The People v. Court of General Sessions. Part I John Seaman Before Judge Cowing. Oct. 15. 1888.
Indictment for grand larceny in the first degree.
Henry Heilbey, sworn. I live in Brooklyn and was in New York, near Roosevelt St. on the night of the 3rd of Sept. I had a silver watch on me at the time worth ten dollars; it was in my left vest pocket attached by a chain. I lost the watch. I saw the prisoner Seaman. I was sleeping on the steps, but I was not quite asleep, and he broke my watch chain, he could not pull it out and then he ran away and I ran after him; on the next corner the policeman arrested him and took us both to the station house, and on the way to the station house he threw the watch away. I saw him throw a watch away, but I could not swear it was my watch. I have seen my watch since at the Tombs Police Court and identified it. This is the chain, and the other part of the chain was attached to the watch. Cross Examined. I saw the prisoner throw a watch away after he was arrested, he threw it with his left hand. I made no effort to pick it up. I did not see the policeman pick up the watch. It was not so very dark that Sunday night on the 5th of September. The officer brought the defendant to me two or three minutes after I missed the watch.

Michael J. Connell sworn. I am an officer attached to the Fourth Precinct and arrested the defendant on the night of the 5th of Sept. about one o'clock in New Chamber St. I was standing in New Chamber St. and I saw the defendant rush out of Roosevelt St. into Chamber and from there into Oak; he stopped short and turned around. I walked over the ground he had run, and as I was about laying my hands on him his hands swung very rapidly I saw him put the left hand to his side pocket and throw something from him; the complainant said that he had stolen his watch; the prisoner said he did nothing of the kind. I took him toward the Station House and asked him if he had anything about him? He said, not; he pulled out his two pockets and showed them to me, but the complainant insisted upon my making the arrest. I took him to the station house, I had no watch. I came back, I was looking for about half an hour after that, and I picked up about the place where I arrested him - in the middle of the street I found the watch. Cross Examined I heard a noise of something drop, but I could not state what it was. The complainant was under the influence of liquor, but he went around to the station house and told the story about the loss of his watch.

John Seaman sworn in his own behalf, testified. I am a cooper and work regularly every day. I was arrested on Sunday and on the Saturday before I was at work. I have never been charged before with stealing. I am married and lived with my wife at 32 Roosevelt St. I did not steal the complainant's watch and did not see him that night until I was arrested. I had two friends that night around at the house with me, Mr. Egan and Fred Alderman; we were playing cards for a while. I was up town all day seeing my folks and came down home; we played cards till twelve o'clock; we went out to have some oysters in James St. I did not have my vest or white shirt on. When we got to the corner I told my friends to wait until I ran around to the house to get my pocket-handkerchief; while running round to the house the officer grabbed me; a big crowd was running. I did not throw a watch away. Cross Examined. I did not throw anything away. I only pulled my hand out of my pocket. I am a cooper and worked for Mr. Swatzfelder 15 First St. two or three years on and off; I worked for him one time for seven months. I worked all the week before my arrest up to Saturday. I do not know how the watch got there which the officer picked up.

Peter Rafan, sworn I am in the oyster business at 79 James St.; on the Sunday the defendant was arrested I was in company with him at his house playing cards until a little after twelve and with Fred. Alberman; we three left 52 Roosevelt St. and went around the corner to New Chamber St.; the defendant left us on the corner of Oak and New Chamber St.; we intended to go to 79 James St. to get some oysters; the defendant left us to go and get a pocket-handkerchief; we saw the officer run from the opposite corner and we saw he had our friend arrested. I did not see the defendant take a watch from anybody. Cross Examined. I work for the man where we were going to get the oysters. Had been to the complainant's house eight or nine days previous to this. I have never been arrested in my life.

Frederick Alberman sworn testified that he was a carpenter and on the night in question was at the defendant's house with the previous witness, whose testimony he corroborated. After the defendant was arrested he went down to his house and told his people about it. I went down to the station house with the defendant's brother. I did not see the defendant throw away anything. I saw the officer make the arrest. The jury rendered a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy.
