New York, October 29th 1891.

Dear Sir

I am very much obliged for your kind letter of yesterday and would say in reply that not only my firm but nearly every large firm in the neighborhood has been victimised since a couple of years by an organized band of these shoplifters. We ourselves have lost in this way during the last 18 months very nearly $2000.00 in silks and gloves. The fellows are very difficult to catch because they are regularly organized and dressed for the business. Meyer for instance had the regular long silk pockets in his overcoat.

Now I think leniency in this case would not be advisable unless Meyer would be willing to expose his confederates and more particularly the receivers of the stolen goods so that they are brought to justice.

All large houses around here are deeply interested in this matter not only

0230

on account of the actual loss occasioned to them but also because frequently unjust suspicion falls on checks and notes and creates a general want of confidence which is exceedingly exasperating.

Believe me, dear Sir

Yours very respectfully
J F Degener
