Court of General Sessions.

The People

vs.

Samuel Waring

Report.

The above action was referred to me from Part III for examination without special instructions.

The complainant, on his examination by me, stated that he delivered the ring mentioned in the indictment herein, to the defendant upon condition to return the same to him on the same day, after appraisement by some jeweller, or to pay him the purchase price. That the defendant did neither of the two things, but disappeared for over a month from his home and apparently from this city; that upon his return he was arrested, and that thereafter he offered ~~the return~~ of a ring to complainant's wife, who refused to accept the same, because she did not know anything about the transaction, and that there after the defendant paid to complainant the purchase price of the said ring.

The complainant is desirous that the prosecution of the defendant be discontinued and she has executed a Waiver.

There is no doubt in my mind that the defendant is ^{technically} guilty of the ~~technical~~ crime charged against him, but I am also convinced that he will not be convicted. The People have no other witnesses but the complainant to prove the conditions of the delivery of the said ring, and it is hardly to be expected that the defendant will not claim the transaction to have been an ordinary sale on credit.

For these reasons I hereby recommended the dismissal of the within indictment.
