyone else ^{but the deft.} had stolen complainant's watch, he would have very likely ^{also} taken the last mentioned watch.)

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS OF THE PEACE:
City and County of New York.

The People
vs.
John W. Smith

Before;
Hon. Frederick Smyth,
and a Jury.

Indicted for Grand Larceny in the Second Degree:

Indictment filed, Dec 20 1888.

Tried, Feb'y 14th., 1889.

APPEARANCES:

Assistant District Attorney Davis, for the People;
Mr. Westerfield, for the Defence.

LIZZIE BESELEY the complainant, testified that she lived at 351 Seventy Second Street. She knew the defendant and had met him at her uncle's house in 147th.
Street and the Southern Boulevard. Her uncle's name was William Ryan. She, the complainant, met the defendant in her uncle's house on the evening of December 10th., 1888. She had been invited by her aunt to dine. She, the complainant, had a gold watch on her person. They were seated in the back parlor and her cousins were playing the piano and singing and some were waltzing between ten and eleven o'clock in the evening it began to rain and she couldn't go home with her child and her aunt advised her to stay all night.

It was cold in the back parlor and at that time her aunt advised them to go down to the kitchen where it was warmer. She and her cousins and the defendant were together. After they were in the kitchen some time, the defendant asked her the time. He had bothered her all the evening about the time.. She took out her watch and the defendant snatched it out of her hand and put it in his pocket. She asked him for the watch and he said I am going to sleep here tonight with your cousins and I will give it back to you upstairs. She said that she did not like that and then he got to talking about her mother, who was dead, and she fainted. The watch was a present from her mother. About half past six o'clock in the morning, she awoked and put on her wrapper and went to the room where the defendant was sleeping with her cousins--Thomas and William Ryan-- and she kncked at the door and the defendant said that he was not up. She asked him to give her her watch as she had to go home and the defendant said that he would give it to her before she went home. While she was making the bed in the back parlor, the defendant stuck his head into the door and said I will give you your watch when you come downstairs and she said I will bē down right away because I have to go home. When she got down stairs the defendant had gone back to the room where he slept and she followed him to the room and told him that she didn't want any trifling about the watch and that she wanted it. Then the defendant said that somebody had taken the watch out of his pocket and smiled. She said she must have her watch and he said that he hadn't it. She went downstairs crying and her uncle said to the defendant, now, give her her watch. Then her uncle sent the defendant upstairs to get the watch. The defendant said that somebody had taken the watch out of his pocket. The watch was valued at $75. It was attached to a black ribbon, because she was in mourning. She had about ten years. It was a birthday present from her mother.

OFFICER MARTIN HAWLEY, testified that he was a Detective Sergeant attached to the Central Office. He and detective Sergeant "Fogarty" arrested the defendant on the 13th. of December, in the street-- on the Southern Boulevard near a club-room that the defendant resorted to. He, the witness, asked the defendant what he did with the complainant's watch and the defendant said that he put it into his coat pocket and hung the coat downstairs and somebody must have taken it out of his pocket. He, the witness, didn't find the watch.

FOR THE DEFENCE. JOHN W. SMITH testified that he lived at No. 47 3 St. Anne's Avenue, with his parents. He was a lather. He had known the complainant for about three or four years and had visited her house several times. He did take the complainant's watch. He asked her to see the time and she took out the watch and she said that it was twelve o'clock. She held out her hand with the watch in it and he said "let me see " and he took the watch out of her hand and it was then a quarter past twelve. He offered the watch back to her and she said "Put it in your pocket and keep it for me until morning." He told her he would do so, and he put the watch in his inside coat pocket. He told her that he would keep the watch until the following morning. A few minutes later, the complainant felt sick and asked him to help her upstairs. He did so and took her into the back parlor and then Mr. Ryan said that they had better go downstairs. Mr. Ryan helped him, the defendant, to carry the complainant upstairs when she fainted. Then he and William Ryan went to bed. He the defendant, hung up his coat downstairs on a hook where William Ryan hung his coat and vest and then went upstairs and went to bed. In the morning, when the complainant asked for her watch, he looked in his coat pocket and it was gone.

UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION, he testified that he didn't snatch the watch from the complainant. He had not seen the watch since he hung up his coat. He knew a young man named Bothman, and he remembered borrowing a watch from Bothman to have his pictures taken. He kept the watch about two weeks. He didn't return the watch to Bothman the first time that Bothman asked for it. He, the defendant, was arrested before he gave up the watch. He told Bothman that he had given the watch to his girl and that he would get it back. It was two weeks later before Bothman got his watch. When he called at the complainant's house, the Miss Spielman, with whom he kept company, was at the house.

WILLIAM RYAN, the cousin of the complainant, Mary Spielman and George Kelly, testified in corroboration of the defendant.

Conspiracy.

Gabriski J. Muller, detective 4th precinct. The above defendant's place at No. 90 James Street, has a very bad reputation.
He keeps disorderly women, and the said place is a resort of disorderly persons of all kinds. The defendant has been arrested twice
before on the charge of conspiracy
to rob people by means of gaming. The said women solicit men in the street to enter defendant's house. When arrested, the defendant said that he allowed these people to come into his place to play a game, but that he himself was not interested in the result of said game.
He admitted that they played
the three cards monte game
and beat the complainant out
of $49.

Michael Paom, 104 Mott Street, laborer on railroads. On the 19th of November, 1888, I arrived in New York city from Herrick Centre, Presqueharra Co., Pa., where I had been working at the railroad. On my arrival I had $115 in my possession. On the train I made the acquaintance of an Italian, whose name is unknown to me. He brought me to 90 James Street, the defendant's place, which he represented as a lodging house. I slept in said place in the night from Monday to Tuesday. There were prostitutes in said house. I slept with one of them. I paid her $2.50. On the following morning I wanted to go to High Lorry tower, and I asked the defendant to send somebody along with ^{me} him to the railroad station so that ~~he~~ I would get the right train. The defendant replied, that he would accompany ^{me} ~~him~~ as far as High Bridge. He left the house with me, but immediately thereafter took me through an alley way into one of the rear rooms of the adjoining house. There were three or four women and five or six men in said room, eating and drinking. I did not know any of them. Immediately after we had entered said room, one of the men present took a pack of cards and commenced to play with Parando and another man, who simulated drunkenness. Whoever got two kings, won the game. The first lost a pint of beer and then one dollar; thereafter he won and went out of the room. I ~~wanted to follow him~~ but ~~the man present~~ ~~gave~~ ~~me~~ ~~and~~ ~~took~~ ~~me~~ ~~by~~ ~~the~~ ~~coat~~, ~~urging me to~~ ~~depart~~. Parando asked me to loan him four dollars; I gave them to him. but Parando said, he wanted $50, because he wanted to win ^{a like} ~~the same~~ sum from the other man, and he would return ^{me} ~~him~~ the money right away. I gave him $44 in all. The defendant staked the whole amount on one card and lost it to the man who simulated drunkenness. The defendant asked me to raise the cards, but I refused to do it. I demanded my money back from the defendant, ~~but I wanted to leave~~ ^{but the defendant prevented me from going}, but the defendant. When I attempted to leave the room, the defendant and the other persons present grabbed me by the coat and kept me in the room. After a while, they left, and when only two of them remained with the woman, I departed to call a policeman, but one of the men said; Don't do it, come with me, I shall see that ~~these fellows give you your money back~~ ^{if you give me $10 or $15}. He brought me to Barker Cantorri, who sent us to the Italian Consul, and he gave me a few lines to the police. I went to ~~the~~ a Ration House and there was told to come back at six o'clock in the evening. I did not go back to the Ration House, but went to No. 104 Matt Street, to a cousin of mine and stayed there over night. On the next morning my cousin related the above transactions to Mr. Giuseppe Blumetto who went with me to the Oak Street Police House, where the Sergeant sent ~~two~~ detectives with me, who arrested the defendant.

0763

0764

0765

PEOPLE ON MY COMPLAINT,
VERSUS*William Stevens*

As complainant in the above case, I beg to recommend the defendant to such leniency and clemency as the Court and District Attorney may see fit to show; but I expressly assert that my reasons for so doing are not controlled by any advantage to myself. On last Friday night, 7th inst I was in the company of the defendant for two or three hours drinking with him in one or two saloons. I did not see the defendant take my watch nor do I know that he really meant to steal it. The defendant I understand, is a married man having a wife and three children depending upon him for support. I am informed that he has previously borne a good character and that his employers are ready and willing to testify in his behalf. I herewith respectfully recommend him to your consideration.
