PEOPLE ON MY COMPLAINT,
VERSUS

William Gallagher

As complainant in the above case, I beg to recommend the defendant to such leniency and clemency as the Court and District Attorney may see fit to show; but I expressly assert that my reasons for so doing are not controlled by any advantage to myself. I know the defendant William Gallagher I also know his father and mother, sister and brother. I have always known them to be an honest and industrious family.

Up to the time of the commission of this so-called offense, I had known William Gallagher on account of being a frequenter of my store, coming and going whenever he pleased and having free access to all parts of the house with my permission.

At the time he was arrested he was drunk and I believe he did not know what he was doing. There was no property of any value taken by him.

On the night in question the parlour door was not bolted and I had a lot of empty beer kegs on the premises and in front of my place which evidently left climbed up on and got in.

I therefore believe him innocent of any intent to steal or commit any crime and believe him to be penitent for any wrongdoing freely forgive him and would ask that every leniency and clemency be shown to defendant by the District Attorney and the Court.

Statement of Officer Starnes of 2nd Precinct

I made the arrest in the above case. I came along by complainant's saloon about 12 O'clock on the night in question saw a lot of beer kegs, which complainant usually has in front of his place, piled one on top of the other at the entrance, and found fan light open. I got up on the kegs, looked in through the fan light, and saw defendant in the saloon. I have known the defendant for some time, also know his family, which is very respectable, and all have a good reputation. I have never had any trouble with defendant. He is about 18 years of age, and was very much intoxicated when I arrested him. He and complainant and their families know each other well, and live about four doors apart from each other. I should say from defendant's familiarity and inter-macy with complainant's place not being able to get in the place any other way, and being under the influence of liquor he piled the kegs up in front of the place and got in over the fan light.

 I do not believe from what I saw, and from what I know of defendant that he intended or thought to commit a crime, but in a drunken frolic wanted to get into his friend's place, and used the best means at hand to get in. I found no burglar's other implements in him, and found none about the saloon.
 I found a few cigars in his pockets, which was the only property he had on his person, where he got these I do not know.

PEOPLE ON MY COMPLAINT,
VERSUS

George W. Gilbert

As complainant in the above case, I beg to recommend the defendant to such leniency and clemency as the Court and District Attorney may see fit to show; but I expressly assert that my reasons for so doing are not controlled by any advantage to myself. I know the defendant ~~for~~ almost two years as an honest, industrious man, and know his family connections to be highly respectable. He spoke of the check in question as coming to him for wages and when he received it came to me and handed it over to me, I deducted from it my claim against him and paid over the balance. He said nothing to me concerning the check when I cashed the same. Do not believe that he knew the check to be "no good" when he presented it, and think he knew no more about its genuineness than I did. Restitution has been made to me for my loss and I do not feel like prosecuting him further, but would with the indulgence & permission of the court recommend his discharge.

ANGELO TOMASSINI, testified that he kept a fruit stand at the corner of Centre and Grand Streets. He was 40 years old and had been in the United States 4 years. On the night of the 20th. of October about half past eleven o'clock, he was in the booth attached to his fruit stand, eating his supper, when Galvin passed up and took a handful of bonanas. He, the complainant, followed him about half a block and caught up with him. He asked Galvin if there was not an owne r to the stand, to whom he should pay for the fruit. Galvin said, "you go to hell; if you say anything more I will break your face," then Galvin struck him in the face. Several other men came up and pulled his coat over his head and hit him and took his pocket book containing $40. He, the complainant, fell in the street when his coat was pulled over his head. There were three men besides Galvin. When he got up and pulled his coat from his head, they ran away. He saw them running. His pocket book was in his inside coat pocket. Then a police officer came up and ran after thē defendant and caught him and brought him back to where he, the complainant was standing.

CROSS-EXAMINATION. He testified that there were $40 in the pocket book and his naturalization papers. Three weeks after the pocket book was lost, the pocket book and the naturalization certificate were returned to him. He didn't attack the defendant first and he didn't lose the pocket book out of his inside coat pocket when he took off his coat to fight with the defendant. The defendant's friend didn't offer to pay for the bananas, and he, didn't refuse to take the money. In the police station, Galvin made a charge of assault against him and he made a charge of assault against Galvin, because at that time he didn't miss his pocket book.. They were both locked up, and during the night he remembered his pocket book, and in the morning, when the police officer came to take him to the police court, he charged Galvin with stealing. A boy left his pocket book containing the naturalization certificate at his stand while he was away.

OFFICER FRANCIS H. Mc GOWAN, testified that he saw a crowd on Grand Street, between Oliver and Centre and as he approached he saw the crowd disperse and Galvin ran out of the crowd. The Italian was about 10 feet behind Galvin. The Italian's eye was blackened and his face was scratched. He pointed to Galvin and said that Galvin had struck him. He ran after Galvin for several squares and caught him. Galvin said that he didn't do anything. In the station house Galvin said that the Italian struck him. He searched Galvin in the station house and found nothing upon him. Galvin said that the Italian struck him first and he struck him back. There was a scratch on Galvin's face, on his left cheek and it was bleeding.

CROSS-EXAMINATION. The witness testified that the Italian made no charge as to the stealing of his pocket book until the following morning. A boy handed him, the witness, a knife that he said the Italian had dropped in the street, and he took it to the station house. It was a large clasp knife, but it was not open.

Streets, and had worked there for about 5 years. He knew the prisoner at the bar. He worked in the same bakery with him. On the evening in question he met the defendant in his house at Water and Pike Streets, where he lived with his mother. They walked over to the Bowery to order a pair of trousers, and then they walked down Grand Street and intended to pay a visit on the West side. He, the witness, asked Galvin to have a bonana and Galvin took three bonanas and there was no one in sight to pay; so Galvin walked on. He, the witness, stood at the stand to pay for the bonanas. The Italian ran out of the booth, and he, the witness, called to him to stop and that he would pay for the bonanas. But the Italian ran after Galvin and struck him in the neck. He, the witness, followed, and saw the Italian take out a knife from his pocket. He, the witness, said to the Italian, "don't do that, I am going to pay for the bonanas," and knocked the knife out in the street. Then he offered the Italian his money and the Italian knocked up his hand and threw the money into the street. The the Italian pulled off his coat to fight him, the witness, and he told Galvin to go on ahead. When Galvin saw the Italian fighting with him, the witness, Galvin returned. Then the Italian struck at Galvin with his fist and struck him in the mouth, and then Galvin struck the Italian and the police officer came up. They both ran when they saw the police officer coming. Neither he nor Galvin stole anything from the complainant. They were alone and no one came to their assistance, or aided them in rebutting the complainant.

JEREMIAH GALVIN, the defendant, testified that he was 21 years of age and that he lived at 494 Water Street with his mother. His father had been dead for 20 years. He had been convicted for assault and battery, and served a term of one year. His term expired on June 13th. and he had been hard at work ever since in the cracker bakery of Holmes & Kautz. He corroborated Bergen as to his account of the affray with the Italian. He didn't take any money from the complainant, and he ran because he was afraid of being arrested for the assault.
