NEW YORK, June 10th, 1890.

Hon. Randolph B. Martine,
Judge of the General Session &c.

My dear Sir,

I understand, that one Charles LeBree, will come up before you to-day for sentence on the plea of guilty, and I beg on behalf of his uncle, Mr. Samuel A. Thomas, Photographer, of No. 717 Sixth Ave., to request, in so far as it is proper for me to do so, that your Honor will be as lenient as possible with Mr. LeBree. I have personally known Mr. LeBree but only slightly, for a number of years, but I have known his uncle, Mr. Thomas, very well indeed for about fifteen years, and he has been and is a client of mine. He has done a great deal for young LeBree, and been a sort of father to him, and informs me that LeBree has, except in the case now against him, borne a good character and behaved himself well and worked industriously, and he had great hopes that he would grow up to be a good man. His mother, <sup>a widow,</sup> is Mr. Thomas' sister, and they are both respectable members of this community and feel most keenly the disgrace which young LeBree has brought upon them. I understand his thefts have been not wholly on the part of himself, but have been committed to gratify the demands or desires of some woman with whom he had become infatuated. Mr. Thomas with commendable generosity still thinks there is still some good in young LeBree, which he will hereafter cultivate if the stigma of State Prison be not attached to him, and therefore would be very glad if your Honor could find it proper to

SAMUEL A. THOMAS being duly sworn, says: I am fifty-eight years of age, and reside at No. 472 Mott Avenue, New York, and carry on the business of a Photographer at No. 717 Sixth Avenue, in the City of New York. I know Charles LeBree. He is the son of my sister who is a widow. I have known said LeBree intimately from his birth, and for a number of years, immediately after his father's death, he and his sister lived with and were cared for by myself and wife, and went to school under my direction. Since he has earned his own living he has contributed in part for the support of his mother. I have at all times tried to teach him to be honest, industrious and straightforward, and excepting the charge to which he has pleaded guilty, I have never known him to do a wrongful act. He has never been arrested for any cause before this, and has always been industrious and honest to my best belief, and from all that I can understand, he did not begin to steal moneys from the Western Union Company until he had made the acquaintance of a woman with whom he became infatuated, and with whom he lived. I still believe from what I know of the general character of LeBree, that there is still good in him, and qualities which may be developed into

Indictment filed May 19, 1890.

Indicted for grand larceny in the first degree.

New York, May 27, 1890.

A P P E A R A N C E S:

For the People,

Assistant District Attorney V. M. Davis;

For the Defendant,

Mr. J. C. Costello.

J O H N   R A D F O R D,   a witness for the People, sworn, testified:

I live at 520 West 159th. Street in this city. I am a decorative painter. On the 1st. of May, 1890, I owned a yacht. She was lying about 300 feet from the shore at 152d. Street, North River. She was tied to a bouy. She was a sloop yacht thirty one feet long. I last saw the yacht on the 30th. of April at about eleven o'clock in the morning. I valued that yacht at $800. I had just finished painting her. The name of the yacht was Irene. The next morning at seven o'clock I was informed that the yacht was gone. I sent word to the Police Station at 152d. Street and Tenth Avenue, and I also sent out 225 postal cards to different points along the Sound as far as Boston. About a week afterwards, I heard that my boat was at Gloucester, Massachusetts. I went there. I saw my boat. I identified my boat. When I had the boat painted, it was painted white with yellow trimmings. When I found my boat in Boston it was painted black with red trimmings, and the name had been changed to Lou. I proved that it was my boat and brought it back to New York. I saw the defendant Leonard at Gloucester in the jail, and he told me where he had pawned several articles belonging to the boat. I went to the place of which he told me and I found the various articles that he had pawned. I had no further conversation with him.

ORIGINAL

CROSS EXAMINATION:

I have had the boat for three years. It cost me somewhere in the neighborhood of $325. I value the boat now at $800, because I would not sell her for less, and I have spent considerable money in fixing her up. The defendant told me that he hired a boat from a man in the Harlem River and rowed around to my boat where he met another man and in company with him he took possession of my boat and went to the Erie Basin -- that from there he went back to Boston.

ORIGINAL

F R A N K V. R A Y N E R, a witness for the People, sworn, testified:

I rent boats on the Harlem River. I saw the defendant on the 1st. of May, 1890. He came to my place at about four o'clock and hired a small boat for an hour. He asked me some questions as to the motor of naptha launches at Morris' Dock. He promised to return my boat in less than an hour. I gave him a pair of oars with my name burned in them. The boat and oars were returned to me about two days after. They were found there in the River.

E D W A R D W O O D, a witness for the People, sworn, testified:

I am attached to the Twenty-fourth Precinct Harbor Police. I went to Gloucester, Massachusetts and brought on this defendant. I had a conversation with him. He told me that he hired a boat in the Harlem River and went around into the North River. That in company with another man he unloosed Mr. Radford's boat and they started down to the Atlantic Basin. He said he remained there for some time and then started on the outward course to Boston. That he was picked up by a boat and was towed into Boston Lights. He told me he pawned several articles which belonged to the boat and I went with Mr. Radford and found the articles at the places named by him. He was very frank in talking about taking the boat and what he did with it.

CROSS EXAMINATION:

I have been a police officer seventeen years and a half. The defendant told me that he destroyed the identity of the boat. He said that he was instructed to do this by the man who gave him possession of it. The defendant told me that he was born of very respectable parents and that they would make good any loss that Mr. Radford might suffer by his taking the boat.

D E F E N C E .

C H A R L E S   W .   L E O N A R D ,   the defendant, sworn, testified:

I live at Needham, Massachusetts. I remember the first of May. On the day previous to that I was going to Fort Hamilton and I met a gentleman by the name of Ward on the boat. He approached me and began to converse about yachts and boats. He told me that he had a yacht which was up in the North River, and that he was anxious to take it to Boston. He asked me if I would meet him the following evening up at 152d. Street and North River. I told him I would. On that afternoon I went up to Mr. Radford's place and hired a boat. I rowed around to 152d. Street and the North River and waited until Mr. Ward came. He came out about nine o'clock in the evening. In company with him I boarded Mr. Radford's boat. We hoisted the sail and took her down to the Atlantic Basin. The following morning at six o'clock Mr. Ward left me and told me he would meet me in Boston. I hoisted the sail and started down through the lower bay, out through the Narrows and along the outward course to Boston. When I was within one hundred miles of Boston, I was picked up by a steamer and towed in to the Boston Lights. When I arrived in Boston I tied the boat up right next to the Police Boat. As I was short of funds, I took several little articles from the boat and pawned them at different shops in Boston. When Mr. Radford came on, I told him exactly where I had pawned the articles and gave him directions where he could find them. When I got to Boston a friend of mine named Henry Sawyer came on board of the boat and it was he who painted the boat black. I did not have anything to do with the painting at all. Mr. Ward, when he left me, instructed me to paint the boat when I got to Boston and I engaged this Mr. Sawyer to do it for me. I expected to meet Mr. Ward in Boston, but

POOR QUALITY

he did not appear and after lying there a few days I went on to Gloucester, Massachusetts. Mr. Sawyer came with me, and together we fixed up the boat in different ways. I had no intention of stealing the boat. I did not know that it belonged to Mr. Radford, but firmly believed it belonged to this man Ward who had asked me to take it to Boston for him.

CROSS EXAMINATION:

I am thirty-four years of age. I have never been affected in any way by insanity. I am perfectly conscious of what I am doing and of what I have done. I state now that I did not intend to steal this boat.. It was Mr. Sawyer who changed the name of the boat. Mr. Ward told me that it would be a good plan to change the name of the boat when I got to Boston. I have never been arrested before, and I am of very respectable people in Needham, Massachusetts.

The jury returned a verdict of "guilty of grand larceny in the first degree".

That he is and has been well acquainted with Charles W.
