trial in the Court of General Sessions in this city. In that case Messrs. Howe & Hummel have filed an affidavit in which it is alleged as follows viz.

The People vs Fitzpatrick Kidnapping

Hon. Gunning E. Bedford,

My dear Judge:-

Mr. Cantlon, the bondsman for John Fitzpatrick, called upon me again this afternoon and told me that if Fitzpatrick's bail was not discharged at once he would surrender him.

I again ask you to discharge the bail in this case, as you promised me when I was about to make the motion a few weeks ago that the same would be dismissed. The General Term has decided that on the evidence Fitzpatrick is guilty of no offense, and you know that he cannot be tried again for any offense whatever.

Will you not look into this matter at once, and discharge the bail without further notice.

Yours faithfully,

your board and your time will go on from the time of getting on board the boat." I said "Is there a job for us there". He said "Certainly you will get all the work you want when you get there" wanted us to hurry up then as there were several behind us. In the conversation Fity said "clothes and everything there was cheap. That we did not need to break our hearts about things as we would get our grub from the time we went aboard and when we got there. Said if you stay there 12 mo, you will get \$15 and a free pass back to N.Y. We signed the paper and went aboard. As I was about to sign I said "Is the job genuine?" He said "Yes my boy. Go aboard or you will be too late for your dinner". He said among other things that the job was there awaiting us. After we had been on board about $\frac{1}{2}$ hour I grew suspicious and tried thought I would go ashore. As I started down the gang plank Fity was walking up and down on the dock right near the gang plank with a stick in his hand. He said where are you going. I said ashore to get some more tobacco. Then he raised his stick and actually struck at me and using some abusive epithets told me to get back on board. Actually struck at me. I was afraid of getting struck and remained on board.

I would have gone ashore then if I could have got any possible chance but I could not. It would have been a long and dangerous jump from the bulwarks to the dock. This was between 1 and 2 when I wanted to go ashore. We sailed in about 1 hr.
Good many men were brought on board drunk. I saw Dr. Agost give liquor to Bomen on board the ship. We arrived at Progreso the company was divided into 2 gangs. There were 17 men in our gang. Some men we did not know and who could not speak English put us on the train at Progreso about ~~4 P.M.~~ ~~7 P.M.~~ 5³⁰ P.M. and arrived at Merida before the natives quit work. When we arrived we did not know what to do and were wondering about.
There was no one there to tell us what to do.
When it got night we went to the depot and slept there until 3 A.M. when 30 Mexican soldiers came down and awakened us and got us took us about 5 miles up to Plaza and put us in the military jail. Could not get any water there. We were kept there until 12 M the next day. One of us could speak French & through him we were informed that

If we would go directly to work they would let us out. They let us out and we told them we were hungry. They gave us $\frac{1}{2}$ dollar Mexican a piece and took us to the office of the R.R. Co. and sent a boy up to the market with us and then we got something to eat & went to work at P.M. handling freight on R. R. Fitz had told us we were going to work on a R. R. They paid us $\frac{1}{2}$ dollar Mexican at noon and $\frac{1}{2}$ dollar Mexican at night and they did not board or house us. They gave us an old empty shack that would not hold half of us and there were ~~no~~ no beds or bedding. Worked there about 2 wks and then beat way home.

be paid $35ⁱⁿ American money per month, and my board. I agreed to those terms, and at 11 o'clock, with six others went aboard the City of Washington, bound for Progreso, Mexico. When the ship sailed in the afternoon I found that between 70 and 100 men on board with me were being sent to Progreso by Fitzpatrick. When I reached Progreso I was set to work, with 7 or 18 others, handling freight. I was obliged to work eleven hours per day for which I was paid one Mexican dollar.
Out of this I had to pay my own living expenses, though the price of food which an European could sustain life with alone amounted to fully that sum. ~~He~~ I was

I was told that if I paid back $25. in American money, the cost of my fare down, I was free to go when I liked; but I could save nothing from my wages, and could not communicate with my friends, because all letters coming and going were examined, and suppressed. I went to the British and American Consuls but they said they could do nothing for us. After working fifteen days ~~we~~ ^I managed to get aboard a lighter, in company with Fred Blake, which took alongside ~~the~~ the American Steamship Saratoga. We told the Captain our story, and he kindly gave us passage back to New York. Upon our return ~~we~~ ^I learned that Fitzpatrick, the man who employed us, was known a business at No. 32 Greenwich of employing men and shipping them to distant ports under false pretences; also that he

I went to him and asked for assistance whereupon he said it was my own fault and he could do nothing for me. I said I would expose his swind-could do nothing to him. Yesterday, June 10, a man in Fitzpatrick's office told me that another lot of men were going to be shipped to Mexico a
